Jerry D. MCMORRIS

Chairman, President & Chief Executive Officer

Direction is extremely important to Jerry McMorris. The fact that the Colorado Rockies are moving forward into the new century is paramount. No one cares more about that direction.

The ballclub leaped forward by signing the best left-handed pitchers available this winter. And, in the process, McMorris and his partners answered all questions about the team's commitment to bringing post-season baseball to Coors Field. Within a six-day stretch, the team laid a promising foundation for the next six years.

That future really began Sept. 20, 1999, when Rockies ownership made perhaps the most important decision in franchise history. McMorris and the team's leadership gave a young baseball engineer his first GM position. But they chose to give Dan O'Dowd that position before anyone else. They chose to move in a direction with not only the next year in mind, but also the next decade. They chose to move forward.

"Obviously, we want the organization to perform at a championship level," he said at O'Dowd's news conference. "With the tremendous fans we have, we hope this is the beginning of having championship-quality baseball on a consistent basis here in the Rocky Mountains."

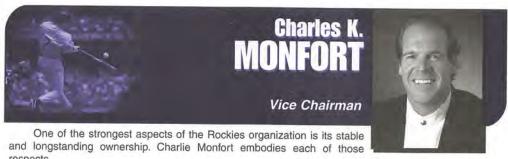

And no one in the Rocky Mountains wants that consistency more than McMorris. In the eyes of the players and front office, McMorris is the most consistent individual in the organization. His desire to win is unwavering. He makes an effort to talk to each player and his door is always open to them. And, he doesn't seclude himself from the fans, who've supported the Rockies at an incredible rate. He sits with them, in his seats behind the home dugout.

When he, Charlie Monfort, and their group purchased controlling interests in the club on Sept. 2, 1992, McMorris was unanimously chosen to lead the franchise. He began cultivating that leadership ability early in his life and today, he chairs Major League Baseball's Legislative Committee and serves as vice chairman of the sport's Blue Ribbon Committee on Economics. He's also a member of Major League Baseball 's Executive Council and Finance Committee.

A 1962 graduate of the University of Colorado's School of Business, he sits on the CU Foundation Board of Directors. Named the 1993 Colorado Business Leader of the Year and the 1992 Master Entrepreneur of the Year, he's also heavily involved with the National Western Stock Show. The organization's vice chairman, he also works on the NWSS Executive Committee. A member of the Institute of American Entrepreneurs, he's one of the state's most sought-after public speakers.

Jerry and his wife, Mary, reside in Timnath, Colo. They have two married children, Kelly and Scott, who have each added two children to the family: Kelly with husband Michael Dorvillier and their children Madeline and Blake, and Scott with wife Rachel and their children Samantha and Dade. McMorris is well known throughout the region. He owns Timnath Farms and the Red Mountain and Belvoir Ranches, with interests based in Northern Colorado and Wyoming.

Monfort, an original Colorado Rockies founder, became a vice chairman Sept. 2, 1992, when he, along with Jerry McMorris, acquired the expansion team's controlling interests.

With deep local roots, Monfort's family operated a major cattle feeding operation for three generations, and introduced fabrication of beef products in 1959. Based in Greeley, Colo., the company was operated by the Monforts since the 1930s. Charlie became president of Monfort International Sales Corp. in 1988 and under his guidance the corporation became one of the largest beef exporters in the world, and the leading exporter of beef products to Asia. Monfort opened company offices in Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Beijing, Moscow, Mexico City and Rio. Those international ties were pivotal in the Rockies' ability to sign RHP Tsao Chin-Hui, the best prospect ever produced by Taiwan. Monfort and the Rockies hope Tsao is paving a road from that region to Coors Field.

Monfort, 41, in 1996 became president of ConAgra Refrigerated Foods International, Inc., which consolidated his company with all of ConAgra's refrigerated foods international companies. In order to concentrate on his leadership role in the Rockies, Charlie resigned as president in late 1998.

Born Oct. 30, 1959, Charlie lives with his two children, Kenny and Ciara, in Greeley. He has a bachelor's degree in marketing and business management from the University of Utah ('82) and served as president of Kappa Sigma fraternity in college. He also sits on the Special Olympics Board of Directors.

Dick Monfort became a vice chairman of the Colorado Rockies Dec. 8, 1997, joining his brother in the club's leadership.

Monfort, 46, spent 25 years in the cattle business, primarily with his family's company. He became president of Monfort of Colorado, Inc. in 1987, then joined ConAgra Red Meats in 1991 as President & CEO. Today, Monfort owns the Hyatt Grand Champions Hotel in Palm Springs, Calif., the Hilltop Steak House in Boston, and interests in various commercial real estate ventures in Denver and Greeley, Colo. Monfort helped to launch the Montera Cattle Co. in 1996 and, one year later, the first Brett Favre Steak House in Milwaukee. He has since opened a second Brett Favre Steak House in Green Bay.

In addition, Monfort is the Chairman of the University of Northern Colorado Board of Trustees and the 2000 Chairman of United Way of Weld County. He also sits on several area boards, including the Board of Directors of Denver's University Hospital and the Colorado Economic Development Board.

Born April 27, 1954, the Colorado native lives in Greeley with his wife Christine and their three children. A 1976 graduate of the University of Northern Colorado, Dick has a bachelor's degree in business management.

Keli S. MCGREGOR

Executive Vice President, Business Operations

Compared to Keli McGregor, few baseball executives can say they have as much passion for their organization.

He not only verbalizes that passion, but embodies it in his leadership qualities. McGregor directs much of that spirit towards two areas: people and precedents. And both areas are constantly intertwined.

McGregor, 39, works closely with two groups of people: the team's fans and the team's front-office associates. In fact, he believes those groups form the organization's most important asset. Establishing and maintaining precedents within that asset is a challenge. But it's a vital challenge because without those people, the organization could never enjoy high levels of business success.

One precedent is the team's outstanding customer service. He would turn off the rain if he could, but no one can control the weather. Keli is passionate about the things the Rockies can control, such as keeping the Coors Field experience unique and appealing, and giving the fans meaningful memories.

Building memories are important to McGregor because he holds tightly to his own recollections. A Colorado resident for most of his life, Keli sat in the North Stands at Mile High Stadium for more than 20 years watching the Broncos. And like every other fan who grew up in Colorado without Major League Baseball, he has a genuine appreciation for what Coors Field has become to the Rocky Mountain region.

The 50,449-seat gem that sits on 20th and Blake, which has resurrected Denver's lower downtown, has drawn the most fans in baseball in five of its first six seasons. And McGregor will not let the organization take that support for granted. He works tirelessly to not only listen to fan feedback, but also to implement changes, such as more consistent game times. Most importantly, he pushes the organization to preserve the appeal of the Coors Field experience so that today's children can bring their children to the park.

There are other people that drive McGregor's passion. He openly admits that the people he works with internally, his front-office associates, motivate him to come to work each day. His presence provided much stability as the team hired new baseball leadership after the 1999 season.

New general manager Dan O'Dowd, when asked to name the four most important factors in his decision to come to Colorado, replied: ownership, Coors Field and its tremendous fan base, the quality of the community, and Keli McGregor. O'Dowd and McGregor, part of the new generation of baseball leadership, have formed an important relationship.

Promoted to executive vice president before the 1998 season, Keli begins his eighth year guiding the organization's non-baseball functions. He also sits on the board of the Colorado chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. And, in memory of his friend Michael McMorris, who lost his life to cystic fibrosis before the 1996 season, McGregor co-founded the Reaching Out to Youth (ROY) Foundation to assist the battle against the disease.

A two-time All-American tight end at Colorado State, McGregor was drafted by the Broncos in the fourth round (110th overall) of the 1985 NFL draft. He played for Denver, Indianapolis and Seattle before retiring. Keli still holds CSU's single-season reception record (69) and stands third on the all-time reception list with 153. He recently gained membership into the school's Hall of Fame and All-Century team.

After his football career, McGregor served four years as an associate athletic director at the University of Arkansas. During his time in Fayetteville, the school won 11 national titles in four sports during his time in Fayetteville.

Born Jan. 23, 1962 in Primgahr, Iowa, Keli and his wife, Lori, live in Golden, Colo., and have four children: daughters Jordan, Taylor and Landri and son Logan.

After attending games at Mile High for more than 20 years, McGregor played one season (1985) for the Denver Broncos.

Daniel J. O'DOWD

Executive Vice President, General Manager

If the Rockies are fortunate to land in the postseason the next few years, they will have flown a great distance. In O'Dowd's first season, the club improved 10 games at the major league level, and went from 27th to 14th in the organizational composite standings. The first leg of the journey was the result of a focused vision and a creative plan.

Conservative but dotted with exciting risks, the plan has three branches. First, it calls for a team of more athletic, defensively sound players, with an offense focused on quality at-bats and on-base percentage. The pitching staff should consistently throw strikes, with low walks/nine innings ratios, essentially a group of hurlers who don't defeat themselves. Second, the plan involves long-term strategic planning that fixes costs while creating greater decision-making flexibility. Finally, working with Keli McGregor, it ties every part of the organization into one focused goal: winning both on and off the field.

The commitment behind that plan is extraordinary. In 44 days after the 1999 World Series, the Rockies added 15 players to the major league roster. O'Dowd made five trades involving 23 players in a month and-a-half, including the first four-team transaction since Jan. 18, 1985. Colorado's 25-man Opening Day roster listed only six players from the roster used to open the 1999 season (the 19-player turnover is believed to be the largest in baseball history). Club ownership has given O'Dowd the trust and resources not only to get the plane airborne, but also to refuel it and redirect it when necessary.

Guiding the most active front office in the majors, O'Dowd made some redirections during the 2000 season. He completed seven more trades, touching 22 players, including the team's 2000 Pitcher of the Year Gabe White, and probable 2001 starters Todd Hollandsworth and Todd Walker. All told, in little more than 16 months, O'Dowd has completed 16 trades involving 56 players.

Trades, though, might not prove to be O'Dowd's most important moves. This past December, free agency secured reservations from two solid passengers: pitchers Mike Hampton and Denny Neagle. And, it's no accident that two of the market's top three pitchers chose to sign with a GM who has an office at Coors Field.

"The word's out around baseball," O'Dowd said. "Buddy Bell managed to create a unique clubhouse atmosphere, we have a committed ownership, a tremendous place to live and a huge fan base. But we don't have to tell that to potential players. The word's already out."

O'Dowd served the Indians front office for 11 years, from 1988-98, most recently as the vice president of baseball operations and assistant general manager. During his tenure in Cleveland, the Indians won four straight AL Central pennants (1995-98) and advanced to the World Series in 1995 and 1997. He spent his first five seasons (1988-92) as Cleveland's director of player development, cultivating future All-Stars, such as Charles Nagy, Manny Ramirez, Jeff Shaw and Jim Thome. Indians president Hank Peters promoted O'Dowd after Baseball America named Cleveland its 1992 Organization of the Year. O'Dowd spent six seasons as assistant GM and directly oversaw the player development and scouting departments. From 1988-92, O'Dowd oversaw the Colorado Springs Sky Sox, Cleveland's Triple-A Pacific Coast League affiliate. During that period, the farm team advanced to the PCL playoffs four straight seasons (1989-92) and won the league championship in 1992.

Before joining the Indians, O'Dowd worked five years for the Orioles. He left Baltimore after two anda-half seasons as the assistant director of player development and scouting. O'Dowd also worked in Baltimore's broadcasting and marketing departments.

Born Sept. 6, 1959, Dan and his wife, Jackie, have two children and make their home in Greenwood Village. He is a graduate of Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla.

Harold R. ROTH

Sr. Vice President — Chief Financial Officer

Hal Roth will mark his ninth season in the organization this year. He's served as the Rockies' CFO since August, 1993.

Roth, 50, is responsible for all financial functions, including accounting, taxes, payroll, banking and insurance. He is also the acting general counsel.

Prior to joining the Rockies, Hal was a partner with the public accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, where he specialized in taxation, for 19 years from 1975-93.

Roth holds a bachelor's degree from Albion College, an M.B.A. and J.D. from the University of Denver and an L.L.M (in taxation) from New York University. He is also a certified public accountant.

Hal and his wife, Connie, and sons, Reilly (19, who attends the University of Arizona) and Rory (17), reside in Englewood. He currently serves on the board of the Colorado Neurological Institute, and has served on the boards of the Colorado Children's Chorale and Seniors, Inc.

A Michigan native, Hal likes to climb Colorado's 14,000-foot peaks during the summer. In the winter, he can be found on the state's ski slopes. His grandfather came to Denver in 1923 and served as an inauqural member of the Colorado Courtesy Patrol (later know as the state highway patrol).

The Coors Clubhouse

The Rockies in November unveiled the Coors Clubhouse, the team's latest effort to improve the Coors Field ballpark experience. Designed by HOK Sport, the Coors Clubhouse is Colorado's most exclusive club. It includes...

- A five-row premium seating area, from dugout to dugout behind home plate. Fans in the front row sit about 50 feet from the batter, closer than all but three parks in the National League. The new, wider seats feature padding and extra leg room. Waiters will serve complimentary food and non-alcoholic beverages at seats during the game.
- A restaurant and lounge, 4,500 square feet, between the home and visitors clubhouses. Coors Clubhouse membership includes a complimentary pregame meal and non-alcoholic beverages before, during and after the game. It also has the ability to host groups for events and meetings throughout the year. The Rockies will now host press conferences in the lounge area.
- ♦ Private entrance and elevator from 20th Street, and complimentary, preferred parking.

Greg Feasel, now in his sixth year with the club, joined the Rockies before the 1996 season. He oversees corporate sales, publications, broadcasting, community affairs, merchandising, promotions and special events.

Feasel joined the Rockies after serving as a division director of sales and marketing for Coca-Cola Enterprises from 1988-95.

A 1981 graduate of Abilene Christian, Feasel played three seasons for the USFL's Denyer Gold. He also played for the Green Bay Packers and San Diego Chargers.

Before his days as an athlete ended, Greg cultivated his business career. During the off-season, he worked in the real estate and automotive industries, and also taught school. After joining Coca-Cola, he worked his way up the corporate ladder. Known for his leadership abilities, he's chaired several organizations, including Grocery Sales Managers of Colorado and the Career Tech Prep. Committee. He's also served as a chairman of Colorado community colleges and their occupational education system, and as past president of the Colorado chapter of the NFL Alumni Association. He is single and lives in Denver.

Vice President — Finance

One of the original members of the officer roster, Michael Kent joined the Rockies in January, 1992, and enters his 10th year with the club.

Kent, 43, is in contact with every department in the organization, assisting them in financial planning and budgeting. He also is responsible for financial reporting, cash management, club insurance and benefits. Michael came to Colorado after a decade with the Philadelphia Phillies (1982-91). He served as controller at the time of his move West.

He and his wife, Mary, have four children: Jonathan (10), Laura (8) and Timothy (3) and Bryan (1). The family resides in Highlands Ranch. Kent attended Villanova University and graduated with a degree in accounting in 1979.

Sue Ann McClaren joined the Rockies in the fall of 1992 and enters her ninth season with the club, her 24th year in Major League Baseball.

McClaren oversees pro sports' busiest ticket department, which has sold more seats for one game and one season than any big-league club in history. On Dec. 1, 1995, with the addition of vice president to her title, she became the Colorado Rockies first female officer.

Sue Ann joined Colorado after a 15 years with the St. Louis Cardinals, who won three NL pennants and one World Series during that time. She joined the Cardinals in their sales department, then worked her way up to director of ticket sales, before departing for the expansion Rockies. A 1977 graduate of William Woods College in Fulton, Mo., McClaren is single and lives in Denver.

Josh BYRNES

Sr. Director — Baseball Operations, Asst. General Manage

Josh Byrnes joined the Rockies Sept. 30, 1999 and enters his second season with the club, his eighth in a major league front office.

Byrnes, 30, is the youngest assistant general manager in the National League, and second-youngest in the majors. Only Oakland's Paul DePodesta, 28, is younger. The two began their careers with the Indians.

Josh worked six seasons for Cleveland, beginning as a baseball operations intern in 1994. Since his first month in that internship, he's assisted in the intricate tasks of acquiring and evaluating major league players. Cleveland hired him full-time (baseball operations assistant) before the 1995 season, which culminated in the club's first pennant since 1954, and first of five straight division titles. The team promoted him to assistant scouting director in October, 1996. Then, after the 1998 June draft, he became one of the youngest scouting directors in major league history at age 27.

Born June 23, 1970 in Washington D.C., Byrnes graduated from Haverford College, near Philadelphia, where he played four seasons for the Fords, establishing school records in career home runs and RBI.

Bill Geivett begins his first season with Colorado and his 15th in professional baseball. He joined the Rockies Nov. 10, 2000.

Geivett, 37, assists Dan O'Dowd with major league player and roster evaluations and also has responsibilities in the player development and scouting areas.

He comes to Colorado from the Los Angeles Dodgers. Most recently the team's assistant general manager (2000), he'd worked in the Dodgers' front office since September, 1998. Prior to that, he worked for the Tampa Bay Devil Rays as special assistant to the general manager. With Tampa Bay, he chartered ties between the team and Australia, the Far East and Latin America. From 1994-96, he headed the Montreal farm system, which garnered the coveted Topps Organization of the Year honors in 1996. He broke into the major leagues with the New York Yankees as a scout and organizational instructor in 1991.

Geivett returned to professional ball in 1991 after coaching at Loyola Marymount (1989) and Long Beach State (1990).

The California Angels' 13th-round selection in the 1985 June draft, Geivett played professionally four seasons. He sustained a career-ending knee injury while running out a ground ball with Midland (AA) in 1988. As a collegian, the third baseman received All-America accolades at the University of California-Santa Barbara. He also attended Sacramento City College and was drafted four times overall during the early 1980s.

Born July 25, 1963, Geivett has a master's in education from Azusa Pacific University (1991). He and his wife, Bonnie, make their home in Yorba Linda, Calif., with their children Rachel (5) and Sam (3).

Hill, 30, came to Coors Field from the Tampa Bay Devil Rays, where he had worked since August, 1995, all four seasons as an assistant in the scouting and player development departments.

A 1993 graduate of Harvard University, Hill was elected senior class marshal (the equivalent to president), while starring as the football team's top rusher and the baseball team's captain. The Texas Rangers made him their 31st selection in the 1993 June draft, and he played two seasons (1993-94) in the Rangers system and one year (1995) in the Cincinnati organization before joining the Devil Rays.

Hill's reputation is already well known in organizational circles. Baseball America in 1999 named Hill as one of 10 people in baseball whose prominence will increase significantly in the first decade of the new century. It quoted strong sources who said he will turn into a successful general manager before the 2010 season.

A Cincinnati native, he starred in football, baseball and basketball at the city's Country Day School. Michael also shares several ties with Buddy Bell's family. At Country Day, Hill played against Moeller and David Bell during the spring; the two then played on the same Connie Mack team, the Midland Redskins, that won a world series in 1989. Twenty years earlier in 1969, Buddy Bell led his Cincinnati Connie Mack team to a world series title. Hill and Mike Bell were selected by the Rangers in the 1993 June draft. And, after his playing career, Hill scouted Ricky Bell for the Tampa Bay Devil Rays.

Born March 25, 1971, Michael is single and lives in Denver.

Bill Schmidt began his direction of the Rockies scouting department on Oct. 1, 1999. He is the second scouting director in club history.

Schmidt, 41, also joined the Rockies from the Indians, where he served four seasons (September, 1995 - October, 1999) as the organization's only national cross checker. Before his time in Cleveland, Schmidt supervised the Southern California, Arizona and Nevada regions for the New York Yankees (1988-95). He worked for the Major League Baseball Scouting Bureau from 1987-88, and launched his scouting career as an associate with the Reds (1982-84). All told, he has 15 years of scouting experience.

Schmidt also has nine years of coaching experience, at a variety of levels. His first job out of college was as head baseball coach at his alma mater, Magnolia High School in Anaheim. Calif. He also assisted at Santa Ana Junior College (1982-84) and Arizona State (1985). Professionally, he coached in the Pioneer League for the Reds (1984) and Brewers (1986) before his three seasons (1991-93) coaching the Yankees' New York-Penn League club.

Schmidt has a master's degree from Azusa Pacific University ('87) and a bachelor's from Cal State-Long Beach.

Born Aug. 22, 1959, he and his wife, Linda, have two sons: Andrew (6) and Matthew (4).

Paul EGINS

Director — Major League Operations

Paul Egins joined the club Oct. 30, 1991 and he's been with the Rockies longer than all but four employees. He was promoted to director of major league operations Nov. 16, 2000.

Egins, 37, coordinates the Rockies spring training operations, most major league team travel duties, player relations and the Rockies winter player development program. The team also sends him on special scouting assignments.

"Egs" served as the Rockies' director of minor league operations in 2000, as well as the club's director of player development from Sept. 9, 1997 through the end of the 1999 season. He's also held the titles of assistant director of player development, assistant director of player personnel, and assistant director of scouting. Paul joined the Rockies after the Braves and Twins decided the '91 World Series.

Before coming West, the Georgia native worked for the Braves, most recently as the assistant to the director of player development and scouting. Paul assisted baseball's career home-run leader Hank Aaron in Atlanta. Egins first joined the Braves front office as assistant director of player development.

Prior to his arrival in Atlanta, Egins spent two seasons as the team trainer of the Burlington Braves in the Midwest League. He also worked in a similar role at both the University of Georgia and Florida A&M.

Born Sept. 22, 1963, Egs received a bachelor's degree in biology from UGa in 1986. Paul's graduate work at Florida A&M was in sports administration. He is single and resides in Denver.

TITULE Assistant Director — Baseball Administration

Thad Levine joined the Rockies Oct. 11, 1999 and begins his second season with the club. He works behind the scenes compiling extensive statistical and payroll analyses for Dan O'Dowd.

Levine, 29, came to the Rockies from Los Angeles, where he worked one season for the Dodgers (business development) and earned an MBA from UCLA ('99). He has marketing experience with Coca-Cola and the Rockport Company.

Born Nov. 12, 1971 in Alexandria, Va., Thad also has a bachelor's degree from Haverford College ('94), where he played baseball with assistant GM Josh

Byrnes. He hurled two no hitters in summer ball. Levine fulfilled some of his graduate work abroad, at Cape Town, South Africa, and has volunteered with the Special Olympics. He is single and makes his home in Denver.

RUSA THE POLETS Asst. to the Exec. VP, General Manager

Rosalind Peters begins her first full season in the Rockies front office. She joined the club Sept. 28, 2000.

Peters spent three years with Woodward Governor Co. in Ft. Collins, where she worked as an executive assistant to the executive vice president. Before moving to Colorado, she worked for Prentice-Hall, a text book publisher in New York, NY, first in human resources and then as the assistant to the president of the text book division.

Originally from London, England, Ros has also lived in Rotterdam, The Netherlands.

She and her husband, David, have two children, Emily and Matthew, and make their home in Denver.

Marc Gustaisun Manager — Minor League Operations

Marc Gustafson, who joined the organization in 1993, took over his current responsibilities Oct. 20, 1997. Prior to joining the front office, he was a Rockies organizational trainer for five years.

Gus, 31, updates the club on all farm news and also administers minor-league trainers and coaches, handles all visa requirements for major- and minor-league players, and assists in the budgeting and operation of all the minor-league affiliates, including camps in the Dominican Republic and Venezuela.

A 1992 graduate of Colorado State University (exercise and sports science).

Marc worked as a student trainer for CSU's football and basketball teams (1989-1992). He then served the Rockies as a trainer at rookie-level Chandler (1993), Single-A Asheville (1994) and Double-A New Haven (1995-97).

Born Sept. 14, 1969, Marc and his wife Amy make their home in Westminster. He lettered in football, baseball and basketball at Eaton (Colo.) High School. His great grandparents immigrated to Eaton and his family has lived there four generations. He played baseball at Doane College in Crete, Neb., before transferring to CSU.

JOLY ROSS Asst. to the Director — Player Development

Jody Ross begins her ninth season with the Rockies. She began her current position Nov. 1, 1999, her birthday. She's also served the club part-time in guest relations (1993-98) and full-time in ballpark operations (1998-99).

Ross completes all minor-league contracts, maintains personnel files, handles organizational travel and assists in the administration of all transactions.

She worked previously as a legal secretary for attorney Joseph Archuleta and in the attendance office of the Cherry Creek School District (1993-97). The Denver native owns a medical assistant degree from Capitol City Tech in Austin, Texas (1977). She is a graduate of Denver East High School.

Jody and her husband, Kent, have two children: Christopher and Anne. The family resides in Aurora.

Autographs with a cause

Larry Walker and Todd Helton this season are providing fans with an opportunity to receive autographs in exchange for a $25 contribution to the Youth Sports Authority (YSA). Walker has sponsored a similar program the last few seasons.

• What is the YSA? It's a non-profit organization, bringing together private cooperations, local governments, private citizens and public figures in an effort to provide community facilities, such as youth fields, and opportunities for children.

The organization also provides scholarships for those in need. Walker is a founding member of YSA.

- How are the Rockies involved? Fans who don't - know about YSA and send requests to Walker and Helton will be mailed a request for $25 per autograph. Those who resend their request with a check and postage will receive an authentic autograph. Fans can mail their checks (made payable to the YSA) directly to Walker or Helton, Coors Field, 2001 Blake, Denver, CO 80205.
- Need more information? Contact Sean McGraw in the Rockies' youth sports development at 303/312-2348.

GO BY BRILLIUM Manager — Scouting Operations

Coley Brannon marks his 10th year with the Rockies. He started his current position July 28, 1997. He's worked in four areas throughout the club.

Brannon, 31, evaluates amateur talent in Colorado and Wyoming, organizes the First-Year Player Draft in June and supervises and administers all scouting personnel throughout the year.

He worked in customer service for four months in 1992, then he became the chief assistant in the public relations department later that year. In August, 1996, Coley moved to marketing and served as an account executive.

Born April 13, 1969, Coley is single and resides in Littleton. He has a degree in business administration with a marketing major from the University of Iowa. His two brothers nicknamed him after Coley O'Brien, a Notre Dame quarterback during the 1960s. His grandfather was a backup halfback for Coach Knute Rockne in 1928. A native of Stamford, Conn., he was raised in Lake Forest, Ill., where he played baseball and basketball in high school.

Paul Herfurdi Manager — Professional Scouting

Paul Herfurth begins his second year with the Rockies, after joining the front office Oct. 25, 1999. Paul monitors the transmission of professional reports, assists in the Rule V draft, maintains the pro scouting budget, compiles advance information for the major league coaches and evaluates talent as assigned. He also serves as the coordinator of Rockies camps and clinics throughout the region.

Herfurth, 35, from 1996-99 taught business and served as head baseball coach at nationally ranked St. Thomas Aquinas in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Before that, he held a similar role at Chaminade High School in Hollywood, Fla. The 1997 Miami Herald and Florida Athletic Coaches Association Coach of the Year, he coached Troy Cameron, an Atlanta Braves first-round selection. He worked for one season both in the Yankees front office (1988) and for the Miami Miracle (1989), where he served as director of operations in the club's inaugural season.

Born Aug. 31, 1965, Paul and his wife, Barbara, make their home in Highlands Ranch. He has a degree in athletic administration from St. John's University.

ALVES

Jay Alves begins his 19th season in baseball. Promoted to senior director after the '99 season, he originally joined the Rockies Oct. 1, 1997.

Sr. Director — Communications/Public Relations

Alves, 46, entered the game in 1981 with the Oakland A's, where he served three years in marketing (1981-83) and three years as the assistant director of scouting (1984-1986). Then, during his nine years (1987-95) as the director of baseball information, the A's hosted the 1987 All-Star Game and earned post-season berths four times, including three straight World Series (1988-90). He also worked on Oakland's radio broadcast team (1993-95) and hosted pre- and postgame talk shows. From 1996-97, he served as SportsChannel Pacific's director of public relations.

Born Feb. 15, 1955 in Half Moon Bay, Calif., Jay and his wife Doreen make their home in Littleton with their three sons: Andrew, Scott and Jake. Alves graduated from the University of Arizona with a degree in radio-television ('77). In 1978 he was an anchor and sports reporter at Tucson's KGUN-TV.

ANG GILLER Asst. Director — Communications/Public Relations

Zak Gilbert embarks on his fourth season with the Rockies. He moved into his current position Jan. 4, 1999, one year after joining the PR department.

Gilbert, 25, interned in the Denver Broncos media relations department in 1997. He also worked every college semester in the University of Colorado's SID office, primarily with football. At CU, he worked two bowl games and four NCAA Basketball Championships, and interned for the Boulder Daily Camera.

Born Oct. 6, 1975 in Aurora, Zak and his wife, Jennifer, have two children: Ashlynn (3) and Braden (1) and live in Lafayette. He owns a print journalism degree, with an American history minor, from CU ('97).

UITATIV STOWER Communications/Public Relations Coordinator

Charity Stowell is in her fifth season with the Rockies. After a 1997 season internship in promotions, she began her current position Nov. 14, 1997.

Stowell, 28, graduated with a sociology degree ('94) from Northern Arizona University, where she ran on the cross country and track teams for four years, worked in the SID office and served on the NCAA Student Athletic Advisory Board. She's competed in several prominent distance events, and in October, she qualified for the Boston Marathon.

Born May 25, 1972, Stowell resides in Denver. She volunteers for the Leukemia Society Team in Training and the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, and also serves on the Race for the Cure public relations committee.

Billy Willer Communications/Public Relations Assistant

Billy Witter begins his second season with the Rockies. Promoted to his current position Dec. 4, 2000, he interned in the PR department last season.

Witter, 25, joined the Rockies from Colorado State University, where he worked in the school's SID office. At CSU, he served as the women's tennis contact and on the football, volleyball and basketball stat crews. He worked two NCAA Basketball Championships, one NIT and one NCAA Volleyball Championship. Billy produced and co-hosted a sports talk-radio show for KCSU-FM. And, in 1998, he was one of 50 students to attend the prestigious sports journalism seminar, hosted by Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky.

Born July 1, 1975, in Kingston, N.Y., Witter has a degree in journalism from CSU ('99). A graduate of Niwot (Colo.) High School, Billy also makes his home in Denver.

Perhaps the most signifant fans' team in pro sports

Most people know that Rockies fans own several attendance records. But long before the team took the field, the fans were the reason the NL Expansion Committee selected Colorado in the first place. Baseball did not consider Colorado the leading candidate until late in the 1990-91 process; specifically, after the gestational Colorado franchise received more than 21,000 season ticket deposits in two months. And after voters approved a measure to fund Coors Field, Denver and its fans outdistanced every other city. In 1999, Rockies fans became the first in major league annals to lead baseball in attendance while their team finished in last place.

Front Office Dynamics

When tragedy struck Columbine, two Rockies employees felt personally touched; they graduated there. The club's strong local ties begin with ownership and echo everywhere within the bricks of Coors Field. In fact, 55 percent have spent at least half their life in Colorado (38 percent are natives), growing up without big-league baseball. When the franchise was born in the early 1990s, 71 percent of the current front office lived in Colorado; they supported the construction of Coors Field and felt genuine excitement when the NL awarded the team. The average age in the front office is 34. The foundation of the Colorado Rockies, with respect to the club's community ties and its future, is in its front-office people.

Manager

Ht: 6-3

Age: 49 (turns 50 on August 27)

Wt: 220 Born: 8/27/51 in Pittsburgh, Pa. Residence: Thornton, Colo.

Major League Managing Experience: Four seasons

Contract: Second year of a three-year contract, through 2002

Managerial Career: Colorado named Buddy Bell the third manager in franchise history, Oct. 20, 1999. Before joining the Rockies, he guided the Tigers for three seasons, 1996-98. Bell became the 30th skipper in Tigers annals, replacing Sparky Anderson, who'd managed the club since 1979. He inherited a Detroit team that had finished last or next-to-last in three of the four seasons before he took over and was entering the first year of a major rebuilding phase. His most impressive managerial accomplishment to date was the 1997 season, when he finished second in the AL Manager of the Year voting after guiding the team to a 26-game improvement, the best year-to-year difference in the American League during the 1990s. Bell has replaced two managers, Anderson and Leyland, who combined to win 3,263 games, eight division pennants and four World Series titles.

2000 — Bell managed the largest spring training squad in baseball, 71 players. Then, on Opening Day, the team had only six players who began the 1999 season with the Rockies, believed to be the largest year-to-year Opening Day turnover in big-league history. Only 12 of the 25 players who opened the season with Colorado were in Atlanta to close the year, and just three of the team's Opening Day starters played the entire season for the Rockies, And, by year's end, he'd managed a franchise-record 49 players. Despite those numbers. Bell guided the Rockies to a 10-game improvement, the fourth-best in the NL, and the team's first winning record (82-80) since 1997. After a 19-2 win over Arizona June 18, the Rockies held sole possession of first place for the first time since July 25, 1996. On July 3, after taking three of four in San Diego, the team reached first again, tying a franchise record by surging 12 games above .500. Then, the Rockies weathered an 11-game losing streak, July 4-17. One of the majors most competitive skippers, Bell led the NL in ejections with nine and Frank Robinson suspended him for two games, for excessive arguing Aug. 22 (he served the suspension at Philadelphia, Aug. 28-29). Statistically, his team scored 968 runs, the most in the NL since 1930, despite finishing 15th in home runs (161). In the field, his defenders lost the league fielding title by .00006, but still posted the fourth highest percentage in NL history, .98461. His pitching staff improved its ERA by 0.75 runs, compared to 1999, and his bullpen led the league with 36 wins. The team also tied for the NL lead with 45 come-from-behind wins.

1998 — The Tigers lost 17 of their first 21 and never recovered. The club suffered a few key injuries, including starting shortstop Deivi Cruz. Bell's Opening Day roster was one of the four youngest in the majors. Detroit rebounded to go 15-12 in May, standing only 9.5 behind the first-place Indians at month's end, but couldn't stay in the race into the summer. Bell departed September 1.

1997 — Detroit won 26 more games than the previous year, the AL's largest improvement since 1988-89 and the second-largest improvement in Tiger history, which dates to 1901. Plus, the jump in winning percentage (.327 to .488) was the 13th largest in league annals. The Baseball Writers recognized that effort and voted him runner-up to Manager of the Year Davey Johnson. In the field, the Tigers embodied their skipper, an exeptional fielder in his time. Detroit established a franchise-record and AL-leading .985 fielding percentage, becoming the first major league club ever to go from last (.978 in 1996) to first in club fielding; Bell's players committed fewer errors and played fewer errorless games than any season in Detroit history. His pitching staff improved its ERA by 1.82 runs, the largest such improvement in AL history (surpassing the 1954 mark, also held by Detroit, 1.54) and the third largest year-to-year drop in major league records. The Tigers went 8-4 in extra-inning affairs, the second-best winning percentage in the league. And, three players (Tony Clark, Travis Fryman and Bobby Higginson) drove in 100 runs, the first Tiger club to do that since 1950 (Vic Wertz, Hoot Evers and George Kell).

1996 — Detroit won eight of its first 15 and stood tied for second, three and-a-half games out of first on April 17. The Tigers then lost 34 of their next 39 to drop out of contention. Bell used a club-record 27 pitchers and 53 players, the most by a Detroit manager since Hughie Jennings used 53 in 1912. His players also hit a club-record 104 home runs away from Tiger Stadium, but his pitchers allowed a major league record 241 homers. Bell notched his first managerial win in his second game, April 2 at the Metrodome.

Coaching Career — Bell coached for six seasons before earning the Tigers managerial post in 1996. His first position after retiring his 18-year major league playing career was with Cleveland, the team that drafted him in 1969; in 1990 he served as the Indians' roving minor league hitting instructor, a post given him by current Rockies general manager Dan O'Dowd, then the Tribe's farm director. Bell then moved to the Chicago White Sox, and served three seasons (1991-93) as director of minor league instruction. Mike Hargrove then brought him back to Cleveland and gave Bell the unique title of infield coach. He coached for two seasons in Cleveland (1994-95), Jacobs Field's inaugural two years. In 1995, he helped the Indians to the World Series and briefly coached his son, David, in his first major league season.

Front Office Experience — The Cincinnati Reds hired Bell in September, 1998, as minor league field coordinator. He held that position until Aug. 5, 1999, when the club promoted him to director of player developments.

Playing Career Highlights — Arguably the best fielding third baseman of his generation, Bell played 21 seasons, 18 at the big-league level. Most historians consider him the best infielder taken in the middle rounds of the amateur draft, which began in '65. He played 2,405 games for the Indians, Rangers, Reds and Astros. A five-time all-star, he led league third basemen in fielding three times: 1980 (.981), 1982 (.976) and 1987 (.979). Bell also won six consecutive Rawlings Gold Gloves (1979-84); only Brooks Robinson (16) has won more at third base in AL history. He hit .279 over his 18 seasons with 201 career homers and 1,106 RBI. He had homered in every major league park at the time of his retirement in 1989.

In Cleveland — The Indians' 16th-round selection in the 1969 draft, Bell spent only two and-a-half seasons in the minors before his first and only major league promotion. After the American Association named him Rookie of the Year in 1971, the Indians made room on their roster the next spring by shifting him to outfield. Tribe manager Ken Aspromonte wrote Bell, a 20-year-old, into his Opening Day lineup, batting seventh in right field, April 15, 1972; he went 0-for-3 against Brewers starter Bill Parsons in his big-league debut at Municipal Stadium. One week later, at home, Bell hit his first major league homer, a grand slam off Baltimore's Ed Watt. Both Topps and Baseball Digest named him to their all-rookie teams, but Boston's Carlton Fisk ran away with Rookie of the Year honors. The next season, 1973, Bell moved back to his natural third-base position, replacing Graig Nettles, traded during the winter to the Yankees. Bell responded by earning his first all-star appearance, and first of five career invitations. In Cleveland, he batted .274 (1016-for-3712) with 64 homers and 285 RBI over his first seven big-league seasons.

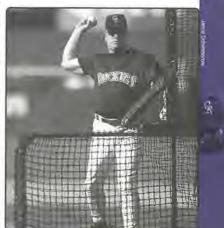

In Texas — The Indians dealt him to Texas for INF Toby Harrah after the 1978 campaign and Bell became one of the most popular players in Rangers history. In his first of two stints in Texas, Bell hit .295 (1045-for-3541) with 87 homers and 496 RBI in 924 games. He made four more all-star appearances and earned six consecutive Rawlings Gold Gloves his first six seasons in Arlington (1979-84). Texas named him its Player of the Year three times (1979, 1981-82), more than any player in franchise history except Juan Gonzalez (five). In 1979, he led the club with 162 games, 670 at-bats, 200 hits and 42 doubles, all Rangers single-season records at the time, while tying for the league lead with 16 game-winning RBI. In 1980, Bell built a career-high 21-game hitting streak. On April 10, 1992, he tied a major-league record by homering twice on Opening Day, in his old park at Cleveland. In 1984, he finished fourth in the AL with a .315 average. He posted his 2,000th hit April 26, 1985 vs. Toronto. Later that summer, the Rangers traded him to Cincinnati for OF Duane Walker and RHP Jeff Russell. He returned to Texas to finish his career, signing as a free-agent before the '89 season.

In Cincinnati — In four full seasons with his hometown Reds, from July 1985 to June 1988, Bell batted .266 (370-for-1391) with 43 homers and 184 RBI in 386 games. Bell arrived in Cincinnati months before his manager, Pete Rose, broke Ty Cobb's career hit record (Rose started Bell at third base, batting fifth, in the historic contest). The following season, his first full NL campaign, he hit a career-high 20 homers. Bell's 1997 season included his 1,000th RBI (April 18 vs. Houston), an NL-leading .979 fielding percentage at third base, and only seven errors, which would've set the NL record had he played eight more games to reach the minimum qualification, 150. In June, 1988, the Reds dealt him to Houston for a PTBN (Carl Grovom).

In Houston — In only three and-a-half months with the Astros (the last half of 1988), he hit seven homers to tie for third on the club. He led the team with 18 RBI in July and his one RBI every two games was the club's second-best ratio, behind Glenn Davis (1:1.54).

Personal — David Gus (Buddy) Bell...he and his wife, Gloria, have five children; David (28), Mike (25), Ricky (21), Kristi (18) and Traci (15)...born in Pittsburgh, his family moved to Cincinnati after his father was traded from the Pirates to the Reds before the '53 season...his Team USA earned the silver medal at the 1999 Pan Am games...His father, Gus, played for the Pirates, Reds, Mets and Braves from 1950-64. Like his son, the elder Bell also led his league in fielding, in both 1958 and '59 with the Reds...Each of Buddy's three sons plays professionally...David, who has six seasons of big-league experience, is Seattle's starting third baseman. Mike, Texas' compensation selection in the 1993 June draft, is in camp with the Rockies, and Ricky, the Dodgers' third-round selection in the 1997 June draft, continues to work in the Dodgers system. A 1969 graduate of Cincinnati's Moeller High School, Buddy was the first of seven prospects from that school to advance to the major leagues (Ken Griffey, Jr., Barry Larkin, Bill Long and Len Matuszek, as well as Bell's three sons)...He attended Xavier University and Miami of Ohio...The Texas Baseball Hall of Fame inducted him in 1988...Also in 1988 he won the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award, presented by Phi delta Theta fraternity.

Strength Coach, Quality Control Administrator

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 225 Age: 38 (turns 39 on November 27)

Born: 11/27/62 in Elyria, Ohio

Residence: Denver, Colo.

Major League Coaching Experience: 11 seasons

The 2001 season: Brad Andress joined the Rockies coaching staff Nov. 1, 1999 and enters his second season with the club, his 12th in major league baseball. Quickly after coming to Colorado, he implemented a thorough off-season conditioning program, and many players became acquainted with him over the winter. He works out side-by-side with most of the players, performing the same exercises. Brad's role is unique in major league baseball. In addition to his strenghth and conditioning work, Andress is a member of Buddy Bell's coaching staff. He gives the Rockies a bonus they'd previously never had on a major league staff: a coach who throws batting practice left-handed. As quality control administrator, his third role, Brad handles all of Bell's administrative duties, such as implementing traveling dress codes and preparing the team's state of mind before each game; he serves as a communication outlet for players, and oversees everything that enters the clubhouse in an effort to keep the team focused. Andress' position and presence in the clubhouse is meant to send a message to both the current players as well as the rest of baseball: the club cares about its players—their physical conditioning, preparation, mental state and overall outlook—at a level above the industry's standard.

Coaching Experience: Andress joined the Rockies from the Detroit Tigers, where he served 10 seasons (1990-99) in a similar strength and conditioning capacity. From 1996-98, he worked under his current manager, Buddy Bell. While in the Motor City, Brad designed and implemented conditioning programs for not only the Tigers' major league players, but also their organizational players. He also assisted the Tigers as they upgraded their computer system. Before moving to Detroit, he worked four years as the strength/conditioning coach in the University of Michigan's athletic department. While in Ann Arbor, he conditioned the Wolverines' 1989 NCAA Men's Basketball National Champions.

Athletic Playing Career: An offensive guard at Penn State, Brad played four seasons under Coach Joe Paterno, including 1982, when the Nittany Lions won the national championship by defeating Georgia in the Sugar Bowl. Before college, he earned three letters in baseball at Elyria (Ohio) High School.

Personal: Brad and his wife, Inger, have five children: Hanna (10), Ingrid (9), Lars (8), Bria (5) and Britta (4). He has a bachelor's degree in exercise physiology from Penn State, and a master's in exercise physiology from the University of Michigan.

Third-Base Coach

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 185 Age: 54 (turns 55 on August 3)
Born: 8/3/46 in Steubenville, Ohio
Residence: Parker, Colo.
Major League Coaching Experience: 19 seasons

The 2001 season: Rich Donnelly begins his 20th season as a big-league coach, and third with the Rockies. This year marks his 35th in the pro game.

Goaching/Managing Career: Donnelly served under Jim Leyland from 1986-99, the former manager's longest professional coaching relationship. From 1986-91, Donnelly coached in the Pirates bullpen, before moving to the third-base box in 1992. He coached under Leyalnd from 1997-98 with Florida, including the Marlins' 1997 world championship season, and 1999 with the Rockies. Rich embarked on a 10-year minor-league managerial career in 1972, when the Texas Rangers appointed him to their Single-A Greenville club. Donnelly garnered Western Carolinas League Manager of the Year in each of his first three seasons as a minor-league skipper. He steered Gastonia to an outright league championship in 1974, after finishing first during each half. He jumped two levels to earn his first Triple-A post in 1976, with Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League, his first of six total seasons managing at AAA. Tucson, Ariz., the Rockies' spring base, marks a homecoming of sorts after Rich managed there for three seasons (1977-79). In 1980, he made his first appearance on a major-league staff, coaching the bullpen for the Rangers, a club that included Buddy Bell. The following season, Donnelly returned to the minors, this time to the American Association, to guide AAA Wichita (1981) and Denver (1982). The Rangers brought him back to coach first base in 1983, and he remained in Arlington until Leyland hired him in 1986 and brought him to Pittsburgh.

Playing Career: A former left-handed hitting catcher, Donnelly signed with the Minnesota Twins in 1967. Rich launched his minor-league career with St. Cloud of the Northern League. He concluded his playing days in the Mile High City, where he spent one and-a-half seasons with the Denver Bears. In four minor-league seasons, Donnelly batted .230 with two homers and 115 RBI.

Personal: Richard Francis Donnelly...he and his wife, Bert, have eight children: Bubba (28), Amy (26), John (25), Tiffany (22), Mike (21), Leigh Anne (21), Tim (20) and Adam (17)...the family resides in Parker, Colo....a 1969 graduate of Xavier University, he holds a bachelor's degree in education...he played baseball and basketball at Steubenville (Ohio) Catholic Central High School...he has won the prestigious Ted Dragasich Racquetball Tournament in Weirton, W.V., nine straight years.

The 2001 manager & staff, at a glance

The 2001 season marks the first in which the Rockies return an entire coaching staff. Bob Gebhard, the team's first GM (1992-99), annually promoted an organizational staff member to serve as the bullpen coach. The Rockies also had three managers in three years from 1998-2000. Here's a closer look at Buddy Bell and his 2001 staff...

Senior Advisor

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 180 Age: 80 (turns 81 on September 15)
Born: 9/15/20 in East St. Louis, III.

Residence: San Diego

Major League Managing Experience: Four and-a-half years

Major League Coaching Experience: 11 seasons

The 2001 season: Dave Garcia marks his 64th season in professional ball. According to the Hall of Fame, he is the third-oldest major league coach/manager in history (after Jimmie Reese, Babe Ruth's former roommate who coached for the Angels at age 92 in 1994, and Connie Mack, who retired at age 88 after the 1950 season with the Philadelphia A's). Sixty current members of the Hall of Fame are younger than Dave and he's talked to every one of them. He joins the Rockies at spring training, and most of their regular season games at Coors Field and in California. He's also a member of the Colorado scouting staff.

Managerial Career: Garcia managed in the majors for all or parts of six seasons. He compiled a 307-310 (.498) cumulative record, managing Don Baylor and Nolan Ryan in Anaheim, and Toby Harrah in Cleveland. Dave resigned his Indians post after the 1982 season. He entered managing in 1948, when Carl Hubbell asked him to guide the Giants' affiliate in the Tri-State League, Knoxville, which included Hoyt Wilhelm. In 1954 at Sioux City Garcia managed Bill White, the future NL president. And, in 1955, he helped Orlando Cepeda get playing time in Indiana, before the outfielder joined the Giants system.

Coaching Experience: Dave has served all or parts of 11 seasons as a major league coach. Preston Gomez gave Garcia his first big-league assignment, replacing Sparky Anderson on the San Diego staff. He also coached under Frank Robinson and Jeff Torborg in Cleveland, Norm Sherry with the Angels, and Harvey Kuenn and Rene Lachemann with Milwaukee. On the Indians staff in the mid 1970s, he first met Buddy Bell, a Tribe third baseman. Before that he worked in San Diego with current coach Fred Kendall.

Playing Career: A 16-year-old shortstop/second baseman, Dave signed his first pro contract in 1937. His injury-plagued career peaked in the Triple-A American Association; it ended after he broke his hand as a player/manager at Danville in 1957. A World War II veteran, Garcia served from 1943-45.

Scouting Gareer: Garcia has 22 years of scouting experience, eight with the Giants (1958-63), six as a special assignment scout for Milwaukee (1985-91) and eight evaluating the NL for the Angels (1992-99).

Personal: David Garcia...he has three grown children, Marilyn, Cathleen and David...during the late 1970s his son David played two years in the Yankee organization.

NISSUN KUINGLU Bullpen Catcher

Nilsson Robledo became the third bullpen catcher in club history, Feb. 3, 2000, following Mike Shepard (1993-94) and Todd Maulding (1995-99).

Robledo, 32, spent seven seasons (1990-96) in the Chicago White Sox system, playing mostly first base. In 1995, he set franchise records at Single-A South Bend with 108 RBI, 153 hits, 537 at-bats and 135 games played. That year, his hits and RBI led the Midwest League, while his 20 homers and 243 total bases ranked third. His 108 RBI were the third most in all of minor league ball. The previous year, 1994, at South Bend, he set a franchise record with a .445 slugging percentage. He's also played in the Gulf Coast and Florida State leagues. His career peaked at Triple-A in 1996.

Born Nov. 3, 1968 in Entrega, Panama, Nilsson signed with the White Sox as a non-drafted free agent in 1989. Rockies skipper Buddy Bell came to know Robledo in the early 1990s, when Bell served as the system's director of minor league instruction (1991-93). Nilsson still makes his home in Entrega.

Major League Managing Experience: One season Major League Coaching Experience: Six seasons

The 2001 season: Toby Harrah embarks on his 34th season in pro ball, his second with the Rockies. He has coached or managed each year since his retirement in 1986. And, Colorado marks the third organization in which he's worked with Buddy Bell, including Detroit and Cincinnati.

Managerial Career: Harrah has spent all or parts of four years as a skipper, including the last half of the 1992 season as interim manager of the Rangers, succeeding Bobby Valentine. Texas went 32-44 under Harrah, who took over July 9. Toby also assumed managerial duty for the Rockies Aug. 28-29, 2000, while Bell served a two-game suspension; the Rockies went 1-1 at Philadelphia, although by rule the games counted in Bell's managerial record. Harrah made his mark in 1995, at the helm of the Mets' Triple-A club, Norfolk. That season, the International League Manager of the Year guided the Tides to the league's best record (86-56), a division flag and an appearance in the circuit championship. Harrah's first two seasons after retirement were at the reins of Oklahoma City, the Rangers' Triple-A club.

Coaching Experience: After Buddy Bell departed to manage Detroit, Harrah replaced him on the Cleveland staff (1996). Toby also coached under Valentine in Texas, and has five years experience as an organizational hitting instructor with the Rangers (1993-94), Tigers (1997-98) and Reds (1999). His first year on the Rangers major league staff, 1989, was spent with Bell, who retired during that season.

Playing Career: The former third baseman spent 17 seasons in the majors. He broke into the bigleagues as a shortstop, making his major league debut with Washngton in 1969. After moving with the franchise to Texas, he posted 20 homers on three occasions. In '72, he earned his first all-star invitation then returned to the midsummer classic two times (1976 and 1982). On Dec. 8, 1978, the Rangers traded him to the Indians in exchange for Buddy Bell. Toby's five seasons with the Tribe produced a .281 average, 70 homers and 324 RBI. After one season with the Yankees, Harrah returned to finish his career in Texas. He remains the career franchise leader in walks (668) and only Jim Sundberg and Juan Gonzalez have played more games in a Rangers uniform.

Personal: Colbert Dale "Toby" Harrah...he and his wife, Janet, have four children, Toby (27), Haley (22), Katie (20) and Thomas (17)...he lettered in baseball, basketball and football at Elgin (Ohio) High School, earning a football scholarship to Ohio Northern University, before launching his baseball career...he is a member of the Texas Baseball Hall of Fame.

Clint HURDLE Hitting Coach

Hitting Coach

Hit: 6-3 Wi: 210 Age: 43 (turns 4

Born: 7/30/57 in Big Rapids, Mich. Residence: Palm City. Fla.

Major League Coaching Experience: Four seasons

Age: 43 (turns 44 on July 30)

The 2001 season: The only Rockies hitting instructor to coach for more than one season, Hurdle enters his fifth year tutoring Colorado's big-league hitters, his eighth overall year with the organization, and 27th in professional baseball.

Managing/Coaching Experience: Hurdle, who doubled as the club's first-base coach from 1997-98, is one of the only coaches in major league history to remain on a staff through two managerial changes. During his first four seasons with Rockies hitters, the club has established the NL club home-run record (239 in 1997), compiled the NL's top two club averages in 70 years (.294 in 2000 and .291 in 1998; the 1930 Giants hit .3185), the league's most base hits since 1930 (1,664 in 2000), and in 1999 established NL records with 2,696 total bases and 567 extra-base hits, each the highest league marks since 1930. What's more, during Clint's tenure, the Rockies have earned four of their six consecutive club batting titles, breaking an 85-year-old major league record. Before joining the big-league staff, Hurdle served as the system's minor-league hitting instructor from 1994-96; in that role he became acquainted with many of the Rockies hitters, working with the established players in spring training and the younger prospects during their time in the farm system. Before joining the Rockies, Clint managed in the Mets system for six seasons, most recently piloting Norfolk (AAA).

Playing Career. After the Royals drafted him in the first-round at age 17, Hurdle quickly climbed the organizational ladder. He not only made the AAA club (Omaha) in his third pro season in 1977, but he also earned the American Association Rookie of the Year and All-Star Game MVP. He made his major-league debut Sept. 18, 1977 and kicked off a 10-year big-league career, which included five seasons in Kansas City and tours with Cincinnati, New York (NL) and St. Louis... Baseball Digest and Topps named him to their 1978 All-Rookie squads. In 1980, his best overall season, he batted .294 with 10 homers and 60 RBI on the Royals' AL championship club...during the 1980 World Series against the Phillies, he hit .417 (5-for-12). Hurdle spent the majority of his time in the outfield, but also worked at the corner infield spots and behind the plate.

Personal: Clinton Merrick (Clint) Hurdle...he and his wife, Karla, make their off-season home in Palm City, Fla....Clint has a daughter, Ashley (15)...a 1975 graduate of Merritt Island (Fla.) High School, he lettered in baseball, football and basketball...a star quarterback, he had signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Miami (Fla), but chose to sign with Kansas City later in the year after the Royals selected him in the June draft...an All-American prep baseball player, he batted .567 his senior season...Hurdle also selects the movies played on the two-hour spring bus rides from Tucson to Phoenix.

Fred KENDALL

Bullpen Coach, Catching Instructor

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 210 Age: 52 Born: 1/31/49 in Torrance, Calif. Residence: Torrance, Calif. Major League Coaching Experience: Four seasons

The 2001 season: Fred Kendall joined the Rockies staff from the Cincinnati Reds, where he served as a roving catching instructor during the '99 season. Like Rich Donnelly and Toby Harrah, Kendall's first year in pro ball was 1967. Kendall is the first catching instructor in Rockies history.

Managing/Goaching Experience: Kendall makes his second appearance on a major league staff and begins his fifth season in that capacity. From 1996-98, he was Buddy Bell's bullpen coach with the Detroit Tigers. He is the only Colorado coach who previously worked under Bell at the major league level. Before his stint in Detroit, Fred managed four seasons in the White Sox system. He guided Utica (1992) and Hickory (1994) to their respective postseasons. During that '94 season, Hickory went 46-17 after July 1, en route to the White Sox organization's best record.

Playing Career: The former catcher spent 12 seasons in the majors with the Padres, Indians and Red Sox. He made his major league debut Sept. 8, 1969, only three days after a prospective shortstop named Toby Harrah debuted with the Washington Senators in the other league. Fred's best overall season came in 1973, when he earned San Diego's MVP honors from the local chapter of the baseball writers. Dave Garcia, who joins Kendall on the Rockies staff, coached for the Padres during Fred's first years in the majors. In 1976, he led NL catchers in games (146) and only Johnny Bench (.997) finished with a higher fielding percentage than Fred (.994). For two seasons (1975-76), he caught every game for San Diego ace Randy Jones, who won 42 games during the period. The hurler in '75 led the NL with a 2.24 ERA and earned the Cy Young in 1976, when he led the league with 22 wins, 25 CG and 315.0 IP. Kendall and Bell were teammates with the 1977 Cleveland Indians, along with Duane Kuiper and Dennis Eckersley. After a brief tour in the American League, Kendall returned to San Diego to finish his career.

Personal: Fred Lyn Kendall...he and his wife, Patricia, have three children: Michael (29), Jason (26) and Kathy (22)...Jason, the starting catcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates the last five seasons and 1992 first-round draft pick, has already earned two all-star appearances.

Marcel LACHEMANN

Pitching Coach

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 185 Age: 59 (turns 60 on June 13)

Born: 6/13/41 in Los Angeles Residence: Penryn, Calif.

Major League Managing Experience: Three seasons Major League Coaching Experience: 14 seasons

The 2001 season: Marcel Lachemann enters his 34th season in pro baseball, his 39th including five years of college assistance. Highly regarded, he is the fourth pitching coach in club history, and he's serving his fourth major league organization. Marcel's been a pitching coach for all or parts of 23 seasons, 14 at the major league level.

Managing/Coaching Experience: Lachemann has managed 330 major league games on either a full-time or interim basis (1994-96, all with the Angels). The Los Angeles native came to Colorado from the Anaheim Angels, where he served for 17 years, most recently as minor league field coordinator (1999). Lachemann began his first tenure with the Angels in 1982, as roving pitching instructor (1982-83). He was the Angels' major league pitching coach from 1984-92, and from 1997-98. All told, he coached under six Angel managers: John McNamara, Gene Mauch, Cookie Rojas, Doug Rader, Buck Rodgers and Terry Collins. Marcel's first coaching experience was with the Montreal organization (1973-75), where he worked with future all-stars Steve Rogers and Gary Carter as a roving minor league instructor. In 1992, he left the Angels to become the first pitching coach in Marlins history, joining his brother, Rene, who managed the club. The next season, Marcel returned to the Angels to become manager, May 17, 1994. He went 160-170 in parts of three seasons guiding California, including a second-place finish in the AL West in 1995. He resigned Aug. 6, 1996. From 1977-81, Lachemann was an assistant coach at his alma mater, the University of Southern California. During that time, he recruited Mark McGwire, a pitching prospect out of Claremont, Calif. In 1999, he served as pitching coach under Buddy Bell for Team USA.

Playing Career: Lachemann lettered at USC from 1960-62, helping the Trojans to the 1961 College World Series title. Art Lilly of the Kansas City Athletics signed Marcel to his first professional contract in 1962. He reached the major leagues with Oakland, who'd recently relocated from Kansas City, and pitched for parts of three seasons with the A's (1969-71). The right-hander was 7-4 with a 3.45 ERA in 70 career major league games.

Personal: Marcel Ernest Lachemann...he and his wife, Suzi, have two sons, Brett (34) and Brad (31)...like Bell, Lachemann belongs to a highly prominent baseball family...Marcel and Rene in 1994 became the first brothers to manage at the same time in the majors since Harry (Boston Braves) and George Wright (Providence) in 1879...Rene is currently Don Baylor's Cubs bench coach; Marcel and Rene played together with the lowa Oaks ('72)...another brother, Bill, is the Angels' AAA hitting coach.

Dallas WILLIAMS

First-Base Coach, Outfield & Baserunning Instructor

Ht: 5-11 Wt: 190 Age: 43 Born: 2/28/58 in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Residence: Indianapolis

Major League Coaching Experience: Second season

The 2001 season: Dallas Williams is in his second year with the Rockies, his 23rd in professional baseball. This season also marks the southpaw's second as a major league coach.

Managing/Goaching Experience: Dallas came to Colorado from the White Sox organization, where he spent nine overall seasons, most recently as the hitting coach at Bristol, the club's Appalachian Rookie League affiliate. In 1998, he served as the hitting coach at Winston-Salem, who led its circuit in home runs and finished second in club average. Dan O'Dowd, now the Rockies' executive vice president and general manager, gave Williams his first position after retirement, as a coach for the Indians' Carolina League affiliate, Kinston, in 1989, O'Dowd, the Indians' farm director at the time, also gave Bell his first position after retirement in 1990. Bell worked with Williams that year when the two were roving instructors in the Cleveland system.

Playing Gareer: Another former first-round draft choice (Baltimore 1976, 20th overall), Williams began his playing career in the Orioles chain. The outfielder made his major league debut with the O's, Sept. 19, 1981, and made one other stop in the majors, with Cincinnati in 1983. The Reds obtained him from Baltimore with pitcher Brooks Carey for C Joe Nolan in March, 1982, before trading him back to Baltimore in 1984. Dallas earned all-star honors at Indianapolis (AAA) in both 1983 and 1987; he posted American Association batting titles each of those seasons and led the circuit with 168 hits in '83. He also led his league in outfield assists in 1976 (11) and 1983 (16). Plus, he led the International League with 51 steals in 1981. His Indianapolis club won the league championship in back-to-back years, 1986-87. He played for Felipe Alou with the Triple-A Indians in 1985.

Personal: Dallas McKinley Williams, Jr....he and his wife, Teal, make their home in the Indianapolis area...Williams has two children, Dallas III and Dior...a product of Abraham Lincoln High School in Brooklyn, N..Y, Williams garnered All-City accolades three times in baseball and twice in basketball.

Dan "Chico" McGinn is in his ninth season managing the Rockies' club house and equipment. He is the only individual ever to hold that position.

McGinn, 34, joined the Rockies from the Twins, where he spent nine seasons (1984-92). With the Twins, Chico served as the assistant clubhouse manager for the World Series champions in 1987 and '91. He was also a bat boy at the 1985 All-Star Game at the Metrodome.

His responsibilities include ordering every piece of equipment and handling players' needs in shoes, bats and uniforms. McGinn also handles all the club's equipment transportation, both to spring training and on road trips. In addition, he assembles the players' postgame meals.

Born Oct. 4, 1966, Chico, his wife, Annetta, and their dog, Murphy, make their Denver home two blocks from the ballpark.

Tom Probst is in his 10th season with the Rockies. An original hire when the team began minor-league play in 1992, he was promoted to head trainer Oct. 27, 1998. The second head trainer in Rockies history, "TP" teams with assistant Keith Dugger to return players to active duty.

Probst served as the trainer for the franchise's first group of draftees, during a June 1992, mini-camp. Later that year, he was the trainer of the first team in organizational history, Bend in the Northwest League.

The '92 campaign marked a return to pro baseball for Probst, who spent five years in the Montreal organization dating back to 1981.

Probst has two degrees: one in physical education from Mankato State University ('81) and a B.S. in physical therapy from Florida International University ('88). A Minnesota native, he attended Brainerd (Minn.) High School.

He and his wife, Gina, reside in Littleton with their three sons, Daniel, Nicholas and Christopher. Also a horse owner, TP relaxes away from the ballpark at a local stable.

(HIII) LILLY HAssistant Athletic Trainer

Keith Dugger begins his third season as Colorado's top assistant in the major league training room.

The 2001 campaign marks his 12th year in pro baseball, his ninth in the Rockies organization. He began his current duties Nov. 1, 1998.

Dugger, 35, assists in all areas of the club's day-to-day training regimen. He works with players during every month of the year.

Before coming to Coors Field, "Doogle" worked at three levels of the Rockies' minor-league system: Bend (A), New Haven (AA) and Colorado Springs (AAA). He joined Colorado after three years (1990-92) as a trainer in the Padres chain.

Keith and his wife, Shannon, reside in Littleton with their daughter, Tianna Cherie. He has a bachelor's degree from San Diego State ('88).

WIKE Hamillon Coordinator of Video Coaching

Mike Hamilton, who joined the club Jan. 1, 2000, is in his second year with the Rockies. His department produced about 800 cassettes last season.

Hamilton, 35, worked from 1990-99 for the major league scouting bureau. He also held a similar capacity for Team USA in 1999. Mike broke into baseball in 1982 as a bat boy for the Texas Rangers, when Buddy Bell played there.

The former catcher signed with the Rangers organization in 1987. Injuries limited his career and he retired after three years in the Texas and Atlanta chains.

Born Sept. 4, 1965, Mike and his wife, Merideth, have a daughter, Mackenzie (2), and make their home in Highlands Ranch. The couple is expecting a second child in June. His father, Carl, holds a similar position with the Seattle Mariners.

UITS TASILA C Assistant Clubhouse & Equipment Manager

Chris Rasnake begins his eighth season with the Rockies, and his 17th in pro baseball. He began his current position Jan. 1, 2000.

Rasnake, 30, has assisted the Rockies in spring training every year except 1998, when he served as the Arizona Diamondbacks' minor league equipment manager. "Snake" has worked for the Tucson Triple-A club as visiting clubhouse manager (1989-99), assistant clubhouse manager (1986-88) and bat boy (1985).

Born July 21, 1970, Chris is single and makes his home in Aurora. He graduated from Tucson's Catalina High School.

DOUG KUSSEL Assistant Video Coordinator

Doug Russell begins his second season with the Rockies. He joined the club March 22, 2000.

Russell, 32, works with the major league players and coaches, as well as the scouting and player development staffs. Before coming to Colorado, he spent seven years in the U.S. Marine Corps as an intelligence analyst and Russian linguist. After that, he worked for a cable TV station in Fairfax, Va., where he called play-by-play and produced broadcasts for the Prince William Cannons. He's also interned for the Tacoma Rainers.

Born, Nov. 28, 1968 in Seattle, Russell is single and lives in Denver.

KEILII SUILL Visiting Clubhouse Manager

Keith Schulz has managed the visiting clubhouse for the Rockies since their inaugural season. He's now in his ninth year with the club.

Schulz, 38, joined the Rockies after serving as equipment manager for both the AAA Denver Zephyrs and Metro State College from 1988-92.

A former infielder, "Schulzey" played one season for Pat Daugherty at Indian Hills Community College, then transferred to Metro State College of Denver, where he earned all-conference honors as a shortstop.

Born Feb. 24, 1963 in Denver, Schulz and his wife, Melinda, and newborn son, Aaron, live in Highlands Ranch with their two boxer dogs. He has a degree in psychology from Metro State ('86).

Head Groundskeeper

Mark Razum is in his seventh season as Coors Field's head groundskeeper, his 24th year in the profession. He has built one of the top surfaces in professional sports, working in baseball's only park that annually receives rain and snow during the regular season. This past off-season, he supervised the complete replacement of the Coors Field sod.

Razum's peers named him the 1998 Turf/Grass Professional of the Year, an award presented by the Rocky Mountain Turf/Grass Association. He won the honor partly because of an incredible star design he and his staff cut into the grass during the '98 All-Star Game.

Joining the Rockies in October, 1994, "Razz" served six years at the reins of the Athletics' grounds crew at the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum, where players voted his surface the best in the AL for three straight seasons (1992-94). Prior to that, he spent seven years in charge of spring surfaces for Oakland (1984-89) and the Angels (1982-84). His groundskeeping career began in 1978 at old Municipal Stadium in his native Cleveland.

Mark and his wife, Katherine, make their home in Aurora.

Coors Field's new surface

Over the off-season, the Rockies grounds crew replaced the original Coors Field playing surface with an improved variety of Kentucky Bluegrass.

- ♦ Before installing the new turf, the grounds crew repaired Coors Field's heat warming system. The system allows the Rockies to control the soil temperature, keeping the grass green and melting snow accumulation.
- Using laser technology, a precision grade was established, which assures that throughout the playing surface, the difference in blade elevation does not exceed onesixteenth of an inch.
- ◆ The new Kentucky Bluegrass is called "Five Steps Above."
- It has five hybrid varieties of bluegrass, which are superior in appearance, playability and durability.

Dr. Riciam J. Hawkins Medical Director

Dr. Richard Hawkins is known throughout professional and college sports as one of the leading minds in his field.

After graduating from the University of Western Ontario with a degree in orthopedics, Dr. Hawkins has remained in the educational arena. A clinical professor, he teaches at the University of Colorado and University of Texas Southwestern Medical Schools.

Born in Canada, Hawkins is well known in his native country as well. He has presided over the Canadian Academy of Sports Medicine and served as Team Canada's physician during the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary.

A founding member of the American Shoulder and Elbow Surgeons association, Dr. Hawkins was recently listed as one of the United States' 100 premiere physicians. He's also been honored in the Who's Who national directory of Executives and Professionals.

Ur. Allen Scireider Internal Medicine

Now in his ninth season with the Rockies, Dr. Allen Schreiber has handled the club's internal medicine needs since 1993.

Schreiber is currently chief of the Division of Gastroenterology at Rose Medical Center. He also operates a private practice, the Schreiber Clinic.

In previous winters, Schreiber has served as the Denver Nuggets team physician and has also worked with the Colorado Avalanche.

A cum laude graduate of Johns Hopkins University ('73), he completed medical school at the New York Medical College, where he graduated in 1976 with valedictorian honors and the David Spiro Award for excellence in pathology.

Schreiber and his wife, Lisa, have a son, David, and two daughters, Jillian and Arielle.

Physical Therapist

Mike Allen is in his second season with the Rockies. The director of physical therapy at Steadman-Hawkins, he joined the club before the 2000 season.

Allen, who holds a master's in physical therapy (Wichita State '94), is a certified athletic trainer and certificed strength and conditioning specialist. Allen's worked for Steadman-Hawkins since 1995, as well as with the Denver Broncos. He's also made presentations at seminars on shoulder and knee rehabilitation.

A former defensive back at Fort Hays State, Mike earned All-America honors both on the field and in the classroom in 1990. He received his bachelor's in 1992 before moving on to Wichita State.

The Rockies medical team

The Steadman-Hawkins clinics, in Denver and Vail, serve as the club's official medical team. Dr. Richard Steadman is the team's official orthopedic consultant for knee injuries.

In addition, during spring training, Dr. Jon Wang (orthopedist) and Dr. Steve Krope (internal medicine) will also be on hand to assist the club physicians and trainers in Tucson.

Contract: Final year of a four-year contract, through 2001

PEDRO ASTACIO

Acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for infielder Eric Young, Aug. 18, 1997...in little more than three years with the Rockies, Astacio has captured the lead in most franchise pitching categories, including wins (47) and strikeouts (624)...Pedro enters his 10th major league season, eyeing his 100th career victory, his 300th career game and 250th career start...one of a handful of pitchers who've made at least 30 starts in each of the last five seasons, "Petey" made 239 major league starts before injury forced him to miss an assignment (Sept. 21, 2000)...Astacio might open the season as Colorado's only right-handed starter, which would make the Rockies the first team since the 1980-81 Yankees with four southpaws in its rotation... Astacio once threw a club-record 153 pitches on one night in 1999...one of the clubhouse's most outgoing personalities, Pedro has aclimated four pitches in his arsenal to work effectively at altitude...and most importantly, he wants to pitch in Denver and at Coors Field.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Astacio completed his ninth major league season, his third full year with the Rockies.

- · For the third straight season, he led the staff in strikeouts (193, eighth in the NL).
- Fourteen of his 32 starts were quality (6.0-plus IP, three-or-less ER)...the Rockies were 8-6 in those 14 games,...the right-hander went at least 7.0 innings 15 times and hurled three complete games, most on the staff...he allowed two or fewer earned runs in 10 starts, and walked two or fewer 14 times.
- ◆ The Rockies were 15-17 when he took the hill...alltime in Pedro's 107 starts, Colorado is 58-49 (.542).
- Colorado scored 193 runs in his 32 starts (6.03 per game).
- On April 3 at Atlanta, he made his first career Opening Day start, against Greg Maddux... Astacio shut out the Braves over the season's first 6.1 innings, before allowing back-to-back homers to Andres Galarraga and Andruw Jones in the seventh...in a 2-0 loss, he allowed just six hits, on one walk and five Ks.

AN EARLY WINNING EPIDEMIC: The Rockies lost three of Pedro's first four starts, but they rebounded to win seven consecutive Astacio outings...after a win May 29 vs. Houston, the Rockies were 8-3 over Astacio's first 11 assignments.

- He won a career-best six consecutive decisions, April 14-May 24...over the six winning starts, he compiled a 3.60 ERA (45.0 ip, 18 er) with 14 walks, 48 strikeouts and a .251 opponent average.
- Included in the streak was his season's first complete game, May 8 at Houston, a three-hitter in which his only run came on a Richard Hidalgo homer...he allowed just two runners past second base, and only four past first, while walking two and fanning 10.

IN THE RECORD BOOK: Astacio in 2000...

- Became the franchise's winningest pitcher, with his 40th Colorado win, May 19 at Philly...he surpassed Kevin Ritz, who won 39 games from 1994-98.
- Took a no-hitter into the seventh inning, July 23 vs. San Diego...the start tied his own club record, 6.0 hitless innings to start a game (also 8/10/99 at Milwaukee)...Petey was perfect over his first 4.1 innings, until hitting Bret Boone in the fifth (he quickly erased Boone by inducing the next batter, Ruben Rivera, into a GDP)...Al Martin broke up the no-hit bid with a single to lead off the seventh... Astacio allowed two eighth-inning runs, left with the game tied, and the Rockies eventually lost, 6-4 in 10 innings.
- Recorded his 500th K in a Rockies uniform, extending his own club strikeout mark, May 24 vs. Chicago...he finished the season with 624 Rockies strikeouts.
- Became the franchise leader in innings pitched, June 9 vs. Texas...he surpassed Ritz (576.1 IP, 1994-99).
- Made his 99th start in a Rockies uniform, Aug. 6 vs. Philadelphia, becoming the franchise's all-time leader...Ritz started 98 from 1994-98...Astacio finished the year with 107 starts in a Colorado uniform.

THE FIRST-INNING CRYSTAL BALL: When Astacio pitched well in the first inning, for the most part, he pitched well the rest of the game...however, when he struggled in the first frame, he usually struggled the rest of the game.

 In the first inning overall, he compiled a 6.97 ERA (31.0 ip, 24 er) with 44 hits, seven homers, 12 walks and 22 strikeouts...without the first inning, he compiled a 4.95 ERA (165.1 ip, 91 er).

- He allowed first-inning runs in 14 of his 32 starts...when Astacio pitched a shutout first inning, he was 8-3; when Astacio allowed at least one first-inning tally, he was 4-6.
- In two straight starts, Sept. 6 and Sept. 10, he had horrible luck with the game's first pitch...Chicago's Eric Young lined Pedro's first and only offering, Sept. 6, back to the mound and off Astacio's pitching hand...Astacio's final line that day: 1 run, 1 hit and 1 pitch...on Sept. 10, former teammate Tom Goodwin lined Astacio's first pitch down the RF line for a double.

INJURIES: On Sept. 21, after his last start Sept. 15, Pedro missed the first starting assignment of his career (239 lifetime starts) due to injury.

- On Sept. 6 vs. Chicago, Eric Young lined Pedro's first and only pitch back to the mound...the Rockies took Pedro to the Steadman-Hawkins clinic for X-rays, which proved negative...swelling in the bruised right hand subsided enough to allow him to start four days and three games later, Sept. 10 vs. Los Angeles...in that start, however, he went 1.1 innings, his second shortest start in a Colorado uniform, behind his previous start, the one-pitch outing.
- On Sept. 15 at Dodger Stadium, he strained his left oblique muscle while batting in the top of the third inning...he went on to finish the bottom of that frame, retiring the Dodgers in order, but departed after 3.0 innings...the start marked his final 2000 appearance.
- He underwent minor surgery Oct. 9 on his left knee, ultimately the injury that ended his season...the procedure, which cleared up chronic inflammation in his patellar tendon, took place at the Steadman/Hawkins clinic in Vail, Colo

THE HAVE SHANG INOMPLETE GAME: On June 3 at Milwaukee, Pedro went 9.0 innings without a decision (9.0 ip, 5 h, 1 r, 0 er, 3 bb, 7 so)...the Rockies lost in 12 innings, 2-1...it marked his third such start, both in his career and with the Rockies (also Aug. 10, 1999 at Milwaukee and June 14, 1998 at Los Angeles).

STRIKEOUTS WERE HIS THING, AGAIN: Pedro's 193 strikeouts ranked second in club history, to his 210 in 1999...along with his 170 in 1998, he now has the top three single-season totals in team annals.

- In 2000, he recorded seven of the eight double-digit strikeout games by a Rockies pitcher...he now has 13 of the Rockies'18 double-digit K performances.
- Pedro finished third in the league with 8.8 strikeouts per nine IP...Randy Johnson (12.6) and Rick Ankiel (10.0) paced the circuit.
- He tied his career high with 12 K, Aug. 1 at Chicago.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Astacio emerged as the staff ace and earned Colorado Pitcher of the Year honors.

- In the NL, he finished third in strikeouts (210), third in complete games (7) and tied for eighth in wins (17, with Cy Young winner Randy Johnson)...the right-hander recorded nearly a quarter of the Rockies' 72 victories by tying the club record (Kevin Ritz in 1996) with a personal-high 17 wins...his 11 road victories finished second in the major leagues to Houston's Jose Lima (12).
- Astacio also established career and franchise highs in innings pitched (232.0) and strikeouts (210).
- His seven complete games not only set a Colorado single-season record, but also a club career mark.
- He struck out 10 or more hitters during five 1999 starts...Astacio reached the 1,000 milestone when he fanned Wilton Guerrero in the eighth inning at Montreal September 6.
- He got 6.48 runs of support per nine innings (fourth in the NL).
- With the bat, Pedro totaled a Colorado record for a pitcher with 20 hits, including his first career triple.
- Astacio lost his first three decisions, allowing 19 earned runs in just 20.1 innings...he did not record his

- first win until his fifth start, April 30 at Pittsburgh...take away his first four starts and Pedro went 17-8 with a 4.72 ERA (211.2 ip, 111 er) over his last 30 outings.
- Pedro opened the second half by posting six wins in his first seven decisions; he was particularly effective on the road, going 5-0 in six road starts after the ASB.
- On August 10 at Milwaukee, he set a club record by no-hitting the Brewers for the first 6.0 innings; Rich Becker's leadoff single in the seventh broke up Astacio's no-hit bid and he wound up with a nodecision, despite allowing just one unearned run and two hits over 9.0 innings.
- He won three of his four decisions in September, tying Ritz's single-season club record in his final start, September 29 vs. Arizona, his seventh CG.

1998: Astacio led the staff with a career-best and club-record 170 strikeouts.

- On May 29 vs. Houston, he reached his career 1,000inning plateau; in the same game, he hit three batters to tie the club record.
- On June 14 at Los Angeles, he worked 9.0 innings and allowed just three hits; he retired his last 14 Dodgers, but left with the score tied, 1-1.
- On September 12 at San Francisco, he matched

Mark Gardner's eight scoreless innings, before Jeff Reed's pinch-hit single in the top of the ninth scored the game's only run; Pedro did not allow a runner past first until the ninth inning.

- In his next start September 18, he blanked the Padres over his first eight innings, allowing just one runner past second...he left with one out in the ninth and earned the victory.
- In the finale September 27 vs. the Giants, he made his first relief appearance since April 11, 1997.

1997: On May 6, Pedro was 3-0 with a 2.00 ERA, but then dropped seven consecutive decisions (10 starts), May 13-June 24.

- He made his Colorado debut August 23 in Houston and recorded a no-decision despite eight K in 6.2 innings...his first Colorado win came August 28 vs. Seattle, the first of five straight wins.
- On September 14 at Atlanta, he set a career best with 12 strikeouts...Astacio totaled four of the Rockies' top five single-game strikeout performances in 1997.
- Colorado was 6-1 in the seven games that Pedro started and the club was 23-15 after his arrival.
- Combined with both clubs he was 12-10 with a 4.14
 ERA (202.1 ip, 93 er), 61 walks and 166 strikeouts.

1996: Over his final 17 appearances (15 starts) he was 5-3 with a 3.04 ERA (109.2 ip, 37 er).

- ◆ Pedro won five straight decisions, July 25 Sept. 2.
- He worked one game in relief vs. the Braves in the Division Series, pitching 1.2 scoreless innings.

1995: Pedro opened the season as the Dodgers' fifth starter and went 1-6 with a 4.82 ERA in his first 11 starts.

Year 1995 1996 NLDS T He made his first big-league relief appearance, June 23 at San Fran....he worked all three games of the NLDS, then pitched in the Dominican Winter League.

1994: He started the season in the Dodger rotation and fanned 11 hitters in his season debut, April 8 vs. Atlanta.

 Astacio had the fifth-best home ERA among NL starters (2.63, 11 starts) but led league starters in road ERA (6.31, 12 starts).

1993: In his first full season he led the Dodger staff with 14 wins.

He built a career-best 21 consecutive scoreless innings, September 12-24...he also had a 15-inning scoreless streak September 2-7...in his last 11 starts Pedro was 7-3 with a 1.82 ERA.

1992: Pedro began the season in Albuquerque (AAA), but joined the Dodgers June 2...the next day, in his major-league debut vs. the Phillies, he tossed a three-hit complete-game shutout...in fact, Astacio launched his career with four shutouts in his first 10 starts.

1991: Astacio opened the year in Vero Beach (A) and won five of his first eight decisions with a 1.67 ERA...promoted to San Antonio (AA) May 24.

1990: Combined at all three stops, he was 8-7 with a 3.99 ERA (119.2 ip), 42 walks and 97 Ks.

1989: An all-star in the Gulf Coast Rookie League, he led Kissimmee in wins, starts and innings.

Personal: Pedro Julio Astacio...he attended Pilar Rondon High School...he's contributed a portion of his salary to build two youth fields in his name (Colo. Springs and Denver)...signed by Ralph Avila and Elvio Jimenez.

Robert AVERETTE

Right-Handed Pitcher Ht: 6-2 Wt: 195 B/T: F

B/T: R/R Age: 24 (turns 25 on Sept. 30)

Born: 9/30/76 in Sylacauga, Ala.

Residence: Sylacauga, Ala. Major League Service: none

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

ROBERT AVERETTE

Acquired from the Cincinnati Reds organization for outfielder Brian L. Hunter, Aug. 6, 2000...Robert makes his first appearance in a major league camp, as the Rockies moved him to the 40-man roster in November...a control, ground-ball pitcher, the right-hander with a strong camp could open the year in Colorado Springs (AAA)...at Double-A, Averette in 2000 walked only 48 in 177.0 innings, or 2.44 per nine IP, and led the Southern League with a combined 13 wins...over his pro career, the right-hander has walked just 3.07 per nine innings...he led the Midwest League in ERA (2.58) for Rockford in 1999...in less than four full seasons, Robert has four shutouts and 11 complete games...since 1999, opponents have hit just .248 (319-for-1288) off him...at the end of the 2000 season, Baseball America rated him the 16th-best prospect in the Rockies organization.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: The Southern League all-star made three stops in two chains, including his Triple-A debut.

- Combined with Chattanooga (AA), Louisville (AAA) and Carolina (AA), he went 13-10 with a 2.89 ERA (177.0 IP, 57 ER), 48 walks and 120 strikeouts in 26 games, all starts.
- His 13 wins (combined with two clubs) led the Southern League.
- His 2.58 ERA at Double-A ranked 13th at that level, eighth in the Southern League.
- Promoted to Louisville, he made his Triple-A debut in 2000...Robert made just two starts at that level, allowing nine earned runs and 10 walks in 9.2 innings.
- After the Aug. 6 trade, Averette made his Colorado organizational debut...he closed the year with five starts for the Mudcats.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

AUCDITURE DADRED DESCRIPT

1999: Averette dominated the Single-A Midwest League, pitching for the Reds' Rockford affiliate, and closed the year back at Double-A.

- He hurled two complete games, both shutouts, for Rockford and led the circuit with a 2.58 ERA.
- Promoted to Chattanooga (AA), he made six starts in his second Double-A tour, including a CG.
- Combined for the two clubs, he was 11-6 with a 3.17 ERA in 25 games, all starts.

1998: Robert opened the year in the South Atlantic League, but finished it with his Double-A debut.

♦ With Charleston WV, a club that won both halves in its division pennant race, Robert compiled a 2.79 ERA, fired three complete games and earned his first Double-A promotion.

 Combined for both Charleston and Chattanooga, he was 10-12 with a 3.93 ERA in 28 games/starts.

1997: The right-hander made his pro debut in the Pioneer League, then quickly departed for Charleston WV (A)...Cincinnati's 21st-round selection in the 1997 June draft.

Personal: Robert Vann Averette...played collegiately at Florida A&M University...signed by Mike Mangan of the Reds.

Brian BOHANON

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 250 B/T: L/L Born: 8/1/68 in Denton, Texas

Residence: Houston

Major League Service: Eight years, 58 days

Contract: Third year of a three-year contract, through 2001

BRIAN BOHANON

Signed as a major league free agent, Nov. 7, 1998...the team's most experienced pitcher, Bohanon embarks on his 15th pro season in pro ball...Bo, who led the NL with a 2.789 road ERA last year, has pitched all or parts of 11 seasons in the majors...he's won 12 games each of his first two seasons with Colorado...Brian's resiliency has helped him overcome four arm surgeries, including an October, 1999, procedure to remove bone chips in his left elbow...the left-hander has pitched in 284 career contests (138 starts) with eight complete games, and two shutouts (both with the Rockies)...this season he needs one win for career No. 50 and 16 games for career No. 300...Bohanon has spent time with six organizations and pitched in 35 big-league parks...since joining Colorado, he's gone 24-22 with a 5.48 ERA.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Bohanon began the year in the starting rotation, but the Rockies used him in the bullpen once in April and permanently in May...after he turned in some of the finest relief numbers in the NL, he concluded the year back in the rotation.

- He matched his 1999 career high with 12 wins...Bohanon's 24 wins in a Rockies uniform are seventh on the all-time list, only two wins from fifth.
- ◆ Eleven of his 26 starts were quality (6.0-plus IP, three-or-less ER)...the Rockies were 9-2 in those 11 games...the left-hander went at least 7.0 innings seven times and hurled two complete games, and the team's only 2000 shutout, Sept. 13 at San Diego...he allowed two or fewer earned runs in nine starts, and walked two or fewer 10 times.
- The Rockies were 13-13 when he took the hill...alltime in Bohanon's 59 starts, Colorado is 30-29 (.508).
- Colorado scored 170 runs in his 26 starts (6.54 per).
- At Coors Field, he was 6-5 with a 6.65 ERA in 19 games, 14 starts.
- On the road, he was 6-5 with a 2.79 ERA in 15 games, 12 starts.

THE LEAGUE'S BEST PITCHER ON THE ROAD: Bohanon (2.789) edged Randy Johnson (2.793) for the NL's best road ERA.

- Bo won his last five road starts...over his final three road assignments, he went 3-0 with a 0.73 ERA (24.2 IP, 2 ER)...over his last six road assignments, he was 5-1 with a 1.39 ERA (45.1 IP, 7 ER).
- He allowed two or fewer earned runs in seven of his 12 road starts.
- Overall on the road, opponents hit .242 (81-for-335).
 TURBULENT FIRST MONTH: In his first five starts, Bo was

0-3 with a 12.00 ERA (21.0 IP, 28 ER).

♦ He retired 32 of his season's first 62 batters faced.

Age: 32 (turns 33 on Aug. 1)

- His longest start of April was 5.2 innings, April 25 at Montreal...in fact, his longest appearance of the month was not as a starter, but in relief, a 6.0-inning effort April 20 at Arizona.
- Take away his first five starts, and Bohanon would've finished the season 12-7 with a 3.69 ERA.

IN RELIEF: As a reliever, Bohanon was 2-0 with a 0.92 ERA (19.2 IP, 2 ER) in eight games.

- In those eight outings, foes hit just .138 (9-for-65).
- Both his relief ERA and opponent average were the lowest by an NL reliever (minimum 18.0 IP).
- On April 20 at Bank One Ballpark, Brian made his first relief appearance since June, 26, 1998...relieving an injured Rolando Arrojo (hamstring), Bo threw 6.0 innings, the second-longest relief stint in team history (Bruce Ruffin, 6.1, July 28, 1993)...he allowed just one earned run vs. Randy Johnson.
- He went 6.0 innings in relief again, May 12 vs. San Francisco...he held the Giants to one run on three hits, one walk and six Ks to earn his first relief victory since

 His second relief win came May 23 vs. Chicago, a scoreless 3.2-inning performance.

THE TURNING POINT: Brian, who at the time was 2-3 with a 6.69 ERA, returned to the rotation permanently June 6 at Seattle.

- From that night on, he went 10-7 with a 4.08 ERA (136.2 IP, 62 ER).
- After the all-star break, he was 8-4 with a 3.28 ERA (96.0 IP. 35 ER).
- His season's top three starts came after the break...on June 17 vs. Arizona at Coors Field, he retired 15 of his first 16 and did not allow a runner past second until the sixth inning...on Aug. 26 at Pittsburgh, he fired a complete-game four-hitter and did not allow an earned run...and, on Sept. 13 at San Diego, Bo hurled his second career shutout, the only by a Rockies pitcher in 2000; he allowed two past second, and held Padres hitters to 0-for-8 with runners in scoring position.

HOW'S THAT FOR HEART: One night after his start Aug. 21, in which he threw 99 pitches, he pitched in relief vs. the Braves...after the Rockies emptied their bullpen, he was the ninth of 10 pitchers (Brent Mayne got the win)...he walked Brian Jordan, but then got Javy Lopez to fly out, ending the 11th.

AFTER ALL, THE GUY LOOKS LIKE BABE RUTH: Offensively, Bohanon enjoyed the best all-around season ever by a Rockies pitcher.

- Bohanon batted .208 (11-for-53)...he hit safely in nine of his last 12 starts, and collected all 11 of his season's RBI in that two-month stretch (July 26-Sept. 29)...he was the only Rockies pitcher to pinch hit in 2000, Aug. 30 at Philly.
- Those 11 RBI represent the most in a single-season ever by a Rockies pitcher...he shared the previous record, seven, with Pedro Astacio (both in 1999)...so in two seasons now, Bohanon has driven in 18 runs.
- He homered twice, tying Armando Reynoso's 1993 club record for a pitcher...Brian's first HR came at Montreal Aug. 11, a solo shot off Dustin Hermanson in a 3-1 win...his second came Sept. 19 vs. San Diego, another solo shot, off Matt Clement in a 7-2 loss...Bohanon's three home runs in a Rockies uniform are a club record (Reynoso and Marvin Freeman each had two)...Bo's first career homer came Sept. 10, 1999 vs. Milwaukee (Bill Pulsipher).
- Rain washed out a game that would've marked his first career stolen base, July 16 vs. Oakland.

THE 12-WIN BENCHMARK: Only five Rockies pitchers have won at least 12 games in a season: Reynoso (12-11) in 1993, Ritz (17-11) in 1996, Astacio (13-14) and Kile (13-17) in 1998, Astacio (17-11) and Bohanon (12-12) in 1999 and Astacio (12-9) and Bohanon (12-10) in 2000.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Bohanon in his Colorado debut, at Los Angeles April 8, three-hit his former 'mates over 7.0 innings and did not allow an unearned run.

- In his first career appearance at Coors Field, April 15 vs. San Diego, Brian took a no-hitter into the sixth.
- He didn't allow an earned run over his first 15 innings to begin the season...his April (4-0, 3.96 ERA) was so remarkable, media voted him Rockies Player of the Month, an honor almost always given to a position player...he won his first five decisions,
- He hurled a complete-game, six-hitter at Arizona, May 14...he gave up a run in the second, then blanked the D'backs over the final seven frames, retiring 11 of his last 12.
- On May 29 at Philadelphia, Brian drew Curt Schilling, who shut out Colorado, 2-0, despite Bohanon's four hits in 7.0 innings.
- In June he compiled a 9.55 ERA and gave up more earned runs (35) than in April and May combined (31)...he still had a winning record (3-2) in the month...he won three straight starts, all at home June 9-20, despite allowing 32 hits and 20 earned runs in 16.1 innings (11.02 ERA).
- In an August 18 no-decision vs. Atlanta, he went 8.0 innings on one run, no walks and seven strikeouts; he drew Kevin Millwood, who matched his 8.0 innings on one run (Larry Walker won the game on a ninth-inning homer off John Rocker).
- On August 28 in Game 2 of a split doubleheader vs.

- the Phillies, Bohanon tossed his first career shutout, tied a career-high with 10 Ks and allowed only two runners to touch second (none reached third)...the shutout was the third by a Rockies pitcher at Coors.
- In his next start, September 3 at New York, he went 8.0 innings in a 4-2 complete-game loss...Brian became the second Rockies pitcher to throw complete games in back-to-back starts (Roger Bailey, twice in 1997, April 16-22 and May 4-9).
- On September 10 vs. Milwaukee, he earned his 12th and final win, going 8.0 innings on three runs; he hit his first career home run (Bill Pulsipher).
- He allowed opponents a .445 on-base average leading off an inning, second highest in the NL behind teammate Darryl Kile (.469).

1998: His career-best 2.67 ERA was fifth in the NL.

- Dealt July 10 for relief pitcher Greg McMichael, he pitched seven or more innings in nine of 14 starts with the Dodgers.
- Bohanon notched his first CG in seven years, at San Diego September 11; he allowed only a first-inning run and seven hits over 8.0 innings in a 1-0 loss.
- He fanned a career-high 10 in 8.0 innings vs. Colorado September 16.
- Bohanon led the NL by holding first batters faced to a .244 on-base percentage...overall, opponents hit .220 vs. Bohanon, .213 while he pitched with the Dodgers.
- Offensively, he batted .279 (12-for-43) with two doubles, a triple, and five RBI.

1997: Bohanon started at Norfolk (AAA), joined the Mets April 5 and won his first NL start at San Francisco the next day...New York outrighted him back to AAA May 1, but he returned July 22 and he spent the remainder of the season with the Mets.

1996: A minor-league free agent, Brian received a major-league invite to Blue Jays spring training and earned an Opening Day roster spot...outrighted May 31 to Syracuse (AAA).

1995: With the Tigers, he went 0-1 as a starter and was 1-0 with one save in relief...Brian at Toronto September 11 earned his first career save...twice in relief, he worked at least six innings, including 6.1 IP August 31 at Chicago.

1994: Bohanon began the campaign with Oklahoma City (AAA)...his contract purchased June 30, he joined the starting rotation July 25 and went 2-2 in four starts to finish '94.

1993: He compiled a 1-3 record as a Texas starter and a 3-1 mark in 28 relief outings...Brian went on the DL after developing a blister on his left middle finger June 8.

1992: He joined the Rangers April 11 to replace Nolan Ryan in the rotati and went 0-0 in four starts before going on the DL (inflamed left bicep)...he made two more round trips between AAA and Texas and finished the year with the Rangers...Brian underwent arthroscopic surgery to relieve pressure on the bicep October 21.

1991: On January 18 he had arthroscopic surgery to repair torn cartilage in his left shoulder, then went on the 60-day DL and began a rehab assignment June 4...recalled August 2, Brian registered his first big-league victory at Milwaukee that day.

1990: He pitched the first two months for Texas before his AAA option June 6...went on the minor-league DL with rotator cuff tendinitis.

1989: Shelved until the early part of the season after elbow surgery in June of '88, Bohanon got his first pro victory July 2 vs. Jackson.

1988: After two starts, elbow surgery sidelined him for the season.

1987: Embarked on his pro career with Texas' rookie league club in the Gulf Coast League.

Personal: Brian Edward Bohanon, Jr....Brian and his wife, Tina, have six children, Brian II (10), Brandon (9), Brittany (7), Breanna (5), Brooke (3) and Brady (1)...he will join the Rockies Youth Fields Program in 2001...originally the Rangers' first-round selection (19th overall) in the 1987 June draft, Bohanon was signed by the Texas scout Doug Gassaway...a first-team all-state selection, he was twice named Houston Player of the Year (1986-87) at North Shore High School...in his prep career, he went 43-13 with three no-hitters, 20 shutouts and 529 Ks...in his senior season he was 17-2 with a 1.19 ERA and 219 Ks in 135,2 innings.

Brent BUTLER

Infielder

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 180 B/T: R/R Age: 23 Born: 2/11/78 in Laurinburg, N.C.

Residence: Laurinburg, NC Major League Service: none

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

BRENT BUTLER

Acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals in a seven-player deal, Nov. 16, 1999; with Butler, the Rockies received RHPs Manny Aybar, Rick Croushore and Jose JImenez for RHPs Darryl Kile, Dave Veres and Luther Hackman...Butler begins his second season in the Rockies system, looking to rebound from a fractured hamtate bone in his left hand, which kept him from playing in the 2000 Sydney Olympics...the second baseman returns to the Rockies' major league camp after the injury forced him to miss the first significant playing time in his career, limiting him to 122 games in 2000...St. Louis' third-round selection in the 1996 June draft, Butler has still played 578 of his clubs' 628 games (92 percent) in his career, including 139 of 140 at Arkansas in 1999, tying for the league lead...he's versatile, having played every infield position except first base...and he's competitive at the plate, having struck out only once every 9.16 plate appearances...Brent earned all-star honors in each of his first three seasons, in the Appalachian, Midwest and Carolina leagues...at the end of the '98 season, Baseball America rated Butler the third-best prospect in the St. Louis organization, behind OF J.D. Drew and LHP Rich Ankiel.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY. Brent made his Triple-A debut and played the full season with Colorado Springs.

- A shortstop most of his career, he played 100 games at second base.
- Butler's .292 average ranked sixth among Triple-A second basemen.
- Brent's average (.292), runs scored (73), doubles (35), walks (44), slugging percentage (.432) and onbase percentage (.356) were all his highest career totals since 1997, his first full season in the pros.
- Selected to the US Olympic squad, he missed the competition after sustaining a fractured hamate bone in his left hand in August.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Butler spent the season at Arkansas (AA) of the Texas League...the organization named him Player of the Month in June (.325, three homers, 12 RBI)...he played 22 consecutive games, June 20 to July 13, without an error...on the season, Brent fanned only once every 12.02 plate appearances; he went 18 games (67 at-bats) June 26 to July 17 without a strike out.

1998: A Carolina League all-star, Brent hit .286 with 11 homers and 76 RBI...he played 116 games at shortstop, 12 at third and one at second.

1997: An all-star at Peoria, he led the league with 220 putouts from his shortstop position, and led the club with 129 games played and a .306 average...he also tied for the club and organizational lead with 81 runs scored, led the team and finished third in the system with 147 hits and led the entire chain with 37 doubles.

1996: In his first pro season, the 18-year-old infielder led the Appy League with 85 hits and a .946 fielding percentage at shortstop, garnering all-star recognition...he also led the club with 50 RBI...his .343 average was fifth-best in the system.

Personal: Justin Brent Butler...starred at Scotland High School in Laurinburg, N.C....he still resides in the town, located in the southern part of the state, near the South Carolina border...signed by Randy Benson of the Cardinals.

Shawn CHACON

Right-Handed Pitcher Ht: 6-3 Wt: 212 B/T:

B/T: R/R Age: 23 (turns 24 on Dec. 23)

Born: 12/23/77 in Anchorage, Alaska

Residence: Greeley, Colo. Major League Service: none

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

SHAWN CHACON

Selected in the third round of the 1996 June draft....Chacon, the first player drafted by the Rockies directly out of a Colorado high school, makes his second appearance in major league camp...after the '97 season, the Rockies chose to keep Chacon, rather than trading him to Montreal in the deal that brought Mike Lansing to Colorado; instead, the Expos received right-handers Jake Westbrook (1) and John Nicholson (2), the two players taken ahead of Chacon in the '96 draft...at Greeley Central High School, he drew several scouts to Northern Colorado, mainly to confirm rumors of a 94-mph fastball...in his senior season at Central, he won almost as many games (10-0) as earned runs allowed (14)...he was taken in the same round of the '96 draft as Brent Butler...the Rockies' eighth-best prospect (Baseball America), Shawn looks to debut at Triple-A this year.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Shawn got his first taste of Double-A and turned in arguably his best all-around season.

- The right-hander's 3.16 ERA led the Carolina rotation and marked his lowest career mark over a full season...he posted a combined 2.96 mark in his first pro campaign, 1996.
- ♦ His career-best 172 strikeouts led the league and
- ranked second among all Double-A pitchers...he fanned 8.91 per 9 IP, the best mark in the system, third in the league and sixth in all of Double-A.
- His three shutouts tied for tops in the system.
- Right-handed hitters batted .228 with 106 Ks.
- On the road, he went 6-4 with a 2.97 ERA.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Spent the entire season at Salem (A) of the Carolina League...the league hit only .251 against Shawn, and of 316 batters faced, he gave up only three home runs...the right-hander actually dominated left-handed hitters, allowing only two extrabase hits all season (both doubles) and holding them to a .235 mark (23-for-98)...right-handers hit .260 off him...Carolina League leadoff batters struggled even more; they hit .169 (11-for-65).

1998: Chacon struggled to find his groove over the season's first two months, before encountering injury...on May 26 in his 10th start, Chacon strained his elbow's ulnar collateral ligament, and missed the next two months...he returned on July 19, but the elbow flared up again seven days later...Colorado then flew him home in order to rest the elbow before Arizona Instructional League play. 1997: Chacon shined on an Asheville team that finished 14 games below .500...he went 11-7 and led the rotation with 149 strikeouts and a 3.89 ERA. 1996: At 18 in his first pro season, Chacon won the Arizona Rookie League's ERA championship (1.60), despite finishing the season at Portland. Personal: Shawn A. Chacon...he chose the Rockies over a college career at Arizona State...he led his summer Legion club, Greeley GoJo Sports, to three consecutive state titles...during his senior season at Greeley Central, he went 10-0 with a 1.51 ERA and two saves, guiding the Wildcats to the state championship game...signed by Rockies scout Mike Ericson.

ECRBY CHOUNARD

Signed as a minor-league free agent, June 17, 2000...an 11-year veteran, Bobby looks to make his first career Opening Day roster...the right-hander is one of the Rockies' best control pitchers, having walked just nine batters in 2000 (2.48 per 9 IP); in his major league career, he's walked 3.32 per 9 IP...Chouinard, who played a key role in the Diamondbacks' 1999 division title, isn't a power pitcher, but he's almost always ahead in the count...in 2000, hitters managed a .219 (14-for-64) average with Bobby ahead in the count, and a .164 (9-for-55) average after he got his second strike...the reliever over the past two seasons has stranded 29 of 37 inherited runners (78 percent), including 10 of 13 last season; all told, in his four major league seasons, he's stranded 39 of 56 (70 percent)...Bobby's also blown only four saves in 90 lifetime relief outings...originally the Orioles' seventh-round selection in the 1997 June draft, Bobby had 15 complete games and four shutouts at the minor league level, before converting to a reliever during the '98 season with Arizona...he's the only pitcher in the bullpen with postseason experience (1999).

2000 SEASON

3UMMARY: The Rockies purchased his contract July 17, one day after they placed LHP Scott Karl on the DL, and exactly one month after Chouinard signed with the organization...he spent the final 11 weeks with the major league club.

- Bobby appeared in 31 games, one short of his 1999 career high...however, he matched his 23 strikeouts from 1999, despite throwing 7.1 fewer innings.
- ♦ He fanned 23 in 32.2 innings, or 6.34 per nine IP.
- ◆ The Rockies were 14-17 in games he pitched.
- He retired 23 of 31 first batters faced (.742) and stranded 10 of his 13 inherited runners (.769).
- In five total save situations, he recorded three relief holds and sustained two blown saves.
- At home, he was 1-1 with a 4.42 ERA in 19 games.
- ◆ On the road, he was 1-1 with a 3.14 ERA in 12 games.

WALK TALK: Bobby walked only nine batters all season...take away his two intentional passes, and he walked just seven (1.93 per nine IP).

- On July 25, Chouinard walked future teammate Todd Hollandsworth, who eventually scored the winning run and handed Bobby his first loss...he didn't walk another batter unintentionally until Aug. 30, 14 appearances later (67 consecutive batters faced).
- After walking two in that Aug. 30 outing, he went 35 batters until his next pass, Sept. 26 vs. Arizona.

NICE DEBUT: Chouinard retired his first nine hitters in order, over two games, July 17-18 vs. the A's...until he walked Paul LoDuca at LA July 20, in his third appearance, Bobby had retired his first 10 in a row.

DODGER BLUES: He faced LA in four consecutive appearances, July 20-27...over that stretch, he went 0-1 with a 12.27 ERA (3.2 IP, 5 ER)...take away those four games, and Chouinard would've finished the season 2-1 with a 2.79 ERA.

BEST STRETCH: Bobby from Aug. 28-Sept. 24 did not allow an earned run...the 11-game streak (10.1 IP) lowered his season ERA from 4.37 to 3.16.

NOWHERE TO PUT 'EM: Bobby was perfect both times he entered in a bases-loaded situation.

- On Aug. 7 vs. Pittsburgh, he entered a one-run game in the ninth with one out...he induced his only batter faced into an inning-ending, 4-6-3 DP...the Rockies couldn't plate a run in the ninth, and lost, 8-7.
- On Sept. 15 at Los Angeles, he came into a tie game in the seventh with two out...he induced his only batter faced, Mark Grudzielanek, to ground out.

AT COLORADO SPRINGS (AAA): Chouinard joined the Sky Sox in mid-June and earned the save in his first organizational appearance, June 17 vs. Albuquerque; he went 3.0 scoreless innings on two hits, one walk and three Ks to preserve the win...he was scoreless over his first 5.1 innings.

WITH THE BAT: Bobby recorded his first major league hit July 18 vs. Oakland, an eighth-inning single off Frank Menechino in an 18-3 Rockies win.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Bobby five wins in '99 eclipsed the four he had his entire career.

- He made three minor-league round-trips over the first three months...officially opened the year at Triple-A Tucson, but Arizona purchased his contract before he threw a minor-league pitch.
- On July 3, he returned to the big-league pen and spent the remainder of the year and postseason with the D'backs...he ended the regular season by allowing runs in only five of his final 25 games (26.1 ip).
- Bobby posted his first major league save Sept. 13, with 1.2 scoreless frames in a win over Pittsburgh; he entered in the eighth with the bases loaded and induced an inning-ending double play.
- He stranded 19 of his 24 inherited runners.
- In the NLDS vs. the Mets, he worked two games...his run came in Game 1. Oct. 5 at BOB, on an Edgardo Alfonzo grand slam, but three of the runs were charged to Randy Johnson.

1998: He opened the year with Milwaukee's Louisville (AAA) club and finished with the Diamondbacks big-league club.

- The D'backs claimed him on waivers June 1 and he joined Tucson (AAA)...on June 13, Arizona purchased his conract and he spent the rest of the year with the major league team.
- He went on the DL (right shoulder strain), Aug. 22.
- Activated Sept. 8, his first NL start came Sept. 16 vs. San Francisco...on Sept. 23 at Colorado, he learned he would start that night with an hour's notice.

1997: Chouinard spent the season at Triple-A. Edmonton...he made 21 starts and walked only five in his last eight starts...in three August outings he was 1-0 with a 1.93 relief ERA...he started and won Game 2 of the PCL championship series, hurling 7.0 scoreless innings.

1996: He opened 5-0 with a 1.52 ERA...on May 26 at Baltimore, he made his big-league debut and first start, sustaining a loss...his first major league victory came June 22 vs. Toronto, the lead win in a four-decision winning streak.

1995: He spent the entire year at Doulbe-A Huntsville, leading the Stars with an organizationleading 14 wins (second in Double-A).

1994: Bobby completed his second consecutive full season with Modesto.

1993: Acquired Jan. 14 by the A's system, Bobby spent the entire season at Modesto.

1992: He paced the Midwest League with a 2.08 ERA and nine complete games with Kane County (A), in the Baltimore organization.

1991: Chouinard opened the year in extended spring training, before a June 4 assignment to Kane County (A).

1990: Chouinard signed as the Orioles' seventhround selection in the June draft.

Personal: Robert William (Bobby) Chouinard...he and his wife Erica, and son Austin (2) make their home in Phoenix...a 1990 graduate of Forest Grove (Ore.) High School, he earned All-State honors as a senior...his Babe Ruth summer team, from Forest Grove, won the organization's world title.

Tim CHRISTMAN

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 195 B/T: L/L Born: 3/31/75 in Oneonta, N.Y. Residence: Oneonta, N.Y.

Major League Service: none

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

TIM CHRISTMAN

Selected in the 11th round of the 1996 June draft...Christman begins his second major league camp, looking to come back from a torn left labrum that sidelined him most of the 2000 season...he's one of 12 players on the spring 40-man roster, and one of seven pitchers, taken by the Rockies in the June draft...three of those players are pitchers selected in 1996 (Christman, Shawn Chacon and Josh Kalinowski)...Tim missed the entire 1998 season after surgery to reconstruct his left elbow, but before and after that year, Christman was solid...over his last two full seasons (1997 and '99), he has walked only 30 batters in 111.2 innings (2.4 walks/nine innings)...he walked only 2.2 per nine innings in 1999 at Salem...over the same two-year span, Christman struck out 12.2 batters per nine and compiled a 0.2 walks/strikeouts ratio...in his first four seasons, Christman has excelled in the middle relief role.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: The left-hander made his first appearance on a major league roster and opened the season with his Double-A debut at Carolina.

- After eight appearances at Carolina, the Rockies placed Tim on the disabled list May 5...he was
- diagnosed with a torn left labrum.

Age: 26

 He underwent surgery in May on the shoulder; Drs.
 Richard Hawkins and Michael Curtin performed the procedure in Denver.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: At Salem (A), Christman rebounded from reconstructive elbow surgery...he served as the left-handed setup man in the system's best bullpen and he didn't allow a home run all year...his 11.92 strikeouts per nine innings were second among league relievers...what's more, he allowed only 9.68 baserunners per nine innings, fourth-best among league relievers...the circuit hit just .222 (38-for-171) vs. Tim...left-handers batted .120 (6-for-50, three walks, 24 strikeouts)...in fact, of the 56 left-handers he faced, only 18 hit fair balls.

1998: The left-hander sat out the entire year following surgery to reconstruct his throwing elbow.

1997: Tim issued only 18 walks, fanned 87 and went

7-3 with a 3.41 ERA in 29 games at Single-A Asheville...he also notched three saves.

1996: In his first pro campaign, he spent the year at Portland in the short-season Northwest League.

Personal: Timothy A. Christman...the left-hander played three years at Siena College in Oneonta, NY, helping the club to consecutive conference titles (1995-96)...at Oneonta High School, he lettered in basketball and baseball...the upstate town, houses a Yankees farm team, which had a pitcher named John Elway in 1982...Christman in high school also contributed to a Section 4 New York state championship...signed by Bill Mackenzie.

Hall of Fame donations, 2000

The Hall of Fame last season received a game-used bat from Todd Helton, who became the first NL player to score 100 runs with 200 hits, 40 HR, 100 RBI, 100 walks and 100 extra-base hits. Brent Mayne donated his cap, worn Aug. 22, the night he became the first position player to earn a pitching victory in 32 years. Cooperstown also got the ball hurled by Mike Hampton to begin the 2000 season in Tokyo.

Jeff CIRILLO

Infielder

HI: 6-1

WI: 190 B/T: R/R Age: 31 (turns 32 on Sept. 23)

Born: 9/23/69 in Pasadena, Calif. Residence: Redmond, Wash.

Major League Service: Six years, 113 days

Contract: Final year of a four-year contract, through 2001

(in July, 2000, signed four-year extension with 2006 club option)

JEFF CIRILLO

Acquired from Milwaukee in a nine-player deal at the winter meetings, Dec. 13, 1999, the first four-team transaction since 1985...along with Cirillo, the Rockies received LHP Scott Karl from Milwaukee and RHP Rolando Arrojo and INF Aaron Ledesma from Tampa Bay...in turn, Colorado sent INF Vinny Castilla to the Devil Rays, C Henry Blanco and RHP Jamey Wright to the Brewers and RHP Justin Miller to Oakland...the A's then dealt RHP Jimmy Haynes to Milwaukee...Cirillo in his first Rockies season earned an all-star invitation and signed a four-year contract extension...Jeff's .311 career average ranks 14th among active players, decimal points behind Larry Walker...he's paced NL third baseman in batting and hits each of the past two seasons...Cirillo has 307 career multi-hit games in 820 starts (37.4 percent)...since 1994, when he broke into the majors, he's ranked annually among leaders in full-count plate appearances...his favorite month is June; during his career, he's hit .349 in the month, including a .398 mark in 2000...on the base paths, he stole a career-low three bases in 2000, but led the league in runners' extra bases (first-third, etc.), with 56...defensively, year-after-year he contends for the Rawlings Gold Glove; he has great range to either side, provides solid bunt coverage and one of the strongest infield arms in the league; in '98 he tied Darrel Evans' 24-year-old NL record with 45 double plays (by a third baseman)...Milwaukee's 11th-round selection in the 1991 June draft, Jeff begins his eighth major league season.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY. Jeff missed just five games, and provided the Rockies with one of the top all-around third basemen in the game.

- He earned his second career all-star trip (1997)...Jeff was 0-for-1 in the game at Turner Field.
- For the second consecutive season, he led NL third basemen in average (.326) and hits (195)...he matched his career-high .326 average from 1999, and improved his career average from .307 to .311.
- He established a lifetime best with 115 RBI, 10th in the NL...he posted 25 multi-RBI games, including a single-game career-high, seven, Aug. 12 at Montreal...his first RBI that night, his 89th on the year, surpassed his previous career high from 1999...it tied Hammonds (May 12) for the team's individual season high in 2000.
- Cirillo totaled 58 multi-hit games, tied for fourth in the NL...his single-game season high came June 18, when he collected five hits vs. Arizona.
- He ranked fourth among NL third basemen with a .963 fielding mark...his 41 double plays led NL third basemen and fell four short of the NL record, 45, shared by Darrel Evans (1974) and Cirillo (1998).
- According to SABR, Jeff became the first player in major league history to total 45 doubles in both leagues...Cirillo (53) and Helton (59) became the first pair of NL teammates, the sixth major league tandem, to top 50 doubles in a year.

- He became one of seven players in Rockies history with 100 runs and 100 RBI in the same season.
- At home, he hit .403 (128-for-318), posting the majors' best home average.
- On the road, he batted .239 (67-for-280).
- Jeff established a club record with 12 sac flies, tied for second in the NL.

CONTRACT EXTENSION: On July 13, two days after the All-Star Game, Cirillo inked a four-year contract extension, with a club option for 2006.

- The deal kicks in after his current contract expires, following the 2001 season.
- After announcing the extension, Cirillo batted .322 and drove in 51 runs in 76 games (he had 64 RBI in

1,000-HIT CLUB: Jeff on Aug. 12 at Montreal got his 1.000th career hit, in the fifth-inning off Trey Moore. HISTORIC RBI-HOMER RATIO: Jeff registered 115 RBI, despite hitting just 11 home runs...according to Elias Sports Bureau, the last player to drive in as many as 115 runs with as few as 11 homers was Brooklyn's Dixie Walker in 1946; Walker had nine homers and 116 RBI...Cirillo drove in 10.45 runs for every home run he hit, the highest ratio in the majors...and three of Cirillo's 11 homers came in one contest, June 28 vs. San Francisco...he tied the club record (seventh time) with the home-run hat trick...he homered Aug. 4 vs. Philadelphia, then closed the season with 217 homerless at-bats, although he did drive in 44 runs during the homerless stretch.

THE ROCKIES' BEST OFFENSIVE NIGHT EVER: Jeff's 14 total bases (three homers, one double) in that June 28 contest established a club record...he also drove in six runs (a career high at the time) and scored five more, tying another club mark.

A CAREER STREAK: He built his longest career hitting streak, 15 games, April 21-May 9.

- He batted .463 (25-for-54), with five doubles, one triple, one homer and 14 RBI.
- It included nine road games and a 4-for-4 effort, May 3 vs. Montreal.
- It raised his season's average from .275 to .371.
- His previous high was 14 games, twice (1996, '98).

SPEAKING OF STREAKS: Jeff compiled one of the most impressive streaks in team history to close June, an RBI in eight consecutive games, June 25-July 2.

- He tied Ellis Burks' franchise record...Burks also drove in a run in eight straight, Aug. 3-11, 1996.
- Jeff drove in 18 total runs in the eight games.

IN THE CLUTCH: Cirillo (.391) finished second in the NL to Helton (.392) with runners in scoring position.

- Cirillo went 9-for-his-final-19 w/RISP, but still couldn't hold off Helton, who went 10-for-his-final-14 w/RISP.
- Cirillo led the NL w/RISP from July 18-Sept. 30, and lost the league lead to Helton on the season's final day,
- He wasn't even among league leaders in early July...however, during the first homestand after the allstar break, Jeff went 4-for-7 w/RISP to gain the NL lead...included in that homestand was a gamewinning single to beat Oakland in the 10th inning, July 17 (Game 2).
- After the ASG w/RISP, he batted .398 (35-for-88).

JUNE TUNES: Cirillo's best month was June, when he batted .398 (35-for-88) with four HR and 27 RBI.

- He tied his career high with five hits (5-for-6, HR, 4 RBI)
 June 18 vs. Arizona...the afternoon capped an 11game hitting streak, June 4-18, in which he batted
 .444 (20-for-45).
- His season average rose 24 points to .348 in June.

NL PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Cirillo for the second time in his career earned his league's Player of the Week award, June 26-July 2.

- He batted .636 (14-for-22) with four homers and 16 RBI in six games during the week.
- During a four-game series with the Giants, June 26-29, he hit .733 (11-for-15) with three homers and 13 RBI...he drove in nine runs in back-to-back games, June 28-29.
- The first time he won the honor was Sept. 12-19, 1999 w/Milwaukee.

THE BUNT SINGLE: Jeff once again ranked among right-handed league leaders with six bunt singles (he led NL right-handed hitters in 1999).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Cirillo paced the Brewers with a career-high .326 average and 198 hits.

- Second in the NL with 64 multi-hit games, Jeff also ranked fifth in hitting (.326), third in hits (198) and third among NL third basemen with a .966 fielding percentage.
- The NL's top hitting third baseman, he was second to AL leader Tony Fernandez (.328).
- He tied a career high with five hits in two contests: July 3 at Pittsburgh and Aug. 27 at San Diego, going 5-for-5 in each game.
- The NL Player of the Week (Sept. 12-19), he hit .467 with two home runs, five doubles, seven runs scored and six RBI during the stretch.

1998: Jeff led the Brewers with 79 walks, a .402 onbase percentage and a .321 average, eighth in NL.

- With a .978 fielding mark (445 total chances, 10 E), he led all big-league third basemen (min. 400 TC).
- He hit in 14 straight (.392, 20-51, three homers, 11 RBI), May 15-31, tying his career high (June 26-July 13, 1996)...Jeff went 5-for-5 June 28 at Comiskey Park, and tied his career high with four RBI June 21 vs. Pittsburgh...he batted .345 over his last 87 games.

1997: Cirillo for the second straight season collected 46 doubles.

- He batted .362 (54-149) with RISP, fourth in the AL.
- On May 30 vs. the White Sox, he hit his first career grand slam (James Baldwin).
- On June 2 vs. Boston, he hit a game-winning, two-run homer with two out in the ninth (Heathcliff Slocumb), the first game-winning homer of his career.
- Joe Torre selected Jeff to his first all-star game.

1996: The third baseman hit .325, the highest average by a second-year player in Brewer history (Paul Molitor, .322 in 1979).

 After the sixth inning, he hit .366 (60-for-164), the best mark in the AL.

1995. In his first full big-league season, he appeared at all four infield spots...he hit three home runs in a two-game span, Aug. 21-22.

1994: Cirillo opened the season at Triple-A New Orleans, but joined the Brewers May 10...on May 11 at Fenway Park, he made his major league debut, a defensive replacement at third base...on May 13 vs. the Yankees, he got his first big-league hit (Terry Mulholland)...he homered in four straight Triple-A games, including a grand slam, in early July...recalled July 8, he built a 12-game hitting streak (.370), July 14-26...his first ML homer came July 15 at Minnesota (Dave Stevens)... Baseball Digest named him to its All-Rookie team.

1993: Between Double-A and Triple-A, he combined to hit .319 with 73 RBI in 125 games...promoted him to New Orleans June 24.

1992: Cirillo split the season between the California and Midwest leagues.

1991: Jeff earned Pioneer League All-Star honors in his first pro season.

Personal: Jeffrey Howard Cirillo...Jeff and his wife, Nancy, have two sons: Cole and Carson...originally drafted in the 37th round of the 1987 June draft by the Cubs, but did not sign...selected in the 11th round of the 1991 June draft by Milwaukee ... at Providence High School in Burbank, Calif., he lettered in baseball and basketball, earning the CIF Player of the Year...like Marcel Lachemann, Cirillo graduated from the University of Southern California ('92, communications); a two-time All-Pac-10 selection in baseball, he pitched and played infield...in Milwaukee, he hosted the Jeff Cirillo Celebrity Bowling Tournament for the benefit of the Child Abuse Prevention Fund...for two straight years (1997-98), Cirillo earned the Harvey Kuenn Award, (Milwaukee Offensive MVP)...signed by Reuben Rodriguez and Mark Garcia.

Selected in the second round of the 1997 June draft...Cook makes his first appearance in a major league camp...the Rockies added him to the 40-man roster this winter...Aaron, who turned 22 just before reporting to Tucson, is the youngest pitcher on that roster, and the second-youngest player (Juan Uribe is a yearand-a-half younger)... Baseball America this off-season rated Cook the fourth-best prospect in the entire organization, behind Tsao Chin-Hui, Juan Uribe and Choo Freeman...the right-hander enters his fifth pro season and should give Salem a strong pillar in its rotation to begin the season...highly durable, the righthander last year pitched more innings (185.2) than any pitcher in Single-A...Aaron the last two seasons has pitched 306.1 innings, in 53 starts, with seven complete games and two shutouts...Cook in 2000 won 11 games combined for Asheville and Salem; he won 10 over his first three pro campaigns...but what impresses the Rockies so much is his control...Cook last season walked one batter for every 4.43 he fanned; he issued only 1.7 passes per nine innings...and over his career, he's walked 2.77 per nine innings...Cook sits in a group of quality young starters who could give the Rockies a solid major league rotation during the second half of this decade.

SUMMARY: Aaron opened the season where he finished 1999, at Asheville (A)...but by season's end, the organization promoted him to high-A Salem.

- Aaron pitched a combined 185.2 innings, more than any other pitcher in Single-A and second in the organization (Jason Jennings, 187.0).
- ♦ He won 11 games, more than his previous three seasons, and combined to post a 3.54 ERA at both Salem and Asheville.
- ♦ With Asheville, Cook compiled an outstanding 1.45 walks per nine innings ratio (23 BB, 142.2 IP).
- A South Atlantic League all-star, he earned the circuit's Pitcher of the Week honors, July 14-20...his 2.96 ERA ranked eighth in the SAL.
- Soon after, on July 27, the Rockies promoted him to Salem in the Carolina League, where he closed the season.

1999: The tall right-hander spent the entire season in Asheville's South Atlantic League rotation.

- From April 23-June 9, he missed a month and-a-half on the DL with right shoulder tendinitis.
- ♦ He still made 25 starts, more than his first two seasons combined (23), and pitched two complete games, tying for the staff lead.

1998: Cook opened the season at extended spring training in Tucson...he moved to Portland when the Northwest League season began in June and finished the season in the Portland rotation...he earned NWL Pitcher of the Week, Aug. 10-16.

1997: At age 18, Cook launched his pro career in the Arizona Rookie League...his 3.13 ERa led the staff and ranked fifth in the circuit.

Personal: Aaron Lane Cook...he received all-conference recognition both his junior and senior seasons at Hamilton (Ohio) High School (1996-97), starred on a Hamilton squad that won the Ohio state baseball championship...an AAU All-American in 1993...signed by Ed Santa.

MIKE DEJEAN

Acquired with pitcher Steve Shoemaker from the New York Yankees for catcher Joe Girardi, Nov. 20, 1995...Mike DeJean marks his ninth season in pro baseball, his fifth in the Rockies organization...Mike's first two major league seasons (1997-98) contrasted with his last two (1999-2000)...over those first two seasons, he was 8-1 with a 3.49 ERA in 114 appearances...over the last two years, he is 6-8 with an 6.77 mark in 110 games...at Coors Field from 1997-98, he was 6-0 with a 2.96 ERA...at home since1999, he is 5-4 with a 8.56 mark...his first 92 big-league appearances marked the longest career-opening streak without a loss in major league history (Phil Paine held the previous record, 81, before sustaining the only loss of his career with the 1958 Cardinals)...the streak began with DeJean's debut (May 2, 1997) and lasted until his first loss (July 3, 1998 at San Diego)...DeJean (DAY-zshonn) had elbow surgery after the '99 season; Dr. Richard Hawkins and Dr. Michael Curtin performed the procedure, to remove small bone chips, in Denver Dec. 8, 1999...Jeff Bagwell, J.T. Snow and NL MVP Jeff Kent are a combined 7-for-38 (.184) vs. the right-hander...his first five minor league seasons were spent in a closer capacity, almost exclusively...he's also extremely competitive; he was the player ejected by umpire Tom Hallion, who was later suspended by the NL, in San Diego June 26, 1999...overall, he's proven dependable pitching in the toughest pitcher's park in major league history (a lifetime11-4 record at Coors)...he has 40 career relief holds and has stranded 70 of 104 inherited runners (67.3 percent)...defensively, the former college shortstop hasn't committed an error since 1997.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: In his fourth major league season, Mike filled a middle-relief/setup role and finished 4-4 with a 4.89 ERA.

- Mike appeared in 54 games and for the first time in his career pitched fewer than 1.0 innings per contest (53.1 IP, 54 app.).
- ◆ He fanned 34 in 53.1 innings, or 5.74 per nine IP.
- The Rockies were 21-33 in games he pitched.
- He retired 37 of 54 first batters faced (.685) and stranded 19 of his 21 inherited runners (.904).
- In 11 total save situations, he recorded seven relief holds and sustained four blown saves.
- In 28 home games, he was 3-3 with a 6.67 ERA.
- On the road, he was 1-1 with a 2.66 ERA in 26 games.

MORE ON THOSE ROAD NUMBERS: Mike (2.66) was one of four full-time Rockies relievers to compile an ERA below 3.00 on the road (White 1.42, Jimenez 1.80, Myers 1.80).

- His opponents on the the road hit just .226 (19-for-84)...major league hitters were 13-for-their-last-66 (.197) away from Denver against DeJean.
- He allowed just one road home run, Sept. 15 at Los Angeles (the Mark Grudzielanek homer ended the game in the 10th inning, handing Mike his only road loss)...it snapped a string of 92 consecutive road batters faced without a homer (Cliff Floyd, at Fla., Sept. 25, 1999).

ANOTHER HOMERLESS STREAK: DeJean from June 28-Aug. 22 did not allow a round tripper...the stretch covered 17 appearances and 68 straight batters, until Chipper Jones touched him Aug. 22.

SHREWD MANAGER OF HIS INHERITANCE: Mike didn't pitch enough to qualify for the league leaders, but stranded an impressive 90.4 percent of his inherited runners (19 of 21).

- DeJean stranded his last nine inherited runners.
- In two of the three games he entered with the bases loaded, July 9 at Anaheim and Aug. 15 at New York (Game 2), he did not allow a runner to score.
- On the road, he stranded all 14 inherited runners...the last time Mike allowed an inherited runner to score away from Coors Field was July 31, 1999.

INJURIES: Mike took two trips to the 15-day DL during 2000...

 He spent the season's first three and-a-half weeks at Colorado Springs (AAA) on rehab, strengthening his right elbow (he underwent surgery Dec. 8, 1999 to remove bone chips)...the Rockies placed him on the 15-day DL, March 29 and his rehab option began April 6...Colorado reinstated Mike April 28, after placing Jerry Dipoto on the DL; DeJean made his 2000 debut the next day vs. the Mets.

- On July 24 vs. Los Angeles, Mike strained his left oblique muscle and the Rockies placed him on the 15day DL the next day...he missed 20 games before Colorado reinstated him Aug. 15...in his first game back, that night in Game 2 of a DH at New York, he extinguished a bases-loaded jam and retired all four batters faced in 1.1 scoreless IP.
- Mike missed 42 total games on the DL.

HIS BEST STRETCH: DeJean pitched his best after his second trip to the DL;

- Over his first four appearances after his return from the DL, Mike allowed just one earned run in 4.1 IP
- He tied his career best with four strikeouts, Aug. 18 vs. Florida (also June 18, 1997 vs. Texas).
- From Aug. 19-29, he recorded four relief holds in five appearances.

WINS IN TOUGH TIMES: From June 28-July 17, the Rockies won six games and DeJean earned the victory in three of them, June 28 vs. San Francisco, July 2 at San Diego and July 17 vs. Oakland (Game 2)...his win over the A's snapped the Rockies' season-long 11-game losing streak.

NO SUCH THING AS A FREE PASS: Mike built two significant walkless streaks in 2000...

- He faced 47 straight hitters without a walk, May 17lune 26
- · He did not walk a batter over his last seven appearances (7.2 IP)...he closed the year facing 34 straight batters without a free pass.

MILESTONES: He reached two landmarks in 2000...

- He pitched in his 200th major league game, a scoreless inning July 15 vs. Cincinnati.
- He fanned his 100th batter, pinch-hitter Kevin Sefcik, May 20 at Philadelphia.

SPEAKING OF THAT MAY 20 GAME: Mike pitched arguably his best game May 20 at Veterans Stadium.

He entered protecting a 4-3 lead in the seventh, then fanned two of the three hitters he faced in a perfect inning...Jose Jimenez got the final outs in a Rockies victory...it marked the first of seven relief holds on the year for DeJean.

MUSICAL JERSEYS: Mike gave up his No. 44 jersey during the season and donned No. 18, giving his number to teammate Rolando Arrojo...the Rockies then traded Arrojo to Boston July 27...over the off-season, DeJean reclaimed the 44 top.

[&]quot;—The Rockies were a part of major league history in 1999. Colorado and San Diego became the first teams ever to open a season outside the U.S., playing in Monterrey, Mexico. The clubs were featured in the season's first major league game on a Sunday night contest nationally televised by ESPN.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: After DeJean went 3-1 with a 3.03 ERA in 1998, Mike and the Rockies agreed to terms on a three-year contract Feb. 9, less than a week before spring training opened.

- On May 28 at Philadelphia, he retired all five batters faced in a two-run game...two days later in the series finale, he entered with the bases loaded and two out, with the tying run at third, and induced a foul-pop from Mike Lieberthal...the Rockies won, 1-0.
- From June 8-13, in three games, he retired 10 in a row.
- In August, he compiled a 24.75 ERA...after six earned runs Aug. 13 vs. Montreal, he went on the 15-day DL (right elbow tendinitis).
- From May 21 to season's end, only one of his final 15 inherited runners crossed the plate.

1998: DeJean appeared in a career-best 59 games before a broken left hand ended his year, Sept. 1.

- Mike made an emergency start June 20 vs. Los Angeles, when a finger blister forced John Thomson out of the rotation...it was DeJean's first start anywhere since 1989 at Mississippi Delta College.
- He built a 12.2 scoreless innings streak over nine appearances, July 11-28.
- In his final three appearances, he allowed 11 hits and six earned runs in 3.2 IP...a frustrated DeJean punched his locker at County Stadium, Sept. 1 and suffered a broken left hand (fifth metacarpal)...Dr. Frank Scott inserted two screws and a plate into the hand Sept. 4 at Denver's Rose Medical Center.

1997: Mike opened the year at Colorado Springs (AAA), but on May 2 earned his first trip to the majors, where he closed the year...he made his big-league debut May 2 vs. Philadelphia, a scoreless inning...he didn't allow an earned run in his first seven games (13.0 IP)...DeJean posted his first career win May 12 at Philadelphia; he induced his first hitter into a double play, then retired the next nine...he recorded his first save May 31 at Florida, escaping a bases-loaded situation in the ninth...from June 21 – July 10, he went 12.1 straight scoreless frames...he was on the DL July 18 – Aug. 7 (inflamed right elbow), rehabbing at New Haven (AA)...DeJean closed the year with seven scoreless appearances (8.0 innings).

1996: DeJean began the year at Triple-A, then moved to New Haven in late April...he returned in mid-June to Colorado Springs to finish the season. 1995: He spent the entire season in the Eastern League, working as Norwich's closer.

1994: The right-hander split the year between Tampa (A) and Albany (AA), saving 20 total games. 1993: He appeared in 20 games for Greensboro (A). 1992: DeJean signed as the Yankees' 24th-round pick, then reported to Oneonta (A)...he saved 16 games in 16 appearances, June 18 – August 2.

Personal: Michel Dwain (Mike) DeJean...he and his wife, Holly, have a newborn son, Chase ... a 1988 graduate of Walker (La.) High School, he lettered in baseball, basketball and football...a three-time alldistrict shortstop in high school, he also earned allstate honors in football and won the Southeast Louisiana Slam Dunk Competition...he attended Mississippi Delta Community College Livingston University, where he contributed to a Gulf South Conference title in 1992...a full-time shortstop, he pitched only 6.0 innings in college, but by retiring two batters in the '92 NCAA Division Il World Series, he was scouted and signed by the Yankees as a pitcher...an avid hunter, DeJean spends some off-seasons as an elk hunting guide in the mountains of Colorado...signed by Leon Wurth (Yankees).

JERRY DIPOTO

Acquired from the New York Mets for RHP Armando Revnoso, Nov. 27, 1996...agreed a two-year extension, Nov. 2, 1999...Jerry Dipoto begins his ninth major league season, his fifth in Colorado...during each of his four seasons in Colorado, Dipoto's role has shifted...in 1997 he entered the year in middle relief and earned the closer's duty by August...in 1998, he opened as the closer and then moved to a set-up role in mid-season...in 1999, he spent the entire season as a set-up man for Dave Veres...and, after the Rockies traded Veres, Jerry entered the 2000 spring back in the closer's seat, before a bulging disk in his neck forced him onto the DL...one of the NL's top setup men, Jerry led the circuit in 1999 by stranding 87.5 percent of his inherited runners...in four seasons with the Rockies, Dipoto is 12-12 with a 4.21 ERA (125 ER, 267.1 IP) and 36 saves...at Coors Field since he joined the club, Jerry has gone 9-6 with a 3.89 ERA (66 er, 152.2 ip)...the right-hander needs only 10 appearances to reach 400 in his career...Dipoto's original contract contained an option for 2000, but the Rockies re-worked the pact, bought out the option, and gave him a new, two-year deal, Nov. 2, 1999...pitching through a bases-loaded situation is nothing compared to what Jerry has overcome in his life...one of the most inspirational players in baseball, he survived thyroid cancer in 1994 and then, after the '98 season, his heart stopped for approximately 10 seconds after receiving medicine to dissolve a blood clot in his left wrist...his latest trial was rebounding in 2000 from the bulging disk in his neck (Doctors originally expected him to miss the season, but he returned to the active roster Sept. 1)...Dipoto began his career in the Indians system, when Dan O'Dowd served as Cleveland's farm director...there is no capital P in his last name.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Jerry entered the spring as the Rockies closer, but he battled a bulging disk in his neck the last week of spring training and the season's first month...after original estimates said he'd probably miss the entire season, he returned and closed the year in strong fashion.

- Jerry appeared in 17 games, 12 after the Rockies reinstated him from the 60-day DL Sept. 1.
- ◆ He fanned nine in 13,2 innings, or 5.93 per nine IP.
- The Rockies were 5-12 in games he pitched.
- He retired 11 of 16 first batters faced (.688) and allowed five of his 13 inherited runners to score (.385)...he did not face a batter in his final appearance. at Atlanta Oct. 1, although he recorded an out by picking off Reggie Sanders.
- In four total save situations, he recorded three relief holds and sustained one blown save, at Montreal April 25, his last appearance before surgery.
- In nine home games, he was 0-0 with a 2.35 ERA.
- In eight road games, he was 0-0 with a 6.00 ERA.

INJURIES/SURGERY: Dipoto's bulging disk in his neck hounded him for about six weeks from mid-March to late April.

He first went on the DL April 1 (retroactive to March

- 25)...he began a rehab option at Colorado Springs April 6...the Rockies activated him April 15, when they optioned RHP David Lee down to the Springs.
- Jerry made five appearances in April and gave up four earned runs in 4.1 IP (8.31 ERA)...after allowing only four inherited runners to score in 1999. Dipoto had allowed three inherited runners to cross over his first five 2000 games...he suffered his first and only blown save April 25 at Montreal.
- He went back on the DL April 28 (retroactive to 4/26).
- On May 3 he underwent surgery to relieve a bulging disk in his neck...the procedure was performed by Dr. Brian Wieder...10 days later, on May 13, the Rockies moved him to the 60-day DL.
- After another rehab stint at Colorado Springs, the Rockies reinstated Dipoto Sept. 1.

AFTER THE RETURN: After rejoining the bullpen Sept. 1, Jerry compiled a 1.93 ERA (9.1 IP, 2 ER).

- In his first appearance since the surgery, Sept. 2 vs. Milwaukee, Jerry stranded two runners by fanning his only batter, James Mouton, to end the ninth inning...the outing capped a comeback of more than four months.
- He didn't allow a run over his first four September appearances (3.1 IP).

 After the return, he lowered his season ERA from 8.31 to its final 3.95.

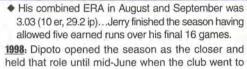

COORS CONTINUATION: Despite his surgery, Jerry was still strong at Coors Field, where he allowed two earned runs in 7.2 IP (2.35 ERA)...at Coors since 1997, he's 9-6 with a 3.89 ERA.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: For the third straight season from the Rockies bullpen. Dipoto was consistently effective.

- Jerry allowed only four of 32 inherited runners to score (12.5 percent), the best mark in the NL and second in the majors to Ricardo Rincon (11.9)...he stranded all 13 inherited runners on the road, and 15 of his 19 at home.
- The bullpen's top setup man. Dipoto recorded a clubleading 15 relief holds.
- Jerry then turned in six straight scoreless appearances (10.2 innings), May 23 - June 9, lowering his ERA to 3.98...over a longer stretch, through June 19, he gave up only two earned runs over 10 appearances (14.2 innings, a 1.23 ERA).
- On June 5 vs. Milwaukee, he preserved a one-run win. converting his only '99 save opportunity.
- Despite a tough second-half debut, a loss at Cincinnati July 17, his ERA after the break was almost two runs better (3.32) than before it (5.09), thanks mainly to a stellar scoreless streak.
- That stretch spanned 11 appearances and 14.1 innings, August 17 - September 13, and included 9.2 innings at Coors Field...it lowered his ERA from 5.01 to 4.10.
- He threw 3.0 shutout innings and fanned four vs. Pittsburgh August 31, tying a season high in innings (also April 27) and a career high in Ks.

a closer by committee. ♦ He earned his 14th save June 15 at San Francisco

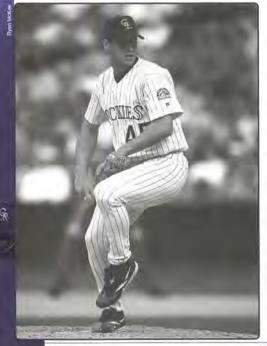

- but didn't get No. 15 until August 12 vs. Montreal, 20 appearances later.
- In 23 save opportunities, he led the club with a careerbest 19 saves.
- Against Jerry, the league batted a staff-low .232.
- At Coors Field, he was 2-3 with a 2.61 ERA and six saves in 39 home appearances, holding hitters to a .201 average (30-for-149) .
- During a stretch of four outings (July 24 August 1) he retired 19 straight hitters, two shy of the club mark.
- Jerry also started a scoreless streak on July 24 that lasted 12.1 innings over nine appearances, until August 18.

1997: During his first season in Colorado, Dipoto entered the year as a middle reliever but by August, he earned the closer role and finished with a clubhigh 16 saves.

- He topped the bullpen in relief innings, and finished tied for ninth in appearances among major-league pitchers.
- His Colorado debut came at Cincinnati on Opening Day, April 1...in his next 11 appearances, covering 11.1 innings, he allowed just two earned runs.
- Over his final 49 appearances he went 4-2 with 15 saves, allowing just 23 earned runs over 69.0 innings (3.00 ERA)...he held his opponents scoreless in 23 of his last 28 games.
- Jerry's big-league-best 65.0-inning homerless streak, June 8 - Sept. 16, ended with a Bobby Bonilla grand slam...still, he allowed just two homers over his final 70.0 innings of work.
- He established a personal best with 18.0 consecutive scoreless innings over 12 games, June 15-July 10.
- Dipoto converted 14 of 16 save opportunities over his last 25 appearances.

1996: Jerry built a 10.2 scoreless innings streak June 14 - July 5...twice he worked 3.0 innings in a game, earning a win vs. Cincinnati on June 21.

1995: In his first full big-league season, and first year in the NL, he led the Mets with 58 appearances...through 20 games he had a 7.16 ERA, but a 1.94 mark over his last 38 outings...he registered his first NL save on Sept. 3 at San Francisco, blanking the Giants in his 2.2 innings.

1994: Jerry rebounded from March 24 surgery to remove a malignant thyroid gland; he moved from the Indians' 15- to 60-day DL on April 24...Dipoto began a rehab assignment at Charlotte (AAA) on May 10 and after a June 12 activation, he was optioned back to Triple-A...he made two trips to the majors in the second half...Dipoto pitched for San Juan of the Puerto Rican Winter League...he was traded after the '94 season from Cleveland to the New York Mets in a six-player swap, Nov. 18.

1993: Dipoto opened the year with Triple-A Charlotte, but received his first big-league recall May 11, and made his debut that day against Kansas City...optioned back to Triple-A after two outings, Cleveland summoned him again on July 5...he earned his first major league win on July 15 with an inning vs. California; he picked up his first big-league save three days later, also vs. the Angels...he finished second on his staff with 11 saves, the most by an Indians rookie since Tom Buskev in 1974.

1991: In his final year as a full-time starter, he led

BANDEY DORAME

Acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers organization with OFs Todd Hollandsworth and Kevin Gibbs for OF Tom Goodwin, July 31, 2000...Dorame (DOOR-ah-mee) makes his first appearance in a major league camp...the left-hander made his Double-A debut during a whirlwind 2000, in which he made three stops in two organizations...Dorame, who enters his fifth pro season in 2001, has anchored two pitching staffs that won league championships (Domincan Summer League in 1997 and California League in '99)...in 1999, Dorame turned in one of the finest seasons in pro ball; the California League Pitcher of the Year, he led San Bernardino to the circuit title...Topps named him to its Minor League All-Star Team after that '99 campaign...in four pro seasons, Randey is 38-25 with a 2.97 ERA...over his career, per nine IP he's walked 2.9 and struck out 7.2...over the past two seasons, Dorame has gone 24-12 with a 2.93 ERA (291.1 IP, 95 ER)...in 83 minor league games, he's made 78 starts and five relief appearances, one since the end of 1998... Baseball America called his breaking ball the best in the Dodgers organization... John Benson's publication calls him the third-best prospect in the Rockies system.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: At all three stops, Dorame went 10-7 with a 3.21 ERA (126.0 IP, 45 ER) in 20 games/starts.

- He opened the season in the Florida State League (A) and won his first six decisions, including a no-walk 11strikeout performance...after his start June 5, the Dodgers moved him to San Antonio (AA).
- In his Double-A debut, June 11 vs. Arkansas, Randev went 6.0 innings on one run, but lost...he still opened the 2000 season 9-2, including 7-1 with Vero Beach.

- At the time of the trade, he was a combined 10-5 with a 3.04 ERA over his final 18 starts in the Dodger system (nine at both Vero Beach and San Antonio).
- Dorame made his Rockies organizational debut in August, at Double-A Carolina, and lost both his starts.
- Baseball America ranked him the 13th best prospect in the Rockies system after the season.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: The California League Pitcher of the Year, Dorame tied for fourth in Single-A with 14 wins.

- ◆ He paced the CL in wins (14) and ERA (2.51), and led San Bernardino to the league championship.
- Over his final 17 starts, he went 10-1 with a 2.81 ERA...he won nine straight decisions at one point.
- The lefty's combined 2.72 ERA (165.1 IP, 50 ER) led the Los Angeles chain...his 14 wins tied for the system lead and tied a Dodgers minor league record.
- In 16 of his 24 California League starts, he walked no more than one.

Dorame opened the season in the Florida State League (A), where he went 0-2 in three games.

1998: From March 18 to October 28, the Dodgers loaned Dorame to the Revnosa Broncos of the independent Mexican League...Randey went 6-13 with a 4.03 ERA in 24 games, 23 starts, during his second pro season.

1997: An all-star in his first pro season, he led his club to the DSL league title.

Personal: Ramon Randey Dorame...signed as a non-drafted free agent, May 16, 1997.

- Overall with the Phillies and Angels, Ron hit 26 homers and drove in 52 runs...he scored 69 combined runs, with 19 doubles and three triples.
- Gant posted 29 multi-hit games...his 2000 high was

- four, June 21 at Shea Stadium; he went 4-for-5 with two doubles, one homer and one RBI in the Phillies' 10-5 win.
- He compiled 13 multi-RBI games...his season high was three, three times: Aug. 15 at Toronto, July 15 at Toronto and May 17 vs. St. Louis.
- In the field, he collected five overall assists, four with the Phillies...after the deal, he made six starts at DH.
- He had two multi-homer games: Aug. 7 vs. Boston and June 28 vs. Milwaukee.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- 1999: Gant played his first season for the Phillies.
- Ron finished third among NL outfielders with a .993 fielding percentage.
- With RISP, he hit .311...after June 27 w/RISP, he went 26-for-70 (.371).
- With 107 runs, he became the first Phillies left fielder to top 100 since Lefty O'Doul (122) in 1930.
- He closed April hitting .132 (9-for-68)...from May 1-season's end, he batted .279 (125-for-448).
- On April 21 at Arizona, his season's first homer marked career No. 250, a 457-foot clout off Todd Stottlemyre.
- On April 28 vs. Cincinnati, he hustled out his third career inside-the-park homer.
- In his 5,000th career at-bat, May 9 in Denver, he hit a game-tying solo homer in the ninth, of a 10-8 win.
- On May 31 vs. the Giants, he tallied two outfield assists, in a one-run victory.

- On two occasions, he hit safely twice in the same inning, July 3 vs. Chicago (double, triple, 3 RBI in the first) and Sept. 22 at Milwaukee (single, double, two RBI in the eighth).
- On July 17 at Boston, he drove in a season-high five.
- On Aug. 6 vs. Arizona, his two-run homer off Randy Johnson tied the game in the eighth, of an eventual 4-2, 10-inning victory.
- On Sept. 23 at Milwaukee, he scored his 900th run.

1998: Gant played his final season with the Cards.

- Off the bench, he went 6-for-16 (.375) as a pinch hitter and clubbed a pair of pinch homers.
- He homered in three straight at Montreal, April 21-23.
- Over nine starts from May 11-21, he homered five times, including three straight at Philly, May 19-21.
- From July 11-14, Gant built a four-game homer streak...over a seven-game stretch, June 18-July 14, Ron hit six homers and drove in 14.
- St. Louis placed him on the DL June 21-July 10 with a strained right hamstring.

1997: Before the all-star break, Gant had 12 homers and 40 RBI...rhe rest of the season, he had five homers and 22 RBI.

- On April 20 vs. San Diego at Honolulu's Aloha Stadium, he posted his second career inside-thepark homer, the first by a Cardinal in 11 years.
- Twice (May 24 at San Fran. and Aug. 19 at Montreal) he reached his career high with four hits.
- ♦ He touched the White Sox for two homers, Sept. 2.

1996: In his first season with the Cards, he hit 30 homers with 80 RBI...the year ended in the NLCS.

- He became the first St. Louis left fielder since Stan Musial (32) in 1951 to top 30 homers...Gant was also the first 30-homer Cardinal at any position since Jack Clark (35) in 1987.
- His lone pinch base hit was a grand slam, May 8 vs. the Giants.
- A strained right hamstring kept him sidelined on the DL from May 11-June 14.
- Ron homered twice as St. Louis tied its club record with seven bombs, July 12 at Wrigley Field.
- On Aug. 2 at Shea Stadium, he blasted his season's second grand slam.
- On Aug. 15 at Los Angeles, he hit his 200th homer.
- On Aug. 30 at Coors Field, he tore his left rotator cuff sliding into home plate.
- ♦ In the postseason, he batted .357 (10-for-35) and paced the team with a .600 slugging percentage...on Oct. 10 in Game 2, he made his 26th career NLCS appearance, breaking Andy Van Slyke's record for an outfielder (Ron raised the bar to 31)...two days later in a Game 3 win, he drove in all three runs and homered twice (Willie McGee in the '82 World Series was the only other Cardinal to homer twice in a postseason game)...Gant's second homer that game gave him his 17th career NLCS run, tying the record held by Pete Rose.

1995: An all-star, Ron rebounded in his first season with the Reds, and first away from Atlanta.

- During a Cincinnati series against his former club, he gave the Reds two wins with extra-inning homers: May 12 (11th, solo) and May 14 (10th, two-run).
- On May 20 at Coors Field, he drove in five, including his 500th career RBI, and registered four hits.
- On May 22 vs. Houston, he hit a game winning homer in the 10th.
- Then, on June 11 at the Astrodome, he notched his fourth extra-inning, game winning homer to establish a single-season major league record...it also marked his fifth extra-inning, game winning hit.
- Back in Cincinnati, he touched the Astros for another key homer, a grand slam, Aug. 20.
- In Game 3 of an NLDS sweep of LA, his two-run HR put Cincy on the road to a 10-1 win...he posted two infield singles in Game 1 of the NLCS vs. Atlanta.

1994: Gant missed the season after a Feb. 3 dirt bike accident left him with a multiple compound fracture in his right leg...released by Atlanta in spring training, he signed with Cincinnati June 21. 1993: In his final season with the Braves, he finished fifth in the NL MVP voting, third in the NL with a career-best 36 HR and fifth with 117 RBI.

- He stole at least 25 bases for the fourth straight year.
- On Sept. 11 at San Diego, he drove in six runs.
- He hit his first regular-season grand slam, Sept. 14 vs. Cincinnati.
- In the NLCS vs. the Phillies, he posted three doubles and three RBI.

1992: Gant became the fifth franchise player in the 20th century to drive in 80 runs in three straight years...he also earned his first NL all-star recognition...in the NLCS, he homered twice, including a Game 2 grand slam, and drove in six vs. the Pirates...his two World Series steals vs. Toronto gave him 11 straight successful attempts, a ML postseason mark.

1991: His 32 homers ranked third in the league and reserved a spot on the NL's Silver Slugger team...he also finished sixth in the MVP voting, and became the third player ever to record consecutive 30-HR, 30-SB seasons (Willie Mays 1956-57 and Bobby Bonds 1977-78)...Gant paced the majors with 21 game winning hits...he set an NLCS record with seven SB...in a Game 5 World Series win over the Twins, he was 3-for-4 with a triple, RBI and three runs.

1990. The Comeback Player of the Year, he became the 12th player to record a 30-homer, 30-steal season...homered twice and drove in six runs, July 5 vs. the Mets.

1989: Atlanta's Opening Day third baseman, he returned to Sumter (A) June 21 to learn outfield...recalled Sept. 6, he started 14 games for the Braves in the outfield to close the year.

1988 Gant, who led ML rookies in homers (19), RBI (60), runs (85), extra-base hits (55) and triples (8), finished fourth in the NL Rookie of the Year

1987: Played the entire season at second base and led the league in fielding...made his ML debut Sept. 6 vs. Montreal...his first hit came Sept. 8 vs. San Diego and his first homer came Sept. 24 vs. Houston (Nolan Ryan).

1986: With Durham, he led the league and organization with 26 homers, 102 RBI and 108 runs.

1985: Saw his first pro time in the outfield.

1984. The second baseman led the South Atlantic League with 75 double plays.

1983: Atlanta's fourth-round selection, he made his pro debut as a shortstop in the Gulf Coast League. Personal: Ronald Edwin Gant...he and his wife, Heather, have a son, Ryan (6) and a daugher, Alexus (2)...played football and baseball at Victoria (Texas) High School and earned team MVP honors during his 1983 senior season.

MIKE HAMPTON

Agreed to terms on a free-agent contract, Dec. 9, 2000...on paper, Hampton's credentials are outstanding...his 3.38 ERA over the past five seasons is eighth in the majors...since 1996, he's compiled a .638 quality-start percentage (102/160, 6.0-plus IP, three/less ER)...he's pitched 200-plus innings in four consecutive seasons...one of the majors' most notorious ground-ball pitchers. Mike compiled a 2.51 groundball/flyball ratio in 2000; in the NL, only Greg Maddux (2.66) posted a higher ratio...no one in the majors last year allowed fewer homers per nine IP than Hampton (0.41, 10 HR, 217.2 IP), and his career 0.63 HR/9 IP ranks fifth among all active pitchers...last year, he induced 26 GDPs, fourth in the NL, and his career 1.14 GDP/9 IP is fourth among active pitchers...his .616 career winning percentage (85-53) is 10th among active hurlers...one of the league's most dangerous hitting pitchers, he looks for his 100th career hit this season (a lifetime .231 hitter, he's 86-for-372 with 31 RBI)...Hampton's the only active pitcher with more than 300 AB and an average above .200...he's pitched in the postseason each of the past four seasons, including the 2000 World Series...last postseason, he built an 18.1 scoreless inning streak, including 16.0 in the NLCS, en route to series MVP honors...but his intangibles may prove his most valuable assets; scouts will tell you his consistency, competitiveness, endurance and athleticism are rarely matched in today's game...few pitchers have accomplished what he has by their 29th birthday.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Hampton concluded his eighth major league season, his first and only campaign with the NL champion New York Mets.

- His 3.14 ERA ranked fifth in the NL and sixth in the majors...he also led the staff both in overall IP (217.2) and consecutive scoreless IP (15.1)...his 10 homers allowed were fewest among Met starters.
- Eighteen of his 33 starts were quality (6.0-plus IP. three-or-less ER)...the Mets were 14-4 in those 18.
- From July 9-Aug. 12, he went 7.0 innings in seven straight starts...overall, Hampton went at least 7.0 innings 20 times, and hurled a staff-leading three complete games.
- He allowed two or fewer earned runs in 21 starts.
- ♦ Mike walked two or fewer 17 times...he went 11-2 in decisions in which he walked two or less.
- The Mets were 20-13 when he took the hill.
- New York scored 178 runs in his 33 starts (5.39 per).
- His 2.36 daytime ERA was second in the circuit.
- The majors hit .241 vs. Hampton, 10th in the NL.

POSTSEASON: Hampton made his fourth consecutive trip to the NLDS (1997-99 with Houston).

- ♦ He sustained a loss at Pac Bell Park in Game 1, the Mets' only NLDS setback.
- ♦ In the NLCS vs. St. Louis, he earned series MVP honors, going 2-0 with 16.0 scoreless innings...he - started Game 1 and the clinching Game 5 Oct. 16. when he hurled a complete-game, three-hit shutout,

- In the World Series, he started Game 2 at Yankee Stadium vs. Roger Clemens...he went 6.0 innings in an eventual loss, and left trailing 4-0...the Mets hit two ninth-inning homers in a 6-5 loss.
- From Game 1 of the NLDS to Game 1 of the World Series, he hurled 18.1 consecutive scoreless innings.

STRUGGING SLUGGING: Mike held the majors to a .325 slugging percentage, first in the NL...only Boston's Pedro Martinez (.259) allowed a lower percentage...Hampton allowed just 45 extra-base hits (32 doubles, three triples and 10 homers).

AT HOME: Mike went 11-4 at Shea...his 2.05 home ERA was second in the NL.

- He won seven of his final eight home decisions, June 25-Sept. 29... overall, the Mets at Shea when he took the hill were 14-3.
- ◆ He hurled a five-hit shutout, June 25 vs. Pittsburgh.

 DOWN THE STRETCH: Over Hampton's final 26 starts,
 New York went 18-8...the Mets were 13-5 over his last 18 trips and 9-3 over his final 12.
- In his last seven starts, he compiled a 2.36 ERA.

WITH THE BAT: His 20 hits ranked second among NL pitchers, one shy of Doc Gooden's 1985 club record, 21...his .278 average was third in the NL.

- On July 5 at Florida, he tied a career best and club record for a pitcher with three hits...he also had three hits, July 28, 1999 at Colorado.
- On April 18 vs. Milwaukee, he reached base four times (two hits, two walks), tying another club mark.
- He hit safely in five straight games, May 14-June 5 (.538, 7-for-13, three RBI).

MURY: Mike left his start Aug. 17 vs. Colorado after 3.0 scoreless innings...the Mets diagnosed him with a strained oblique and small stress fracture in his right ribcage...he missed one start, and returned to defeat Arizona, 2-1, on Aug. 27, allowing three hits and one run in 8.0 innings.

OPENING DAY AT TOKYO DOME: Mike hurled the season's first major league pitch, vs. the Cubs March 29.

In his Met debut, he walked a career-high nine in a 5-3 loss.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: With an NL-leading 22 wins, Hampton surpassed Joe Niekro's 1979 Astros record, 21.

- Also in the NL, he ranked first in winning percentage (.846, 22-4), third in ERA (2.90), fourth in innings (239.0), tied for second in shutouts (2) and sixth in opponents batting average (.241)...his strikeouts (177), wins and innings were career bests.
- The Sporting News' NL Pitcher of the Year and firsttime all-star, he finished second in the Cy Young voting with 110 points (Randy Johnson, 134).
- The first left-handed 20-game winner in Houston history, he topped 200 IP for the third straight year.
- Hampton (22-4; .311, 23-for-74) became the first pitcher to win 20 games and hit .300 in the same season since Oakland's Catfish Hunter (21-11; .350, 36-for-103) in 1971...Mike earned the pitcher's spot on Louisville's NL Silver Slugger team.
- He won 11 straight decisions, June 30 Sept. 13, the longest 1999 streak in the majors.
- From June 14 Sept. 13, he pitched at least 7.0 innings in 17 consecutive assignments...he failed to reach 7.0 IP in six of his 34 starts.
- On Sept. 3 at Montreal, he surpassed 1,000 career innings.
- He hurled complete games in two straight starts, July 18 vs. Clevalnd and July 23 vs. San Diego.
- In his only NLDS appearance, he went 7.0 innings on three runs, one walk and nine Ks in a no-decision vs. Atlanta.

1998: Mike helped the Astros to their second consecutive pennant, going 11-7 with a 3.36 ERA.

- He made his second career trip to the disabled list (1995) after his start June 15 at Cincinnati, leaving with a strained left groin (activated July 3).
- He led the National League in ground-ball double-plays induced with 31.
- He got a no-decision in his NLDS start, despite going

6.0 innings on two hits, one run, one walk and two Ks. 1997: Hampton won 15 games, the most by an Astro southpaw since Jim Deshaies won 15 in 1989.

- He ranked ninth in the NL in innings (223.0), tied for ninth in wins (15), tied for third in both starts (34) and complete games (7), and tied for fifth in shutouts (2).
- On Sept. 25 vs. the Cubs, his win clinched the NL Central title.
- On July 2 in the Astrodome, he fired a complete-game to beat Cleveland, his first of seven straight winning decisions...over the nine-start stretch, he hurled five complete games and two shutouts, with a 2.15 ERA (17 ER, 71.0 IP).

1996: Mike went 10-10 with a 3.59 ERA, two complete games and his first major league shutout...after the season, he underwent exploratory arthroscopic surgery; in the Sept. 30 procedure, Dr. Bill Bryan relieved an impingement condition in his shoulder.

1995: The youngest player on Houston's roster (23), Hampton first full season in a major league rotation, finished 11th in the NL with a 3.35 ERA...the Astros placed him on the disabled list May 14 with a partial tear of the medial collateral ligament in his left elbow...soon after his June 13 activation, he won six straight decisions, June 28-Aug. 6...over the seven-start stretch, he compiled a 2.79 ERA (15 ER. 48.1 IP).

1994: The reliever made his NL debut Opening Day vs. Montreal...on April 29, he defeated St. Louis for his first NL win...from May 10-June 14, he allowed one ER in 13.2 IP (0.66); the streak lowered his season ERA from 6.23 to 2.82... Hampton stranded 19 of his 27 inherited runners (.704).

1993: Mike made Seattle's Opening Day roster and made his major league debut April 17 at Detroit...in 2.2 innings, he allowed four hits and four runs and sustained the loss...he registered his first major league win April 23 vs. the Yankees...optioned to Jacksonville (AA) of the Southern League May 11, Hampton returned to the majors June 28...he notched his first and only big-league save, July 15 at Fenway Park.

1992: Voted San Bernardino (A) team MVP, he led the California League with two shutouts...a league all-star, Hampton was tabbed by Baseball America the fifth-best prospect in the Seattle system.

1991: Hampton opened with San Bernardino (A), then moved to Bellingham (A) of the Northwest League, July 16...on May 31, he no-hit Visalia; he walked three and fanned five in a 6-0 win.

1990: The 17-year-old left-hander led the Arizona league with seven wins in his pro debut.

Personal: Michael William Hampton...he and his wife Kautia, and sons Michael (5) and Griffen (1), are moving from Houston to the Denver area, along with their extended family...upon agreeing to his current contract, he committed a significant contribution to the Colorado Rockies Charity Fund...he graduated from Crystal River (Fla.) High School in 1990...a two-time, all-state selection in football and baseball, he went 10-3 with a 0.42 ERA in 14 games as a senior; he fanned 153 in 93 innings...a defensive back, he received a combined football and baseball scholarship offer from Florida State University, but signed with the Mariners, who selected him in the sixth round of the 1990 June draft...the University of Florida and Rutgers also recruited him for football.

TODD HELTON

Selected in the first round of the 1995 June draft...in pro sports history, few athletes have consistenly improved their play and statistics at Todd Helton's rate over their first four seasons, although topping 2000 might be his steepest challenge yet...one of the game's most focused players, Helton's approach is key...after 1999, he and coach Clint Hurdle evaluated his performance and set goals to improve his hitting in three areas: getting off to a better start in April, batting better vs. left-handers, and better in road games...he obliterated all three goals...in August, no player in the majors has proven more dangerous since 1997; Helton's career August average (.395, 155-for-382) is the highest in any month among active major league players...a career .995 fielder, he plays one of the toughest first bases in baseball, battling the late-evening Coors Field sun most of the summer...since '98, he's ranked among major league leaders in 3-6-3 double plays; he has a quick release and an accurate arm...Todd, who made his '97 major league debut in left field, wasn't a full-time first baseman until 1998, after Andres Galarraga signed with Atlanta and Helton stepped into the shoes of the franchise icon...his career .334 average (594-for-1781) ranks second among active players, behind Tony Gwynn (.338, 3108-for-9186).

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Todd completed one of the finest wire-to-wire campaigns ever...the Associated Press named him Major League Player of the Year.

- He earned his first career all-star appearance, an invitation from NL manager Bobby Cox.
- He won his first career batting title, by 17 points, leading the majors with a .372 average...Todd commanded the NL leaders over the season's final 127 days, from May 28-Oct. 1...in 2000 alone, he improved his career average 19 points (.315 to .334).
- Helton led the majors with 147 RBI, the second highest total in club history, three shy of Andres Galarraga's 1996 Rockies record, 150...he also led the NL with a 3.9 AB/RBI ratio.
- Todd led the NL with 63 multi-hit games, including his career high, five hits, May 3 vs. Montreal.
- He posted a club-record 44 multi-RBI games, surpassing Galarraga's 42 in 1997...Helton's season high, five RBI on May 1 vs. Montreal, tied his career best (third time).
- ♦ In the field, his .995 fielding percentage ranked third among NL first basemen...however, he led NL first basemen in games (160), putouts (1,326), assists (149), total chances (1,482) and double plays (143)...he originated 11 ground-ball double plays...and, he built a 43-game errorless streak...the stretch from June 26-Aug. 12 covered 411 total chances.

- ♦ His 42 home runs tied for seventh in the league...by himself, he accounted for 26 percent of Colorado's 161 homers...Todd left the park in seven of his final 10 starts...Helton tied a club record with eight multihomer games (Galarraga 1996, Larry Walker 1997), matching his career total entering the season...included was his single-game career high, three homers, May 1 vs. Montreal...that effort also gave him 13 total bases, another career best.
- With runners in scoring position, Helton (.392, 60-for-153) swiped the NL individual honors from teammate Jeff Cirillo (.391)...Todd went 10-for-his-final-14 w/RISP...he took the lead on the season's final day from Cirillo, who led the NL from July 18-Oct. 1...Helton enters next season batting a career .354 (166-for-469) w/RISP.
- Todd led the league in batting both at night (.362, 132-for-365) and during the day (.391, 84-for-215), as well as vs. RHP (.387, 169-for-437).

- At home, he hit .391 (118-for-302), third in the league.
- On the road, he was 98-for-278 (.353), third in the NL.
- Helton also led the NL with a club-record .463 on-base percentage, a .698 slugging percentage, 405 total bases and 216 hits...his slugging mark and total bases also led the majors.
- He started 156 games and reached via hit or walk in 141 (90 percent)...on the road, he reached via hit or walk in 68 of 76 starts (89 percent)...at home, he reached via hit or walk in 73 of 80 starts (91 percent).

LEGENDARY COMPANY: Helton became only the fifth player, the first in 63 years and the first ever in the National League with at least...

- 200 hits, 40 home runs, 100 RBI, 100 runs, 100 extrabase hits and 100 walks.
- The others: Babe Ruth (1921), Lou Gehrig (1927 &, '30), Jimmie Foxx (1932) and Hank Greenberg (1937).
 ANOTHER EXCLUSIVE MEMBERSHIP: Todd hit .372 with 42 home runs...
- Only three players ever have combined that high of an average with that many home runs: Babe Ruth in 1920, 1921, 1924 and 1931; Lou Gehrig in 1927 and Rogers Hornsby in 1922.

THE ROCKIES IN 2000 WITHOUT HEITON?: Had Todd Helton never played for the Rockies this season, Colorado would've lost...

- Nine points on its batting avg. (.285, rather than .294).
- 18 points on its slugging pct. (.427 rather than .455).
- ◆ 13 points on its on-base pct. (.349 rather than .362).
- 285 runs (683 total runs, rather than 968; Helton scored 138 runs and drove in 147).
- Eight game-tying home runs, 17 game-tying RBI, 11 go-ahead home runs and 29 go-ahead RBI.

TRUITS OF THE MILWAUKEE TALK: Before their game with the Brewers Aug. 11, 1999, Todd Helton and Clint Hurdle, Colorado's hitting coach, had a heart-to-heart conversation at County Stadium.

- From that afternoon, Helton over a 180-game stretch proceeded to bat .394 (258-for-655).
- The stretch ended Aug. 28, 2000 at Veterans Stadium, when Todd capped a 3-for-4 night with a double.

FURTING WITH .400: Helton captivated national attention in August with a run at .400, the first challenge that late in a season in 20 years.

- On Aug. 21 in the sixth inning, Helton singled to reach .400 (exactly, 178-for-445)...he'd reached .3995 twice in the previous three days, but Elias Sports Bureau ruled that a player must completely clear .400 without rounding up...he became the first player since George Brett on Sept. 4, 1980 to touch .400 that late.
- From that point on, Todd batted .281 (38-for-135),
 .253 at home (20-for-79) and .321 (18-for-56) away.
- However, over the 162 Rockies games from Aug. 29, 1999 to Aug. 28, 2000, he batted .395 (231-for-585) with 42 homers and 144 RBI.

- Helton reached .400 on Aug. 21 after a steep climb,..that sixth-inning single capped a 46-for-89 run, in which he batted .517 over 24 games...the run improved his season average 29 points, from .371 on July 28 to .400 in the sixth inning Aug. 21.
- Todd ended his day above .400 on 28 occasions: April 8-9, May 12-23 and May 27-June 10...on Aug. 21, after reaching .400 in the sixth inning, he went 0for-his-last-2 and ended the day at .398...after play on May 31 vs. Houston, his average reached a seasonhigh .421.
- He hit .400 or better vs. nine clubs, .500 or better vs. four teams and .625 vs. the Montreal Expos.

HE WASN'T A CUBS FAN: The Chicago Cubs took a big bite out of Helton's 2000 season.

- ◆ Todd vs. the Cubs batted .114 (4-for-35)...he went 0-for-11 vs. Chicago in a Coors Field series, May 23-25.
- Had Helton avoided Cubs pitching, he would've batted .389 (212-for-545).

THE PERCENTAGE TRIPLE CROWN: Helton, who led the NL in batting (.372), on-base percentage (.463) and slugging percentage (.698), gave the Rockies consecutive percentage triple crowns...Larry Walker in 1999 earned a percentage triple crown, the first in the majors since Brett in 1980, and the first in the NL since Stan Musial in 1948.

- Walker and Helton have made the Rockies the majors' first team to record percentage triple crowns in consecutive seasons with different players.
- The last team to win consecutive percentage triple crowns was the 1941-42 Boston Red Sox (Ted Williams both seasons).
- The last NL team to win consecutive percentage triple crowns was the 1920-23 St. Louis Cardinals (Rogers Hornsby all four years).

ACCOLANES: Besides his all-star invitation and AP Major League Player of the Year, Todd earned several other individual honors...

- His peers voted him the NL's Player of the Year, announced at the annual Players Choice Awards.
- Helton earned the second annual Hank Aaron award, as the NL's best offensive player in 2000...Aaron presented Todd with the honor in New York Feb. 4.
- He filled first-base slots on the NL's Louisville Silver Slugger team, and AP major league all-star team.
- Baseball Digest named him its Major League Player of the Year.
- Baseball Digest, and USA Baseball Alumni also named Helton Major League Player of the Year.
- Elias Sports Bureau calculated him the top statistical position player in its annual rankings.
- He received the Walter Fenner "Buck" Leonard Leagacy Award, presented by Buck O'Neil and the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum.
- Baseball honored Todd with the Rockies' Roberto

Clemente Man of Year, for his community contributions in Eastern Tennessee.

- He earned the NL's Player of the Month in both May and August.
- In May, he batted .512 (42-for-82) with 11 homers and 26 RBI...only two players in the 1990s hit at least .500 over a calendar month (minimum 50 AB): Baltimore's Roberto Alomar in Sept. 1997 and Colorado's Larry Walker in Sept. 1998.
- In August, he batted .476 (50-for-105) with seven homers and 32 RBI.
- The NL also named Helton Player of the Week May 8-14, and co-POW July 16-23 and Aug. 14-20.
- The Rockies honored him with three of their six Player of the Month awards: April, May and August.

READ ALL ABOUT IT: Helton's 103 extra-base hits tied for the fourth most in major league history.

- His extra-base hits tied for the second most ever by an NL player...he fell four short of Chuck Klein's 1930 senior circuit record, 107...among NL players, he tied Klein's 103 EBH in 1932 and Stan Musial's 103 in 1948...among AL players, Babe Ruth (119 in 1921), Lou Gehrig (117 in 1927), Albert Belle (103 in 1995) and Hank Greenberg (103 in 1937) either matched or topped Helton.
- He became the ninth player ever to eclipse 100 EBH.
- 13 of his last 19 hits went for extra bases.

AN AFFINITY FOR THE NINTH INNING: Helton homered seven times in the ninth, more than any frame.

- His last three HR, including his game-winning shot off John Rocker at Allanta Oct. 1, came in the ninth.
- In his last home at-bat, Sept. 28 vs. Arizona, he blasted a three-run shot over the center-field wall.
- He homered five times each in the first, second, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth frames.
- He homered three times in the third inning and two times in the fourth.

MILESTONES: Helton reached four early career benchmarks in 2000...

- Todd posted his 500th career hit, July 18 vs. Oakland.
- The next night, he notched his 300th career RBI, July 19 at Los Angeles.
- He got his 1,000th career total base Aug. 28 at Veterans Stadium.
- And, on Sept. 15 at Dodger Stadium, he recorded career HR No. 100.

ON THE ROAD: In the NL, Helton finished tied for third with Vladi Guerrero with a .353 road batting average; only Mike Piazza (.377) and Moises Alou (.362) hit better away from home...Todd's 31 road doubles led the majors.

- In road games, he went 63-for-his-last-157 (.402), and 39-for-his-last-92 (.424).
- After reaching .400 on Aug. 21, Helton over the season's final 37 games actually hit better on the road (.321, 18-for-56) than at home (.253, 20-for-79).

DOUBLE TAKE: Todd's 59 doubles were the most in the majors in 64 years...

- The last players to hit at least 59 doubles in a season were the Cards' Joe Medwick (NL-record 64) and the Tigers' Charlie Gehringer (60), both in 1936.
- Helton surpassed Dante Bichette's 1998 club record, 48, with more than a month left in the season.
- ◆ He led the majors with 31 doubles on the road.

WALK THIS WAY. Todd walked more in 2000 than any player in club annals...

- His 103 total walks tied for fourth in the NL, and surpassed Walt Weiss' 1995 club record, 99.
- Todd's 22 Intentional walks tied for second in the NL, and surpassed Larry Walker's 1997 club record, 14...Helton (33) enters 2001 six intentional walks shy of Walker's career Rockies record, 39.
- In the 21 games opponent managers chose to intentionally walk him, the Rockies were 15-6, 7-3 at home and 8-3 on the road...Bobby Cox intentionally walked him twice on April 4...on four occasions, the batter after opponents put Helton on, drove in runs (Jeffrey Hammonds all four times, six total RBI).

STREAKS: Todd compiled four hitting streaks of at least 10 games during the 2000 season...the four streaks combined for 45 games.

- Helton opened the season with hits in his first 10 games (see below).
- He matched the 10-game hitting streak, May 6-21...that stretch, along with the 10-gamer to open the year, tied his career long (two times before 2000).
- Todd built his longest career hitting streak (at the time) from June 26-July 5, an 11-game string...the streak ended July 6 when he went 0-for-3 with two BB.
- Then, from Aug. 10-22, he hit safely in 14 straight games, a new personal best...Todd was 28-for-51 (.549) with four homers and 16 RBI over the stretch.
- Todd's longest streak without a hit was 0-for-13, twice: May 23-26, including an 0-for-11 series vs. Chicago, and June 21-25.

OUT OF THE GATES: One of Helton's major goals was to begin the season much more productively than he had his previous two years.

- With hits in his first 10 games, Todd registered the franchise's second longest streak ever to open a regular season (Ellis Burks, 14, 1994)...the season opening streak ended April 14 when he went 0-for-1 with three walks...he went on to hit safely in 17 of his first 18 games.
- He actually hit safely in 26 consecutive games, the final 16 of the exhibition season and the first 10 of the regular campaign.
- Todd posted either a hit, walk or RBI in his first 39 games...he went 0-for-4 with no RBI and no walks May 23 vs. Chicago.
- His season average peaked at .421 entering June 1.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: After an outstanding rookie season, in which he finished a close runner-up to Rookie of the Year Kerry Wood, the Rockies and Helton agreed to terms on a four-year contract, March 2.

- He hit nearly 100 points better in Rockies wins than in Rockies losses, and 23 of his 35 homers, and 75 of his 113 RBI, came in Colorado victories
- The Rockies asked him to bat in five slots in the order (second, third, fifth, sixth and seventh).
- On April 8 at Los Angeles, he delivered a two-out, three-run homer in the seventh, the deciding blast in a 4-1 win...the game marked the first of 19 in which Todd drove in at least three runs; the Rockies were 13-6 in those contests.
- He went 1-for-17 to close April, by far his toughest month (.232, three homers, 13 RBI).
- Helton changed with the calendar, opening May with a season-long 10-game hitting streak.
- On June 2 at Atlanta, Helton blasted a solo homer to break a 2-2 tie in the 10th, in a 3-2 win.
- ◆ He opened the most memorable week of his career June 14 vs. the Giants; inserted as a pinch runner, he delivered a three-run double in his only at-bat (nine pitches), the game-winning hit in a 5-4 Rockies win...he homered and drove in four runs the next day in a 15-6 Colorado win...on June 18 vs. Florida, Todd was 3-for-5, tied a career-high with five RBI and homered twice, the second of which was his first career game-ending home run...one night later, on June 19, Helton doubled, singled and homered; in his fourth trip, knowing he needed his first triple since 5/15/98, he drove a pitch off the right-field wall and slid into third, posting the third cycle in club history...he capped the week with a homer and two more RBI and ran away with the NL Player of the Week...at one point during the Marlins series, he'd reached base in eight straight trips...amazingly, Helton's first four hits after his cycle were a homer, single, double and triple.

- Todd fell one hit shy of a second cycle on four occasions; only one player since 1900 (Brooklyn's Babe Herman in 1931) cycled twice in a season.
- He broke out of a July slump with another incredible August...Helton, who in 1998 led the majors with a .398 August average, hit .364 during the month in '99, with eight homers and 28 RBI.
- ◆ Todd strung together three significant hitting streaks over the season's final two months...from August 11-15, he posted five consecutive multi-hit games (.480, 12-for-25, four homers, 10 RBI)...from August 29 to September 1, he had four straight multi-hit games (11-for-18, .611, triple, three homers, eight RBI)...finally, from September 8-13, Helton posted multiple hits in five straight (.545, 12-for-22, three doubles, three homers, eight RBI).
- On Sept. 27 at Arizona, Helton sat out his third and final game; he played in a club-leading 159 games.

1998: In the closest balloting in 16 years, Todd finished second in the NL Rookie of the Year race, despite leading all major-league rookies in average (.315), homers (25), RBI (97), multi-hit games (49), total bases (281), slugging percentage (.530) and extra-base hits (63)...among NL rookies, he was first in runs (78), hits (167), and on-base percentage (.380)...since 1972, only Mike Piazza (35), David Justice (28), and Darryl Strawberry (26) had hit more homers as an NL rookie, and only Piazza had more RBI (112).

- On May 10 at Montreal Todd registered his first career multi-homer game
- Greg Colbrunn's July 30 trade to Atlanta officially ended the club's first-base platoon.
- Helton led the majors in August with a .398 average, hitting safely in 24 of his 29 games with 29 RBI...he went 5-for-8 in an August 18 doubleheader at New York, pushing his average past .300, where it would remain the rest of the year...he had at least one RBI in seven consecutive games August 22-28 (13 total) and finished second to Jeff Kent in the NL-Player of the Month balloting
- A sprained right wrist (during an at-bat Sept.13 at San Francisco) kept him out of action during the Los Angeles series, September 14-16.
- On Sept. 23 vs. Arizona, he was 3-for-5 with a double, two homers and a career-high five RBI.
- His 25th and final homer was a three-run blast in the season finale, Sept. 27 vs. San Francisco; the homer played a key role in helping the Rockies erase a seven-run deficit to beat the Giants.

- On the year, 12 of Helton's 25 homers either tied the game or put the Rockies in front.
- His club leading .386 average with men in scoring position was fourth in the NL.

1997: Todd opened the season at Triple-A, where he was hitting .352 upon his Aug. 1 recall.

- Todd made a memorable major-league debut Aug. 2. at Pittsburgh, batting fifth and starting in left; he flied out in his first at-bat but singled in his second trip off the Bucs' Francisco Cordova for his first major-league hit; after a walk he belted his first big-league homer, a solo shot off Marc Wilkins...the next day at Three Rivers, he picked up two more hits and his second homer...Helton hit safely in his first four games in the majors (7-for-16).
- On the season he made 14 starts in the outfield (13) in left and one in right) and posted two assists...he also started seven games at first base.

1996: Helton opened his first full pro season with Double-A New Haven, but moved to Triple-A July 30, going 3-for-4 in his debut at that level...after three consecutive hitless games in early April, Todd did not go more than two straight games without a hit, including his stint in AAA...named the best defensive first baseman in the Eastern League.

1995: Helton began his pro career at Asheville (A)...after the regular season, Todd played winter ball for the Maui Stingrays.

College: A quarterback for the gridiron Vols, he started several games during the '94 season in place of an injured Jerry Colquitt ... a first baseman/pitcher in the spring, Todd set 19 school records and in 1995, led the Vols to the College World Series, both at the plate and on the hill...he narrowly missed the '95 SEC triple crown, posting the second-best average (.407), while leading in homers (20) and RBI (92)...as a hurler in '95, Helton was 8-2 with a 1.66 ERA and 12 saves; he made four starts on the mound, each a completegame victory...capping an incredible collegiate career, he was Baseball America's '95 College Player of the Year, the SEC's Player of the Year, the Mizuno/Collegiate Baseball Co-National Player of the Year and was named All-America for the third straight season.

Personal: Todd Lynn Helton...he and his wife, Christy make their regular-season home in Thornton, Colo. ...a '92 graduate of Knox Central (Tenn.) High School, he lettered in baseball and football...a 1992 Baseball America prep All-American, he hit .655 (51-for-78)...he remained a two-sport star and attended the University of Tennessee, passing on an opportunity to sign with San Diego...he had bone spurs removed from his heels late in the fall of 1996...during the '98 season his Rockies teammates named him their club player representative, the first time the Rockies have named a rookie to that role...following his spectacular rookie season, the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame named him its 1998 Professional Athlete of the Year...signed by Ty Coslow.

Todd HOLLANDSWORTH

Outfielder

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 207 B/T: L/L Born: 4/20/73 in Dayton, Ohio

Residence: Pleasanton, Calif.

Major League Service: Six years, zero days

Contract: First year of a two-year contract, through 2002

TODD HOLLANDSWORTH

Age: 27 (turns 28 on April 20)

Acquired with P Randey Dorame and OF Kevin Gibbs from the Los Angeles Dodgers for OF Tom Goodwin, July 31, 2000...agreed to terms on a two-year contract to remain with the Rockies, Oct. 31, 2000...Hollandsworth begins his 11th pro season, his sixth in the majors...Los Angeles' third-round selection in the 1991 June draft and 1996 NL Rookie of the Year, Todd in five seasons with the Dodgers hit .266 with 41 HR and 179 RBI...a versatile outfielder, who can play all three positions, Todd has 33 career outfield assists and a .995 outfield fielding percentage...in little more than two months with the Rockies, he batted .323 with 11 homers and 23 RBI (a pace that would've produced 32 homers and 67 RBI over a full season)...he hit .351 on the road after the trade, and .300 at home...injuries have stolen large pieces of Todd's career...even before his award winning 1996, he spent two stints on the major league DL in 1995...but the 2001 season is unlike any of his previous years...he's a 27-year-old veteran with a new manager anc coaches, a new clubhouse and a new role...Colorado's environment is great for Hollandsworth; the team even has a lineup with two other left-handed Todds...his 13-letter last name is the longest in team history; it surpasses 12-letter players Mark Strittmatter (1998) and Scott Frederickson (1993)...no one in the organization believes Todd's reached his full potential...look for him to play a major role in any success the Rockies enjoy.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Hollandsworth completed his sixth major league season and his strongest all-around campaign since his Rookie-of-the-Year season in 1996.

- He posted a .269 combined average, although he hit .323 after the trade.
- Todd drove in 47 combined runs between the Dodgers and Rockies, but 23 after joining Colorado.
- Hollandsworth notched 31 multi-hit games, 16 with the Rockies...his season high came in the season finale, Oct. 1 at Atlanta, when he went 4-for-5.
- He had nine multi-RBI contests, four with Colorado...Todd's season and career high came at San Diego Sept, 13, when he drove in five runs.
- From the outfield, he recorded a career-high 10 assists, six with Colorado and five in September alone...his previous career best was seven in 1996.
- His 19 homers (11 with Colorado) shattered his previous career high, 12 in 1996...he had one multihomer game (third career), Sept. 13 at San Diego.
- Todd's 18 stolen bases (seven with the Rockies) marked the second highest total of his career, three shy of his 1996 personal best, 21.
- ♦ With RISP, Todd batted .183 (20-for-109)...with the Rockies, w/RISP, he hit .209 (9-for-43).
- At Coors Field, he hit .300 (27-for-90).
- On the road with Colorado, he was 27-for-77 (.351).

AGAINST HIS FORMER CLUB: Todd played his original teammates seven times after the July 31 trade...

- Against the Dodgers, he posted his best average vs. any opponent, .423 (11-for-26, six runs, one double, one RBI and two steals).
- He hit safely in all seven games vs. L.A.
- Todd also hit better than .400 against the NL Eastern Division Champion Braves (.419, 13-for-31) and vs. the Brewers (.417, 5-for-12).

SEPTEMBER: The Rockies named Hollandsworth Player of the Month for September...

- During the month, he led the club in batting (.357, 35for-98) and home runs (10), and added 18 RBI.
- From Sept. 13-21, he matched his season high with an eight-game hitting streak, in which he batted .500 (16-for-32) with three homers and six RBI...he also hit safely in eight consecutive games from June 2-21 (.306, 11-for-36, one homer, two RBI).

IN THE PINCH: Todd excelled as a Rockies PH...

- After the trade, he batted .333 (4-for-12) with one HR and three RBI...overall as a pinch hitter in 2000, he hit .200 (5-for-25) with the HR and three RBI.
- In his Rockies debut, Aug. 1 at Wrigley Field, he stepped up with the score tied, the bases loaded and two out in the eighth...he delivered the game-winning RBI off Tim Worrell in a 2-1 victory...the night before, hours after the trade, he arrived at Wrigley and met his new teammates in the eighth innning.

- On Aug. 5 vs. Philly, his second pinch appearance for Colorado. Todd singled with two out and scored the game ending run in a 7-6 win.
- ♦ He went 3-for-his-first-6 as a Rockies pinch hitter, and 4-for-his-first-10.
- Hollandsworth's pinch homer came Aug. 18 vs. Florida, off Dan Miceli.

CAREER NIGHT: Todd in an 11-0 Rockies win enjoyed one of the best games of his career, Sept. 13 at Qualcomm Stadium...

- He drove in a career-high five runs, and went 3-for-5 with two runs.
- Todd hit his first career grand slam, off Adam Eaton in the first inning...he added a seventh-inning homer to mark his third career multi-HR game, but his first since May 11, 1996 at St. Louis.

DOWN THE STRETCH: Hollandsworth finished the season in strong fashion...

- ♦ He posted eight multi-hit games over his last 17 starts...he went 26-for-64 (.406) with six homers and 12 RBI over those 17 starts.
- Hollandsworth hit safely in five of his final six games, all starts (9-for-24, .375, three homers, six RBI).
- His final four homers either tied the score or gave Colorado the lead, including the game winning shot Sept. 29 at Atlanta...the Rockies were 4-0 in those four contests in which Todd homered.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Todd batted .284 with nine homers and 32 RBI in 92 games.

- In an April 2 exhibition game, three days before Opening Day, he strained his right hamstring running out a grounder, and began the year on the DL.
- Activated April 23, he got his first start six days later, at Milwaukee April 29 (2-for-5, triple, three RBI).
- On May 27 at Cincinnati, he left the game with a strained oblique muscle...placed on disabled list June 4, he missed 35 games, during which the Dogers were 14-21.

1998: In 55 games, Hollandsworth hit .269 with three HR and 20 RBI.

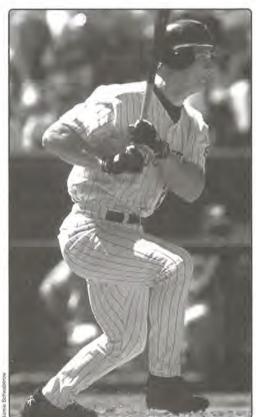

- He played 51 games in the outfield, including 35 starts in left, seven starts in center and one in right.
- From May 21-29, he built a nine-game hitting streak (.410, 16-for-39), a career long at the time.
- Placed on the DL June 5, he missed the final 103 games with torn cartilage in his left shoulder...Dr. Frank Jobe repaired the tear June 11 at Los Angeles' Centinela Hospital.

1997: Injuries hampered Todd during his encore to his Rookie-of-the-Year campaign.

- ◆ The Dodgers' Opening Day left fielder, he hit .247 with four homers and 31 RBI in 106 games.
- On May 19 at Montreal, he left in the sixth inning with a bruised right knee, after an outfield collision.
- Optioned to Albuquerque June 13, he spent two anda-half weeks at Triple-A, before a June 30 recall.
- In 29 games after his return, he hit .323 (21-for-65)
- Then, on Aug. 1 at Chicago, he fractured his right elbow in a play at the plate, and went on the DL...the club activated him Aug. 17, but that night he felt discomfort in the joint during batting practice...he went back on the DL Aug. 19.

1996: The NL Rookie of the Year, Hollandsworth hit .291 with 12 home runs and 59 RBI in 149 games...he led all NL rookies in hits, doubles, home runs, RBI and steals...from May 20-Aug. 12, he built a 74-game errorless streak...Todd collected a career-high five hits, July 1 at San Diego...in 29 leadoff starts, he batted .316 (42-for-133) with five homers and 17 RBI...during the NLDS vs. Atlanta, he led the Dodgers with a .333 average.

1995: Injuries overshadowed his first major league season...after making the team's Opening Day roster, he made his major league debut April 25 at Florida, as a defensive replacement in left field...after five games, he went on the DL with a fractured right hand...he underwent May 9 surgery at Los Angeles' Centinela Hospital...soon after his return, on July 14 he made a memorable first major league start; the Dodgers' center fielder, Todd got his first three big-league hits and first two RBI on a night when Ramon Martinez no-hit the Marlins...on July 18 vs. Houston, Todd belted his first home run, a second-inning shot off Shane Reynolds...he went back on the 15-day DL Aug.10 with a fractured right thumb, suffered sliding into third base Aug. 8...he made 23 starts in center field and two in right.

1994: In his first full season at Triple-A, he batted .285 with 19 homers and 91 RBI, playing a key role in Albuquerque's PCL championship...Todd led the circuit in games played (132) and finished second in hits (144)...his 91 RBI ranked third in the entire organization...after the season, he played for La Romana in the Domincan Winter League, and led the team to its first league championship and a trip to the 1995 Caribbean Series in Puerto Rico...Dominican Republic journalists called him the best American player in that league in 10 years.

1993: Hollandsworth hit .251 with 17 homers and 63 RBI in 126 games at Double-A San Antonio...after the season, Baseball America tabbed him the second-best prospect in the Dodger chain.

1992: Todd hit .258 at Single-A Bakersfield...he led the club in homers (13), doubles (23), triples (5), RBI (58) and stolen bases (27).

1995: With short-season Yakima in the Northwest League, Todd hit .236 with eight home runs and 33 RBI to lead the Bears to the circuit playoffs.

Personal: Todd Matthew Hollandsworth...he and his wife, Marci, were married this past Dec. 2...the couple recently bought a home in Castle Rock...he graduated from Newport High School in Bellevue, Wash...in past offseasons, he's worked with Compassion International, a non-profit organization that supports more than 250,000 needy children worldwide...he's also served as a role model for Los Angeles' CBO Sports League, speaking to kids about sportsmanship and teamwork...upon signing his current contract, Todd committed part of his salary to build a Colorado facility as part of the team's Youth Fields Program.

CRAIG HOUSE

Selected in the 12th round of the 1999 June draft...after signing his first pro contract June 18, 1999, Craig spent only 414 days in the minors before a memorable big-league debut, Aug. 6, 2000...in about 13 months, he touched five of the organization's six affiliates, before joining the Rockies...House's uncomparable delivery produces a fastball that's topped 100 MPH...if he can harness that velocity and improve his control, House could earn a setup job...he didn't allow a home run over his first 85.0 professional innings, until the Mets' Mike Bordick touched him Aug. 17 (he still hasn't allowed a minor league homer).

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: The Rockies purchased his contract Aug. 6 and Craig made his major league debut that afternoon vs. Philadelphia...

- ♦ In 16 games, he went 1-1 with a 7.24 ERA.
- ♦ He fanned eight in 13.2 innings, or 4.68 per nine IP.
- The Rockies were 7-9 in games he pitched.
- He retired seven of 16 first batters faced (.438) and stranded five of his nine inherited runners (.555).
- In three total save situations, he recorded two relief holds and sustained one blown save.
- At Coors Field, he was 0-0 with a 3.00 ERA in 10 games.
- ♦ In six road games, he was 1-1 with a 15.43 ERA.

FASTEST SURGE IN ROCKIES HISTORY: Craig joined the major league club in his second professional season, faster than any player in organizational history...drafted in 1999, he actually played little more than one calendar year before making his major league debut Aug. 6.

SPEAKING OF THAT DEBUT: House made a dramatic major league debut, Aug. 6 vs. the Phillies...he entered with no out in the eighth to face Bobby Abreu, to whom he threw three pitches, all strikes, clocked at 95, 97 and 99 mph, respectively... Craig went on to strike out the side.

HRST THING'S FIRST: House earned his first major league victory, in his fifth appearance, Aug. 14 at Montreal...

- He entered with two out in the seventh and stranded his lone inherited runner in scoring position, fanning his first batter...House then pitched a scoreless eighth and the Rockies came three down to win.
- His loss came the next day, in Game 1 of a twi-night DH at New York...he entered in the seventh with a 4-2 lead and allowed both inherited runners to score, as well as two more...the outing also marked his first career blown save opportunity.

 Craig recorded his first relief hold in his second appearance, Aug. 8 vs. Pittsburgh.

CONTROL: House walked 17 and fanned eight in his first major league tour...

- After striking out the side in his debut, Aug. 6, he fanned five over his final 15 appearances.
- In his final two appearances, he walked five of the 10 batters he faced...opponents homered in each of those final two games and scored five total runs off
- Over his six outings without a walk, he was 1-0 with a 4.26 ERA (6.1 IP, 3 ER)...over his 10 outings with a least one free pass, he was 0-1 with a blown save and a 9.82 ERA (7.1 IP, 8 ER).

THE TENNESSEE PIPELINE: House was signed by Tv Coslow, the Rockies scout who inked Todd Helton...Craig starred at the Univ. of Memphis and Helton came out of the Univ. of Tennessee.

IN THE MINORS: Craig made four stops on the Rockies organizational ladder in 2000...

- He opened the year at Single-A Salem, where he was 2-0 with a 2.25 ERA (16.0 IP, 4 ER), eight saves. 10 walks and 24 strikeouts...over his first seven outings, he posted a win and five saves...he earned the save in four straight games, April 7-15, walking one and fanning 10 over the stretch.
- The organization moved him to Double-A Carolina May 21...with the Mudcats, he made 18 appearances, going 0-2 with a 3.80 ERA (21.1 IP, 9 ER), nine saves, 15 walks and 28 strikeouts...over a seven-game stretch, Craig picked up five saves (1.00 ERA, 9.0 IP, 1 ER, 4 BB, 13 SO)...during his 18 Southern League appearances, Craig fanned at least two batters 10 times...he fanned 11.8 batters per nine innings pitched...in seven road games, he was 0-1 with a 0.82 ERA (11.0 IP, 1 ER), six walks and 15 K.

On July 18, the Rockies promoted him to Colorado

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: The Rockies' 12th-round selection (370th overall) in the June draft, Craig made his pro debut in the Single-A Northwest League...the organization named him team MVP on a club that won its division and advanced to the league finals.

- A starter during college, the Rockies envisioned him as a major league closer and converted him to relief.
- He spent the entire season at Portland and went 2-1 with a 2.08 ERA and 11 saves in 26 games.
- The league hit just .209 (28-for-134) vs. House, and he did not allow a home run.
- Eight of his saves came in August, when he led the league in the Rolaids Relief Man standings...he also led the overall NWL standings with 35 points.
- He led NWL relievers in SO/9IP (15.06, 34.2 IP, 56 K), and finished second with 11 saves.

Springs (AAA)...with the Sky Sox, he was 0-0 in eight outings, with a 3.24 ERA (8.1 IP, 3 ER), four saves, two walks and eight strikeouts...over his first 2.1 innings he picked up one save, despite allowing two runs.

College: Amazingly, after his 1999 senior season at the University of Memphis, Conference USA named him all-conference at two positions: DH and pitcher...a starting hurler in 1999, he went 8-4 with a 4.08 ERA, four complete games and one shutout in 13 starts...he fanned 112 batters in 92.2 innings, the second highest single-season strikeout total in school history...at the plate, he hit .351 (67-for-191) with seven homers, 38 RBI and four steals...Memphis' all-time strikeout leader, the four-year letterman fanned 303 in a Tiger uniform...twice he earned national collegiate player of the week.

Personal: Craig Michael House...he is single and makes his home in Nashville, Tenn. ...he was all-state and all-metro at Memphis' Christian Brothers High School...signed by Ty Coslow.

LUKE HUDSON

Selected in the fourth round of the 1998 June draft...another University of Tennessee product, Hudson embarks on his fourth pro season...Luke makes his first appearance on a major league roster, as the Rockies purchased his contract this winter...during the 1998 Arizona Instructional League season, he took a line drive in the face, but rebounded go 6-5 in 1999 for Asheville...over his first three pro seasons, Hudson has gone 14-19 with a 4.02 ERA, three complete games and two shutouts (both of his 2000 complete games with Salem were shutouts)...what's more, over his career he's walked only 3.5 batters per nine innings, and just 2.78 last season for the Avalanche...since his 1998 pro debut, opponents have hit him at a .246 clip (258-for-1048)... Baseball America ranked him the No. 11 prospect, and eighth-best pitcher, in the Rockies organization this off-season.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: The right-hander spent the season at Single-A Salem in the advanced Carolina League.

- · Over his first three starts, Hudson went 0-3 with a 2.08 ERA (17.1 IP, 4 ER).
- Then, he won his first two games...during the two starts, April 30 and May 6, he pitched 16.2 scoreless innings on nine hits, one walk and 15 strikeouts...the May 6 three-hitter at Myrtle Beach marked his first pro shutout...it also lowered his ERA to a league leading 1.06.
- Three starts later, May 22 at Frederick, he fired another shutout, a four-hitter...Luis Landaeta's solo homer was all Hudson needed in a 1-0 victory.
- In June, he fanned 26 in 31.1 innings, but also compiled a 5.17 ERA...after his June 30 start, he missed a month and-a-half on the DL (July 7-Aug. 19) with right shoulder tendinitis
- ◆ After his return, he allowed just four runs in 16.2 IP (2.16 ERA) over his season's final four starts.
- ◆ Overall, the league vs. Luke batted .192 (37-for-193) with runners on base, .125 (1-for-8) with the bases loaded and .195 (25-for-128) with runners in scoring position.
- He was one of 21 players the organization brought to Coors Field this off-season for the first annual Winter Player Development Program.

CAHEER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Luke pitched his first full pro season, at Asheville (A) in the South Atlantic League.

- On July 5 against Delmarva, he fanned 10 in 7.0 innings, in a 6-2 loss.
- He avenged the loss Aug. 14, in a three-hit, 2-1 win.
- On the season, he struck out 96 in 88.0 innings, or 9.8 per nine innings pitched.

1998: Hudson made his pro debut, in the Single-A Northwest League.

 On Aug. 30 in a 3-1 win over Southern Oregon, he fanned 10, allowing three hits in 8.0 innings.

- He hurled 6.0 shutout innings on one hit in a 2-1 win over Eugene, July 7.
- Luke earned NWL Pitcher of the Week honors, July 27 - Aug. 2.
- He held league hitters to a .229 mark (68-for-301).

Personal: Luke Stephen Hudson...he makes his home in his native Fountain Valley, Calif. a suburb of Los Angeles...at FVHS, he played a key role in two state championships...his Pony and Colt league clubs also won national championships at their respective levels...signed by Ty Coslow.

JOSE JIMENEZ

Acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals with RHPs Manny Aybar and Rick Croushore, and INF Brent Butler for RHPs Darryl Kile, Dave Veres and Luther Hackman, Nov. 16, 1999...Jimenez (he-MEN-ez) begins his 10th pro season, his fourth in the majors, and enters the spring as the incumbent closer...when closer Jerry Dipoto opened 2000 on the DL, Jimenez stepped to the fore and emerged as one of the best young relievers in the NL...his 24 saves were tied for the third most in franchise history...Jimenez discovered that he could overcome the inconsistency that hounded him with St. Louis ...few pitchers can say they've thrown two professional no-hitters, including one in the majors...Jose also made two incredible starts for St. Louis within a 10-day stretch in midsummer 1999, both shutouts against eventual Cy Young winner Randy Johnson...Jose is the latest in a line of Rockies relievers who've quietly pitched well at Coors Field.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Jimenez recorded the first 24 saves of his major league career.

- ♦ In 72 games, he went 5-2 with a 3.18 ERA.
- ◆ Jose fanned 44 in 70.2 innings, or 5.60 per nine IP.
- The Rockies were 50-22 in games he pitched.
- He retired 51 of 72 first batters faced (.708) and stranded 16 of his 26 inherited runners (.615).
- In 31 total save situations, he recorded 24 saves and two relief holds, and sustained six blown saves.
- At Coors Field, he was 4-1 with a 4.20 ERA and nine saves in 44 games.
- On the road, he was 1-1 with a 1.80 ERA and 15 saves in 28 games.

THE DOOR MAN: His saves tied for 10th in the NL.

- His 24 rescues tied for the third-most in Rockies history (Dave Veres saved 31 in 1999, Darren Holmes 25 in '93 and Bruce Ruffin 24 in '96).
- He leaped to fifth on the team's all-time list, behind Ruffin (60), Holmes (46), Veres (39) and Dipoto (36).
- Over his final 10 save situations, he converted nine saves and picked up a hold.
- He converted 10 consecutive save opportunities, the fourth-longest Rockies streak, April 21-June 11.
- He preserved the team's first win, April 4 at Atlanta...it also marked his first major league save...Jimenez entered a 5-3 game in the seventh and worked the final 3.0 innings, allowing two baserunners, one on an error and one on a single...through 2000, it held up as his career's longest relief outing.
- He wasn't the exclusive closer until that April 21 outing at St. Louis...that night, he entered a two-run game with one out in the eighth, stranded a runner and finished the final 1.2 innings...the next night, he posted his second straight save vs. his former teammates.

- On May 20 at Philadelphia, he earned the save by throwing three pitches for the final two outs.
- His first two blown saves, April 12 vs. Cincinnati and June 15 vs. Houston, resulted in Jimenez wins...overall, he blew just six of 30 opportunities.
- On Aug. 29, he returned to Philadelphia and retired seven of his eight batters, going 2.1 scoreless innings for save No. 17.
- He rescued the next game, Aug. 30 at Philadelphia...it marked one of four times on the season Jose saved consecutive Rockies games (also April 21-22, May 29-31, July 2-3 and Sept. 26-27).
- Jose saved every win in a three-game sweep of Houston, May 29-31 at Coors Field.
- He saved all three Rockies wins during a four-game series at San Diego, June 30-July 3...after he fanned Phil Nevin to close the game July 3, the Rockies were alone in first place and had tied a club record by going 12 games above .500...at that point, Jimenez was 4-0 with 15 saves in 17 opportunites and a 3.09 ERA.
- Jimenez saved three of the team's final four wins...fittingly, he also pitched the team's final 2000 inning in a 10-5 win Oct. 1 at Atlanta; in a non-save situation, he retired the Braves 1-2-3.

IN THE ROLAIDS STANDINGS: Jose in the Rolaids Relief Man competition finished eighth in the NL...

 He compiled 68 Rolaids points, with five relief wins, 24 saves, two tough saves (when a reliever enters with the tying runs on base and saves the game) and six blown saves...he also earned the Rockies' Rolaids title for the 2000 season.

- In September, he tied for fourth in the monthly competition...Jose during the month saved all six of his opportunities, with one tough save, for 19 points.
- In May, he finished second in the NL with 21 points, behind Trevor Hoffman (22).

MORE STREAKS: Jose compiled his career's longest winning streak, five, from April 8 to June 15.

- He won his season's first five games, and didn't receive a loss until Aug. 7 vs. Pittsburgh, in his 46th appearance (his two losses came over a threeappearance span, Aug. 7-10).
- In seven of his first 10 appearances, he recorded either a win, save or relief hold.
- Jimenez posted one of the team's longest stretches without a walk during the first half...he went 15 appearances without a pass, May 3-June 11...the streak covered 13.0 innings and 60 batters faced, from April 30 until he intentionally walked Jeff Bagwell June 15 (he actually faced 61 consecutive hitters without an un-intentional walk)...he closed the season without a walk over his last 7.2 innings.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: On June 25 at Arizona, he became only the 23rd rookie to pitch a no-hitter; he faced one batter over the minimum and fanned eight in a a 1-0 shutout over Randy Johnson (who allowed just five hits and fanned 14 in a CG loss)...Jose turned in another outstanding effort July 5 at Busch Stadium; in a two-hit shutout, he fanned a career-best nine and again defeated Johnson, 1-0...on the season the D'backs hit .038 (2-for-53) against him...overall, his run support (4.25) was the fourth lowest among NL starters...he lost seven straight decisions (eight starts) April 28 to June 4...on July 21 at Cincinnati, he allowed only three hits in seven innings, but surrendered his first-ever home run to a right-handed batter (Pokey Reese), the difference in a 1-0 loss...on August 17, the Cardinals optioned him to Triple-A Memphis, for a three-week stay...recalled Sept. 7, he made his season's only relief appearance Sept. 11, vs. Pittsburgh.

1998: In his first big-league season, the right-hander won all three of his starts and pitched once in relief, after the Cards brought him up from Double-A Arkansas (AA) Sept. 8...he held major league righthanders to a .217 average...Jose made his big-league debut Sept. 9 at Cincinnati and tossed 3.0 scoreless relief innings; he retired the first six batters he faced and allowed just one hit...on Sept. 14 vs. Pittsburgh, he made his first major league start; Jimenez gave up one run and four hits in seven innings to earn his first major league victory...the Texas League Pitcher of the Year led led the organization in IP...he also tossed his first of two no-hitters, Aug. 27 at Shreveport (his season's only complete game).

1997: At Prince William (A), he fired two CG.

1996: At Peoria (A), Jimenez went 12-9 with a 2.92 ERA...he walked only 2.7 per nine innings, and fanned 129.

1995: At Johnson City (R), he led the Appalachian League in innings (90.1)...he walked only 2.5 per nine innings...on Opening Day Jimenez carried a no-hitter through five innings; he finished with just two hits and a walk in a 3-0 win...he fanned 16 batters in an 8-1 win on Aug. 11...he opened the off-season in the Cardinals' Winter Instructional League.

1994: Pitching for the Cardinals' Dominican Summer League club, he went 3-9 with a 2.77 ERA...nine of his 19 appearances were starts.

1993. In his second year at Estadio Esqueya in the DSL, he went 3-5 with a 3,52 ERA.

1992: Jose spent his first professional season pitching for Estadio Esqueya in the Dominican Summer League...he made two starts in 18 appearances.

Personal: Jose Jimenez...his last name is pronounced "he-MEN-ez"...signed by Cardinals scout Bobby Diaz.

LINOWSKI

Age: 24 (turns 25 on Dec. 12)

Ht: 6-2 WL: 186 B/T: L/L

Born: 12/12/76 in Pasco, Wash. Residence: Casper. Wyo.

Major League Service: 31 days

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

Selected in the 33rd round of the 1996 June draft...Kalinowski makes his second appearance in major league camp...he looks to rebound from elbow surgery, which truncated his 2000 season in June...Josh's numbers over his first three pro seasons (1997-99) ranked in the top 10 percent of minor league baseball...Colorado first drafted him in '95 in the 37th round, but he opted to head to Indian Hills (lowa) Community College...Colorado snagged him again, in the 33rd round in '96, and signed him as a draftand-follow in 1997...Josh, the Carolina League's 1999 Pitcher of the Year, is one of the best left-handed pitchers in the Colorado organization...he led his circuit in strikeouts each of his two full professional seasons (1998-99)...in four years, he's fanned 10.56 per nine innings (445 K, 379.1 IP)...and, as he ascended from Asheville to Salem, his numbers improved...look for Josh to begin a second season at Double-A, and if he can regain his 1999 form, look for him in the Rockies starting rotation on the horizon.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: The left-hander made his Double-A debut and made six starts before undergoing surgery to remove bone spurs in his left elbow...Dr. Richard Hawkins and Dr. Michael Curtin performed the procedure last June in Denver.

- · Carolina's Opening Day starter, Josh sustained a loss at Jacksonville April 6.
- He got his first Double-A win, April 17 vs. Tennessee, fanning nine in 6.0 innings.
- After his four starts, the Rockies placed him on the DL May 1 with elbow soreness.
- He missed about a month-and-a-half before returning to start June 10 at Tennessee, where he threw 3.0 scoreless innings on two hits, no walks and two Ks.
- He went 3.0 innings again in his next start June 15, his season's final outing.
- The Rockies placed him back on the DL June 17.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: The Carolina League Pitcher of the Year's 2.11 ERA was second among all full-season minor league pitchers...on May 20 vs. Lynchburg, he sat down the first 13 batters, including five consecutive strikeouts from the first through third innings; in the contest, a 5-1 loss, he fanned 11 in 5.2 innings with two walks and three unearned runs...on May 31 at Myrtle Beach, he fanned 12 and threw two-hit ball over 7.0 innings in a no-decision...on a 1-0 win July 27 at Potomac, he fanned 10 over 8.0 scoreless IP. 1998: Josh struck out 215, more than any pitcher in organizational history...the Ks were second among all minor league pitchers, one notch behind Rick Ankiel (221)...on June 28 vs. Hickory, Kalinowski set another organizational record with 17 strikeouts, the most in all of minor league ball that season...on Aug. 26, Kalinowski threw a no-hitter; he faced two over the minimum in the 5-0 shutout over Charleston, SC, walking four and fanning seven.

1997: After signing as a draft-and-follow, Josh launched his pro career in the short-season Northwest League...he went 0-1 with a 2.41 ERA in six starts (five no-decisions)...he helped the Portland to the league championship

Personal: Joshua David Kalinowski...a 1995 graduate of Natrona County (Wyo.) High School, he was all-state in football and basketball, competing in a state that has no high school baseball...still, the Casper school has also produced Mike Lansing, Mike Devereaux and Tom Browning.

BRENT MAYNE

Signed as a free agent, Dec. 9, 1999...one of six former Giants catchers to play for Colorado, Brent embarks on his 12th season in the majors...despite platooning and battling a couple injuries in 2000, he turned in the best year of his career...over the last two seasons, including 1999 with the Giants, Mayne's numbers stand out more than any other time in his major league service...since Opening Day '99, he's batted .301 (198-for-657) with eight homers and 103 RBI in 234 games...one of the most experienced catchers in the NL, Mayne's played for five organizations...Brent also has two things in common with his hitting coach, Clint Hurdle; the two were both drafted in the first round, and both selected by Kansas City...the reliable left-handed hitter has never spent time on a major league disabled list.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Brent acheived a host of career highs in his first season with Colorado, his 11th in the majors.

- Mayne batted a career-best .30149, slightly better than his previous high, .30124 in 1999 with the Giants.
- He drove in a single-season best 64 runs, nearly doubling his high entering 2000, 39 in 1999 with San Francisco...he tied and surpassed 39 RBI on July 13, the first game after the All-Star break.
- Brent collected a career-best 101 hits...he also posted 25 multi-hit games...his season-high, four, came in two games: May 16 at New York and June 18 vs. Arizona...those two contests also tied his career high (now five times).
- He totaled 17 multi-RBI games...his season high, four RBI, came May 19 at Philadelphia; that night, his four RBI also tied his career-best (fifth time).
- He tied his personal high with six home runs, three of which came in June...he also homered six times in 1997 with Oakland
- From his catcher position, he ranked 13th in the league with a .990 fielding percentage...he committed six errors in 623 total chances, and allowed five passed balls
- On the bases, he threw out 23.9 percent (17/71), ninth in the league.
- With runners in scoring position, Brent batted .358 (34-for-95)...he fell a few plate appearances short of qualifying for league leadership, but had he qualified, that mark would've ranked fourth in the NL.
- ◆ At Coors Field, he hit .314 (49-for-156).
- ◆ On the road, he batted .291 (52-for-179).
- ◆ He stole one base on the year, July 29 at Milwaukee, his first steal since June 12, 1999.

IT REALLY FELT LIKE A DREAM: Mayne on Aug. 22 vs. Atlanta made modern major league history in an incredible game (see box on Page 92).

BACKSTOP RBI RECORD: Mayne's 64 RBI were the most ever in a season by a Rockies catcher...

Joe Girardi held the previous record, 55 in 1995.

HOME/ROAD PRODUCTION: Half (3) of Mayne's six homers and 42 percent (27) of his 64 RBI came on the road.

INJURIES: Brent never went on the DL, but missed game time because of two injuries...

- On Aug. 17 at New York, he chased a foul pop-up into the Mets dugout, and landed on his left wrist...the sprained left wrist kept him out seven starts (although he returned to pitchAug. 22, even though he couldn't bat or catch).
- Then, after making two starts, he bruised his left hip and missed six starts, although the Cubs retired him as a pinch hitter Sept. 4.
- Each injury occurred within an 11-day stretch the last half of August.

1999: In his 10th major league season, he not only topped .300 for the first time, but he also kept his average above .300 for most of the season (it fell below only four times after May 9).

- No other NL catcher had as many doubles (36).
- Mayne led the club with seven pinch-base hits (7for-18, .389, four RBI).
- Only Mike Lieberthal (.997) among NL catchers had a better fielding percentage than Brent's .995...he caught 25 percent of base stealers (23-of-92).
- On Aug. 6 at Atlanta, he equaled a career-high with four hits (4-for-4), his third four-hit effort of the year...on July 26 vs. St. Louis, he went 4-for-5 and tied a franchise record with three doubles...and, in the home opener vs. San Diego, he was 4-for-5.
- He was the Giants' Opening Day catcher, April 5.

1998: Mayne platooned with Brian Johnson, starting 72 of 94 games.

- Brent started exclusively during Johnson's two trips to the DL, May 4-19 and July 22-Aug. 6.
- ♦ He made his SF debut April 1 in Houston (3-for-4).
- On May 6 at Florida, he blasted his second career

- grand slam (Antonio Alfonseca); the seventh-inning shot tied the game.
- During the one-game playoff Sept. 28 at Chicago, he went 2-for-2; his pinch single in the seventh ended Steve Trachsel's no-hitter.
- Mayne on the season threw out 20.9 percent of base thieves (14-for-67).

1991: Brent went to spring training with Seattle, but was released March 28...signed by Oakland Mayne joined the A's when they purchased his contract, April 17...he went 4-for-7 (.571) as a pinch hitter...his ..996 fielding percentage ranked third among AL catchers...he started 46 of Oakland's 73 games after break, hitting .337 (57-for-169) with four of his six HR and 15 of his 22 RBI...Mayne built a career-high 11-game hitting streak, Aug. 28-Sept. 12 (.459, 17-for-37)...on Sept. 3 vs. his future club, San Francisco, he drove in four runs... he threw out 19.7 percent of his runners (19-of-71).

in an off-season deal...he started 16 games and did not make an error in 88 total chances...hit safely in 13 of those 16 starts (18-for-52, .346)...on

The Mayne Game

In one of the greatest games in major league history, Mayne drew national headlines Aug. 22, 2000 vs. Atlanta, a contest destined for ESPN's Classic Sports Network

- He became the first position player to win a game since the Yankees' Rocky Colavito defeated the Tigers, Aug.
 1968 at Yankee Stadium, in Game 1 of a doubleheader (Elias Sports Bureau).
- He became the first NL position player to win since Pittsburgh second baseman Johnny O'Brien beat the Phillies, July 3, 1956, and the Hall of Fame requested and received Mayne's cap and a ball from the game.
- Mayne, who'd never pitched an organized game in his life, was the first Colorado position player to pitch...after umpires ejected Buddy Bell following an 11th-inning rhubarb, the skipper was in his office watching on TV when Mayne walked past his door...Bell called Mayne in to discuss the lack of available pitchers, and after eliminating several candidates including rookie Juan Pierre, Mayne offered to take the ball...Mayne, whose left wrist injury kept him from catching or batting, proceeded into the indoor Coors Field batting cage for about 15 practice pitches...then, he took the mound in the top of the 12th inning.
- He got his first two batters, PH Tom Glavine and Walt Weiss, then gave up a Rafael Furcal rocket through his logg after walking Andrew Jones, he retired the NL MVP.

legs...after walking Andruw Jones, he retired the NL MVP, Chipper Jones, with two out and two on.

- By inserting Mayne, who relieved the previous night's starter Brian Bohanon (0.1 ip, 1 bb), the Rockies tied the NL record with 10 pitchers used in an extra-inning game (also Chicago-NL April 20, 1986, and Houston Sept. 28, 1995), according to Elias...the previous Colorado record for pitchers used in a game was eight, May 18, 1997 at NY.
- ◆ The teams established Colorado's club record for players used by both teams, 44...the previous mark, 43, came April 26, 1995, this park's inaugural game, when the Rox beat the Mets in 14 innings...the Rockies tied their club record by using 22 players (also Sept. 12, 1996 vs. Atlanta).
- Colorado rookie catcher/infielder Adam Melhuse, who was set to relieve Mayne in the top of the 13th, won the contest with his first major league hit and RBI, a gameending single off former Colorado pitcher Stan Belinda.

April 4, his first official NL plate appearance was a two-out pinch-single in the bottom of the ninth to beat St. Louis, 10-9...he underwent right-shoulder arthroscopic surgery Sept. 26 (Dr. Lewis Yocum at Los Angeles Centinela Hospital).

1995: He started 95 games for the Royals and ranked second among AL catchers in fielding (.995); he led AL catchers with 11 double plays...Mayne matched a career-high with four RBI vs. Toronto Sept. 5.

1994: The Royals went 22-16 in Mayne's 38 starts...on May 5 at Toronto, he hit his first career grand slam (Juan Guzman) helping KC rally from a 5-0 deficit in an 11-9 win...he hit .343 with RISP and threw out 26 percent of runners (10-for-38).

1993: Kansas City's Opening Day catcher, Brent caught 22 of the Royals' first 31 games...on May 12 he returned to a reserve role.

1992: In addition to his catching duties, Mayne saw action in eight games at third base, where he did not make error in 14 chances...the caught 31 percent (12-for-39) of base thieves.

1991: On Aug. 1 at Milwaukee, Mayne got his first major league home run (Julio Machado)...and, in little more than a month, he hit two inside-the-park HR (Aug. 22 vs. Texas, Sept. 27 vs. California).

1990: After the Royals purchased his contract Sept. 16, he made his big-league debut Sept. 18 at Minnesota...his first hit and RBI came that night off Scott Erickson.

1989: Mayne began his pro career at Baseball City in Florida State League...he suffered a lower back strain and spent the last half of the year on the DL. Personal: Brent Danem Mayne...he and his wife, Hillary, have a son, Noah...Brent also has a daughter, Dylan...a 1986 graduate of Costa Mesa (Calif.) High School, he played baseball and basketball...attended Orange Coast (Huntington Beach, Calif.) JC for one year, playing for his father, Mike...the elder Mayne now coaches football at OCJC...at Cal-State Fullerton, he hit .393 as a sophomore and led the Titans to the '88 College World Series; he tied a school record with hits in 10 consecutive at-bats...as a junior Mayne hit .350 with five HR and 40 RBI...in college he fanned just 36 times in 474 plate appearances.

MIKE MYERS

Acquired from the Milwaukee Brewers for RHP Curtis Leskanic, Nov. 17, 1999...in 2000, the Rockies held left-handed hitters to a .272 average, by far the lowest mark in team history...and, the fact that last season was Mike Myers' first with the Rockies is no coincidence...over the last three seasons (1998-2000), Mike has held left-handed batters to a .155 average (37-for-239) with 32 walks and 83 strikeouts...but he's more than just a left-handed specialist...since 1999, he's stranded 85.2 percent of his inherited runners (121 of 142)...from 1999-2000 with men in scoring position, he held all hitters to a .167 average (16-for-96)...and since '98, he's tied for fifth in the majors with 52 relief holds...he has 88 career relief holds and only 12 blown saves in 403 relief appearances...expect to see Myers more than any other Rockies pitcher...in September, he became the first in major league history to make 70 appearances in five straight seasons (later matched by Buddy Groom, once traded for Myers)...from 1996-97, Detroit skipper Buddy Bell called on Myers 171 times, a two-year AL appearance record...originally a fourth-round selection by the Giants in 1990, Mike's also pitched for Florida and Milwaukee...his ability to retire lefties adds excitement to the late-inning chess match between Bell and his counterpart in the other dugout.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Mike completed his first year in a Rockies uniform and turned in the finest of his six seasons in the majors...

- Mike made 78 appearances, third in the NL and tied with Chuck McElroy (1998) for most in club history.
- Myers compiled a career-best 1.99 ERA, the lowest relief ERA in Rockies annals...the team's previous bullpen record (minimum 40.0 IP) was 2.14 by Steve Reed in 1995.
- ♦ He fanned 41 in 45.1 innings, or 8.14 per nine IP...among Colorado relievers, only Gabe White (8.89) fanned more per nine IP than Myers...after Myers' first offering was a strike, he had 27 strikeouts and one walk.
- ◆ The Rockies were 36-42 in games he pitched.
- ♦ He retired 57 of 78 first batters faced (.731).
- When beginning an inning, he retired 83.6 percent (56/67) of initial batters, the eighth-best mark in the NL
- ◆ For the second straight season, he finished second among NL relievers in inherited-runners-scored percentage...Mike allowed nine of his 64 inherited runners to score (.141) to finish runner-up to Milwaukee's Curtis Leskanic (.097, 3 of 31), the player for whom he was traded.
- In 21 total save situations, he recorded 15 relief holds. and one save, and sustained one blown save.
- His save June 2 at Milwaukee vs. his former teammates marked his only save on the season...he entered an 8-6 game in the ninth with no out and retired the Brewers in order with two strikeouts...it marked his 10th career save and first since May 15, 1998 with the Brewers at Coors Field.

His blown save came at New York Aug. 15 (Game 2).

minimum 50 batters faced

- At home, he was 0-0 with a 2.05 ERA in 43 games.
- On the road, he was 0-1 with a 1.89 ERA in 35 games. SHUTOUT BALL FOR THREE MONTHS: Myers' ERA stood at 0.00 until the Rockies' 76th game, his 34th appearance.

- His 18.1 scoreless innings streak marked the longest of his career...his previous long was 12.0 innings, April 14-May 20, 1998.
- The streak ended with that Ryan Klesko homer, July 1 at San Diego.
- At Coors Field, he did not allow a run until July 13, his 18th home appearance...in other words, he didn't allow a run in Denver before the all-star break.

HISTORICAL ACHIEVEMENT: Myers on Sept. 12 at San Diego became the first pitcher in major league history to appear in 70 games for five consecutive seasons...

- Baltimore's Buddy Groom joined Mike Oct. 1...the two now stand alone in major league history.
- Only seven hurlers have ever recorded at least 70 appearances in four straight years.

WOLD IT RIGHT THERE: Mike posted 15 relief holds, tied for 10th in the NL, and sustained one blown save in 78 appearances.

THE LEFT-HANDED SPECIALIST: Myers held opposing lefthanders to a .120 average (11-for-92).

- He retired 81 of 100 left-handed hitters faced.
- LHB reached 11 times on hits, six times on walks and twice on a hit-by-pitch.
- One of every three LHB struck out (33 of 100).
- On July 1 at San Diego, Mike surrendered a Ryan Klesko homer...in six major league seasons, it marked the 11th homer ever allowed to a LHB by Myers
- Right-handed batters in 2000 hit just .224 (13-for-58) with one homer.
- Major League LHB all-time vs. Myers are now batting .195 (94-for-481) with 59 walks and 163 strikeouts.

A BLACK-EYE JULY: Myers' ERA in July was 5.23 (10.1 IP, 6 ER); his ERA combined in April, May, June, August and September was 1.03 (35.0 IP, 4 ER).

- July began with his season's first run in his first appearance of the month, July 1 at San Diego.
- Opponents touched him for runs in three of his first five July games, and six of his 14 overall in the month.

BEFORE THE RUN, AFTER THE RUN: Including the July speed bump, Myers was still strong after allowing his first run of the season July 1 at San Diego.

- Before the run, he'd fanned 8.66 per nine IP (17.2 IP. 17 K)...after the run, he fanned 9.35 per nine IP (17.1 IP, 18 K).
- Before the run, he allowed opponents a .121 average...after the run, he allowed a .139 average.
- After opening the season with a 18.1 scoreless innings streak, he endured a July trough, then didn't allow a run over 10 appearances from July 31-Aug. 18.
- His combined ERA in August and September was 2.08 (17.1 IP, 4 ER).

CLUTCH PITCHING: With runners in scoring position, Myers allowed a .130 average, tied for third among

He pitched more effectively w/RISP than any reliever on the club, allowing just six hits in 36 at-bats.

MOVE TO STRIKE: Myers fanned 41 batters, 30 of them swinging.

- Against LHB, 24 of his 33 strikeouts were swinging.
- Against RHB, six of his eight Ks were swinging.

NOW THAT'S A GREAT ROAD TRIP: Major League Baseball invited Mike to join its annual all-star goodwill tour of Japan after the 2000 season.

 The last Rockies player to make the Japan tour was Vinny Castilla, who appeared after the 1998 season.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Only 15.4 percent of his inherited runners scored, the second lowest mark in the league behind Colorado's Jerry Dipoto (12.5 percent).

- He had a career-high 2.1 IP June 12 vs. Minnesota.
- Mike worked 1.0 or more innings in 25 percent of his games (18 of 71)...he worked one-third of an inning in 30 appearances (42 percent)...and, he logged 2.0 or more innings four times.
- On Sept. 8 vs. Arizona, he fanned a career-high four. 1998: Myers paced the NL with 23 relief holds.
- He walked 22 batters in 50.0 innings, 3.6 per nine IP.
- On April 2 vs. Atlanta, he earned his first win since Sept. 2, 1996 at Comiskey Park.
- From Opening Day to May 20, he allowed only one run in 16.2 innings.
- On May 16 at Coors Field, he posted his first save since May 27, 1997 vs. Anaheim.
- Mike did not allow an earned run from May 26-July 16

(22 appearances).

 He brought a 0.58 ERA into the all-star break, but compiled a 6.16 mark after it.

1997: His 88 games were two shy of the American League appearance record; he did establish a Tiger club record for the second straight season, bettering his 83 in 1996.

- His 88 games were 10 more than any AL hurler.
- Myers began the season with seven consecutive scoreless outings.
- On May 18 at Kansas City, he notched his first save. inducing the Royals' Bip Roberts to ground out with the bases loaded.

1996: Myers (83) broke the Detroit appearance record, held by Guillermo Hernandez, who pitched in 80 games for the Tigers '84 club that won the World Series.

The 83 games also set a major league rookie record

(Mitch Williams, Texas, 80 in 1986).

- Lefties hit .229 (27-for-118) against him.
- He was also tough on first batters...he retired 37 of his final 41 first batters faced (90 percent), and 67 of 83 overall (81 percent).
- Mike stranded 79 percent (60 of 76) of inherited runners.
- The pen's only left-hander until July 31, Myers struck out a batter in each of his final nine games, despite pitching just 5.2 total innings.

1995: Myers pitched for four teams in four leagues, including Florida and Detroit...he spent most of the season at Triple-A.

- Mike made Florida's Opening Day roster and made his major league debut in the April 25 opener, throwing 1.0 scoreless innings vs. Los Angeles.
- Optioned to Charlotte (AAA) May 6, he pitched there until the Tigers acquired him Aug. 8 (the PTBN in the Buddy Groom trade).
- He made 11 relief appearances for Detroit, including his first major league win, Sept. 19 vs. Baltimore.

1994: After beginning at Triple-A Edmonton, he made one start before landing on the disabled list April 13 with bone spurs in his left elbow...he opened a rehab assignment July 11 with Brevard County (A)...Mike earned his only victory vs. Colorado Springs.

1993: At Edmonton (AAA), he posted a team-high 27 starts, tied for second in the PCL.

1992: He split the season between the Giants' Single-A affiliates, Clinton and San Jose...combined at the two stops, he was 6-3 with a 1.85 ERA...Mike allowed just one home run during the entire season (92.1 innings)...the homer came in his last outing, August 30.

1991: A Midwest League All-Star, he helped Clinton clinch the Midwest League championship.

1990: Myers launched his career in the Northwest League with Everett.

Personal: Michael Stanley Myers...he and his wife, Robyn, have two sons, Christian and Daryl, and a newborn daughter, Laryssa...a graduate of Crystal Lake Central (III.) High School, Myers lettered in baseball, basketball and soccer...he attended Iowa State University (1988-90) and earned 1989 All-Big Eight honors in baseball ...he helped Team USA win a silver medal in the 1989 IBA Presidential Cup in Taiwan...he won a gold medal with Team USA at the 1987 U.S. Olympic Festival...in 2000 he contributed funds to build a youth field in Steamboat Springs, Colo....signed by Giants scout Bill Parese.

DENNY NEAGLE

Agreed to terms on a free-agent contract, Dec. 4, 2000...Neagle embarks on his 11th major league season, with his sixth organization (Minnesota, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Cincinnati and the New York Yankees)...his career includes five trips to the postseason (13 games, seven starts), two All-Star appearances (1995, '97) and three home runs, including a 1995 grand slam at Wrigley Field...Denny's won at least 15 games in four of the past five seasons (he went 9-5 for the Reds in 1999, when shoulder tendinitis limited him to 19 starts)...his best campaign was 1997, when he finshed third in the NL Cy Young, going 20-5 with a 2.97 ERA and four complete games (all shutouts); in the '97 NLDS, he turned in a four-hit shutout to beat the eventual world champion Marlins...from 1995-96 with Pittsburgh, he was 27-14 (.659) with a 3.26 ERA; during the span, the Bucs compiled a .415 team winning pct....in 1520.0 innings pitched, the left-hander's walked only 2.7 per nine innings...the Colorado resident has pitched seven Coors Field games, including April 18, 1998, when he threw a seven-hit CG to beat the Rockies.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Neagle won 10 of his 12 decisions for the Reds, then went to the Yankees in a July 12 deal and earned his first World Series ring.

- Combined with Cincinnati and New York, Neagle went 15-9 with a 4.52 ERA (209.0 IP, 105 ER), with 81 walks and 146 strikeouts in 34 games, 33 starts.
- The Reds dealt him to the Yankees in a six-player deal, July 12, the day after the all-star game...at the time, Neagle was tied for fourth in the NL with an .800 winning percentage (8-2) and ninth with a 3.52 ERA...over his last four Cincinnati starts, he was 3-0 with a 2.91 ERA (29.2 IP, 7 ER).
- Combined, 18 of his 33 starts were quality (6.0-plus IP, three-or-less ER)...in those 18 games, his clubs were 12-6...seven of his first 11 were quality...the left-hander went at least 7.0 innings 17 times...he allowed two or fewer earned runs in 14 starts and walked two or fewer in 19 of his starts.
- The Reds were 11-7 when he took the hill; the Yankees were 8-7 in his starts (combined 19-14).
- His clubs scored 195 runs in his 33 starts (5.91 per).
- At Cinergy Field before the trade, he went 5-0 with a 3.56 ERA in 10 starts...combined at home for both clubs, he was 10-5 with a 4.35 ERA.
- On the road with the Reds and Yankees, he went 5-4 with a 4.81 ERA.
- On artificial turf, his 3.74 ERA (84.1 IP, 35 ER) finished sixth in the majors.

POSTSEASON: Denny with the Yankees made his second career World Series appearance (1996).

In the Fall Classic vs. the Mets, he made one appearance, a Game 4 start at Shea (4.2 IP, 2 H, 2 R, 2 ER, 2 BB, 3 K) in a no-decision.

Age: 32 (turns 33 on Sept. 13)

- ♦ In the championship series vs. the Mariners, he started Games 1 and 5...in Game 1 at Yankee Stadium, he allowed only two runs and three hits, including an Alex Rodriguez homer, in a 2-0 loss...in Game 5, he left after 4.2 IP leading 2-1, but two more runs were charged to him in a 6-2 loss...it marked his 10th career championship series game.
- For the fourth time in his career, Neagle did not pitch during his club's division series.

ELEVEN IN A ROW. Neagle won 11 consecutive decisions, his career's longest streak, from Aug. 30, 1999 to June 3, 2000.

- He won his last six 1999 decisions, and his first five in 2000, all five at Cinergy Field.
- During the 20 appearances (19 starts) over the streak, he compiled a 2.93 ERA (95.1 IP, 31 ER).
- ◆ In the 11 wins, his ERA was 2.57 (77.0 IP, 22 ER).
- From Aug. 25, 1999 to June 9, 2000, he went 288 days between losses, nearly 10 months,
- Over a longer stretch, from Aug. 30, 1999 to July 23, 2000, he went 16-2...after his 11-game winning streak, he lost two straight, then built a five-game streak...during the five-game stretch (three with Cincinnati and two with the Yankees), from June 26 to July 23, 2000, he had a 1.36 ERA (39.2 IP, 6 ER).

MORE STREAKS: On April 20 at Cinergy, he embarked on a scoreless streak that would reach 21.0 IP...

- On April 26 at Shea, he blanked the Mets on two hits over 7.0 IP. combining on a 12-1 win.
- The stretch ended May 7 vs. St. Louis, with Shawon Dunston's fourth-inning fielder's choice...the Reds went on to win, Neagle's fourth straight winning start.
- The 21.0 innings marked his second-longest scoreless stretch...in 1997, he built a 26.2-inning streak.
- Over three starts, April 20-May 2, Neagle went 3-0 with a 0.43 ERA, allowing one earned run in 21.0 IP, and held hitters to a .129 average (9-for-70)...in the three, Cincy outscored opponents 30-2 (11-1, 12-1, 7-0).
- Over two starts, April 26-May 2, hitters vs. Neagle went 3-for-43 (.070).

OVERALL WITH CINCINNATI: Denny went 8-2 with a 3.52 ERA in 18 games, all starts, for the Reds.

♦ He got his 1,000th career strikeout, April 4 vs. Milw.
WITH THE YANKEES: The left-hander after the July 12 trade went 7-7 with a 5.81 ERA in 16 games, 15 starts, for the AL East Champions.

 Neagle won his first two Yankee starts, July 18-23, compiling a 1.06 ERA (17.0 IP, 2 ER)...his combined 1.85 July ERA (39.0 IP, 8 ER) ranked fourth in the - majors...and, since 1996, his 2.79 July ERA (168.0 IP, 52 ER) is eighth in the game.

- In his New York debut, July 18 vs. the Phillies, he went 8.0 innings in a 3-1 win.
- He posted his 100th career win, July 23 vs. Tampa Bay; in his only 2000 complete game, he hurled a four-hitter, allowing one earned run on one walk and eight Ks...his last CG came Aug. 16, 1998 with the Braves, at Los Angeles.
- On Sept. 7 at Kansas City, he did not allow a walk over 8.0 innings...it marked his longest effort without a walk since June 16, 1998, with Atlanta, vs. Florida.
- He lost his final three starts, compiling a 15.19 ERA.
- In the Oct. 1 finale at Baltimore, he made his first relief appearance since 10/4/99, his third since 1993.

IN SEPTEMBER: On Sept. 17 vs. Cleveland, the Indians handed Denny his first September loss since 9/28/97 at Shea Stadium.

 The September winning streak covered 11 consecutive starts...over the last 15 years, only Randy Johnson owns a longer September streak (19 straight decisions from 1993-99, the modern record).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: In his first season with the Reds, Denny went 9-5 with a 4.27 ERA in 20 games, 19 starts.

- Over his last seven starts, he went 6-0 with a 2.20 ERA (49.0 IP, 12 ER)...the NL's Sept.Pitcher of the Month (his first award), he went 5-0 with a 2.00 ERA.
- He made his only relief appearance in the one-game playoff vs. the Mets (2.1 IP, 2H, 1R, 1ER, 3BB, 2K).
- He began the season on the DL (strained left quad, left shoulder weakness)...he made his Reds debut April 21 vs. the Mets (no dec.)...he returned to the DL May 20 with left shoulder tendinitis...after one other Triple-A rehab start, the Reds activated him July 30.
- Over his final 13 starts after the second stint on the DL, he was 9-2 with a 3.11 ERA (84.0 IP, 29 ER).

1998: Denny went 16-11 with a 3.55 ERA, five CG, and two shutouts for the NL East Champion.

- Neagle helped Atlanta become the second team ever with five 16-game winners (Glavine 20, Maddux 18, Smoltz 17, Millwood 17), joining the 1902 Pirates.
- On Sept. 26 vs. the Mets, he made his first relief appearance in five years and recorded his first relief win since Aug. 25, 1993.
- In eight of his 11 losses, his club scored two or less.
- In the postseason, he did not pitch in the NLDS sweep of the Cubs...in the NLCS, he earned Atlanta's first win in the series, an 8-3 triumph in Game 4.

1997: He set career highs with 20 wins, a 2.97 ERA, 34 starts, four shutouts, 233.1 IP, and 172 strike-outs...Neagle, whose 20 wins led the league, finished third in the NL Cy Young and earned Braves MVP honors (Atlanta writers)...he also made his second trip to the all-star game...Denny ranked among NL leaders with an .800 winning pct. (second), four shutouts (tied, second) and 1.9 BB/9 IP (third)...from July 28-Aug. 12, he built a career-long 26.2 scoreless innings streak...Neagle fired 12.0 scoreless innings in two NLCS games...in Game 4 at Florida, he tossed a four-hit shutout (1 BB, 7 K). 1996: After Steve Avery went on the DL, the Braves dealt for Neagle Aug. 28...in Game 2 of the NLCS, he threw 1.0 scoreless inning of relief; in his Game 4 start, he got a no decision (6.2 IP, 2 H, 2 ER)...in Game 1 of the World Series, he pitched another 1.0 scoreless inning in relief, and also started a Game 4 no decision (5 IP, 5 H, 3 R, 2 ER).

1995. The first-time all-star tied for the NL lead with 31 starts and 209.2 IP...on June 23 vs. Montreal, he hurled a two-hitter for his first major league shutout...on June 27 at Chicago, he hit a grand slam off Jim Bullinger, his second career HR...he also registered the NL's third-best BB/9 IP ratio, 1.9...Pittsburgh went 18-13 in his 31 starts.

Greg NORTON

Infielder

Ht. 6-1

B/T: S/R

Age: 27 (turns 28 on July 6)

Born: 7/6/72 in San Leandro, Calif.

Wt. 200

Residence: Irving, Texas

Major League Service: Three years, 65 days

GREG NORTON

Agreed to terms on a free-agent contract, Jan. 5, 2000...Norton joins his second club, after eight seasons in the White Sox organization (Chicago's second-round selection in the 1993 June draft)...he's played every infield position, but mostly third base...on Aug. 19 at Tiger Stadium, with Buddy Bell in the other dugout, he became the second player in major league history to hit safely in his first two career plate appearances, in the same inning (the Yankees' Billy Martin, April 18, 1950)...he homered twice on both May 27 and May 28, 1999, becoming the first White Sox player with consecutive multi-HR games since Zeke Bonura in May of 1935...on May 14, 1998 at Comiskey Park, he became the fifth player to homer twice in a game off Randy Johnson...the switch hitter will contend for a reserve infield spot this spring.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Greg completed his fifth major league season, and final year with the White Sox, the 2000 AL Central Division Champions.

- Norton with Chicago batted .244 with six homers and 28 RBI in 71 games...he made 56 starts (45 at third base, 10 at first and one as the designated hitter).
- He collected seven multi-RBI games...on April 18 in an 18-11 win vs. Seattle, Greg tied his career best with four RBI (third time), also his season high...in addition to driving in four runs, he went 3-for-4 with a homer.
- The switch hitter picked up 12 multi-hit games...he had a season-best three hits on two occasions: the April 18 game vs. Seattle, April 28 at Comerica Park and May 17 at Yankee Stadium (all 3-for-4 efforts).
- In the field, Greg played 47 games at third base, compiling a .926 fielding percentage...he also saw 17 contests at first base (.990).
- At home, he hit .213 (20-for-94) with four homers and 21 RBI.
- On the road, he batted .271 (29-for-107) with two homers and seven RBI.
- After suffering a left ankle sprain May 23 vs. the Yankees, he missed the next six games, through May 29.
- He did not see action in the White Sox division series with Seattle.

OUT OF THE GATES: Norton left Tucson and began the season in strong fashion.

- In April, he batted .333 (20-for-60), tied for third on the club behind Frank Thomas and Josh Paul.
- From April 9 to May 17, he batted .356 (32-for-90) with four homers and 19 RBI.
- In Cactus League games, he hit .461 (35-for-76) with 10 doubles, five homers and 30 RBI...his 30 runs driven in were a Chicago spring training record, bettering the previous mark by nine...his .461 average ranked third in White Sox exhibition history.

IN THE LATE INNINGS: After the seventh inning, he batted 81 points better than innings 1-6.

◆ From the seventh on, he batted .296 with (21-for-71) with three homers and 10 RBI...over the first six innings, he hit .215 (28-for-130) with three homers and 18 RBI.

HITTING STREAK HITS EIGHT: Greg compiled an eightgame hitting streak, the longest of his career, April 23-May 1.

- Over the eight games, he went 12-for-26 (.462) with two doubles, one triple, one homer and seven RBI.
- From April 23-28, over four games, he turned in three multi-hit efforts...he went 8-for-15 (.533) in the four contests, with a homer and four RBI.
- It raised his season's average from .243 to .333.
- Greg's previous long was a pair of seven-game streaks (last May 25 - June 1, 1999).

TRANSACTIONS: After Game 1 of an Aug. 8 double-header with Seattle, the White Sox optioned him to Charlotte (AAA)...in his first minor league action in three years, he batted .289 with five homers and 17 RBI in 29 games...Chicago recalled him from Charlotte Sept. 5...Norton got a start the day after his recall, Sept. 6 vs. Texas, and homered and drove in three runs in Chicago's 13-1 win.

SWITCH-HIT POWER: Greg on April 24 vs. Baltimore homered from the right side, his first such homer since 5/18/98 vs. Seattle...dating back to 6/20/98, his previous 24 homers came from the left side of the plate.

1999: Greg enjoyed the best season of his career, setting lifetime bests in most offensive categories.

- From the left side of the plate, he batted .265 (96-for-362) and .203 (15-for-74) right-handed...he hit all 16 homers and 47 of his 50 RBI left-handed.
- Norton .293 on the road, and .213 at home...he hit .297 before the all-star break .227 before it.
- His ,338 September average was a career high for any month...he was 27-for-80 (.338) in his final 23 games.
- May was the most productive month of his career...he set monthly highs with eight homers and 15 RBI.
- He earned AL Player of the Week honors for May 24-30 (.423, 11-for-26, five HR, eight RBI and a league-leading 29 total bases)...all five homers came during a series at Tiger Stadium, May 27-30.
- Against the AL playoff quartet (Boston, Cleveland, New York and Texas), he batted .353 (42-for-119).

1998: In his first full season with the Sox, he made his first Opening Day roster, shaking off spring training chicken pox...he played mostly first base (79 games), and also made his ML debut at second...he batted .297 at home and .164 on the road, and hit .238 left-handed, compared to .231 right-handed...Chicago was 45-27 (.625) in his 72 starts.

1997: Greg made two round-trips between Nashville

(AAA) and the White Sox...in 18 major league games, he made six starts, all at third base...he made 33 appearances left-handed and one right-handed...at Triple-A, he paced the American Association in slugging (.534) and finished third in home runs (26).

1996: Recalled from Nashville (AAA) Aug. 17, he made his major league debut the next day at Milwaukee (he scored a run as a pinch runner for Harold Baines)...he registered hits in each of his first two ML plate appearances, Aug. 19 at Detroit...he hit his first ML homer, Sept. 14 at Boston (Mike Maddux).

1995: At Birmingham (AA), he led Southern League third basemen in fielding (.938)...he earned his club's MVP honors in the Arizona Fall League.

1994: With South Bend (A), Norton turned in an 18game hitting streak, July 22-Aug. 11.

1993: Norton made his pro debut at rookie-level Sarasota, before a promotion to Hickory (A).

Personal: Gregory Blakemoor Norton...he is single...a second-team All-Big Eight selection, he led the University of Oklahoma with a .370 average in 1993...Greg also hit five homers and drove in 60 runs in 55 games that season, before the White Sox drafted him...in 1992, he was an all-star in the Cape Cod League...signed by White Sox scouts Doug Laumann and Dave Owen.

MULTI-HR GAMES VS. JOHNSON

Randy Johnson, the defending two-time NL Cy Young winner, has allowed only eight players to hit two homers in the same game. Incredibly, Chipper Jones did it twice, exactly a year apart.

Ht. 5-11 Wt. 165 B/T: S/R Age: 24 (turns 25 on Sept. 15) Born: 9/25/76 in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic

Residence: Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic

Major League Service: 31 days

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

ELVIS PEÑA

Signed as a non-drafted free agent, June 22, 1993...Peña made his major league debut in 2000, his seventh season in pro ball, and gets his first spring in a major league camp...in 2000, he went from Double-A to the majors, although he did see a brief Triple-A tour in 1999...Elvis is the top table setter in the organization...his offensive game is three-fold: to get on base (lifetime .370 on-base percentage is 108 points better than .262 career batting average), steal bases (231 steals, including a Carolina League leading 48 last year), and score runs (423 career runs, including a league leading 92 in 2000)...over the last three seasons, he's hit .291 (380-for-1304) with a .393 OBP and 114 steals in 146 attempts (78 percent)...according to Elias Sports Bureau, he is the first player named Elvis in major league history.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Elvis had a strong season at Carolina (AA) and finished in the majors. With Colorado...

- The switch hitter batted .333 (3-for-9) with no homers and one RBI in 10 games.
- Peña made his major league debut Sept. 2 vs. Milwaukee, a pinch-hit strikeout.
- The next day, Sept. 3 vs. the Brewers, he pinch ran and stole his first major league base.
- On Sept. 17 at Los Angeles, he singled off Matt Herges for his first major league hit.
- That hit kicked off a three-game hitting streak, Sept. 17, 20 and 21, containing all three of his 2000 hits.
- His first extra-base hit, a double, came vs. San Diego Sept. 20.
- Then, on Sept. 21 vs. the Padres, he singled to drive in his first run.
- In the field, Pena played three games at shortstop and one at second...in three total chances, he didn't commit an error and turned a DP...he did not start.
- At home, he hit .250 (2-for-8) with the double, RBI and stolen base.
- ♦ On the road, he was 1-for-1; the single at Dodger

Stadium marked his only official road at-bat.

 From the right side, he was 0-for-1...from the left, he batted .375 (3-for-8).

AT CAROLINA: For the first time in his career, he played almost exclusively at shortstop.

- A Southern League (AA) midseason and postseason all-star, he batted .300 with three homers and 37 RBI in 126 games.
- With 48 SB, Peña led the league and the organization, and tied for second among Double-A players.
- His 92 runs scored led the league and tied for second in the organization with Salem's Chone Figgins, behind Colorado Springs' Phil Hiatt (106).
- He had three hitting streaks of at least 12 games...from May 31-June 17, he built a 17-game streak (26-for-63, .413)...three games later, he kicked off a 13-game streak, June 23-July 7 (24-for-54, .444)...then, from July 30-Aug. 12, he hit in 12 straight (15-for-46, .326).
- The organization's June Player of the Month, he batted .374 (34-for-91) with one homer, nine RBI and 14 steals in 18 attempts.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Peña made both his Double-A (Carolina) and Triple-A (Colorado Springs) debuts.

- He batted a combined .286 (114-for-399) with two homers, 33 RBI and 25 steals...he played 84 games at second base and 37 at shortstop.
- He opened the season at Double-A...promoted to Colo. Springs in mid May, after he went 7-for-43, he returned to the Mudcats June 5.
- On April 25, he delivered a 10th-inning homer to catapult Carolina over Jacksonville.
- In his first game back at Double-A, June 6, he beat Birmingham with an eighth-inning RBI single.
- Over his first 13 games back, he hit .395 (15-for-38).
- He collected five hits July 25.
- On Aug. 12, he drove in four in a 13-1 win.

1998: After two full seasons (1996-97) at Salem in the advanced Single-A Carolina League, the Rockies opted to start him down one level at Asheville, in the South Atlantic League.

 He answered with career bests in average (.287), homers (6), RBI (48) and runs (93).

1997: With Salem (A) in the Carolina League, he hit .222 with one HR and 30 RBI in 93 games.

1996: Playing for the first time in the advanced Carolina League, he hit .223 with no homers, 28 RBI and 30 steals...he also drew 61 walks, and his .345 on-base percentage stood 122 points above his batting average.

1995: His 51 combined steals established a career best that still stands entering 2001; he tied with Terry Jones for the organizational lead...Elvis opened the year with Asheville in the South Atlantic League (A)...he hit just .228 in 48 games with Asheville, but drew 28 walks and compiled a .367 OBP...the Rockies moved him to short-season Portland (A), when the Northwest League opened in June...in the NWL, he batted .251 and stole 28 bases in 58 games...combined for both clubs, he hit .242 (87-for-360) with 54 walks in 106 games.

1994: Signed as a non-drafted free agent during the summer of 1993, the 17-year-old made his pro debut in the Arizona Rookie League...he led the league with 35 walks and in 49 games stole 20 bases (third in the league)...he finished the season with a .228 average and a .377 OBP.

Personal: Elvis Mendez Peña...when he joined the Rockies in September 2000, he became the 27th player cultivated in the Rockies organization from pro debut to major league debut (preceded in 2000 by Craig House and Juan Pierre)...signed by former Rockies scout Julian Gonzalez.

MEIR PEREZ

Signed as a non-drafted free agent, Nov. 9. 1992... Neifi Perez, who earned his first career Rawlings Gold Glove last year, embarks on his ninth pro season, his sixth in the majors...since taking over full-time shortstop duties before the '98 season, Neifi (NAY-fee) has played in 481 of the Rockies' 486 games...Perez (1998, 2000) and Vinny Castilla ('98) are the only Rockies to play every contest of a 162-game season...in the NL since 1998, excluding first basemen and catchers, no one has fielded more total chances than Perez...he has arguably the strongest arm of any NL infielder, and complements it with above-average range, and the speed to reach shallow outfield drives...the franchise's all-time leader, he has 44 career sacrifice bunts; in 1998 he posted 20 bunt singles to lead the NL and also topped the majors with a clubrecord 22 sacrifice hits, the most in the major leagues since 1993 (Jose Offerman, 25)...Perez is the toughest on the club to double up or strike out... Neifi in his career has averaged 97.4 plate appearances per double play grounded into, and 10.64 trips per strikeout...on July 25, 1998, he became the first NL shortstop to hit for the cycle since Houston's Andujar Cedeño, Aug. 25, 1992...exactly four years after Cedeño, Perez hit for his first professional cycle at Triple-A Colorado Springs (Aug. 25, 1996)...and he's the single-season (11 in 1999 and 2000) and all-time club triples leader (41)...Neifi's presence in the Rockies lineup is testament to the importance of international scouting...more than six months before the major league club began play, the Rockies' first impression of Perez was not as a baseball player, but as an athletic point guard; he was playing for the Domincan Republic's Junior National Basketball Team...few if any active major leaguers enjoy the game of baseball more than Perez.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Neifi completed his fifth major league season, his third as the team's full-time shortstop...

- He batted .287, the second-best mark of his career.
- For the second time, he played in all 162 games...only four other big-league players saw all 162 contests.
- Perez had a career-high 50 multi-hit games, third on the team...his season high was four, three times.
- He drove in a career-high 71 runs, one more than the his '99 total...he also collected 14 multi-RBI games, including a season-high and career tying four RBI (third time), June 28 vs. the Giants (3-for-5, double).
- Third among NL shortstops in fielding (.978), he led major league SS in games (162), starts (160), putouts (288), assists (523), chances (829) and DP (120).
- ♦ With RISP, Perez batted .268 (44-for-164).
- At Coors Field, Neifi batted .323 (110-for-341).
- ♦ On the road, he hit .248 (77-for-310).

270 FEET: Neifi's 11 triples tied for second in the NL and matched his own 1999 club record.

- Perez, who became the franchise's leader in 1999 (Eric Young 28), extended his career total to 41...all 41 triples have come since the beginning of 1997.
- ◆ The Rockies were 7-4 in games when he tripled.

- SHIFTING GEARS: From Opening Day to July 20, he batted seventh or eighth in all but four games.
- At that point on July 20, he was hitting .277 with four homers and 45 RBI in 93 games.
- On July 21 vs. San Diego, Buddy Bell shifted Neifi to second in the order...he then batted .583 (7-for-12) during the three-game Padres series...Neifi hit second in 68 of the Rockies' last 69 games...he batted .298 (89-for-299) after shifting to No. 2 on July 21.

AS A SWITCH HITTER: Neifi batted nearly 100 points better right-handed...

- From the right, he batted .357 (55-for-154) with seven homers and 26 RBI...from that side, he finished the season 26-for-his-last-58 (.448)...his .357 mark vs. lefthanded pitching ranked 10th in the league.
- As a left-handed hitter, he batted .266 (132-for-497) with three homers and 45 RBI...10 of his 11 triples, however, came from the left side.
- From the right, he had one RBI every 5.92 AB...from the left, he drove in one every 11.04 AB.

AN ACCOMPUSHED BUNTER: Neifi led Colorado with 11 bunt singles (according to club and media records).

 He had just one bunt single when the club traded leadoff man Tom Goodwin July 31...over the balance of the season, Neifi droped 10, including six in Sept.

Perez finished fifth in the NL with a club-leading 29 bunts in play...seven of those bunts were sacrifice hits, and 11 were singles...so, of his 29 bunts, he was productive 62 percent of the time.

PITCHES TAKEN: Neifi did not swing at 46.4 percent of his offerings, the fourth lowest mark in the league. EXTRA BASES: Of Perez's 187 hits, 32 percent (60) went for extra bases...

- He produced a career-high 39 doubles...in two games, April 28 vs. New York and Aug. 25 at Pittsburgh, he tied a club record with three doubles.
- Perez for the second consecutive season reached double figures in homers.
- His 60 EBH ranked third on the club, behind Helton (103) and Cirillo (66).

THORN IN HIS SIDE: Perez hit his third career HR off Randy Johnson, Sept. 25 at home...the Big Unit has now allowed only five homers to the Rockies and Perez has three of them: June 30, 1998 at the Kingdome, May 15, 1999 at Bank One Ballpark (leadoff HR) and Sept. 25, 2000 at Coors.

ANOTHER LEADOFF HR: Perez hit a leadoff HR in his only leadoff start, Sept. 6 vs. Chicago...the shot, off Kerry Wood, gave Neifi four such career HR.

CLUTCH NUMBERS: Most of Perez's home runs came at important junctures.

- Six of his 10 home runs gave the Rockies the lead (third on the club).
- On May 23 vs. the Cubs, he delivered a two-run shot off Daniel Garibay in the seventh to give Colorado a lead it would not relinquish.
- Of his 71 RBI, 19 either tied the score or gave Colorado the lead.
- On May 20 at Philly, he fell a HR short of the cycle, going 3-for-4 with the team's only two go-ahead RBI...his first RBI, on a second-inning double, put the Rockies ahead, 1-0...his last RBI, on an eighthinning single, plated the deciding run in a 4-3 win.

THE TWO-RUN INNING: Perez scored twice in the same inning on two occasions, both in mid April.

- On April 16 (Game 2) he came around to score two times in the sixth inning vs. St. Louis.
- Three days earlier, on April 13 vs. St. Louis, he scored twice in the second inning...Perez was one of three Rockies (also Scott Karl and Tom Goodwin) in that second inning to score twice.
- Before April 13, only three Rockies had ever scored twice in an inning...after April 16, the Rockies had surpassed that total using one four-game series.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: The full-time leadoff hitter over the final three months, he shattered club records with 690 at-bats (first in the majors) and 732 plate app. (second in the NL).

Neifi led the club with 60 multi-hit games, (fifth in the NL)...143 of his hits were singles, (third)...and he grounded into one DP every 172.5 AB, (second)...the toughest Rockies player to fan (13.6 plate appearances per K), he was fourth in the NL.

- On May 19 vs. Cincinnati, a strained left wrist forced him to miss his first game since 1997; his consecutivegame streak (267) was the third-longest in the majors.
- From June 13 to August 8, Perez built a 53-game

Rockies Gold Gloves

In 2000, Neifi Perez became the second player in Rockies history to win a Rawlings Gold Glove. Larry Walker won the franchise's first three awards, in consecutive fashion, from 1997-99.

Perez last season led all major league shortstops in games (162), starts (160), putouts (288), assists (523), total chances (829) and double plays (120)...in the majors, only Arizona's Luis Gonzalez, Los Angeles' Shawn Green and Toronto's Jose Cruz, Jr. and Carlos Delgado played all 162 games in 2000.

• Walker also won two consecutive Gold Gloves with the Expos (1992-93)...in 1999 for Colorado, he compiled 13 outfield assists; of those 13, seven came in outs at the plate and two caught runners on direct throws from right field to third base, the toughest out in the game...Larry owns the franchise record with 132 consecutive errorless games, from 1996-97.

errorless streak; the streak covered 245 consecutive total chances from June 12 to August 9.

- In each of Perez's first 11 leadoff starts, including five in May and one in June, he hit safely.
- On July 3 vs. San Diego, after playing 234 major league games with no more than three RBI, Perez drove in eight runs in one day...in Game 1, he homered and drove in a career-best four...in Game 2, he matched the four RBI, on the Rockies' first '99 grand slam, and first career (Heath Murray).
- On August 18 vs. Atlanta, Perez delivered both a game-tying and go-ahead RBI.
- On Aug. 30, he hit his 10th homer, and on September 1, he drove in his 60th RBI, edging his respective 1998 career bests.
- On September 14 vs. New York, Neifi tied a club record with two triples; the second of the night was his 28th in a Rockies uniform, tying Eric Young for first on the all-time list...he waited only one game to grab sole possession of the lead, September 15 vs. the Mets; that triple, his third consecutive hit that went for three bags, also tied his own 1997 single-season club record (10)...he'd have No. 11 and the record by the end of the homestand, on Sept. 21 vs. Arizona; it was his final triple, as he finished tied with Bobby Abreu for first in the NL.
- He opened the club's final road trip 0-for-17, his season's longest drought...before the spell, Perez had a strong shot at reaching the 200-hit barrier, but had only five hits in his last eight games, finishing with 193 (still tops on the club and fifth in the NL).

1998: Perez appeared in all 162 contests, becoming one of two players in club history to play in every game during a single season (Vinny Castilla, 1998)...he built a 29-game errorless streak, June 8-July 12...on July 25 vs. St. Louis, Perez became the second Rockie to hit for the cycle (double, triple, bunt single and, on an 0-1 pitch in the seventh inning, homer); the homer, his second in 273 atbats from the left side of the plate, won the game...he put together a career-best 15-game hitting streak, July 27-Aug. 11 (24-for-61, .393)...he hit in 13 straight contests, Aug. 30-Sept. 12 (18-for-54, .333)...in the club's final at-bat, September 27 vs. San Francisco; he capped a seven-run comeback victory, homering off Robb Nen to break an 8-

8 tie in the ninth...his first homer since he hit for the cycle two months earlier, the shot sent San Francisco to Chicago for a one-game playoff to determine the NL's wild-card playoff berth.

1997: Perez started his year at Colorado Springs but played the final three-and-a-half months in the majors...at Triple-A in 68 games he had 35 extra-base hits...a PCL all-star, his .975 fielding mark led league SS...recalled June 19, he started 79 of the Rockies' final 91 games, splitting time between second and short...he tied an NL record for a shortstop in a nine-inning game with five double plays, June 6 (Rafael Ramirez, 8/1/85)...he made 38 starts at short, all but five prior to the Eric Young trade August 18...he then moved to second base and made 39 starts there to finish the season...he also started twice at third base... Neifi belted his first major league homer in his first '97 start, June 20 at San Diego (Andy Ashby)...he tied the club's single-game record with two triples vs. Los Angeles, Sept. 25... Perez finished his season with a career-best five hits vs. the Dodgers in the finale Sept. 28...he hit .312 in 77 right-handed at-bats, and .284 as a lefty (236 at-bats).

1996: The Rockies' Minor League Player of the Year, he compiled a 23-game hitting streak in May (.360, 36-for-100)...on Aug. 25, in a 13-inning affair at Salt Lake, Neifi fanned in his first at-bat, then hit for the cycle; he collected seven consecutive hits, the most single-game hits by any minor leaguer in 1996...on August 30, the Rockies purchased Neifi's contract and he made his big-league debut the next night in St. Louis, at second base...he recorded his first hit with a single off Atlanta's John Smoltz, September 12 at Coors Field.

1995: Perez opened at Triple-A, then moved to Double-A New Haven April 25...he played in all nine postseason games for the Ravens...defensively, Neifi led Eastern League shortstops in fielding pct. (.967) and tied for the top spot in double plays turned (80).

1994: Neifi landed a spot on the California League All-Star team...the busiest shortstop in the league, he finished first in total chances (650), putouts (223) and double plays (86).

1993: Neifi debuted at Bend in the Northwest League.
Personal: Neifi Neftali Perez (Diaz)...he has a son, Neifi,
Jr., and makes his off-season home in his native
Dominican Republic...the Rockies signed him at age 17, one week before their expansion draft.

PEREZ'S CAREER BREAKDOWNS

Ben PETRICK

Catcher

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 200 B/T: R/R Age: 23 (turns 24 on April 7)

Born: 4/7/77 in Salem, Ore.

Residence: Hillsboro, Ore.

Major League Service: 125 days

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

BEN PETRICK

Selected in the second round of the 1995 June draft...Ben Petrick (PEE-trick) begins his sixth pro season, and looks to break camp in the majors for the first time...the Rockies have almost always considered amateur pitchers a higher draft priority than position players...the exception was 1995, when Colorado grabbed Todd Helton in the first round and an Oregon prep star named Ben Petrick in the second...over his first three pro seasons (1996-98) in the organization's lower levels, he batted .240 (290-for-1297) with 158 RBI in 349 games...however, over the last two years (1999-2000) at Double-A, Triple-A and the majors, he's hit 75 points better (.315, 254-for-806) with seven more RBI (165)...in the minors, he's hit 79 homers, with seven multi-homer games and a 1999 cycle (May 9)...he rebounded from a pair of '98 hand injuries to enjoy a career year and Colorado in late 1999 gave him a Sept. 1 major league debut, and the starting job behind the plate most of that final month...he spent about three more months in the majors last season, and enters 2001 with a career .322 major league average (67-for-208)...Petrick, with his speed and athleticism, has drawn comparisons with Jason Kendall, the son of his coach, Fred Kendall....some analysts have also tabbed him the next Craig Biggio (a former catcher).

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Petrick opened at Triple-A for the first time and made two tours with the Rockies...he was with Colorado from July 16 through season's end.

- He hit .322 (47-for-146) with three homers and 20 RBI in 52 games.
- Petrick compiled 10 mult-hit games...he collected a season-high three hits, tying his career best, three times, all within a 10-day stretch...he had three hits Aug. 18 vs. Florida (3-for-5), Aug. 22 vs. Atlanta (3-for-5) and Aug. 27 at Pittsburgh (3-for-3)...he originally established the career high Sept. 27, 1999 at Arizona (four times overall now).
- Ben totaled four multi-RBI games...his season high, four RBI, also established a career best, Sept. 20 vs. San Diego (0-for-3, BB, SF).
- Behind the plate, he posted a .985 fielding percentage, with four errors in 271 total chances...he also committed eight passed balls...on the bases, he threw out 18.8 percent (6/32).
- With runners in scoring position, he went 9-for-39 (.231).
- At Coors Field, he was 29-for-89 (.326).
- On the road, he was 18-for-57 (.316), with the fourth highest road average on the Rockies.

TRANSACTIONS: Ben for the first time went to spring training on the Rockies' 40-man roster...

- In the last week of spring training, the Rockies optioned him to Colorado Springs March 27.
- Colorado recalled him April 19 to replace an injured

Scott Servais (ankle)...it marked Petrick's second major league tour (Sept. 1999)...that night, he started, batting eighth at Arizona, and doubled on his first major league pitch, off left-hander Brian Anderson.

- Before the Rockies optioned him back to Colorado Springs April 30, he batted .267 (4-for-15) with no RBI...all four of his hits, though, were for extra bases (three doubles, one triple).
- After placing Servais back on the DL (calf), the Rockies recalled Ben again July 16...Petrick was one of five players added to the active roster from July 16-17 (RHP Bobby Chouinard, OF Butch Huskey, INF Todd Walker and LHP Rigo Beltran)...Petrick, along with Chouinard, Huskey and Walker, remained with the Rockies the duration of the season.

AFTER THE SECOND RECALL: After Colorado recalled Petrick the second time, July 16, he enjoyed a much more productive tour...

 From July 16-season's end, he batted .328 (43-for-131) with all three homers and all 20 RBI.

STRONG STRETCH: Petrick after the second recall July 16 platooned with Brent Mayne, starting mostly against left-handed starters...however, with Mayne battling injuries and Scott Servais on the DL, Petrick filled the full-time catcher duties over a 19-day stretch.

From Aug. 18-Sept. 5, Ben started 15 of the Rockies'
 17 games...over those 15 starts, he batted .379 (22-for-58) with two homers and nine RBI.

WHO SAYS YOU NEED HITS TO DRIVE IN RUNS: Ben on Sept. 20 vs. the Padres drove in a career-high four runs, under highly unusual circumstances.

- He drove in four runs without a hit, going 0-for-3.
- Two of his ground outs scored a man from third; he also hit a sacrifice fly and drove in his fourth run with a bases-loaded walk in the ninth inning.

TIMELY HOME BUNS: Petrick hit just three home runs, but all were pivotal in leading to Rockies wins.

- His first horner, Aug. 9 vs. Pittsburgh (Kris Benson), tied the game in what would be a 4-3 Rockies win.
- Homer No. 2 came Aug. 20 vs. Florida...the solo shot off Jesus Sanchez gave Colorado the go-ahead run and a lead the Rockies would not relinquish.
- Finally, his third homer also gave the Rockies their game winning run, Aug. 30 at Philadelphia...Petrick touched Wayne Gomes in the 11th inning.

STREAKS: Petrick hit in at least three straight games on seven occasions.

 His season's longest streak was five, twice: Aug. 18-22 and Aug. 25-Sept. 1...he established his career long with the first stretch, and tied it with the second.

- Over the first five-game streak, he batted .550 (11-for-20) with four multi-hit contests.
- Over the second five-game streak, he batted .444 (8for-18).
- He actually went hitless in only one game in between the two streaks...Ben hit safely in 10 of 11 contests over that stretch (19-for-38, .500).

AT COLORADO SPRINGS: Petrick spent the first two weeks, and from May 1-July 15, at Colorado Springs (AAA)...

- With the Sky Sox, he batted .315 (78-for-248) in 63 games, with nine homers and 47 RBI.
- Before his first recall April 19, he hit .324 (12-for-37) in 11 games.
- ◆ He drove in six runs, May 30 vs. New Orleans.
- From May 23-June 20, he hit safely in 21 straight games (.405, 34-for-84, 22 RBI)...the streak raised his season average from .255 to .323...its exclamation point was a 5-for-5 effort vs. Albuquerque.
- Six of his nine homers came on the road.

CARGER MICHLIGHTS

1999: Ben played for three clubs on three levels, including his first major league tour.

- He combined at the three stops—Carolina (AA), Colorado Springs (AAA) and the Rockies—to bat .313 (129-for-412) with 27 homers and 98 RBI in 123 games...he drove in one run every 4.2 at-bats.
- He spent two weeks (April 26-May 6) on the disabled list with a sprained left wrist...but in his first game back, May 8, he doubled and homered.
- The next night, May 9, Petrick hit for the cycle vs. Huntsville, going 4-for-4 with three RBI.
- Five days after the cycle, which earned him Southern League Hitter of the Week, Petrick left for Triple-A.
- He didn't slow down in his first career Triple-A tour (7-for-his-first-20, .350)...Ben's first hit at that level was a triple, May 15 vs. Fresno...in 83 games for the Sky Sox, he batted .319 with 19 homers and 64 RBI, making 66 starts at catcher.
- He homered in four straight games in late July...the cap on that streak came vs. Salt Lake July 25, when he homered twice, including a grand slam.
- From Aug. 1-20, he batted .420 (21-for-50, six homers, 17 RBI).
- ◆ The Rockies recalled him Sept. 1 and he made his major league debut that afternoon, vs. Pittsburgh, batting eighth at catcher...in his first major league plate appearance, he doubled in a run off Jason Schmidt...he actually reached safely in his first four big-league trips (double, single and two walks), going 2-for-3 on the day...he hit safely in seven straight starts, Sept. 10-20.
- On Sept. 17 vs. Los Angeles, Petrick hit his first major league home run, a solo shot off Mike Maddux...three of his next four hits were homers, including his first multi-HR game, Sept. 22 vs. Arizona.

 He started 18 games overall, getting the bulk of catching work in September.

1998: In his first Double-A stint (New Haven) he battled a sore left wrist for much of the first two months...he was off to a solid start when a pitch jammed fingers on his left (glove) hand April 29...then, three days later he was hit on the left wrist while batting...he was hitting .310 prior to the injuries...after getting hit with the pitch, Petrick did not swing a bat in a game for nine days...he returned to the lineup May 11 at Portland and had three hits, including a homer and four RBI, but after four games he missed another week of action with

Juan PIERRE

Outfielder

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 180 B/T: L/L Age: 23 (turns 24 on Aug. 14)

Born: 8/14/77 in Mobile, Ala. Residence: Alexandria, La. Major League Service: 56 days

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

JUAN PHERRE

Selected in the 13th round of the 1998 June draft...Juan Pierre, who begins his fourth pro season in 2001, comes to Tucson in major league camp for the first time...Pierre entering camp is the Rockies' starting center fielder and leadoff man, a role he held most of the final two months last year, after trades of Tom Goodwin and Brian Hunter...the Rockies may choose to play Todd Hollandsworth in center, and ask Pierre to begin the season at Triple-A, where he played just four games in his first experience at that level last August...but he's not a rookie (he needed 37 days to get his 130th at-bat and officially eclipse rookie status last September)...he has the range to cover baseball's largest outfield; he made an incredible overthe-wall catch to rob San Diego's Ruben Rivera last Sept. 19...he also has most skills the Rockies want in a leadoff hitter...in Pierre's minor league career, he has 151 steals in 192 attempts (79 percent)...for three straight seasons, he's compiled his league's lowest strikeout/plate appearance ratio (one for every 19.5 in his minor league career)...and, he's grounded into only 19 double plays in 1305 at-bats (one for every 68.7 AB)...his resume also includes two batting titles ('98 Northwest League and 2000 Southern League) and all-star honors in three leagues, in three seasons...the organization named him team MVP at both Carolina (2000) and Asheville (1999)...the year before that, the Sun Belt Conference named him 1998 Player of the Year... Juan at the major league level had 60 singles and just two extra-base hits (both doubles), probably the team's biggest concern at season's end...Pierre answered those concerns by working with Brad Andress this off-season to add, at last report in mid-January, 15 pounds.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Juan made his major league debut in only his third pro season, joining the Rockies after the Brian Hunter trade, and served as Colorado's center fielder and leadoff man over the season's final two months.

- The Rockies purchased his contract Aug. 7 and he made his big-league debut that night vs. Pittsburgh as a pinch runner, but did not bat.
- Juan started the next afternoon, leading off in center field...in his first major league plate appearance, he beat out an infield roller off Jose Silva for his first career hit...he went 2-for-5 with a double.
- Pierre in his first season batted .310 (62-for-200) with no homers and 20 RBI...the Rockies went 29-22 in his 51 games played.
- He compiled 12 multi-hit games, including a five-hit contest, Sept. 4 vs. Chicago...his five hits that day tied the club season high, and his five singles tied a club record, established earlier in the year by Todd Helton (May 3)...he was one of only two left-handed hitters in 2000 to get three hits in a game off Cy Young winner Randy Johnson (Sept. 25, also Shawn Green).
- Juan totaled three multi-RBI games (all two RBI).
- He played exclusively in center field and finished the year with a .975 fielding mark...he committed three errors, but none until his 31st game, Sept. 8 vs. Los Angeles...Pierre recorded his first and only career assist, Sept. 15 at Dodger Stadium.

- Two of his hits went for extra bases, his double in his first major league start Aug. 8 and another double two days later at St. Louis...his final 57 hits, from Aug. 11-Oct. 1, were singles...11 of his 60 singles (18 percent) were infield hits.
- ◆ With RISP, Pierre batted .347 (17-for-49).
- At home, he hit .343 (37-for-108).
- On the road, he was 25-for-92 (.272).

PHENOMENAL STREAKS: Juan compiled four significant hitting streaks during the 2000 season...

- ♦ He began his major league career with a 16-game hitting streak, Aug. 8-23...that streak is the longest to open a career at least since 1975, and is believed to be one of the longest in major league history...the longest such streak over the last quarter century was 13, by the Giants' Mike Woodard in 1985...he batted .359 (24-for-62) over the 16-game streak.
- Over a longer stretch, he hit safely in 33 consecutive games, over three pro levels...he got a hit in his last 13 games for the Carolina Mudcats (AA), his only four games for the Colorado Springs Sky Sox (AAA) and his first 16 major league contests.

- His 16-game major league streak ended at Pittsburgh Aug. 25, when he went 0-for-2 as a pinch hitter and defensive replacement...he went on to hit in his next start, so he hit safely in his first 15 major league starts...his first start without a hit was Aug. 28, at Three Rivers Stadium.
- From Sept. 6-22, he built another streak: 15 games...according to Elias, Pierre became the first rookie to record multiple 15-game hitting streaks since the Twins' Kent Hrbek in 1982...over the second streak, Juan hit .273 (18-for-66)...and, like his first streak, his second streak ended in a non-start, when he went 0-for-1 as a defensive replacement Sept. 24 vs. Florida.

ROOKIE QUALIFICATIONS, THEY CAME AND WENT : Juan became ineligible for the 2001 Rookie of the Year award in little more than a month.

- On Sept. 12 at San Diego, he received his 130th atbat, making the 2000 season his official rookie campaign...he needed only 37 days of major league service to reach the significant 130th at-bat.
- Pierre was on pace to finish a full major league season with a .310 average and 193 hits, each of which would've led all NL rookies.

He owned the top two hitting streaks by an NL rookie in 2000, his 16 and 15-game streaks...Julio Lugo had the third longest streak, 14 games from Sept. 3-16...Juan's 62 hits were ninth among NL rookies, his seven stolen bases ranked sixth and his 12 multi-hit games were 10th in his class.

AT COLORADO SPRINGS: Juan played four games in his first taste of Triple-A, just before he joined the Rockies in early August.

- He shifted from Carolina to Colorado Springs on Aug. 2, and hit safely in all four games with the Sky Sox...the Rockies purchased his contract Aug. 7.
- At Triple-A, he batted .471 (8-for-17), with one triple, one RBI and one steal.

AT CAROLINA: Pierre also made his Double-A debut this season, with the Carolina Mudcats.

- Juan earned the organization's Double-A MVP award, despite his Aug. 2 departure.
- He won the Southern League batting title (.326, 143for-439)...Juan also finished tied for second with 46 steals, behind organization-mate Elivs Peña, who swiped 48.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Juan spent the entire year at Asheville in the Single-A South Atlantic League.

- He led the circuit in games (140), at-bats (585) and hits (187)...he also finished second in steals (66), third in average (.320) and fifth in runs scored (93).
- His hits, runs scored and steals all led the organization...Pierre's .320 average ranked second in the Rockies system, behind Chris Hatcher (.344).
- On July 28 vs. Augusta, Juan hit his only pro homer, a seventh-inning grand slam in a 4-3 win.

1998: Juan made his pro debut in the short-season

Northwest League (A) with Portland.

- He captured the league batting championship (.352), as well as the stolen base title (38).
- Pierre struck out once every 26.36 plate appearances (11/290), by far the lowest mark in the league.

Personal: Juan D'Vaughn Pierre...he and his wife Sonya were married in January...the couple then drove to Denver to stay with Rockies vice president Michael Kent and his family, so that Juan could participate in the first annual Winter Player Development Program...signed by Steve Payne.

Origin of the Rockies' name & colors

Colorado's Major League Baseball expansion franchise received its identity July 5, 1991, the day big-league owners unanimously approved Denver and South Florida as baseball's newest teams. The excitement of that day even moved Denver television anchors to dawn the black "CR" cap on the air. The name was picked by the Colorado Baseball Partnership, who'd campaigned to the expansion committee as the "Timezone Without a Team." Ownership also chose the more inclusive "Colorado," as opposed to "Denver," to acknowledge the incredible number of season-ticket deposits it had received from across the region. Team colors were chosen to represent Colorado's majestic mountains (purple) and to reflect the state's rich mining history (silver). The franchise's logo was also inspired by Katherine Lee Bates, who wrote the song America the Beautiful from the top of Colorado's Pikes Peak in 1893. The Rockies aren't the first major sports franchise known as "Colorado Rockies." The NHL's Colorado Rockies skated at McNichols Arena before heading east to become the New Jersey Devils in the early 1980s.

BRIAN ROSE

Acquired from the Boston Red Sox with INF Jeff Frye, RHP John Wasdin and RHP Jeff Taglienti for RHPs Rolando Arrojo and Rick Croushore, INF Mike Lansing and cash considerations, July 27, 2000...Rose, in Rockies camp for the first time, opens his seventh pro season...a member of Colorado's rotation over the final two months of 2000, Brian figures to compete with Ron Villone, John Wasdin and Masato Yoshii for the fifth starter (after the additions of Mike Hampton and Denny Neagle)...he's opened two of the last three seasons in Boston's major league rotation...early in 1999, he drew headlines by defeating the defending world champion Yankees, twice in consecutive starts...the right-hander has a solid off-speed pitch, the offering scouts say is vital for Coors Field success...and, he's shown great control over his minor league career...Rose has walked only 2.33 batters per nine innings (147 BB, 567.0 IP)...overall in the minors, he's gone 43-22 with a 3.56 ERA, 10 complete games and two shutouts, pitching mostly at Triple-A...the best season of his career was 1997, when he earned International League Pitcher of the Year, pacing the circuit in ERA (3.02) and leading all minor league pitchers in wins (17).

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Rose made Boston's Opening Day roster, then moved to Triple-A Pawtucket before completing the final two months in the Rockies rotation.

- · Combined with Boston and Colorado, Rose went 7-10 with a 5.39 ERA (255.1 JP. 153 ER), with 37 walks and 43 strikeouts in 27 games, 24 starts...his games, starts and innings all established early career highs...his seven wins matched his 1999 career high.
- With the Rockies, he was 4-5 with a 6.46 (30.2 IP, 22 ER), 16 walks and 19 Ks in 12 games, all starts.
- Combined, eight of his 24 starts were quality (6.0-plus) IP, three-or-less ER)...in his five quality starts for Colorado, the Rockies were 4-1...the right-hander went at least 7.0 innings twice, both with Colorado (Aug. 23 vs. Atlanta and Sept. 4 vs. Chicago)...those two starts matched his career's longest outing (now six times)...he allowed two or fewer earned runs in nine starts (four with Colorado) and walked two or fewer in 12 of his starts (five with Colorado).
- The Rockies were 6-6 when he took the hill...the team won six of his first nine starts, but he closed the year with losses in each of his final three assignments.
- Colorado scored 60 runs in his 12 starts (5.00 per).
- At Coors Field, he was 2-4 with a 7.08 ERA in seven games, seven starts.
- On the road with the Rockies, he was 2-1 with a 3.68 ERA in five games, five starts.

WELCOME TO COLORADO: Rose was solid early...

 In his NL debut, Aug. 2 at Chicago, he gave up a first-inning run, then shut out the Cubs over his final

- five innings...he finished the day with a no-decision. going 6.0 innings on four hits, one run, one walk and four strikeouts...the Rockies lost, 3-2, after allowing a Sammy Sosa homer in the eighth.
- In his next assignment, Aug. 8 vs. Pittsburgh, Rose earned his first win for Colorado...in his Coors Field debut, he went 5.0 innings shutout innings, scattering seven hits on three walks and two strikeouts.
- He completed the three-start stretch at Montreal Aug. 13, when a no-decision in which he went 6.0 innings on six hits, three runs, earned, no walks and two Ks.

TWO BLEMISHES: Brian endured two tough outings...

- He gave up eight runs in 3.0 innings Aug. 18 vs. Florida...more than a month later. Sept. 20 at San Diego, he allowed six runs, five earned in 2.0 innings.
- Take away those two starts and Brian with the Rockies would've been 4-3 with a 3.99 ERA (58.2 IP, 26 ER).

WITH BOSTON: Before the trade, Brian spent his entire career in the Red Sox system...

- At Triple-A when the teams consumated the sevenplayer deal July 27, he was 1-0 with a 2.25 ERA in five games, three starts for Pawtucket.
- He opened the season as Boston's No. 5 starter and went 3-5 with a 6.11 ERA before his option to Pawtucket June 25...with the big-league club, he made 15 appearances and 12 starts...he combined on two shutouts: as a starter (6.0 IP) April 19 at Detroit, and as a reliever (1.0 IP) May 17 at Toronto.

STRIKEOUT BINGE: Rose achieved two career strikeout marks in consecutive starts...

- On Aug. 29 at Philadelphia, he tied his career best with six strikeouts.
- Then, in his next start Sept. 4 vs. the Cubs, he set a new career high with seven strikeouts...that day he allowed just two runs in 7.0 IP.

WITH THE BAT: A career Amercian Leaguer before the trade, Brian...

- Recorded his first major league hit, Sept. 14 at Dodger Stadium, a sixth-inning single off Chan Ho Park...he eventually scored the game winning run, on a single by Neifi Perez, in a 5-4 Rockies victory.
- Overall with the Rockies, Rose batted .048 (1-for-21) with the one run, no RBI and three sacrifice bunts.

CAREER MICHLIGHTS

1999: Brian joined the Red Sox in mid-May.

- In his season debut, May 19 at Fenway, he earned his first win, combining on a 6-0 shutout to beat the Yankees (7.0 IP, 6 H, 1 BB, 3 K, 89 pitches).
- In his next start, May 25 at Yankee Stadium, he beat the Boston nemesis again (6.0 IP, 1 H, 1 R, 1 ER, 2 BB, 3 K)...both wins came against Hideki Irabu.
- Rose won a third straight start, at Cleveland May 30 (6.0 IP, 2 H, 2 R, 0 ER, 0 BB, 5 K), retiring his first 15 batters until David Justice reached on a Nomar Garciaparra throwing error to start the sixth.
- He didn't get his first loss until July 3, at Comiskey.
- Optioned to Pawtucket (AAA) Aug. 23, Rose was summoned back to Boston Sept. 17.
- In the finale, Oct. 3 at Baltimore, he fanned three in 2.0 perfect frames to earn a 1-0 win in 10 innings.

1998: Rose opened in the Red Sox rotation...he lost his season debut, April 4 at Seattle...on April 10, he started the traditional Fenway opener, taking a no-decision (he was the first Red Sox rookie to open the park since April 18, 1938, when Jim Bagby Jr. beat the Yankees)...on April 21 at Tiger Stadium, he defeated Buddy Bell's club for his first major league win (7.0 IP, 4 H, 2 ER, 0 BB, 3 K)...Boston put him on the DL May 15 (retroactive to May 13)...he began a Triple-A rehab assignment June 13, and went 0-3, with a 7.64 ERA in six rehab starts (17.2 IP, 24 H, 15 ER, 4 BB, 17 K)...the Red Sox recalled him from the assignment, but kept him on the DL, July 10, and he missed the rest of '98.

1997: The International League Pitcher of the Year, Brian won more games (17) than any minor league hurler...he began 7-0 over his first 10 starts...after the Game 1 of a July 25 doubleheader, the Red Sox purchased his contract and he made his major league debut in a Game 2 start vs. Anaheim; he went 3.0 IP in a no-decision, and Boston optioned him down the next day...the league named him Pitcher of the Week for the third time, Aug. 4-10...his only relief appearance was an unofficial start, picking up a suspended game, Aug. 5 vs. Charlotte (6.0 IP, 1 H, 0 R, 1 BB, 1 K)...he became the third pitcher in league history to win MVP and Rookie of the Year in the same season (Bob Trice. Ottawa, 1953; Jason Isringhausen, Norfolk, 1995). 1996: His 12 wins ranked third in the organization...Brian hurled 15.2 scoreless innings, blanking foes over three straight starts. April 24-May 5...he shut out Portland May 26 on three hits and 12 K...in 20 of his 27 starts, he allowed three earned runs or less...after the season, he pitched in the Florida Instructional League

1995: With Michigan (A), Rose in his first official pro action tied for the staff lead with two CG...in the fall, he pitched in the Florida Instructional League

1994: The 18-year-old got his first organized pro ball in the Florida Instructional League.

TERRY SHUMPER

Re-signed as a major league free agent, Dec. 28, 1999...signed originally as a minor league free agent, Aug. 13, 1997...also re-signed as a six-year minor league free agent Dec. 20, 1998...Shumpert's not a high-profile player, but over the course of 162 games, his versatility makes him one of the Rockies' most valuable...there aren't many players more versatile than Shumpert...over the past two seasons (1999-2000), he's started at seven of the nine positions (all except pitcher and catcher), and started in seven of the nine batting-order slots (all except cleanup and ninth)...an 11-year major league veteran, Terry's enjoyed his best two seasons from 1999-2000, improving his career average from .223 to .253...his .347 average in 1999 was 130 points better than his previous single-season best, .217 in 1991...in three seasons, Shumpert's homered for his first major league base hit (1996 with the Cubs and 1998 & 99 with the Rockies)...he has major league time in each of his five organizations, including Boston, Chicago-NL, San Diego and Kansas City, who drafted him...in Royals history only Frank White (2,150) and Cookie Rojas (792) have played more games at second base than Terry's 306...one of the camp's most experienced players, Shumpert begins his 15th pro season, his 12th in the majors.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Terry completed his first full season in the majors since 1994.

- He batted .259 over 110 games...the only year in which he played more was 1991, when he played 144 contests for the Royals.
- Terry drove in a career-best 40 runs, surpassing his previous high, 37 in 1999.
- He totaled 11 multi-hit games, including a season-high three hits in two contests: April 9 at Florida (3-for-5, double, RBI) and June 10 vs. Texas (3-for-4, triple, homer, three RBI)...those three-hit games also tied his career high (nine times now).
- Shumpert notched eight multi-RBI games, including his season high, four RBI, April 19 at Arizona...that night, he was 2-for-4 and tied a club record with two triples...the four RBI tied his career best (third time).
- From the outfield, he compiled a .967 fielding percentage...he also played first base (.818), second (1.000), third (1.000) and shortstop (1.000).
- His nine homers were the second most of his career, behind the 10 he hit in 1999 for the Rockies.
- ♦ With RISP, Terry hit .230 (17-for-74).
- At Coors Field, he hit .308 (40-for-130).
- On the road, he was 28-for-133 (.211).
- He saw his 18 successful stolen base streak snapped April 14 vs. St. Louis.

EPITOME OF VERSATILITY: Shumpert played left field and all four infield positions, including his major league debut at first base.

- Terry was one of only three NL players to start at every infield spot, joining Andy Fox (Ari.-Fla.) and Geoff Blum (Mon.).
- He was also the third player in Rockies history to start at all four infield positions, the first since Vinny Castilla in 1994 (also Pedro Castellano in 1993).
- On May 14 vs. San Francisco, after Todd Helton pulled his hamstring, Shumpert made his major league debut at first base...he got his first major league start at first base June 24 at Arizona.
- Shumpert also started in six of the nine slots in Buddy Bell's batting order.

KNACK FOR THE GAME WINNING HIT: Terry had seven goahead RBI and drove in three game-tying runs...

- On four occasions as a pinch hitter, he drove in a go-ahead run.
- On June 9 vs. Texas, Terry pinch hit in the ninth with two on and the Rockies down 2-1...he ended the game with a two-run single off John Wetteland, giving Colorado a 3-2 win.
- He had a go-ahead pinch sac fly July 5 at SF.
- Then, in back-to-back pinch appearances, Aug. 2 at Chicago and Aug. 5 vs. Philadelphia, Terry used a pinch RBI to drive in a go-ahead run...on Aug. 2 he drew a bases-loaded walk, and on Aug. 5 he ended the game with a two-out single off Jeff Brantley, giving Colorado a 7-6 win.

OVERALL IN THE PINCH: The Rockies' best PH, Terry...

- Finished second in the NL with a .326 pinch average (15-for-46)...Hal Morris led with a .333 mark.
- Tied for fourth in the NL with 10 pinch RBI, including four that put the Rockies in the lead...only Kevin Millar (12) and Rob Ducey (11) drove in more.
- Hit his second career pinch homer on Aug. 6 vs. Philadelphia...it came nearly two years after his first career PH homer, Aug. 4, 1998 with the Rockies, his first hit of the '98 season.
- On July 29 at Milwaukee, he pinch hit to open the ninth inning...nine batters later, he ended the frame.

- On May 30 vs. Houston, his eighth-inning pinch single sparked a game winning rally.
- At one point, he was 6-for-his-last-9 as a pinch hitter...the streak started July 24 with a pinch single off Kevin Brown, and lasted to Aug. 13.

EXTRA-BASE BONANZA: Shumpert had 68 hits and 27 of them (40 percent) went for extra bases...

- He collected a career-best seven triples...before 2000, his most triples in a season was four, in 1991 with the Royals...he'd already established the career high June 11, with his fifth triple, vs. Texas.
- Tied a club record with two triples April 19 at Arizona.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: After going to Triple-A in one of Colorado's final spring moves, Terry opened at Colo. Springs.

- He persevered and hit .375 with six HR and 17 RBI...the Rockies purchased his contract June 5 and wrote him into the lineup that night vs. Milwaukee.
- Just like 1998, Shumpert's first major league hit was a home run, this time in his first PA, off Hideo Nomo.
- The Rockies were 23-28 when he joined them, but then won 10 of their next 14...Colorado also won six of the first eight games in which he played.
- He hit safely in his first eight games, all starts...from Aug. 8-Sept. 26, he hit in 21 consecutive starts (.391, 34-for-87), a stretch that began and ended in Florida.
- On Sept. 12 vs. Milwaukee, Terry tied three career highs: three hits, two homers and four RBI.
- On Sept. 21 vs. Arizona, Terry swiped two bases; the first tied the Rockies record for most consecutive successful steals (13) and the second (14) broke the mark (he pushed it to 16).
- On Sept. 29 at Arizona, Shumpert doubled three times to tie a single-game mark.
- He also established career highs in HR (10) and RBI (37)...Shumpert's .389 average with the bases empty led the club, but he ranked in the lower tier with runners on (.286)...in the NL, only league MVP Chipper Jones (.417) had a better mark than Shumpert (.395) in "close and late" situations...and, he had the NL's third-best mark (.288) with two strikes.

1998: Terry began at Colorado Springs (AAA) and played second, third and shortstop, as well as all three outfield positions and DH...selected to the July 8 Triple-A All-Star game, Terry homered in the contest and garnered the game's MVP...the Rockies purchased his contract July 30 when Greg Colbrunn was traded to Atlanta, and Terry finished the season in the majors...his first hit as a Rockie was a pinch-HR (Chris Peters) at Pittsburgh Aug. 4. 1997: A Padres non-roster invitee, he opened the season at Las Vegas (AAA)...San Diego recalled him May 1 and appeared in 11 games...Shumpert went on the DL June 6 (retroactive to May 27) with a strained left hamstring...he went back to Las Vegas on a rehab assignment before he was reinstated August 5 and released by San Diego...he then signed a contract with New Haven, the Rockies' Double-A affiliate, Aug. 13...he homered in his first start, August 15...promoted to Colo. Springs Aug. 21, he played in the PCL playoffs.

1996: Signed by the Cubs organization March 12, Terry saw his first NL action...his two stints with Chicago were sandwiched around 72 games at Triple-A...in his NL debut, June 10 at Philly, he knocked in the winning run with an eighth-inning sacrifice fly...on June 13, his first NL hit was a game-winning three-run HR in the 14th off San Diego's Willie Blair...in his next game, June 16 vs. the Padres, he belted another HR...he went on the DL (Aug. 19-Sept. 3) with a strained right fore-arm...he played all four INF spots for Iowa.

1995: In his first and only season with the Boston organization, he opened the year with the Red Sox but was optioned to Pawtucket (AAA) on July 7...he made 11 starts, all in the infield.

1994: He played the full year with KC...on May 14 vs. Oakland, he helped turn a triple play...on May 18 at Seattle, Terry hit a grand slam off Dave Fleming...he posted his first career multi-homer game, at Yankee Stadium June 4.

1993: Shumpert spent the season at Omaha (AAA) before the Royals recalled him in September...a Triple-A all-star, Shumpert led the league with 36 steals...he made three starts for the Royals.

1992: Kansas City's Opening Day second baseman, Terry started 12 of the first 13 games...on the Royals' DL Aug. 6-Sept. 7 (bruised right heel).

1991: In Terry's first full major league season, he hit his first big-league homer, off Allan Anderson, June 1 at Minnesota...he fell one short of a major league record when he walked in six straight plate appearances, Aug. 28-31...he led KC with 10 sac bunts.

1990: Recalled from Omaha (AAA) April 30, when Frank White went on the DL, Shumpert made his major league debut May 1 vs. Milwaukee, and picked up his first hit, a single off Teddy Higuera...he tore ligaments in his left thumb while diving for a ball, June 2; the injury required surgery and sidelined him until Sept. 11...then, in his first at-bat Sept. 12, a Todd Stottlemyre pitch broke his right "pinky" finger, ending his season.

1989: He skipped Double-A...at Omaha, he was slowed when a pitch fractured right index finger.

1988: At Appleton (A) in his first full pro season he led the Midwest League with 37 doubles.

began his pro career with Eugene.

1987: The Royals' second-round draft choice, he Personal: Terrance Darnell Shumpert...Terry and his wife, Dequita, have five children, Terrance (16), Brandon (16), Jayde (12), Tierra (7) and Nicholas (4)...he participated in the team's annual winter caravan in January...All-SEC at the University of Kentucky, he hit .364 with 10 homers and 37 RBI as a junior, setting school records for runs scored (60), hits (79), and at-bats (217)...a teammate of current Arizona outfielder Steve Finley at Tilghman High School in Paducah, Ky. ...signed by Jerry Stephens and Will Rutenschroer of the Royals.

Juan SOSA Infielder

HI: 6-1 WI: 175 B/T: R/R Age: 25 (turns 26 on Aug. 19)
Born: 8/19/75 in San Francisco de Macoris, Dominican Republic
Residence: San Francisco de Macoris. Dominican Republic
Major League Service: 24 days

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

JUAN SOSA

Acquired from the Los Angeles organization in the Rule V Draft, Dec. 15, 1997...Juan Sosa enters his ninth pro season, his fourth with the Rockies organization...Juan spent the entire 2000 season at Triple-A, after making his major league debut with the Rockies in 1999...Sosa needs 11 steals for the 200th of his pro career...since 1998, from Single-A through Triple-A, he's swiped 126 bases in 167 attempts (75 percent)...during that '98 campaign at Salem (A), Juan's 64 bags led the organization, the Carolina League and tied for fifth across all of minor league ball...in 1999, his 39 steals were second in the Colorado chain to Juan Pierre (66)...he also has 43 career triples and 47 career homers...his 12 triples in '98 led the league, organization and tied for sixth in the minors...Sosa, who enters his third spring on the roster in major league camp, has proven dependable at both middle infield positions, although he's spent the majority of his career at shortstop...during his 1999 major league stint, he actually played more in the outfield (six games) than the infield (two games at shortstop).

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: In his first full season at Triple-A, Juan batted .274 with career highs in homers (9) and RBI (69).

- He ranked fifth in the league with nine triples.
- For the fourth straight season, he topped 20 steals.
- On June 15 at Las Vegas, he hit a grand slam, helping the Sky Sox to a 9-2 win.
- With the bases loaded, he hit .615 (8-for-13) with the grand slam and 19 RBI.
- As a leadoff hitter, he batted .271 with three homers and 11 RBI.
- He played all 116 of his infield games at shortstop, and also saw three contests in the outfield.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Sosa made his debut at three levels: Double-A, Triple-A and the majors.

- He combined at his three stops—Carolina (AA),
 Colorado Springs (AAA) and the Rockies—to bat
 .281 (148-for-526) with eight homers and 47 RBI.
- He made his Double-A debut to open the season, and batted mostly leadoff...in 47 at-bats in the No. 1 slot, he hit .300 with four homers.
- Juan put together a solid second half at Carolina, finished tied for third in the league with 38 steals, and closed on a strong note with multiple promotions.
- On Sept. 1, the organization moved Sosa from Carolina to Colorado Springs...in a 10-day Triple-A debut, Juan batted .393 (11-for-28) with a double, triple, homer and stolen base...he spent most of the Sky Sox stint in the outfield (four starts), while starting twice at short.
- Then, on Sept. 10, the Rockies brought him to Denver...Sosa made his major league debut that night at Coors Field, a pinch-hit strikeout...one week later, vs. his former organization Sept. 17, he delivered his first major league hit, a pinch single off the Dodgers' Robinson Checo...Juan's only start came Sept. 28 at Arizona; he went 0-for-3 with a walk...he picked up his second pinch-base hit, Oct. 1 vs. San Francisco...overall he went 2-for-4 in the pinch and played shortstop, left and center fields.

1998: Sosa had an all-star year in his first season with the Rockies organization.

- He led the Carolina League and the Colorado organization in triples (12) and steals (64).....he stole at least two bases in 12 games, and three in two games...he stole five bases in his final four contests.
- He also topped his team and finished third in the loop in both runs scored (88) and hits (147).
- Juan led league shortstops in games (122), total chances (555), and putouts (196).

1997: Juan played his fifth and final season in the Los Angeles organization.

 He played the entire season at Vero Beach (A) in the Florida State League, splitting time at both middle infield spots. 1996: Sosa played 112 games at Savannah (A) of the South Atlantic League, and saw time at second, third, shortstop and the outfield.

1995: Juan started the year at Vero Beach but was moved to Yakima (A) of the Northwest League early in the season.

1994: During his second season with the Dodgers' Santo Domingo club in the Dominican League, he hit a career high .290.

1993: As a 17-year-old infielder, he debuted at Santo Domingo in the Dominican League.

Personal: Juan Luis Encarnacion Sosa...Dodgers scout Ralph Avila signed Sosa as a non-drafted free agent July 24, 1992 ...he is single and makes his winter home where he was raised, San Francisco de Macoris, in the Dominican Republic...he graduated from Renacimiento High School in his hometown...despite some reports, Juan is not related to Sammy Sosa.

JOHN THOMSON

Selected in the seventh round of the 1993 June draft...John Thomson enters his ninth pro season...the tall right-hander looks to rebound after missing most of the 2000 campaign recovering from labrum surgery...he's still building strength in the shoulder, and hopes to come off the disabled list as early as May...after pitching much of 1997 and 1998 in the major league rotation, his career hit a wall in 1999...he battled injuries most of that season, from his shoulder to his finger, and closed the year with successful separate surgeries to repair the torn labrum in his shoulder and treat the recurrent blister on his pitching finger...before the '99 season, Thomson's first two years in the majors were strong..."Red" compiled a 4.76 ERA and threw four complete games from 1997-98; at the time, only two other pitchers (Roger Bailey and Armando Reynoso, five each) had thrown more in a Rockies uniform...his best career performance came Aug. 6, 1997 at Shea Stadium, a four-hit shutout; he allowed only two Mets as far as second base...although he'll start the season on rehab, Thomson could give the Rockies' rotation a significant boost at some point this year.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: John opened the season in major league camp, working with new pitching coach Marcel Lachemann...the Rockies kept him on the 60-day disabled list the entire season.

- He began a light throwing program just before camp, and continued the routine into extended spring training
- contests against White Sox and D'backs players.
- In June, he began his first official rehab stop, with the Rockies' rookie-league club in Tucson, where he made three starts.
- He closed with another rehab start with Portland, in the Northwest League, then returned to Denver.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Thomson endured the toughest season of any Rockies pitcher in 1999.

- ◆ The No. 5 starter, he made his '99 debut at Los Angeles, April 9 and sustained the loss...postponements wiped out his next two starts, April 14 vs. San Diego (snow) and April 21 vs. Montreal (Columbine High School tragedy), two of Colorado's five postponements in April...Colorado then skipped John twice in the rotation.
- The Rockies gave him his first career relief appearance, April 23 at San Francisco (2.0 scoreless IP, 1 H, 1 BB, 1 SO).
- After 18 days between starts, John returned to the rotation April 27 at St. Louis...he left after 2.0 innings, tying the shortest start of his career.
- He went 0-3 over his next three starts, and including his last four decisions of 1998, tied a club record with his eighth consecutive losing decision...after his start May 12 vs. New York (2.2 innings), Colorado optioned him to Colorado Springs (AAA).
- Upon his Triple-A arrival, a recurring blister on his right middle finger flared up, putting him on the minor - league DL...he made five starts for the Sky Sox, before rejoining the Rockies Aug. 14.

- In his first start after his recall, Aug.15 (Game 1) vs. Montreal (7.0 IP, 6 H, 2 R, 2 ER, 0 BB, 2 SO), he didn't allow a runner past first until the sixth inning, and earned his first and only win of the year.
- On Sept. 7 at Olympic Stadium, he went 7.0 innings on four hits in a losing cause.
- Against Kevin Brown and the Dodgers at Coors Sept. 19 (7.0 IP, 8 H, 5 R, 5 ER, 1 BB, 2 SO), he took another loss; Thomson received a complete game in the rain-shortened contest, moving into a secondplace tie (five CG) on the franchise's all-time list.
- Thomson pitched better at Coors Field (1-4, 7.01 ERA) than on the road (0-6, 9.32 ERA).
- His teammates averaged only 3.4 runs per start, and in four of his 13 starts, the Rockies gave him two runs or less.
- On Oct. 12 in Birmingham, Ala., Dr. James Andrews successfully repaired a torn labrum in Thomson's right shoulder; the next day, Andrews operated on John's blister-prone right finger.

1998: In John's first full season, he finished with a career-high eight wins, despite missing a month with a blister on his right middle finger.

- The only starter with an ERA under 5.00, Thomson held opponents to a staff-low ,282 average.
- On the road he was 5-6 with a 3.45 ERA.
- Most of his problems arose in four outings (0-4, 16.1 IP, 32 ER)...in his other 22 starts, he was 8-7 with a 3.36 ERA (144.2 IP, 54 ER).
- The No. 2 starter, he won his April 1 debut at Arizona, (8.0 IP, 3 H, 2 BB, 4 SO), combining on a shutout.
- On June 4 vs. Arizona he tossed his season's first complete game, fanning a career-high 11 and allowing one walk on four hits.
- He went 8.2 IP at San Fran., June 15, a no-decision.
- A severe blister on his right middle finger kept him from his June 20 start vs. LA and the club placed him on the DL (retroactive to June 16)...he did not return until July 26, spending 40 days on the DL and missing 34 games.
- John won three straight games over four starts, Aug. 6-23...on Aug. 6 at Pittsburgh, he earned his second CG of the year, allowing just four hits and one run.

1997: Thomson opened the year at Colorado Springs (AAA) but by the end of the season he was a key component in the Rockies starting rotation.

- In his final Triple-A outing he struck out 14 in 7.0 innings at Tucson May 5.
- Called up May 9 by the Rockies, he made his major league debut May 11 at Philadelphia and was charged with the 3-1 loss, despite seven Ks in 7.0 innings.
- He then allowed three earned runs in his next two starts (11.2 innings), but still came away with two more losses, dropping to 0-3.
- After he lost his fourth consecutive start, May 27 to St.

Louis, he notched his first big-league win, at Florida June 1; he tossed a seven-hit complete game with two walks and six strikeouts, and helped his cause by going 4-for-4 (a single-game record hit total for a Rockies pitcher) with three RBI.

- Thomson fanned eight vs. Chicago July 27, pitching 8.0 shutout innings to earn the victory.
- He threw his first career complete-game shutout, Aug. 6 at New York, a four-hitter in which he allowed only two Mets as far as second base.
- In seven of his nine losses the Rockies scored three or less...he pitched 7.0 IP or more in 11 of 27 starts.

1996: He opened at Double-A New Haven...John earned a spot in the All-Star Game and a promotion with his May performance: 5-1 with a 2.08 ERA...in his Triple-A debut July 12, he went 8.0 shutout innings, fanning seven in a win...during his four victories he compiled a 0.93 ERA.

1995: Thomson got his first Double-A experience...John recorded a season-best nine strikeouts in Game 1 of the Eastern League championship series.

1994: John started the year in Asheville (A) but finished with Central Valley (A-advanced).

1993: Thomson signed with the Rockies and reported to Chandler in the Arizona Rockie League.

Personal: John Carl Thomson...he and his wife, Kelly were married in November...a 1991 graduate of Sulphur (La.) High School, he attended McNeese State for a year, then went to Blinn Junior College in Brenham, Texas, where he pitched when the Rockies chose him in the '93 draft...John has regularly participated in the club's winter caravan, making stops throughout the region...signed by Dar Cox of the Rockies.

Infielder

B/T: R/R

Age: 20 (turns 21 on July 22)

Born: 7/22/80 in Bani, Domincan Republic Residence: Palienque, Dominican Republic

Major League Service: none

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

JUAN URIBE

Signed as a non-drafted free agent, Jan. 15, 1997...the youngest player in camp, Juan Uribe makes his first appearance on a major league roster...Uribe (ooh-REE-bay) was rated by Baseball America this offseason the No. 2 prospect in the entire organization, behind Tsao Chin-Hui...he's a major reason why many scouts consider Colorado's organizational middle infielders some of the best in pro baseball...Juan didn't hit a home run in either of his first two pro seasons (1997-98), but in the last two years at Single-A clubs Asheville and Salem, he's hit 22 homers and driven in 111 runs...those power categories aren't the only numbers Uribe's improved over his four pro seasons...exclusively a shortstop, he's improved his fielding percentage each season as well...a career .947 fielder, last season he compiled a career-best .961 mark (26 errors, 667 chances)...in 1998, his first season playing on American soil, he helped the organization's rookie-level club to an Arizona League championship...Rockies scouts signed Juan in the Dominican Republic, at a tryout.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Uribe played the full season at Salem in the advanced Single-A Carolina League.

- He hit .256 in 134 games and posted career highs in hits (124), homers (13), RBI (65), runs (64), triples (7), steals (22) and strikeouts (100)...he tied for the team lead in games and finished second in HR...Colorado Springs' Phil Hiatt (136) was the only organizational player to see more games than Uribe.
- Juan batted .274 in 135 at-bats with runners in scoring position...with the bases loaded, he went 4-for-8 with 13 RBI.
- On May 27 in an 11-4 win over Lynchburg, he went 4-for-4 with a double and three RBI.

- Over a 16-game stretch from June 6-24, he went 30for-67 (.448) with two homers and 17 RBI.
- During one 16-game stretch, he racked up 11 multihit games.
- He began July with an 0-for-18 slide.
- On Aug. 1 vs. Frederick, he homered twice in a 3-1 win (his sixth and seventh on the season).
- He bullied Frederick again, Aug. 24; Uribe was 3-for-6 with a ninth-inning grand slam and a career-high five RBI in a 13-3 win.
- Juan was third in the league both in triples (7) and games played (134).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Juan played his first full-season...

- On May 4, after driving in four runs over his first 19 games, he hit a grand slamvs. Columbus.
- He built a 15-game hitting streak, June 24-July 14 (.415, 22-for-53, eight RBI).
- On July 16 vs. Hickory, he went 2-for-2 in a seven-run eighth inning, driving in a run to finish the frame, en route to a 12-2 win.
- In the leadoff slot, he went 38-for-97 (.392)...he was also 4-for-10 (.400) with the bases loaded.

1998: In his first season in the United States, Juan earned a ring for the Arizona Rookie League champions...he played exclusively at shortstop, and made 14 errors in 40 games (.927).

1997: The 16-year-old made his pro debut in his native Domincan Republic.

Personal: Juan C. Tena Uribe...single...signed by Rodolfo Rosario and Jorge de Posada.

RON VILLONE

Acquired from the Cincinnati Reds for two players to be named, Nov. 8, 2000 (Cincinnati obtained LHP Justin Carter and RHP Jeff Taglienti to complete deal, Dec. 20, 2000)...Ron Villone embarks on his ninth professional campaign, his first with the Rockies...the left-hander should have an opportunity to earn the fifth starter spot in the rotation...the team has five scheduled off days in April, meaning Ron could work in long relief if Colorado chooses to use a four-man rotation over the first month...Colorado marks Villone's sixth organization...he's been traded four times and, as a result, has not spent more than two-and-a-half years in any organization...those four trades are testament to the value of his attributes: a versatile lefthander who can start, pitch in middle/long relief and fill a setup role...he's previously pitched for Cincinnati, Cleveland, Milwaukee, San Diego and Seattle, who drafted him in the first round (14th overall) of the 1992 June draft...all of his 55 career starts have come in the last two seasons with the Reds...he has an excellent pickoff move, which has caught 10 runners in the last two years...Rockies fans might remember him as the pitcher who went 3.0 innings to earn a save in Cincinnati's 24-12 win at Coors Field, May 19, 1999...Randy Johnson made three straight starts in 1999 against Jose Jimenez (with StL), Villone, and Jimenez; Jimenez and Villone combined to win all three, allowing Arizona three hits and no runs...in Ron's 2000 finale, Sept. 29 at St. Louis, his 16 strikeouts were the most by an NL pitcher since Johnson fanned 17 in that loss to Villone's Reds, June 30, 1999.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Villone pitched his eighth pro season, his sixth in the majors and second with the Reds.

- He set career highs in starts (23), wins (10) and complete games (2)...he needed just 2.0 more innings to establish his career best in that category.
- Ten of his 23 starts were quality (6.0-plus IP, three-orless ER)...the Reds were 9-1 in those 10 games...the left-hander went at least 7.0 innings five times and fired two complete games...he allowed two or fewer earned runs in nine starts, and walked two or fewer in six assignments.
- The Reds were 16-19 when he pitched...in his 23 starts, Cincinnati was 13-10.
- As a starter, he was 10-9 with two complete games, a 5.54 ERA (126.2 IP, 78 ER), 73 BB and 66 SO.
- In 12 relief games, Ron was 0-1 with a 4.40 ERA (14.1 IP, 7 ER), 5 BB and 11 SO.
- Cincinnati scored 128 runs in his 23 starts (5.56 per)...while he was the pitcher of record, the Reds gave him 5.11 runs per nine innings pitched, among the lowest marks in the league.
- His 78 walks led the Cincy staff, while his nine hit batsmen tied for the team lead.
- Villone picked off four runners, leading the Reds for the second straight season.
- At Cinergy Field, in 19 games/13 starts, he was 5-7

- with a 7.16 ERA (71.2 IP, 57 ER).
- On the road, in 16 games/10 starts, he went 5-3 with a 3.63 ERA (63.1 IP, 28 ER).

HIS 2000 EXCLAMATION POINT: On Sept. 29 in Villone's finale, an 8-1 win at St. Louis, he...

- ◆ Threw his second career complete game (8/28/00 at Atlanta, one month earlier).
- Registered a career-high 16 strikeouts...that figure established a Reds franchise record for a lefthander, and tied the club record for strikeouts in a nine-inning game (Jim Maloney, 5/21/63 at StL and Noodles Hahn, 4/22/01 vs. Chi-NL).
- By himself, produced more hits (three) than he allowed the Cardinals (two)...his three hits were a career high.
- Halted his season's second three-decision losing streak, which tied a career high (Sept. 2-14 and June 1-17, 2000).

BEFORE/AFTER THE BREAK: Villone broke camp as the Reds' No. 4 starter.

- At the all-star break, he was 7-6 with a 5.98 ERA in 17 games, all starts.
- On June 24 vs. the Padres, he made a start with two extra days rest (cut on left index finger)...Villone earned an 11-5 win.
- After the break, his first appearance was in relief...12 of his 18 appearances after the ASB were from the bullpen...in six starts after the break, he was 3-2 with a 4.58 ERA and two complete games.

Two of his second-half starts were in place of injured pitchers...he filled in for Larry Luebbers July 22 vs. Arizona and earned a 7-3 win...he replaced Scott Williamson Aug. 28 at Atlanta, Ron's first professional complete game, a five-hitter to beat Greg Maddux.

THE STOPPER STARTER: Villone made 15 starts after Reds losses and went 8-5 in those games.

- He earned the team's first 2000 win, April 6 vs.
 Milwaukee, snapping a two-game team losing streak.
- On the season, Villone wins halted three of his club's two-game losing streaks.

IN MAY: Villone went 4-0 with a 2.51 ERA (32.1 IP, 9 ER) in five May starts.

- From May 5-20, he built his career's longest winning streak, reeling off four straight wins...he compiled a 2.42 ERA (26.0 IP, 7 ER).
- He lowered his season ERA during the month from 5.26 to 3.72..
- On May 5 vs. the Cardinals, his only two runs came on back-to-back fourth-inning homers from Jim Edmonds and Mark McGwire...McGwire's 473-foot the 10th-lowest mark in the majors.

1999: A first-time major league starter...

His 2.99 road ERA ranked sixth in the majors.

He allowed opponent right-handers to bat just .212,

Ron started three of Cincinnati's four one-hitters.

homer into the upper deck is the longest on record at Riverfront Stadium/Cinergy Field...Villone did not allow another hit and won, 3-2.

IN RELIEF: In Villone's 12 relief appearances, he...

- Retired the first batter nine times (.750).
- Stranded six of nine inherited runners (.667).
- Did not have a save opportunity.

MISCELLANEOUS: Ron won his season's first two starts, including a 10-3 victory, April 11 at Coors Field (7.0 IP, 4 H, 2 R, 2 ER, 4 BB, 4 SO).

- On June 1 vs. Montreal, he allowed 11 hits and eight runs, both career highs, in a 9-7 loss.
- On June 17 vs San Diego, he made his 200th career appearance; he started and sustained a 3-1 loss
- His season's shortest start was his first-half finale, July 4 at St. Louis...he departed with two outs in the first inning and the Cards plated five unearned runs after a Sean Casey error (his shortest career start was 0.1 IP, 6/19/99 vs Milwaukee).

WITH THE BAT: Villone at the plate went 7-for-43 (.163) with four RBI.

 On May 10 vs. San Diego, he posted his season's only extra-base hit, a second-inning RBI double.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

one-out single in the seventh...on June 30 vs Arizona, he went 8.0 scoreless IP on one hit (Tony Womack's two-out single in the sixth), combining on a 2-0 shutout over Randy Johnson, who fanned 17...on July 5, he beat the Astros, 5-2, allowing only Matt Mieske's seventh-inning, two-out, two-run HR, Villone's first

HR on season, snapping his scoreless streak.

On July 21 vs St. Louis, he tossed 8.0 scoreless innings in a 1-0 win, allowing one hit, J.D. Drew's double leading off the game...after Drew, Villone hit No. 2 batter Joe McEwing, then sat down 13 straight batters, and 23 of his last 26...Ron left after walking Drew in the ninth, but Scott Williamson struck out Ray Lankford, Mark McGwire and Fernando Tatis.

 signed a minor league deal with Cincinnati April 5.
 Ron opened at Triple-A Indianapolis and earned a May 14 promotion after going 2-0 with a 1.42 ERA.

- His first five major league games were in relief (1-0, one save, 13.1 scoreless IP).
- He converted both save opportunities, including the last 3.0 IP in a 24-12 win at Coors May 19...that save, his first since '96, came the day after he made his Reds debut, May 18 at Coors (3 BF, 3 SO)...his other save came in his last appearance, Oct. 4 at Milwaukee (also 3.0 IP), forcing a one-game playoff vs. the Mets.
- On May 31 at Shea, he hurled 4.0 hitless innings (1 BB, 4 SO) for his first win since 9/2/97 at Houston.
- On June 8 at Minnesota, he made his first major league start, a 5-2 loss...before the start, his first 162 major league games and his last 284 pro appearances were from the bullpen.
- Over three starts, June 24-July 5, he went 3-0 with a 0.82 ERA...the streak included his career's longest scoreless stretch, 21.2 IP...on June 24 at Houston, his fourth career start, he combined on a 3-0 shutout (7.0 IP), and did not allow a hit until Tony Eusebio's

1998: Ron spent April at Buffalo (AAA) and the Indians recalled him May 2...he'd compiled a 1.88 ERA in 15 games when Cleveland optioned him to Buffalo June 27...recalled July 23, when Jose Mesa and Al Morman were traded to SF, he went on the DL Aug. 15 with a strained right oblique...activated Sept. 1, he pitched three games the final month...the Indians did not include him on their postseason roster.

1997: On Sept. 2 at the Astrodome, he earned his first win in a Brewers uniform.

1996: Ron made San Diego's Opening Day roster...traded to Milwaukee July 31, he made his AL debut Aug. 3 at Oakland.

1995: With Seattle, he made his major league debut, April 28 vs. Detroit, a perfect 1.0 inning with one strikeout...the team optioned him to Tacoma (AAA) twice before the July 31 Andy Benes trade...Ron reported directly to the Padres and in his debut, Aug. 2 vs. the Giants, he hurled 2.0 scoreless innings for his first major league win...on Aug. 26 at Shea Stadium, he fanned both batters for his first save.

1994: The left-hander began in Jacksonville's

Double-A rotation, but a sprained left ankle forced him onto the DL April 19...he led Southern League relievers in SO/9 IP (11.80).

1993: Ron began his pro career in the Single-A California League, and earned a July 7 promotion to Double-A Jacksonville...the next day, July 8 vs Orlando, he took a no-hitter into the seventh, winning his Double-A debut.

Personal: Ronald Thomas Villone, Jr....he and his wife, Katherine, have a daughter, Megan (5), and a son, Ronald Thomas III (3) ... a baseball and football letterman at the University of Massachusetts, he earned the Atlantic 10 LHP of the Year in 1991, and third-team All-America in 1992...as a sophomore, he won two games and saved another in a tripleheader sweep...in '92, he fanned 13.5 per nine IP, the best ratio in Division I...on the gridiron, the tight end earned first team all-conference...in 1992, he pitched for Team USA, which finished fourth at the Barcelona Olympics...after the Mariners grabbed him in the first round of the '92 draft, he pitched briefly in the Cap Cod League, recording 18 K in his debut...signed by Joe Nigro.

Cincinnati Connections

Entering 2001, the Rockies organization has 17 individuals with ties to the city of Cincinnati. Below are the 23 individuals who joined this group since Sept. 20, 1999, when Colorado hired Dan O'Dowd. The Rockies general manager has since made four trades with the Reds, while many teams during that span have not made four trades. Clint Hurdle, with the Reds in 1982, is the only current member of the Rockies who had Cincinnati connections before Sept. 20, 1999.

LARRY WALKER

Signed as a free agent, April 8, 1995... Walker embarks on his 17th professional season, his 13th in the major leagues and seventh with the Rockies...only Ron Gant on the Colorado roster has more major league service, but no one has more time with the organization...he's one of only 20 players in NL camps this spring who've remained with the same major league team since Opening Day 1995...from 1997-99, Walker hit better than anyone in 69 years (the first to top .360 in three straight years since Al Simmons in the early '30s)...in 1999, he won the percentage triple crown, leading his league in average, slugging percentage and on-base percentage, becoming only the 18th player ever to do so...a four-time all-star. Larry from the 1998 All-Star Game at Coors Field to the 1999 contest at Fenway Park, batted .390 (189-for-484). over the equivalent of a full season...the right fielder, who has five Rawlings Gold Gloves, has 114 career outfield assists...the 1997 NL MVP, Larry during odd-numbered years in his major league career has batted .319 (804-for-2523) with 160 homers and 500 RBI...during even-numbered seasons, he's batted .304 (724-for-2382) with 111 HR and 406 RBI...since joining Colorado, he's batted a franchise-record .339 (862-for-2540) with 172 homers and 522 RBI...since 1996, no other player has hit better overall (.348, 711for-2046), vs. RHP (.357, 527-for1469), in day games (.386, 304-for-784), on grass (362, 621-for-1714), in June (.375, 119-for-317), batting third in the order (.359, 578-for-1611), with none on and no out (.356, 153-for-430) or before the all-star break (.350, 431-for-1230)....this season, Walker looks for his 5,000th at-bat, 1,000th career run, 300th homer, 200th stolen base and 1,500th game.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: In his 12th major league season...

- He batted .309 with nine homers and 51 RBI.
- Walker totaled 27 multi-hit games, and reached his season and career high, four hits, in three contests: April 19 at Arizona, July 27 vs. Los Angeles and Aug. 12 at Montreal...he's now reached his career high of four hits 25 times.
- He notched 13 multi-RBI games and the Rockies were 9-4 in those contests...he reached his season high, four RBI, with one swing Aug. 11 at Montreal, hitting his fourth career grand slam.
- From his outfield position, he played both right and left, and compiled a .994 fielding percentage, with one error in 173 total chances.
- ♦ With runners in scoring pos., Larry hit .391 (27-for-69).
- At home, he hit .359 (56-for-156).
- On the road, he batted .259 (41-for-158).
- ♦ He posted career hit No. 1,500, July 17 (1) vs. Oak.
- On July 14 vs. Cin., he homered to drive in his 500th run in a Colorado uniform.
- On June 9, he made his first career start in left field (his first appearance there since 1989); he played left exclusively until July 24.

OUTFIELD ARTILLERY: Larry led the club with 10 outfield assists...

- He recorded five assists on one road trip, Aug. 10-17.
- In two games, both on that trip, he tied a club record with two assists (Aug. 11 at Montreal and Aug. 15, Game 1, at New York)...a Rockies outfielder has thrown out two players in a game 10 times now, four by Walker.
- Eight of the assists came from his right field position, two came from left.
- On April 16 vs. St. Louis, he got his first assist, firing to second to force a runner in an OF fielder's choice.
- On April 19 at Arizona, he came inches short of catching Jay Bell at first base in a play that would've been a groundout to right field (9-3 putout).

FURTHER INTO CANADIAN HISTORY: Larry solidified himself in 2000 as the greatest major league player ever born in Canada...

- On April 19 at Arizona, he recorded his 1,448th hit to become the all-time Canadian-born hits leader...Jeff Heath (1936-49) held the previous record.
- On July 17 (1) vs. Oakland, Walker drove in his 888th career RBI, surpassing Heath for the all-time Canadian lead...that day, Larry notched his career's 1,500th hit in the third inning, then surpassed Heath's career RBI with a mammoth shot into Coors Field's upper deck, a two-run homer.

 So, Walker enters 2001 as Canada's all-time leader in hits, home runs, RBI, doubles and runs scored.

STRONG STREAK: Larry built his season's longest hitting streak, eight games, from April 21-May 1...

- Over the streak, he batted .471 (16-for-34) with three homers and nine RBI.
- Included in the streak was a classic at-bat April 28 vs. New York...in the third inning off LHP Mike Hampton, Walker drew 11 pitches, including seven consecutive fouls, before driving a triple to center...the hit also drove in the eventual game winning run.

SPEAKING OF TRIPLES: That triple off Hampton marked his first of a career-best seven triples...

- Four of those seven triples came in June.
- He'd surpassed his previous career-best, five in 1995, by late June...his sixth triple came June 26 vs. San Francisco on a night when he was 3-for-3 with three walks...in that game he reached safely in all six plate appearances, tying a club record.

ANOTHER MONUMENTAL MONTREAL SERIES: Walker turned in one of his best career series Aug. 11-14 at Montreal, against his former organization...

- He went 7-for-12 (.583) in the four-game set, with three doubles, one homer and five RBI.
- From the first inning Aug. 11, when Dustin Hermanson walked him, to the ninth inning Aug. 12, when he singled in a run off Steve Kline, Walker reached safely in 10 consecutive plate appearances (six hits, three walks, hit by pitch).

1999: On March 4, he and Colorado reached agreement on a six-year extension.

◆ Walker's club-record .379 average was the fifth highest since Ted Williams hit .406 in 1941...his .04349 margin of victory was the 11th highest in history...he led the majors in slugging (.710) and on-base percentage (.458), becoming the first player to win the percentage triple crown since George Brett in 1980 (the last NL player to lead the league in the three categories was Stan Musial in 1948; the last NL player to lead the majors in all three was Musial in 1943)...finally, his .461 average at home is believed to be a major league record; Elias Sports Bureau has tracked home/road splits since 1974 and Walker's 1999 home mark was INJURIES/TRANSACTIONS: Walker made two trips to the DL in 2000...

- ♦ On May 13 the Rockies received results of tests that diagnosed Walker with stress-reaction irritation in his right elbow...the team placed him on the 15-day DL...on May 26, he was actually hit by a stray batting-practice ball off the bat of Masato Yoshii (the Rockies went on to lose that night, 2-1, with their only run coming on Yoshii's first career homer)...after Colorado activated him, Walker hit safely in seven of his first eight games and 14 of 17 in June.
- Then, on Aug. 21 (retroactive to Aug. 20), the Rockies placed him back on the 15-day DL with right elbow inflammation...the team moved him to the 60-day DL Sept. 5...he underwent surgery to remove a bone spur in the elbow Sept. 8.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

43 points better than any other player's in that span.

- On March 30, he strained a muscle on the right side of his rib cage; the club placed him on the 15-day disabled list April 6 (retroactive to March 29) and he missed his first Opening Day since 1989...he returned to the roster April 14 and started that night, but snow cut the game short...the next day, in his first official AB, he doubled for his 600th hit in a Rockies uniform.
- He hit safely in his first five games, went hitless in his sixth, then kicked off a memorable 21-game hitting streak, the longest of his career...during the streak (April 25-May 21) Walker batted .506, only the eighth time in history a player has batted at least .500 over a streak of 20 or more games.
- On April 28 at St. Louis, Walker went 4-for-5, tied a career high with three homers and established a personal best with eight RBI, tying a franchise record.
- On April 29 at Busch, Walker threw out Placido Polanco at the plate, his first of 13 outfield assists and first of seven in outs at home.
- The next night at Pittsburgh, Walker homered twice and drove in four...in fact, he strung together four consecutive multi-RBI efforts, establishing club records for most RBI in four straight (17) and three straight (15), and ran away with the NL's Player of the Week.

- On May 17 vs. Cincinnati, he hit his first career insidethe-park homer, the third in Coors Field history.
- On May 21 vs. Arizona, he blasted a game-ending homer in the 11th; the homer bumped his average to its season's high, .435.
- The next day, May 22, the streak ended vs. Arizona's Omar Daal (Walker was the only starting position player on either team without a hit)...he hit .506 (41for-81) with 10 HR and 33 RBI over the 21 games.
- Three weeks later, Larry embarked on an 18-game streak (.471, 33-for-70, 11 HR, 27 RBI) becoming only the fourth player in the 1990s with multiple streaks of at least 18 in the same season...it ended with a July 4 Coors Field shutout, vs. San Diego's Andy Ashby.
- From June 18-23, Walker homered in five consecutive games, tying Dante Bichette's 1995 club record.
- On July 8 vs. Los Angeles, he got his 250th career homer (Chan Ho Park).
- He went to the All-Star Game in Boston with a major league best .382 average; at that point since the 1998 break, he'd batted .390 (189-for-484) over the equivalent of a full season.
- On July 17 at Cincinnati, with the Rockies down to their last out and Walker down to his last strike, he smacked a game-tying pinch HR off Scott Williamson (Larry's fourth career pinch HR), but Jeffrey Hammonds won the game with a leadoff HR in the bottom of the frame.
- On July 18 at Oakland, Walker's first-inning single gave him 2,500 career total bases.
- On July 27, his right arm recorded its 100th career

- outfield assist; four innings later, he got No. 101.
- On Aug. 18 vs. Atlanta, Larry homered in the first inning off Kevin Millwood to give Colorado the lead (Millwood's only run and one of two hits in 8.0 innings); then, in the ninth with the score 1-1, Walker hit a three-run homer off John Rocker to end the day (Larry's 1,400th career hit).
- In the final month, he made the decision to undergo season-ending arthroscopic knee surgery, and he made his final appearance Sept. 21...Larry left his team's road trip Sept. 29 and Dr. Wayne Gersoff repaired frayed cartilage in his left knee, Sept. 30.

1998: Larry's .363 average won the NL batting title by 10 points...he became the first 20th century Canadian-born player to win a batting title (St. Louis' Tip O'Neill, American Association, 1887)...he batted .402 after the break and .528 in September...Walker built a 20-game hitting streak, May 4-25 (.342, 27-for-79)...he hit safely in 49 of his first 56 games...on May 6 at Philadelphia, he hit a pinch grand slam off Jerry Spradlin...after his 20game hitting streak ended May 27, he hit safely in his next eight games...his second grand slam of the month (third career) came May 29 vs. Houston (Doug Henry)...on June 18, he made his only trip to the DL, and returned for the final series before the all-star break...fans elected him to his second consecutive NL all-star lineup and his third overall appearance; he started in center field at his home park...after Aug. 18, he batted .440 (78-for-177)...after returning to the lineup, he had seven hits in his first 13 at-bats...on Sept. 20 at San Diego, his 11th-inning double led to the game's only run in a 1-0 win...he hit .350 or better vs. eight NL clubs...Walker was the first hitter other than Tony Gwynn to win an NL batting title since the Rockies' Andres Galarraga in 1993.

1997: In November the BBWAA awarded Larry the NL Most Valuable Player...the first native Canadian to win the most coveted individual honor, Walk received 22 of 28 first-place votes and finished with 359 points to outdistance Mike Piazza (263)...he came within four hits and 10 RBI of winning the first Triple Crown in 60 years...Larry topped the league with 49 homers, ranked second with a .366 batting average, and third with 130 RBI...he also led the league with 29 road homers and his .346 road average ranked third among NL hitters...Walker paced the circuit with a .720 slugging percentage, the fifth highest in NL history; he became only the 14th player to top 400 total bases in a single season (409), the most in the majors since Stan Musial had 429 in 1948...only nine players in the history of the game had amassed more total bases in a single season—Joe Dimaggio, Jimmie Foxx, Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth in the AL, and Musial, Babe Herman, Rogers Hornsby, Chuck Klein and Hack Wilson in the NL...he was the first player to touch 400 total bases in the NL since the Milwaukee Braves' Hank Aaron in 1959...he topped the league with a .452 on-base percentage...with 33 steals in 41 attempts he became only the fifth major league player (Hank Aaron, Jose Canseco, Barry Bonds, Ellis Burks) with at least 40 homers and 30 steals in one season...only Walker, Burks and Aaron had collected 40 homers, 30 steals and 200 hits in one season...Larry also won his third Rawlings Gold Glove...on the season he kept his average over .400 through July 1 and did not permanently dip below the magic mark until July 19...the NL's April Player of the Month, Walker tied an NL mark with 11 homers in Apri...Larry blasted a 493-foot homer into the third deck Aug. 31, the longest ever hit by a Colorado player in Coors Field...he hit .400 or better vs. six clubs...he underwent surgery on his right elbow Jan.13, 1999 to treat a bone spur.

1996: Larry opened in center field and homered in his first '96 at-bat (Sid Fernandez)...on May 21 vs. Pittsburgh, Walker set a club record and career high with 13 total bases; he also established a personal best with six RBI...the next afternoon, he tied a club record with two triples, and with a double, he set the NL record for consecutive extra-base hits with six... Walker on June 8 vs. Atlanta was 4-for-4 with four runs scored, including a pair of solo homers...the next afternoon, on June 9, he slammed into the Coors Field fence in pursuit of a Jeff Blauser drive and broke his left clavicle...hitting .283 with 14 homers at the time, he missed the next 60 games...upon activation Aug.15, he returned to right field...Walker drove in his 500th career run on April 24 with a homer vs. Philly.

1995: Walker's 31 home runs, 14 HBP, 72 extrabase hits, .607 slugging pct. and 300 total bases were second in the NL, and he finished seventh in the MVP balloting ...in his April 26 Rockies debut, and Coors Field's inaugural game, he had three doubles, including one with two out in the ninth that sent the game into extra innings, an 11-9 win over New York...he homered in four consecutive May games ...Walker hit his 100th career homer, May 7 vs. Los Angeles off Hideo Nomo...Larry hit a gametying three-run homer off Tom Glavine in Game 2 of the Division Series vs. Atlanta.

1994: Diagnosed with a rotator cuff tear, he still stayed in the lineup at first base, taking strain off the shoulder, and tied for the NL lead in doubles (44)...on an infamous evening at Dodger Stadium April 24, Larry had a pair of "throwing" errors; Brett Butler led off the first with a double, which Walker fielded on the warning track, but when he turned to throw, the ball slipped out of his hand, bounced off his shoulder and landed at his feet; in the third inning, Larry made a running catch for what he thought was the final out but with Jose Offerman tagging on the play, Walker handed the ball to 9year-old Sebastian Napier...Dr. Larry Coughlin operated on Larry Oct. 4 at Montreal's Queen Elizabeth Hospital, repairing a slightly torn right rotator cuff and labrum.

1993: Larry turned in the first 20/20 season of his career...he hit his first grand slam, Sept. 1 at Cincinnati (off John Roper)...Walker earned his second straight Rawlings Gold Glove.

1992: In a breakout season, he earned his first Rawlings Gold Glove, and a Louisville Silver Slugger for offensive performance...he played in the All-Star Game at San Diego and garnered AP and Sporting News postseason all-star honors...he finished fifth in the NL MVP balloting.

1991. Walker enjoyed the NL's best second half, hitting .338 in 72 games with 21 doubles, 10 HR and 41 RBI after the break...he played first base for 39 games, including Dennis Martinez's July 28 perfect game at Los Angeles (16 putouts, one assist).

1990: Larry finished tied for seventh in Rookie of the Year balloting, although he wasn't classified as a rookie for a period during the season...the BBWAA reinstated that status in a vote at the All-Star Game, clarifying and modifying the rookie rule to once again classify Walker as a rookie.

1989: Montreal recalled him Aug.16 and he made his major league debut that night, starting in right field vs. San Fran...in the contest, Larry walked three times and got his first hit (Mike LaCoss).

1988: Walker missed the entire season with a right knee injury, sustained during winter ball at Hermosillo (Mexico), Jan. 16...his leg was in a cast for eight weeks and he rehabbed for seven months.

1987: At Double-A Jacksonville, he earned Southern League postseason all-star honors and won the prestigious James "Tip" O'Neill Award as the top baseball player from Canada.

1986: A 19-year old at Burlington, Walker hit 29 homers in 95 games, leading the league with 74 RBI before earning a promotion to West Palm Beach in mid July.

1985: Signed as a non-drafted free agent Nov. 14, 1984, Walker began his pro career at Utica.

TODD WALKER

Acquired from Minnesota with OF/INF Butch Huskey for INF Todd Sears and cash considerations, July 16, 2000...Todd Walker begins his eighth pro season, his sixth in the majors...during the 1990s, he was arguably the most prolific offensive second baseman at both the collegiate and minor league levels...at Louisiana State, he became the first in school history to hit .400 (as a freshman in 1992) and guided the Tigers to a College World Series title (1993)...the eighth player selected in the 1994 June draft, Todd over his first three pro seasons (1994-96) batted .314 with 59 homers, 230 RBI and a .539 slugging percentage in 318 games...in 1996, he earned Baseball America's Triple-A Player of the Year honors, leading the PCL in hits, doubles, homers, RBI and slugging...in five major league seasons, he's batted .288 with 30 homers and 174 RBI in 443 games...he hit leadoff during most of his time with the Twins (334 atbats)...from 1998-99, he led Minnesota in games played (286), hits (315), total bases (461)...his best major league season was 1998, when he paced the Twins in batting (.316)...in both 1998 & '99, he finished fifth among AL second basemen in fielding...a career .295 hitter after the all-star break, he has hit better in July (.362, 71-for-196) than any other month...the Rockies make two appearances in AL parks this year: Texas and Oakland...in those two parks, Walker's batted a combined .354 (46-for-130) with three homers and 20 RBI...during his major league career, he's dominated right-handed pitchers, batting .298 with 28 of his 30 career homers and 152 of his 174 career RBI...but after joining the Rockies last year, and working with Clint Hurdle, Todd actually hit better (.417) vs. LHP than vs. RHP (.308).

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Todd finished his fifth major league season and made his NL debut...he platooned with Jeff Frye at second base, playing mostly against right-handed starting pitchers.

- Walker batted a combined .290 (72-for-248) with Minnesota and Colorado...that average marked the second-best of his career (.316 in '98)...Walker after the trade batted .316 for the Rockies (54-for-171).
- He hit a combined nine homers for the Twins and Rockies, but seven came with Colorado...Todd drove in a combined 44 runs, 36 after the trade...over a full NL season, he was on pace to hit 16 homers and drive in 80 runs.
- ◆ Todd totaled 18 multi-hit games...for the Rockies, he had 15 multi-hit games in 46 starts...Walker's season high was four hits, Sept. 27 vs. Arizona...that four-hit game tied his career high (fourth time, last: Aug. 3, 1999 at Texas).
- He notched 10 multi-RBI games, all with Colorado...his season high, four RBI, Sept. 5 vs. Chicago...that day he fell a double shy of the cycle, going 3-for-3 with a triple, homer, sac fly and walk...the four RBI established a career high...previously, his personal best was three, eight times.
- In the field, he made 64 combined defensive starts, all at second base...he started 46 for the Rockies...Walker made a combined nine errors, five with Colorado ...he compiled a combined .968 fielding percentage (nine errors 278 total chances), but .975 after the trade...Todd committed just one error over his first 27 games with the Rockies...he also made one start for the Twins as designated hitter, April 30 vs. Oakland (1-for-4, stolen base).

 With runners in scoring position, Walker batted a combined .239 (16-for-67)...once joining Colorado, w/RISP he hit .277 (13-for-47).

- At Coors Field, he hit .350 (35-for-100).
- ◆ On the road with Colorado, he batted ,268 (19-for-71).

BACK-TO-BACK NEAR MISSES: Todd flirted with the cycle in consecutive games vs. the Cubs in early September...and the hits he needed weren't triples or homers...

- Walker on Sept. 4 vs. Chicago needed only a single to complete the cycle...he still finished 3-for-4 with a double, triple, homer and three RBI in a 6-2 win.
- The next day, Todd missed the cycle by a double...he was 3-for-3 with a triple, a homer and a career-best four RBI...he added a walk and sacrifice fly in the Rockies 10-2 victory.

VS. LEFT- AND RIGHT-HANDED HURLERS: The left-handed Walker hit well vs. left-handed pitchers...

- Combined with the two teams, he hit LHP at a .357 clip (5-for-14)...with Colorado, he batted .417 (5-for-12) with one homer off LHP.
- Walker combined vs. RHP batted .286 (67-for-234) and .308 (49-for-159) vs. RHP after the trade.

CLUTCH PRODUCTION: Todd drove in a key RBI in his first Rockies start, and established himself as a solid No. 5 hitter over the balance of the year...

 After he flew into Denver the night before, he made his his first NL start in Game 2 of a DH July 17 vs. Oakland...Todd came to bat in the ninth with the Rockies down, 9-8 and one out...he singled off

- Oakland closer Jason Isringhausen, plating the gametying run and sending the contest to extra innings...the Rockies in the next inning would snap their 11-game losing streak.
- On Aug. 5 vs. Philadelphia, with the Rockies again down by one in the ninth, he battled closer Jeff Brantley...with the bases loaded and two out, he drew a clutch walk to tie the game...one batter later, Terry Shumpert singled to give Colorado a dramatic 7-6 win.
- Three days earlier, at Wrigley Field, his second-inning homer onto Sheffield Avenue gave Colorado a lead.

IN AUGUST: Walker's best full month was August...

◆ Overall in the month, he batted ,322 (19-for-59) with

- Overall in the month, he batted .322 (19-for-59) with four homers and 15 RBI.

JOHN WASDIN

Acquired from Boston with RHPs Brian Rose and Jeff Taglienti and INF Jeff Frye for INF Mike Lansing, RHP Rolando Arrojo and cash considerations, July 27, 2000...Wasdin, who's pitched in the majors all or parts of the last six years, begins his ninth pro season...one of six pitchers on the Rockies roster with post-season experience (Astacio, Chouinard, Hampton, Neagle, Yoshii), Wasdin saw three total AL division series appearances in back-to-back years with the Red Sox (1998-99, both against the Indians)...John has sustained losses in both of his two career complete games, a 1-0 setback June 30, 1996 at California (with Oakland) and a 3-1, rain-shortened decision, Sept. 23, 2000 vs. Florida (with the Rockies)...the A's first-round selection in the '93 June draft, he's been traded twice, the 2000 deal that brought him to the Rockies and a January 1997 swap that sent Jose Canseco back to Oakland...career in 172 relief games, he's 18-13 with three saves and a 4.48 ERA...in 42 starts, he's 10-14 with a 5.78 ERA.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: John pitched mostly in relief, but did fill an emergency starter role for both the Red Sox and the Rockies...

- He appeared in 39 combined games...four of his appearances were starts.
- Combined for both Boston and Colorado, John went 1-6 with one save and a 5.38 ERA (80.1 IP, 48 ER), 24 walks and 71 strikeouts...after the trade, with the Rockies, he was 0-3 in 14 games (three starts) with a 5.80 ERA (35.2 IP, 23 ER), nine walks and 35 strikeouts.
- He fanned 71 in 80.1 innings, or 7.95 per nine IP...his 71 strikeouts were his most since he registered his career-high, 84, in 1997 with the Red Sox.
- His 80.1 innings were his fewest since he totaled 17.1 during his first major league season, 1995 with Oakland.
- The Rockies were 4-10 in games he pitched, 0-3 in his starts and 4-7 with him in the bullpen.
- ◆ Two of his three starts were quality (6.0-plus IP, three-or-less ER)...the Rockies were 0-2 in those quality outings, though...the right-hander's longest outing was 7.0 innings, Sept. 23 vs. Florida...he also fanned a career-high 11 batters that afternoon, a rain-shortened contest in which the Rockies had the tying runner at the plate when umpires called the game...in addition to Sept. 23, he also started for the Rockies Sept. 28 vs. Arizona and Game 2 of a DH at New York, Aug. 15...his lone start for Boston was June 23 at SkyDome.
- ◆ Colorado scored seven runs in his three starts (2,33

- per game), the lowest starter run support on the staff.
- In his three Rockies starts, he was 0-2 with a 4.58 ERA (17.2 IP, 9 ER), five walks and 21 strikeouts...overall as a starter, including his June 23 Red Sox start at Toronto, John was 0-3 with a 5.82 ERA (21.2 IP, 14 ER), six walks and 24 K.
- In 11 appearances out of the Rockies bullpen, he was 0-1 with a 7.00 ERA (18.0 IP, 14 ER), four walks and 14 strikeouts...overall as a reliever, including 24 Boston appearances, he was 1-3 with a 5.22 ERA (58.2, 34 ER), 18 walks and 47 strikeouts.
- As a Rockies reliever, he retired six of 11 first batters faced (.641) and stranded four of his five inherited runners (.800).
- He did not enter a Rockies game in a save situation...however, he did record one save, the third of his career, July 16 vs. Montreal (while with Boston).
- At Coors Field, he was 0-2 with a 5.31 ERA in seven games, two starts.
- On the road with Colorado, he was 0-1 with a 6.46
 ERA in seven games, one start.
- His lone relief loss with the Rockies came in his NL debut, Aug. 2 at Chicago...he preseved a 2-2 tie by extinguishing a bases-loaded situation in the seventh...then Sammy Sosa, the first batter John saw in the eighth, homered off him to break the tie and score the deciding run.
- His lone win was arguably his season's best relief appearance, July 5 at Minnesota...he pitched 4.1 scoreless innings on only one hit, with no walks and two strikeouts...the Red Sox won, 11-8.

THE RAIN WAS HIS BIGGEST ADVERSARY: Wasdin turned in an outstanding performance in his second start, Sept. 23 vs. Florida...

- He fanned a career-best 11 batters, facing just 28 hitters in 7.0 innings...the 11 strikeouts tied for the fifth-most in Rockies history...he became one of only three pitchers other than Pedro Astacio to fan at least 11 (Darryl Kile and John Thomson, see chart)...Wasdin's previous career high was nine, April 6, 1997 at Seattle.
- John walked only one batter, an intentional pass to get to the pitcher en route to ending the fourth inning.
- He gave up six hits, including a solo homer to Preston Wilson...Wilson was the only baserunner Wasdin allowed over his final 11 batters faced.
- Umpires called the game after a 38-minute delay in the bottom of the seventh...the Rockies had the tying runner at the plate with no one out...Colorado dropped the contest, 3-1.
- Wasin was given credit for a complete game, his second career and first since June 30, 1996 at California, also a loss.

STRONG CONTROL: John was one of the Rockies' best control pitchers over the season's final two months...

- With the Rockies, he walked only 2.27 batters per nine innings (9 BB, 35.2 IP)...two of those walks were intentional, so he essentially walked 1.77 batters per nine innings.
- After the trade, he fanned 8.83 men per nine innings (35.2 IP, 35 K).
- Each of those marks were among the best on the Rockies staff in 2000.

1999: John in 43 games for Boston went 8-3 with a 3.98 ERA and two saves in five opportunities...he also led the Red Sox bullpen in wins in a campaign that ended in the postseason.

- Wasdin opened the year in the Triple-A rotation at Pawtucket...he was 1-1 in five starts and had compiled a 2.12 ERA (29.2 IP, 7 ER) when the Red Sox recalled him May 4.
- The day after his recall, May 5 vs. Texas, he fanned five and matched the longest relief outing of his career, 6.2 innings.
- From May 10-June 21, he reeled off seven wins without a loss (17 appearances, all in relief)...John became the first Red Sox reliever to start 7-0 since Stan Belinda in 1995.
- On June 11 at Shea Stadium, he got his first major league save, in a 12-inning, 3-2 win over the Mets.
- On July 19 (retroactive to July 18), he went on the DL with a right forearm strain.
- Reinstated Aug. 6, he went 1-0, with a 3.46 ERA in 18 appearances (28.0 IP, 24 H, 12 ER, 5 BB, 20 K) over the balance of the season.

Gabe WHITE

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 204 B/T: L/L Born: 11/20/71 in Sebring, Fla.

Residence: Sebring, Fla.

Major League Service: Four years, 52 days

Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2001

GABE WHITE

Acquired from the Cincinnati Reds for RHP Manny Aybar, April 7, 2000...voted by the local BBWAA as the Rockies' 2000 Pitcher of the Year, Gabe marks his 12th pro season, his seventh in the majors...last season was really the first in which White dominated from start to finish...he put together great flashes during his time with the Reds, including stretches in which he retired 22 straight in June of 1999, and 17 consecutive in July of 1998...but for a pitcher that saw half his games at altitude, White was arguably the league's best reliever in 2000...the Expos took him in the supplemental round of the 1990 draft, as compensation from the Angels' for their signing of Mark Langston...and since White's 1990 pro debut, his trademark has been outstanding control...the southpaw, who made only one relief appearance in 142 minor league games, has walked just 2.26 batters per 9 IP in 334.0 major league innings, and 1.8 over the last two seasons (145.0 IP, 29 BB)...he defeated the Rockies at Montreal in his '94 big-league debut.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Voted the team's Pitcher of the Year by the local chapter of the BBWAA, White turned in arguably the best season by a Rockies reliever in club history...

- He appeared in 68 games and went 11-2 with a 2.36 ERA, including one relief outing for Cincinnati before the trade...his wins, ERA and 84 strikeouts all established career bests...with the Rockies, he was 11-2 with a 2.17 ERA.
- ♦ His 2.36 relief ERA ranked second in the NL (minimum 54.0 IP)...the Giants' Robb Nen led the league (1.50).
- ♦ White fanned 84 in 84.0 innings, or 9.0 per nine IP.
- The Rockies were 42-25 in the 67 games he pitched after the trade.
- ♦ He retired 51 of 68 first batters faced (.750) and stranded 29 of his 49 inherited runners (.592).
- In 24 total save situations, he recorded five saves and 19 relief holds, and sustained four blown saves.
- At Coors Field, he was 10-2 with a 2.80 ERA and two saves in 36 games.
- On the road, he was 1-0 with a 1.42 ERA and three saves in 31 games.
- ♦ He hit his first career home run, June 10 vs. Texas.
- A MAMMOTH SCORELESS STREAK: From May 6-July 9, White compiled a 29.1scoreless innings streak...
- The streak was the longest in Rockies history, eclipsing Curtis Leskanic's 1998 scoreless streak, 21.2 IP.
- It was the second-longest in the majors in 2000, the longest until Greg Maddux built a 39.1-inning streak from Sept. 2-28.
- ◆ The Rockies over the streak's course were 19-7.

White kicked it off May 6 at San Francisco...he turned in a scoreless inning, stranding two inherited runners and fanning two of the three men he faced.

Age: 29 (turns 30 on Nov. 20)

- ♦ He broke Leskanic's record in one of the staff's bestpitched games of the season, June 24 at Arizona...White relieved Masato Yoshii with two out in the sixth, and stranded two runners, fanning Travis Lee...Gabe surpassed Leskanic's 21.2-inning mark with his third out in the next inning...the Rockies that night shut out Arizona and Randy Johnson, 4-0...White threw 2.1 innings.
- On June 29 vs. the Giants, White received an incredible assist from teammate Stan Belinda...Gabe began the eighth inning by allowing three consecutive singles, and departed with no out and the bases loaded...Belinda then struck out the next three hitters to not only preserve the Rockies lead, but also White's scoreless streak...the streak before and after that game stood at 24.1 IP.

- In June, White made 12 scoreless appearances (13.2 IP), and the Rockies were 12-0 in games he pitched.
- Over the 29.1-inning streak, he walked four and struck out 32...he stranded 10 of 13 inherited runners and retired 18 of 26 first batters faced...he won five games and received holds in all seven save situations during the streak.
- The streak ended July 9 at Anaheim in the final game before the all-star break...he pitched 1.2 scoreless innings that day, then gave up a double to Kevin Stocker that scored Darrin Erstad from first base.

FRANCHISE'S WINNIGEST RELIEF PITCHER: Gabe's 11 relief wins marked the most ever in a single-season by a Rockies pitcher...

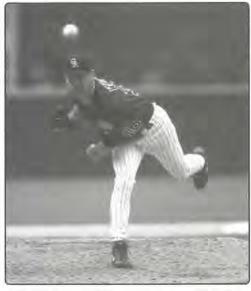

- Steve Reed held the previous record, nine, in 1993.
- Six of White's career-high 11 wins came in consecutive fashion...the month of May housed the entire winning streak, as he racked up six wins from May 1-31...in May, he posted a win in six of 12 appearances...all six wins came at Coors Field.
- His career's longest previous winning streak was five decisions, May 2-Aug. 14, 1998, with Cincinnati.
- His 11 relief wins tied for the NL lead with the Dodgers' Matt Herges.
- White didn't lose a game until his 41st appearance, July 17 vs. Oakland in Game 1 of a doubleheader.

AT 5,280 FEET: An amazing 10 of White's 11 wins came in Denver, at Coors Field.

- White established a franchise record with 10 home victories...Kevin Ritz held the previous mark, 8 in 1996...Ritz was 8-4 at Coors that year, en route to establishing a club-record 17 wins (since tied by Pedro Astacio in 1999)...White's .833 home winning percentage also established a franchise record with a minimum seven decisions...both Chuck McElroy (6-0 in 1998) and Marvin Freeman (5-0) went undefeated at home.
- From May 13-July 14 at Coors Field, White compiled a 14.0 IP scoreless streak...the streak ended July 17 in Game 1 of an Oakland DH when he sustained his season's first loss.

TWO STRIKES AND YOU'RE OUT: Gabe was one of the toughest pitchers in the majors with two strikes...

 After getting his second strike, he allowed only 23 hits in 177 at-bats, a .130 average.

HOLD YOUR HORSES: Gabe recorded 19 relief holds...

- Those holds were tied for sixth in the NL.
- White's holds also tied the franchise record, held by Chuck McElroy in 1998.

G0-T0 GUY: White's 84.0 relief innings led the Rockies bullpen and ranked fifth in the NL.

NOT YOUR AVERAGE AVERAGE. White held his opponents to a .211 average, eighth in the NL among relievers...

 In May, when White went 6-0 with a 0.00 ERA, he held opponents to just six hits in 45 at-bats (.133).

BASERUNNERS ARE USUALLY BAD LUCK: This season White allowed only 82 baserunners in 84.0 innings...

 He allowed only 8.8 baserunners per nine IP, the second-best mark in the league...only the Giants' Robb Nen (7.9, 58 baserunners in 66.0 IP) finished with a lower figure.

HOMER HIBERNATION: White did not allow a home run from April 25-Aug. 21...

- His streak of 196 consecutive batters faced without a homer was the second-longest in franchise history...Jerry Dipoto holds the record, 271, June 3-Sept. 16, 1997.
- Andruw Jones ended the streak, Aug. 21 at Coors Field.
- White ended the season having not allowed a road home run over his last 125 batters faced.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Overall, Gabe went 1-2 with a 4.43 ERA in 50 games, all in relief.

• Over his first 17 appearances, he was 0-2 with a 6.64 ERA...however, over his next 27 appearances from May 28-Sept. 3, he compiled a 2.45 ERA...his toughest outing of the year was Sept. 5 at Philadelphia, where he allowed five earned runs in 0.2 IP...then, he pitched scoreless ball over his final five games, as Cincinnati pushed for a postseason berth...had he not pitched Sept. 5, his final ERA would've been 3.73.

In June, his best month, he went 1-0, with a 1.17 ERA (15.1 IP, 2 ER,18 K)...from June 7-19, he retired 22 consecutive batters, a 7.1 scoreless IP streak, his longest of the season.

- On June 21 at Arizona, he earned his season's only win; he sustained a blown save when he allowed Matt Williams' three-run HR, but then retired seven of his last eight in a 7-4, 10-inning victory.
- Both of his two losses were in one-run setbacks, in 10 innings, including a 1-0 decision April 27 at Philly.
- On May 8 vs. Chicago, he allowed three homers in the seventh inning.
- He did not allow a run in 33 of 50 appearances (.660).
- He retired his first batter in 37 of 50 games (.740).
- ♦ He stranded 14 of 25 inherited runners (.560).

1998: Gabe embarked on the year in the Reds rotation, then shifted to relief to finish the season...in three starts (April 8-19), he went 0-2 with a 7.04 ERA; in 66 relief games, he was 5-3 with a 3.46 ERA...at one point from July 13-18, he retired 17 straight hitters...during a Sept. 18-20 sweep at Wrigley, he saved two of the the Reds' three wins...in the 6-4 victory Sept. 18, he matched his longest career relief outing (3.1 IP, 6/20/95 for Montreal, vs. Houston), retiring all 10 batters...stranded 37-52 inherited base runners...he doused three bases-loaded situations.

1997: White opened the year at Indianapolis (AAA) and made 20 appearances/19 starts before the Reds purchased his contract, Aug. 8...his first six Cincinnati appearances were starts (2-2, 4.71), while his last six were in relief (0-0, 1.93, one save)...on Aug. 9 vs. the Dodgers, he made his first major league appearance since 10/1/95 and hurled a career-high 7.0 innings to earn the 3-2 victory, his first big-league win since 6/11/95...he matched the 7.0 innings in his next start, a 10-inning, 5-4 loss at San Diego...suffered the 5-3 loss vs. the Rockies Aug. 20, he fanned a career-best eight.

1996: White separated his left shoulder in June, a season-ending injury...during consecutive starts in May, he did not allow a walk in 16.1 innings on one earned run... Baseball America tabbed Gabe (1.2 BB/9 IP) his league's best control pitcher.

1995: Recalled three times by Montreal, the lefthander registered his only major league win June 11 at San Francisco...he made his only start on Sept. 27 at Florida.

1994. Hounded by chronic back pain, he began the season on Ottawa's DL...on May 27 in a start vs. Colorado, he made his major league debut and earned the win (6 IP, 4 H, 1 ER)...after five starts, Montreal returned him to Ottawa...Montreal recalled him again July 31 and that day he fired 3.1 scoreless innings vs. Florida to earn the save in his first career relief appearance.

1993: An Eastern League all-star, he led circuit starters by allowing only 9.9 baserunners per 9 IP...he was also leading the league in ERA (2.16) when promoted to Ottawa (AAA) Aug. 7...EL opponents vs. Gabe hit .214.

1992: An all-star at Rockford (A), where he spent the full season, White paced the Midwest League in innings (187.0) and led the league and the entire Montreal organization in strikeouts (176).

1991. At Single-A Sumter in the South Atlantic League, he allowed two earned runs or less in 18 of his 24 starts.

1990: Gabe made his pro debut in rookie ball with the Expos' Gulf Coast League club.

Personal: Gabriel (Gabe) Allen White...he is single...signed by the Expos' Pat Daugherty, the Rockies' first scouting director...White and his Pomeranian dog, Bubba, reside in Sebring, Fla....a 1990 graduate of Sebring (Fla.) High School, he lettered in baseball (two-time team MVP), football and wrestling...the state High School Player of the Year in 1990, Gabe as a prep fanned 557, the second-highest total in Florida high school history.

MASATO YOSHII

Acquired from the New York Mets for LHP Bobby M. Jones and RHP Lariel Gonzalez, Jan. 14, 2000...the veteran begins his fourth major league season, his 17th as a professional...in three major league seasons. he's walked 2.88 per 9 IP...over his 16-year pro career, including 13 in Japan, he's averaged 2.91 walks per 9 IP (the 2000 major league figure was 3.80)...since entering the majors in '98, he's compiled a .529 quality-start percentage (in 87 big-league starts, he's made 46 in which he went at least 6.0 innings and allowed three earned runs or less)...he's fashioned two significant scoreless innings streaks...the first covered his first 14.0 innings in the majors (one run, none earned)...the second, a 16.1-inning scoreless stretch, helped keep the Mets in contention for the 1999 NL wild-card berth...one of the most regarded pitchers in Japan, the right-hander went 74-50 with a 3.43 ERA over 13 years in his native country...a member of four Japanese Central League titles, Yoshii's complete game clinched the '97 championship.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: In his third major league season...

- He was 6-15 with a 5.86 ERA in 29 games, all starts.
- Eleven of his 29 starts were quality (6.0-plus IP, threeor-less ER)...in those 11, the Rockies were 5-6, and Yoshii was 3-4...the right-hander went at least 7.0 innings nine times...he allowed two or fewer ER in seven starts and walked two or fewer 23 times.
- The club was 12-17 in his starts, 6-2 in his no-dec.
- Colorado scored 151 runs in his 29 starts (5.21 per).
- At Coors Field, he was 2-3 with a 5.85 ERA in 11 games, 11 starts.
- On the road, he was 4-12 with a 5.87 ERA in 18 games, 18 starts.

STRONG CONTROL: Yoshii walked 53 in 167.1 IP...from June 5-24, he went 45 batters faced in between walks...from June 5-29, he walked only one of 81 batters faced...Yoshii walked one or fewer in eight starts...in three assignments, he walked no one.

SUPPORT: The Rockies while he was the pitcher of record scored 6.13 runs per 9 IP (114 R, 167.1 IP).

- ◆ The 10th-most supported in the NL, Yoshii in six wins received 63 runs, or 10.5 runs per win...Colorado tied a franchise record with 19 runs in Yoshii's start June 18 vs. Arizona...the Rockies also plated 14 runs Aug. 12 at Montreal...he pitched 39.2 IP in his six wins, and received 14.29 runs per nine innings while the pitcher of record.
- While Yoshii was the pitcher of record in his other 23 starts (15 losses, seven no-decisions), the Rockies scored 51 runs, or 2.2 runs per loss or no-decision.
- He logged 127.2 innings in his 23 starts without a win, and received 3.60 runs per nine innings (51

- runs, 127.2 IP) while the pitcher of record.
- In eight of Yoshii's 15 losses, the Rockies scored two runs or less...over those eight losses, Yoshii compiled a 5.96 ERA (48.1 IP, 32 ER).
- However, in three of his losses. Yoshii allowed two runs or less, compiling over those three losses a 2.14 ERA (21.0 IP, 5 ER).

INJURIES: Injury forced him to miss three starts...he missed his turn June 11 with tricep soreness...he returned June 18 vs. Arizona and allowed only two runs in 7.0 innings in a 19-2 win...after his final start, Sept. 17 at Los Angeles, the Rockies and Yoshii opted for season-ending surgery...Dr. Richard Hawkins and Dr. Michael Curtin removed bone spurs on Yoshii's right elbow Sept. 28 at the Steadman-Hawkins clinic in Vail, Colo.

AGAINST ARIZONA: Yoshii's first three wins came against Arizona: April 17 at BOB (7.0 IP, 1 ER), June 18 at Coors (7.0 IP, 2 ER, 0 BB, 19-2 final) and June 24 at BOB (5.2 IP, 0 ER) against Randy Johnson, in Colorado's first 2000 shutout.

WITH THE BAT (AND THE LEGS): Yoshii had two memorable offensive games in 2000...

- On May 26 vs. Pittsburgh, Yoshii hit his first major league homer (F. Cordova), the Rockies' only run in a 2-1 loss, in which he threw 8.0 innings.
- Then, on June 24 at Arizona, Yoshii stole second base...he became the first Japanese-born player to steal a base in the major leagues.
- Yoshii drove in the game winning RBI April 12 vs. Cincinnati...he also had five RBI over a three-game stretch, April 12-22.

1999: Yoshii won his final five decisions (5-1 with a 1.74 ERA over his last 10 starts)...he built two double-digit scoreless streaks (13.0 IP, May 2-14, and 16.1 IP, Aug. 24-Sept. 5)...in five starts, May 2-25, he went 4-0 with a 1.71 ERA...he made his first major league relief appearance Aug. 3 in Milwaukee...on Aug. 18 at San Diego, Yoshii hurled his second career CG ... the Mets were 17-14 in his 31 games (16-13 in 29 starts)...in the postseason, he made three starts, one in the NLDS(Game 1) and two in the NLCS (Games 1 and 5)...his final NLCS start, Oct. 17 at Shea was one of the best postseason games ever; Yoshii pitched into the fourth, when he left with the score tied (Robin Ventura ended it with an out-of-the-park single, touching only first base)...all told, in three postseason starts. Yoshii was 0-1 with a 5.54 ERA, 13.0 ip, 15 H, 8 ER 3 BB and 7 SO.

1998: Yoshii kicked off his major league career by logging 14.0 straight innings without an earned run...in his big-league debut, April 5 vs. Pittsburgh, he fanned seven over 7.0 shutout innings...the 32-year-old rookie on May 7 vs. St. Louis doubled in two runs for his first major league hit (Donovan Osborne)...on May 21 vs. Cincinnati, he hurled his first complete game (9 SO)...on June 28 vs. the Yankees, he fanned 10, a career high, and allowed just two hits and one run through 7.0 innings, but took a no-decision...he went nearly three months without a win (14 starts, nine no-decisions), from May 25 to Aug. 19...he snapped the string with a 2-1 win over Colorado.

1997: Yoshii again helped lead Yakult to the Central League championship and the Japan Series title...In the Central League, he finished fourth in ERA (2.99) and third in wins (13)...his CG victory over Hanshin pushed Yakult to the Central League title...he also started Game 3 of the Japan Series. 1996: Yoshii finished third in the Central League in ERA, fourth in strikeouts, fifth in innings pitched, seventh in winning percentage (.588) and tied for ninth in wins.

1995: Before helping his club to the Japan Series championship, he ranked ninth in the Central League in ERA.

1994: Teammate Hideo Nomo, who would precede him in the trek to United States a year later, taught Yoshii the forkball.

1993: He pitched his first professional shutout.

1990: He became a teammate with future Met teammate Hideo Nomo. The two would play together for five seasons in Japan.

1989: He went 5-5 with 15 saves, leading Kintetsu to the Pacific League championship.

1988: Voted the best reliever in Japan, he won 10 games and saved 20...his Kintetsu club won the season's final game to capture the Pacific League championship.

Personal: Masato Yoshii...he and his wife, Sayuari, and their son, Yusuke (7), have a part-time residence in Los Angeles, but spend most of their time at their home in Tokyo...he enjoys playing the guitar (he played in a band during junior high and high school)...for his participation, availability and goodwill, the New York chapter of the BBWAA has honored him with its annual Good Guy Award from 1998-99...he graduated from Minoshima High School in Wakayama, Japan...signed by Kyosuke Sasaki, who is now the manager of the Kintetsu Buffaloes of the Japanese Pacific League.

BLAZING TRAILS

For decades, major league players have left to play in Japan. Some leave by choice, while others have their contracts sold. But until the 1990s, Japanese stars weren't coming to the U.S. very often.

Japanese players are tied to a stiff reserve clause. The Dodgers needed a minor miracle to sign Hideo Nomo, who was injured and his club carelessly released him. In 1998, the two countries formalized an agreement that states U.S. teams must bid for available Japanese talent. Some major league clubs have opted to sign the younger talent, out of Japanese high schools and colleges, rather than the established pro players.

Yoshii, who will again have his starts televised in Japan, was one of few pros to leave from the Central League, the wealthier of the two.

Did you know that Japan is competing with major league clubs for talent in the Dominican Republic? Each Japan team is allowed four imported players, and 10 Dominicans played there in 1998.

Age: 23

JOSH BARD

Selected in the third round of the 1999 June draft, he signed too late to play that summer...Bard begins his second full professional season and makes his second appearance in the Rockies major league spring camp...sent to Salem (A) last year to make his regular season pro debut, he was the everyday catcher for the Avalanche, appearing behind the plate in 92 games, before he was moved up to Colorado Springs (AAA) the last week of the season...an outstanding offensive player throughout high school (Cherry Creek in Englewood) and college (Texas Tech), the switch-hitter had a solid first season with the bat, hitting .285 with a pair of homers and 25 RBI...his average would have tied for the fifth highest in the league but he fell 30 at-bats short of qualifying...Josh threw out 26 percent (35 of 133) on the bases and guided the Salem staff to the second lowest ERA in the league at 3.82...the 100th player selected in the 1999 draft, Josh hopes to follow another former Cherry Creek High School star, John Burke, to Coors Field.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: He played the full season at Single-A Salem in the advanced Carolina League...he was moved to Colorado Springs (AAA) in late August.

- He got off to a slow start offensively with four hits in his first 25 at-bats, but rebounded near the end of the month to finish at .289 in April.
- On April 22 at Wilmington he had two hits and three RBI in the seventh inning as the Avalanche sent 14 men to the plate and scored nine runs on eight hits.
- On July 4 at Frederick he knocked in the go-ahead run in the ninth, with the first homer of his professional career...he also doubled and drove in two.
- In 11 games from June 26-July 12, he hit .514 (18for-35) with a pair of doubles, the homer, and five RBI...the hot stretch raised his average from .267 to .314, Bard's 2000 season high - Promoted to Colorado Springs (AAA) Aug. 29...started four games at Triple-A (4-for-17, .235).

OTHER CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

Bard signed Aug. 12, 1999 and his first pro experience was in the Arizona Instructional League during that fall...a star at Cherry Creek High School, he led the Bruins to back-to-back state championships (1995-96) including a 45-1 record when he started...he hit .500 over his prep career with 16 homers and 62 RBI...drafted by Minnesota, he elected to attend Texas Tech...a two-time First Team All America, he was the Red Raiders' cleanup hitter and starting catcher each of his three college years (.366, 43 HR, 232 RBI)...one of only two players in Tech history to reach the 40 homer/200 RBI milestone, Bard in 1997 was named the Big-12 Freshman of the Year (.359, 13 HR, 69 RBI in 59 games)...he played with Team USA in the 1997 Intercontinental Cup...the Big 12

Tournament's 1998 MVP, he led Tech to the conference title...in '98 he earned National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association first team All America and first team All Big 12...in '99, he matched the honors from the previous year, and hit .353 with 13 homers and 92 RBI in 58 games...he left Tech with a school-record 79 multi-hit games; he also added 59 multi-RBI games.

Personal: Joshua David Bard...the voungest of four children...Josh's brother, Mike, is an assistant baseball coach at Kansas...Bard turned down 14 other offers to attend Texas Tech...he also earned recognition on the Big 12 Commissioner's honor roll...his most memorable experience to date was playing in Cuba for the 1996 USA Baseball Junior National Team...signed by Dar Cox of the Rockies.

MIKE BELL

Signed to a minor-league contract, Nov. 6, 2000...the son of manager Buddy Bell, Mike begins his ninth pro season, his first with the Rockies...according to Elias Sports Bureau, if Mike makes the major league club, he will become the seventh player in history to play for his father (the sixth manager-son combination, including Cal Ripken Sr. and his two sons, Cal, Jr. and Billy)...after seven-plus years and 803 games in the minors, Mike made his major league debut with Cincinnati last year, and his family became the first in major league history to contribtue three generations to the same team...he actually received his first major league recall just prior to a Reds series at Colorado, July 12, but did not see action against his dad...on July 23 vs. Arizona, Mike became the fourth member of his family to record a major league hit, following his grandfather Gus, father Buddy, and brother David...another brother, Ricky, is a member of the Los Angeles organization...a third baseman by trade, Mike will strap on the catching gear in spring training, in an effort to become more valuable as a multi-position player.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: A non-roster player in Cincinnati's major league camp, Mike opened the year with Louisville (AAA)...he received his first ML callup July 12 but returned to Louisville July 31...he returned to Cincinnati in September.

- At Triple-A, his career-high 22 home runs were second on the team.
- He was hitting .279 with 16 homers and 55 RBI in 88 games when he received the call from Cincinnati during the all-star break on July 12.
- Bell made his debut at Houston July 20 and struck out as a pinch-hitter vs. Jose Lima.

- He recorded his first hit in his first major league start, July 23 vs. Arizona (Brian Anderson).
- After three games and the one start, he returned to Louisville July 31...over his final 26 games at Triple-A, he hit six homers and knocked in 23 runs.
- In his first ML game back, Sept. 2 vs. Montreal, he belted his first career homer, a pinch-hit solo shot off Steve Kline....he hit his other homer Sept. 27 at Milwaukee off former Rockies pitcher Curtis Leskanic.
- Bell cleared waivers Oct. 5 and was outrighted back to Louisville.

CAREER NIGHLIGHTS

1999: Mike appeared in a career-low 39 games for the Mets' Triple-A club at Norfolk due to torn ligaments in three fingers on his right hand....he underwent surgery on June 1...for the Tides he, played first and second base.

1998: During his first season in the Mets organization, he combined at Norfolk (AAA), Binghamton (AA) and St Lucie (A) to hit .270 with 17 HR and a career-high (since tied) 78 RBI.

1997: In his fifth and final season in the Texas organization, Bell played most of the year at Oklahoma City (AAA), but also appeared in 33 games at Tulsa (AA)...he combined at both stops to hit.248 with 13 HR and 61 RBI.

1996: At Tulsa (AA), Bell led Texas League third basemen in putouts, assists, total chances, double plays and fielding percentage...after the regular season, he played for Tempe in the Arizona Fall League and hit .280 with five HR.

1995: He played the full season at Charlotte (A) and appeared in a career-high 129 games.

1994: With Charleston, SC, Bell saw his first full-season action, batting .263 with six HR and 58 RBI. 1993: Mike made his pro debut in the Gulf Coast League and paced the circuit in games, hits and total bases.

Personal: Michael (Mike) John Bell....Mike and his wife, Kelly, last September celebrated the birth of their first child, Luke Michael, the first grandchild of Gloria and Buddy Bell...last season when Mike made his major league debut for the Reds, the Bells became the first family in major league history to contribute three generations to the same team...Mike's late grandfather, Gus, played for the

Reds from 1953-61...Buddy played for his hometown club from 1985-88...Mike's older brother, David, is a member of the Seattle Mariners and his younger brother, Ricky, plays in the Dodger farm system...all three are infielders, like their father...a 1993 graduate of Cincinnati's Moeller High School, the same school attended by his father, Barry Larkin and Ken Griffey Jr., Mike as a senior hit .407 to lead Moeller to the Ohio state championship...he also lettered in basketball at Moeller...the Rangers chose Mike in the supplemental round ("sandwich pick" between first and second rounds, 30th overall) in the 1993 June draft...signed by Ranger scout Jim Dreyer.

DARRON COX

Re-signed to a minor league contract, Nov. 9, 2000...Darron returns for his second season with the Rockies organization and second in their major league spring camp...Cox played all of last season with the Colorado affiliate at Colorado Springs (AAA) in the Pacific Coast League...the veteran of 12 professional seasons has played for six different organizations in the United States, and one in the Mexican League...he originally signed as Cincinnati's fifth-round selection in the 1989 June draft...Darron has played in 11 different minor league cities, including Mexico City, and one major league city, Montreal...his only major league experience to date was 15 games with the Expos in 1999...Darron, who lives in nearby Broomfield, actually made his first big-league start at Coors Field vs. the Rockies, April 19 of that season...a knee injury in late June ended his 1999 campaign and he wound up signing with Colorado as a free agent that December...Cox had an excellent first year in the Rockies system, hitting for a career-high average and handling the bulk of the duties behind the plate at Triple-A.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: A non-roster player in the Rockies major league spring camp, Darron was assigned to Colorado Springs (AAA).

- He turned in an excellent year with the bat...the lifetime .254 minor league hitter finished with a career high .320 average, plus three homers and 46 RBI.
- Cox caught 58 games to tie Ben Petrick for the club high, and threw out 26 percent (14 of 55) of PCL base thieves...the veteran receiver made just three errors behind the plate.
- He hit .256 in the month of April...but after May 1 he batted .332.
- Darron made two errors in the first month of the season and then just one over the final five months.

- On June 23, he was hitting .247 when he put together an 11-game hitting streak (June 24-July 19)...the streak jumped his average 68 points to .315...Cox hit at a .516 clip (16-for-31) during the stretch with four doubles and nine RBI.
- From June 29-Aug. 2, Darron was a .436 hitter (24for-55) with 14 RBI over 20 games.
- A .352 hitter at Sky Sox Stadium, Cox did hit a solid .287 on the road with all three of his homers.
- He finished the year by hitting safely in six of his last seven games, with 12 hits over his final 29 at-bats (.414).
- On Sept. 2 at Oklahoma, he hit two homers.

CAREER NICHTIGHTS

1999: At 31 years, 136 days, he became the oldest player to debut in Montreal history, April 6 at Pittsburgh.

- A non-roster player, Cox went to camp with Montreal and made the club as the third-string catcher.
- He recorded his first major league hit April 13, a single off Milwaukee's Steve Woodard.
- Six days later, he made his first major league start, vs. the Rockies at Coors Field, and went 1for-3 with his first big-league RBI.
- ♦ On May 5 in Montreal, he belted his first homer, off the Dodgers' Onan Masaoka.
- His season effectively ended June 26, after just 14 appearances, when he severely sprained his left knee running out a fly ball.

- He went to Ottawa on injury rehab July 12 but played just three games.
- ♦ Cox underwent arthroscopic surgery Aug. 2, then elected free agency on Oct. 15.

1998: Re-signed to a minor league contract, he went to Tampa Bay's inaugural spring training.

- Cox began and played the full year at Durham (AAA) of the International League.
- He set career highs with a .302 average and nine home runs.

1997: After signing Darron to a minor league contract in March, the Devil Rays loaned him to the Mexican Summer League...he played the whole year with the Mexico City Tigres, batting .287 in 107 games.

1996: Atlanta signed him to a minor league contract and Cox played the year at Richmond (AAA)...he pitched in one game and worked a scoreless inning, allowing two hits on no walks or strikeouts. 1995: In Darron's final season in the Cubs system, he split his year between Orlando (AA) of the Southern League and Iowa (AAA) of the American Association...combined at both stops, he hit .260 with five homers.

1994: After making his Triple-A debut, he spent the year as the everyday catcher at lowa (AAA)...Cox led league catchers in games played (99) and assists (76).

1993: In his fifth and final year in the Cincinnati chain, he played the full season at Chattanooga (AA)...Darron ranked second in the league with a .429 caught-stealing percentage (45 of 105)...after the season, the Reds dealt him to the Cubs with Mike Anderson and Larry Luebbers for Chuck McElroy, Dec. 10.

1992: At Chattanooga (AA) he led Southern League backstops with a .992 fielding mark...Cox threw out 47 percent (45 of 96) on the bases.

1991: Darron appeared in a career-high 113 games, playing at three levels in the Reds organization: Cedar Rapids (A), Charleston (A-advanced) and Chattanooga (AA).

1990: In Cox's first full season. Baseball America named him the South Atlantic League's best defensive catcher...in 103 games with Charleston, he stole a career-high 14 bags and helped lead the club to the SAL title.

1989: Cincinnati's fifth-round selection in the June draft, Darron played the full summer in Billings, as the everyday catcher.

Personal: James Darron (Darron) Cox...he lives in Broomfield, Colo., about 25 minutes from Coors Field...he and his wife Karen have two children, Caleb James (4) and Joshua Courtland (2)...a 1986 graduate of Mustang (Okla.) High School, he earned all-state honors in baseball and basketball, and honorable mention all-state in football...the 1986 Oklahoma City Player of the Year, Cox went to the University of Oklahoma...Baseball America put him on its Freshman All-America team following the '87 season...he earned the Big Eight Conference Player of the Year following his junior season, 1989...converted to catcher at OU, he played infield and pitched in high school...Darron received his bachelor's degree in communications from OU in 1994...signed by Larry Barton.

The non-roster leap

On 39 occasions, a non-roster invitee has made Colorado's big-league club over the course of the year. Ten players have left spring training as part of the Opening-Day roster. In 1999, the Rockies tied their '93 franchise record by bringing seven non-roster players to the majors. But the club had never brought that many to Denver without a non-roster player in uniform on Opening Day. In 2000, the club left Tucson with a non-roster player for the first time in three years. In fact, the Rockies in their 2000 Opening Day clubhouse had two non-roster invitees, the most since the inaugural '93 season.

Signed to a minor league contract by the Rockies, Nov. 8, 2000...Joe opens his eighth professional season, with his third organization...orginally drafted by Toronto in the 13th round of the 1994 June draft, Davenport pitched four years in the Blue Jays organization before the Chicago White Sox nabbed him via the Rule V minor league draft in December of 1997...he pitched the last three seasons with the White Sox, including a three-game relief stint with the major league club in July, 1999...strictly a relief pitcher the last four years, Joe has appeared in 243 minor league games, making 19 starts, and none since the 1996 season with St. Catherines (A)...he has a career minor league record of 17-25, with 33 saves (including nine last year with Charlotte of the Triple-A International League)...Davenport is a pitcher who relies on the ground ball for his outs, as he has struck out 250 batters in his 396.0 minor league innings...he has also allowed opposing hitters just a .235 average during his seven minor league seasons.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: A roster player, Joe was in the White Sox major league spring camp.

- Sent to Triple-A Charlotte on March 14, he pitched the full year in the International League...the right-hander led his club and ranked second in the league with a career-high 59 appearances...his 33 games finished topped the staff, and he also added nine saves.
- Through May 31, he'd walked just four batters in 22 appearances covering 21.1 innings.

- In July he allowed only four earned runs over 21.0 innings for a 1.71 ERA.
- He struck out at least one batter in seven consecutive appearances July 18-30.
- On August 19 at Toledo, Davenport pitched a seasonhigh 3.2 innings and wound up with the loss.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Davenport opened the season at Birmingham (AA) but by the end of the year, he had made his major league debut and pitched at Triple-A Charlotte.

- Recalled by the White Sox July 20, he made his debut that day with a scoreless inning at Milwaukee.
- Joe made two other relief appearances before he was optioned to Triple-A July 24.
- He had 10 saves at Birmingham to tie his singleseason career high (1997).

1998: In his first season in the White Sox organization, the right-hander combined at Winston-Salem (A) and Birmingham (AA) to go 5-2 with three saves in 46 games.

 He made 15 appearances with one save in the Arizona Fall League.

1997: Davenport pitched his fourth and final season in the Toronto organization.

- He spent the year at Hagerstown (A) and saved a career-high 10 games in 37 appearances.
- The Chicago White Sox obtained him in the December

Rule V Minor League draft at the Winter Meetings.

1996: Joe pitched the full season at St. Catherine's (A) working in both relief (12 apparances) and as a starter (eight assignments).

1995: He opened the year at Hagerstown (A) but after 13 appearances the Blue Jays moved him to their club in the Gulf Coast League...on the GCL staff his 10 starts tied for the team high.

1994: After he signed his first pro contract following his 13th round selection in the June draft, Toronto assigned Joe to its Gulf Coast League club,

Personal: Joseph Jonathan Davenport...a 1994 graduate of Santana High School (Santee, Calif.), he earned All-League and All-County honors in football and baseball...the baseball team captain, he led Santana to a CIF championship...signed by Toronto scout John Cole after he was selected in the 13th round of the 1994 June draft...single, he still makes his off-season home in Santee.

Career Transactions

Selected by the Toronoto Blue Jays in the 13th round of the 1994 June draft...slected by the Chicago White Sox from the Blue Jays in the Rule V minor league draft, Dec. 15, 1997...signed by the Colorado Rockies as a minor league free agent, Nov. 8, 2000.

Uniform information

On Jan. 19, 2000, the Rockies introduced the first major additions to both their home and road uniforms since the 1994 season, when the team added the last name of each player to the back of the home jersey and added purple to the lettering across the road jersey.

The club has a solid purple alternate jersey, an alternate home white jersey, a road gray uniform that features "Colorado" inscribed across the chest with purple pinstripes, and a new alternate cap with a purple bill. The Rockies also added the player's number on the front of each jersey.

For both home and road games, the day's starting pitcher decides which jersey his club wears. The white pinstriped pants are worn at home and the gray pinstriped pants are the road standard.

JASON DEWEY

Acquired from the Anaheim Angels with OF Norm Hutchins for OF Edgard Clemente, March 29, 2000...Jason Dewey makes his first appearance in Rockies camp, and second overall in a major league spring training (he went to camp on the Angels' 40-man roster in 2000, before the trade)...Dewey, a career .282 hitter, spent his first season in the Colorado organization at Double-A, where he shouldered most of the catching duties for the Carolina Mudcats...the Angels' 26th-round selection in the 1996 June draft, Dewey enters his fifth pro season.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Jason caught the full season, his first in the Rockies organization, at Carolina (AA) of the Southern League.

- He batted ..226 with nine homers and 44 RBI in 96 games...his nine homers and RBI each ranked third on the club.
- On June 26 vs. Huntsville, he delivered a grand slam, and went 1-for-3 with two walks in Carolina's 13-7 victory.
- Dewey matched his season high by driving in four more runs July 23 vs. Tennessee, a 6-5 win.

- From July 19-26, he strung together a season-long sixgame hitting streak (10-for-21, .476, six doubles, seven RBI)...he had multi-hit efforts over the streak's final four games, and Carolina went 4-0 in that stretch.
- In the field, he compiled a .984 fielding percentage.
- He hit .320 (31-for-97) vs. LHP with three homers and 13 RBI...against RHP, he hit .186 (41-for-221) with six homers and 31 RBI.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Dewey completed his third full season, with tours at Erie (AA) and Lake Elsinore (A).

- Combined for both clubs, in 106 games, he batted .286 (109-for-381) with 14 homers and 45 RBI.
- Jason began the year with his Double-A Debut, at Erie (.223, 31-for-139).
- The Angels moved him to Lake Elsinore in the California League June 23...after more than two months at Single-A, he finished the season back at Double-A.
- For the second straight season, he hit at least 30 doubles and 14 home runs.
- On Aug. 14 at Bakersfield, he went 5-for-5 with three homers, four RBI, two doubles (16 total bases) and five runs.

1998: A California League all-star, he played the entire season at Lake Elsinore...Jason posted a quartet of four-hit games, including back-to-back four-hit contests, July 24-25...over a longer, five-game stretch, he hit .636 (14-for-22)...on the road, he batted .337 with 11 homers and 39 RBI; at home, he hit .250 with four homers and 27 RBI...with runners in scoring position and two out, he went 18-for-56 (.321).

1997: Jason made his pro debut in the short-season Northwest League, at Boise (A)...his skipper was Tom Kotchman, who signed him to his first contract, May 4...an all-star, Dewey led Boise in homers and RBI en route to a division pennant.

Personal: Jason Michael Dewey...before the Angels selected him in the 26th-round pick in 1996, he played at Indian River (Fla.) Community College and Brandon (Fla.) High School.

ROBERTO KELLY

Signed as a minor-league free agent, Jan. 8, 2001...the most experienced player in Colorado camp, Roberto Kelly enters his 20th pro season; he's played all or parts of the last 14 years in the majors...the outfielder joins his ninth major league team (Cincinnati, Atlanta, Montreal, Los Angeles, Minnesota, Seattle, Texas and two stints with the Yankees)...only four players (Mike Morgan 12, Ken Brett 10, Tommy Davis 10 and Bob Miller 10) have played for more than nine teams...Roberto has played in 37 parks, and scored at least one run in 36 of them, all except Seattle's Safeco Field...he's played in 13 parks that have since been vacated by their major league tennants...he has at least 131 career, at-bats in every slot in the order, 1-9...when he signed his first pro contract, Feb. 18, 1982 with the Yankees, current Rockies shortstop Juan Uribe was a year and-a-half old, pitcher Tsao Chin-Hui was an eight-month old toddler and Buddy Bell was about to begin an all-star and Gold Glove season with the Rangers...Kelly's been traded five times, including deals that sent Paul O'Neill from the Reds to the Yankees (1992), Deion Sanders from the Braves to the Reds (1994), Marguis Grissom from the Expos to the Braves (1995) and Henry Rodriguez from the Dodgers to the Expos (1995)...the outfielder went to consecutive All-Star Games, once for the American League (1992) and once for the National League (1993)...from 1995-99, he played in four postseasons for three different clubs (Los Angeles, Seattle and Texas)...Kelly during the 1985 season in the Florida State League actually spent the year as a switch hitter, and led the league with 13 triples...career at Coors Field, he's hit .481 (13-for-27) with three homers and five RBI in six games; that's an 81-game pace for 34 homers and 58 RBI...on June 22, 1993 at Mile High Stadium, he tied his careerbest with five RBI in a 16-13 Reds win...Roberto in his major league career has reached first on a catcher's interference 17 times (there were only 19 instances in all of major league baseball last season)...he established the major league single-season record by drawing eight catcher's interferences in 1992...Colorado's major league roster stands at 39 entering the spring, and lists only four full-time outfielders...that final outfield position will probably see the most competition this spring.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Roberto returned to the Yankees as a minor-league free agent on Jan. 26...he made the Opening Day club out of spring training as a non-roster invitee (contract purchased April 2).

- In his 19th pro season, he hit .120 (3-for-25) with one homer and one RBI in an injury-shortened campaign.
- Kelly played in 10 of the Yankees' first 13 games, including eight starts, one in center and seven in left.
- New York was 7-3 in his games.
- He got his first start in the third game, in c enter field April 5 at Anaheim (1-for-4, double).

- ◆Roberto's only home run came in an April 15 start vs. the Royals, a solo shot in a 7-1 win.
- On April 24, the Yankees placed him on the 15-day disabled list with a partial strain of the ulnar collateral ligament in his right elbow...New York moved him to the 60-day DL June 29, making room on the 40-man roster for LHP Randy Choate...the Yankees that day also acquired David Justice from Cleveland for OF Ricky Ledee, RHP Zach Day and former Colorado first-round draft choice RHP Jake Westbrook.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Kelly played his final season with the Rangers and hit .300 for the second straight year.

- He also batted .300 for the fifth time in his career, and the third time since 1996.
- · Over his first eight games, he batted .520 (13-for-
- 25)...over his first 27 games, through June 4, he hit .349 (29-for-83)...on Aug. 13 he was batting .327, but then fell into a 17-for-76 (.224) slide over his final 20 games.
- ♦ Kelly hit .324 (47-for-145) at the Ballpark in Arlington.

- On May 13 vs. Baltimore, he posted his second career grand slam (S. Kamieniecki).
- From July 8-14, he missed seven days with a strained oblique muscle.
- Kelly, the only Texas outfielder to start in left, center and right fields, committed three errors in 162 total chances (.981).
- During the AL Division series vs. his former teammates, the Yankees, he went 1-for-3 in his only appearance and start.

1998: In his first season with Texas, Roberto started at all three outfield positions.

- He established a career high with a .560 slugging percentage...his .32295 average was a close second to his 1996 career high, .32298.
- Despite a career-low 75 games, he hit 16 homers, his most since 1991 with the Yankees, and the second most of his career.
- On April 26, after a 12-for-55 (.343) start, Texas placed him on the DL (through June 6) with a pulled left hamstring.
- His .349 mark vs. LHP was seventh in the AL.
- He homered twice in a game on two occasions.
- From Aug. 16-20, he homered in three straight games.
- On April 24 at Kansas City, he posted career home run No. 100.
- On June 27 at San Francisco, he ended a 119-game errorless streak (he committed miscues on back-toback plays in the seventh inning).
- In the postseason, against the Yankees in the ALDS, he started Games 1 and 2 (1-for-7, double).

1997: Kelly combined for the Twins and Mariners to bat .291 with 12 homers and 59 RBI in 105 games.

- For the third time in four years, his team traded him during the regular season.
- In the field, he played 88 errorless games...his 156 flawless total chances were the most among AL outfielders, and fourth most in the majors.
- Roberto opened the year on the DL, regaining strength in his right shouder after off-season surgery.
- Activated April 16, he made 61 starts for Minnesota.
- On Aug. 8 vs. the Yankees, he hit his first career inside-the-park homer (Dwight Gooden).
- On Aug. 21, the Twins dealt him to Seattle and he hit .392 (20-for-51) over the season's final 13 games to help the M's to the postseason.
- In the ALDS vs. Baltimore, he batted .308 (4-for-13) in four games, with three of Seattle's five doubles.

1996: One of two Panamanians to play for the Twins, he joined Hall of Famer Rod Carew in Minnesota history.

- His .323 average was a career best (slightly better than his '98 mark)...Kelly led the AL by hitting .406 against left-handers.
- . He spent June 29-July 11 on the DL with a pulled right hamstring.

1995: Kelly split the year with the Dodgers and Expos, and combined to hit .278 with seven homers and 57 RBI in 136 games...he opened the year in Montreal, before the Expos traded him to Los Angeles May 23...he tied for the Dodger team lead with seven sacrifice flies...Roberto hit safely in all three starts during the NLDS vs. Cincinnati, his first career postseason appearance.

1994: The outfielder in 110 combined games for Cincinnati and Atlanta hit .293 with nine homers and 49 RBI...his 434 at-bats tied for eighth in the NL...as a Braves leadoff hitter, he batted .298...combined for both clubs, with runners in scoring position he hit .343.

1993: On July 2 in Game 1 of a doubleheader vs. Pittsburgh, Roberto separated his left shoulder diving for a drive on the Riverfront Stadium turf...the injury effectively ended a solid start...he played just two more times over the balance of the season: three innings on July 10 at Pittsburgh and the last five innings of the All-Star Game at Camden Yards (his second consecutive Midsummer Classic)...at the time of the July 2 injury, he paced the majors with 302 at-bats and led the NL with 102 hits...he hit his first career grand slam April 8 vs. Montreal (Chris Nabholz)...from April 27-May 12, he built a career-best 14-game hitting streak...on four occasions, he stole second and third base in the same inning...after the injury, Kelly underwent surgery to repair ligaments in his AC joint Dec. 7.

1992: A first-time all-star, Roberto concluded his first stint with the Yankees, the only organization he'd known for 11 years...he led the team in runs (81) and steals (28), and set a major league record by drawing eight catcher's interferences.

1991: Kelly enjoyed his most productive year, setting career bests in homers (20) and RBI (69)...he missed more than a month (July 6-Aug. 12) with a sprained right wrist...his season marked the fifth 20-homer, 20-steal campaign in Yankee history...his 32 steals were eighth in the AL.

1990: He tied for the league lead in games (162) and finished third in hits (183) and steals (42)...he also led AL outfielders with 430 total chances...on April 17 at Detroit, he became the fifth major league player to get caught stealing twice in the same frame (second inning).

1989: During his first full major league season, Kelly led the Yankees in on-base percentage (.369)...he missed nearly three weeks on the DL May 26-June 12 with a sprained left wrist...he batted at least .320 in four months.

1988: Kelly made the Opening Day roster, before a May 21 option...recalled June 24, he was on the DL from June 29-Sept. 2 with a sprained left wrist. 1987: He made his major league debut July 29 vs. Kansas City, and posted two steals...he got his first hit, off Bud Black, July 30, and his first homer, off Willie Hernandez, Aug. 6 at Detroit...with Columbus (AAA), he led the International League with 51 stolen bases.

1986: With Albany (AA), Roberto earned Eastern League all-star honors.

1985: In the Florida State League (A), Kelly spent the full season as a switch hitter...he wound up leading the circuit with 13 triples.

1984: With Greensboro (A), he ranked eighth in the South Atlantic League with 42 steals.

1983: One season after John Elway played for Oneonta (A), Kelly opened there, before a promotion to Greensboro.

1982: A 17-year-old, he made his pro debut in the Gulf Coast Rookie League.

Personal: Roberto Conrado Kelly...he and his wife, Jessica, make their home in Panama City...Roberto has four children: daughter Charlena (13) and sons Roberto Joses (8), Roberto Bryan (7) and Xaver Maurice (5)...he attended Jose Delores Mascote College in Panama...a 1982 graduate of Panama City High School, he played baseball, basketball and volleyball as a prep...originally signed as a non-drafted free agent by the Yankees, Feb. 21, 1982.

BROOKS KIESCHNICK

Signed as a minor-league free agent, Dec. 1, 2000...Brooks embarks on his ninth professional season...he's played three major league campaigns, two with the Cubs (1996-97) and last year with the Reds...Brooks' first three pro seasons (1993-95) were spent exclusively as an outfielder...in 1995, the Cubs gave him some Triple-A time at first base, and since then, he's split time between first and the outfield...the Rockies list him on their depth chart at first base...and this spring, he'll get some tutoring from a pair of former big-league infielders, Buddy Bell and Toby Harrah...a three-time All-American at Texas, the outfielder/pitcher finished second in the nation with 16 wins in 1993; he also won consecutive Dick Howser Awards, as the collegiate player of the year...Kieschnick as a hitter has been very consistent over the past two seasons...since 1999, he's batted .284 (240-for-811) with 49 homers and 168 RBI...his last major league hit came Set. 28, 1997 at St. Louis, a single off former Rockies pitcher Manny Aybar.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Brooks spent his only season in the Cincinnati organization with Louisville (AAA) and two tours with the major league club.

- A non-roster invite, Kieschnick opened the year at Triple-A, where he hit .277 with 25 homers and 90 RBI in 113 games.
- A Triple-A all-star for the second time (1995), he was fifth in the league in both RBI (90) and extra-base hits (60)...he had a pair of two-homer games, three four-hit efforts and a grand slam, July 18 vs. Toledo...on June 8 vs. Buffalo, in a 13-9 win, he had four hits, one double, one homer and three RBI.
- On July 19, he was promoted to the Reds...ironically, he took the roster spot of RHP Andy Larkin (claimed

- on waivers by the Royals), who joins him in camp this spring...the two were also 2000 teammates with Mike Bell, another Colorado non-roster invitee.
- In his first 2000 major league stint, he appeared in seven games, all as a pinch hitter (0-for-6)...on July 20 at Houston he made his first big-league appearance since 1997.
- Cincinnati designated him for assignment Aug. 7, after acquiring OF Brian L. Hunter from the Rockies.
- Outrighted to Louisville, Aug. 9, he closed the year at Triple-A and returned to Cincinnati Sept. 5.
- In his second 2000 big-league stint, he was also 0-for-6, all as a pinch hitter.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Like Darron Cox, Tampa Bay loaned Brooks to another club...from May 24-Sept. 20, he was with the Anaheim organization, playing for the Angels' Triple-A club, Edmonton.

- . Brooks earned the team's Player of the Year honors.
- Kieschnick led the Trappers in homers (23) and RBI (73), while batting .314 in 77 games.
- He played mostly first base (33 games), but also one game at third and seven in the outfield.
- On June 6 vs. Salt Lake, he homered three times.
- After the season, he opted to become a free-agent and signed a minor-league deal with the Reds, Nov. 4.

1998: A member of Tampa Bay's 40-man roster, Kieschnick went to the Devil Ray's inaugrual camp (Tampa Bay took him in the third round of the '97 expansion draft)...Brooks opened the season at Triple-A Durham...in his seventh game, he dislocated his left elbow...the injury sidelined him until July 29, when he began the first of two rehab stints. 1997: During his final season in the Cubs organization, Brooks spent most of the year at lowa (AAA), but also see major league time...at lowa, he saw 63 games at first base, 14 in left field and seven at third base...his 21 homers team...Kieschnick made two round-trips between Triple-A and the majors...he was with the bigleague club April 11-May 21 and Sept.1 through season's end...he started 25 games in left for Chicago and overall, in 39 games, batted .200 (18for-90) with four homers and 12 RBI...on April 29 vs. Montreal, he went 3-for-4 and set career highs with two homers and six RBI...after that game, he was hitting .317, but fell into a 1-for-29 spell that left him at .200 when he went to lowa.

1996: He made the Cubs Opening Day roster and made his major league debut in the team's second game, April 3 vs. San Diego (he struck out as a pinch hitter)...he registered his first major league hit and RBI, April 7 vs. Los Angeles, singling in a run off Ismael Valdes...optioned to Iowa (AAA) April 15, he spent most of year at Triple-A before the Cubs recalled him Aug. 23, when Sammy Sosa went on the DL...he went 9-for-23 (.391) during his second major league stint...on Sept. 24 at Riverfront Stadium, he got his first homer, off the Reds' Curt Lyons.

1995: The Cubs Organizational Player of the Year (Baseball America), he played the entire season at lowa (AAA)...an American Association all-star, he led the league in hits, homers, extra-base hits and total bases.

1994: In his first full pro season, he played at Double-A Orlando, and after the season in the Arizona Fall League (.319, 33 RBI).

1993: Brooks made his pro debut with stops in Port St. Lucie (Rookie), Daytona (A) and Orlando (AA). College: A three time All-America, three-time unanimous Southwest Conference Player of the Year and two-time Dick Howser Award winner (nation's top collegiate player), Brooks was outstanding at the University of Texas...as a junior in 1993 (Baseball America Collegiate Player of the Year), he hit .374 with 19 homers and 81 RBI; as a pitcher, he went 16-4 with three saves and a 3.25 ERA...he also was the Outstanding Player in the SWC tournament and NCAA Central II Regional Personal: Michael Brooks Kieschnick...he and his wife, Danielle, make their home in Austin, Texas...at Mary Carroll High School in Corpus Christi, he lettered in baseball (three-time all-conference, all-state), football and basketball, and played at the 1990 high school all-star game at the Astrodome...signed by Doug Gasseway.

SUMMARY: Larkin signed with the Reds organization Feb. 16 and went to major league spring training as a non-roster player.

- Larkin appeared in a career-high 21 major league games, all in relief...combined for both Cincinnati (three game) and the Royals (18 games), he was 0-3 with a 7.96 ERA (26.0 IP, 23 ER) and one save.
- Andy began the year at Triple-A Louisivlle, where he went 1-0 with four saves and a 2.59 ERA in 27 appearances, all in relief...he compiled a 6.14 ERA in April, but then over his final 20 starts posted a 1.83 mark (34.1 IP, 7 ER), before joining the Reds...that stretch included a 10.0 IP scoreless streak, June 6-23...his final Triple-A appearance was a save vs. Colorado Springs (3.0 IP, 2 H, 0 R, 1 BB, 4 SO).
- His contract purchased July 2, Larkin pitched that day in a 14-2 win at Arizona (2.0 scoreless IP).
- On July 19, the Royals claimed him on waivers and

- he reported to the major league club, where he finished the season.
- With Kansas City in 18 relief appearances, he fanned 17 in 19.1 IP, or 7.91 per 9 IP.
- He made his AL debut July 22 at Detroit (1.1 scoreless IP, three strikeouts) and did not allow a run over his first three games (4.1 IP).
- On Aug. 9 vs. Toronto, he notched his first major league save, getting the final out to preserve a 5-3 win.
- Over his first 11 Royals outings, he compiled a 3.00 ERA (12.0 IP, 4 ER), but gave up 15 earned runs over his final seven appearances.
- That stretch included grand slams in his final two appearances, Sept. 5 vs. the Yankees (Scott Brosius) and Set. 10 vs. Texas (Frank Catalanotto).
- He missed the final three weeks with right elbow soreness.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: During his last of eight seasons in the Florida organization, Andy missed much of the year with a sprained lower back.

He pitched four games on a rehab assignment at Brevard County (A) and made seven appearances at Double-A Portlantd in the Eastern League.

1998: The right-hander made 28 total appearances (24 starts) combined between the Marlins and their Triple-A club, Charlotte.

- With Florida, he was 3-8 in 17 outings (14 starts)...at Charlotte, he was 4-1 in 11 games (10 starts).
- He opened with Charlotte, but the Marlins recalled him April 13 and that night in a start at Pittsburgh, he notched his first major league win (6.0 IP, 1 ER).
- On July 24 in a start at Philadelphia, he pitched 9.0 innings on three hits, but received a no-decision in Florida's 7-6, 12-inning loss.
- On Sept. 29, he underwent surgery on his right shoulder (Dr. John Uribe).

1997: Larkin pitched the full season in the Charlotte (AAA) rotation.

- He went 6-11 and led the team with 27 starts.
- His 144.1 innings were a career high...he fanned 103 batters, or 6.42 per nine innings.

1996: Larkin opened the season on Florida's major league disabled list, regaining strength in his right shoulder after off-season surgery.

- After six rehab starts for Brevard County, the Marlins reinstated and optioned him to Portland (AA).
- Andy made eight starts at Double-A (4-1, 3.80 ERA). helping Portland to the Eastern League postseason.
- Recalled in September, he made his major league debut, in a start Sept. 29 at Houston, Florida's season finale...he received a no-decision after allowing three hits and one run in 5.0 innings.

1995: The right-hander made his Double-A debut in the Eastern League, pitching nine games for Portland (AA)...hampered by right elbow soreness, he eventually underwent surgery to reinforce his medial collateral ligament.

1994: A Midwest League all-star, he went 9-7 with a 2.83 ERA in 21 Single-A starts for Kane County.

1993: At Elmira (A) in his first full pro season, he went 5-7 with a 2.97 ERA...he led the league with four complete games and one shutout.

 On July 25 vs. Welland, he fired a no-hitter to beat Welland, 6-0...he fanned 13 in the complete game.

1992: Larkin made his pro debut in rookie-ball in the Gulf Coast League...he made four starts in 14 appearances, going 1-2 with two saves.

Personal: Andrew Dane Larkin...he and his wife. Amy, make their home in Gilbert, Ariz....he graduated in 1992 graduate of South Medford (Ore.) High School, where he lettered in baseball and swimming...signed by Al Geddes.

MARK LITTLE

Signed as a minor-league free agent, Nov. 7, 2000...Mark enters his eighth pro season, his first in the Rockies organization...the outfielder has posted a .279 average, with 38 triples, 120 stolen bases and a .357 on-base percentage in 637 minor league games...Mark was the player to be named in a major trade between the Rangers and Cardinals, July 31, 1998...the Rangers eventually sent him to St. Louis with Darren Oliver and Fernando Tatis for Todd Stottlemyre and Royce Clayton...his lone major league appearance was 1998 with the Cardinals, a seven-game stint in September of 1998, just after Mark McGwire hit his 62nd home run...in three of his four major league starts, he batted ninth in Tony La Russa's order (the skipper was hitting his pitcher eighth)...Mark has opened at Triple-A each of the last four seasons...over the last three years at Triple-A, since 1998, he's hit .288 (276-for-957) with 26 homers, 138 RBI, 43 steals and a .360 on-base percentage...the Rangers' eighth-round pick in the 1994 June draft, he joins his third organization...defensively during his minor league career, he has 48 career outfield assists, averaging nearly seven per season...he hit three homers in a 1997 Triple-A game...and on June 23 last season at Sky Sox Stadium in Colorado Springs, Little hit for the cycle.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Mark played his third and final season in the St. Louis organization.

- He helped Memphis (AAA) to a Pacific Coast League championship by batting .283 (120-for-424) with 15 homers and 64 RBI...his RBI established a careerhigh, while his home runs tied his 1997 best.
- Little's 29 doubles tied for fourth in the St. Louis chain...he also ranked among organizational leaders in hits (eighth), home runs (ninth), runs (tied, eighth), triples (tied, fifth) and steals (sixth).
- On June 23 at Colorado Springs, he hit for the cycle...his RBI double in the ninth completed the feat.

- From Aug. 15-18, he strung together a four-game home run streak.
- From Aug. 11-19, he strung together an eight-game RBI streak.
- From July 19-Aug. 5, he hit safely in 19 of 21 games.
- He batted .346 or better vs. four teams.
- Combined in April and May, he batted .258 (31-for-120)...over the balance of the season, he hit .293 (89-for-304).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Little went to major league spring training as a non-roster invitee.

 He spent the season with Memphis (AAA) in the Pacific Coast League and hit a career-best .296 (58for-196) in 51 games.

1998: Mark played for a pair of Triple-A clubs in two organizations and finished his season with his first major league action.

- In his final year in the Rangers system, he opened at Oklahoma (AAA)...he hit safely in 10 straight games, April 7-17.
- On Aug. 9, the Rangers sent him to the St. Louis organization to complete a July 31 trade in which Texas received Todd Stottlemyre and Royce Clayton for Fernando Tatis and Darren Oliver...he reported

- directly to Memphis (AAA), and overall at the Triple-A level, he hit .291 with eight homers and 52 RBI.
- On Sept. 12 at the Astrodome, he made his major league debut, starting in right field and batting ninth (Tony La Russa batted his pitcher eighth)...against Randy Johnson that afternoon, he went 0-for-2 with a walk and strikeout.
- On Sept. 15 at Busch Stadium, he collected his first major league hit, a single off Pittsburgh's Javier Martinez...four days later at Milwaukee, he posted his first major league stolen base.

1997: The everyday center fielder at Oklahoma City (AAA), Little led the club in runs (72) and finished third in steals (21)...from July 21 to season's end, he went 44-for-129 (.341) over his final 35 games...on June 19 at Nashville, he homered three times...defensively, he paced American Association outfielders with 280 putouts and 297 total chances, while his nine outfield assists were tied for fourth...following the regular season, he played for Zulia in the Venezuelan Winter League. 1996: An all-star at Double-A Tulsa, he led the team with 22 steals...the organization's April Player of the Month, he hit .360 with five homers and 16 RBI...on July 21, he partially tore his right rotator cuff and, after five more starts as DH, went on the DL Aug. 2...he rehabbed the injury in the Florida Instructional League following the regular season. 1995: Mark led Single-A Charlotte in runs, doubles, triples, walks and steals.

1994: The Rangers' eighth-round selection in the '94 June draft, he launched his pro career in the New York-Penn League with Hudson Valley (A).

Personal: Mark Travis Little...he and his wife, Charity were married after the '98 season and make their home in Edwardsville, Ill., near St. Louis...he lettered in basketball and baseball at Edwardsville (Ill.) High School, where he helped his team to the 1990 Illinois Class-AA baseball championship...Mark also attended Lakeland College in Mattoon, Ill. and Memphis State University...signed by Rangers scouts Jimmy Dreyer and Marc Delpiano.

Adam MELHUSE

Catcher

NON-ROSTER INVITEE Ht: 6-2 Wt: 195

B/T: S/R Age: 29

Born: 3/27/72 in Santa Clara, Calif. Residence: Stockton, Calif.

Major League Service: 59 days

ADAM MELHUSE

Acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for a player to be named or cash, June 17, 2000...the switch hitter begins his ninth pro season, his first full campaign in the Rockies system...his career took two significant turns within a two-day stretch last summer: on June 16, he made his major league debut, a pinch-hit appearance at Dodger Stadium; the next day, he learned that Los Angeles had traded him to the Rockies...Adam played for five teams during the 2000 season, including the Dodgers and Rockies...last year marked the fifth consecutive season in which Melhuse has played for more than one team...Colorado fans might remember him as the player who ended one of the greatest games in team history, Aug. 22 last summer vs. Atlanta; that night in the 12th inning, he lined a single to left for his first major league hit and RBI, securing a victory for Brent Mayne (the first position player to earn a pitching win since 1968—Adam would've replaced Mayne on the mound in the 13th)...and pitcher is the only position in which Melhuse has not played during his pro career (he's played primarily catcher, outfield and first base)...during his 2000 major league time, he saw three games at first base, including his only major league start, one game at catcher and one in the outfield...keen at the plate, Adam during his minor league career has compiled a strong .380 on-base percentage, 116 points higher than his .264 batting average (522 walks in 822 games)...in 1999, he averaged more than one walk per game, leading the the Southern League with 108 BB...Tornoto's 13th-round selection in the 1993 June draft, Melhuse is playing for his third organization.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Adam kicked off the season as a non-roster invitee in Dodgers camp...by season's end, he'd made five stops at three levels, from Double-A to the majors.

- Melhuse had barely made his major league debut, June 16 vs. St. Louis (0-for-1 as PH), before the Dodgers sent him to Colorado the next day.
- Added to the 25-man roster June 18, he made his Rockies debut in his second big-league game, that day in a 19-2 win vs. Arizona (0-for-1, defensive replacement for Todd Helton at first base).
- ♦ He was 0-for-his-first-5 in the majors (all PH

- appearances) until delivering one of the most memorable hits in team history.
- On Aug. 22 vs. Atlanta in the 12th inning, he recorded his first major league hit and RBI, driving in the game winning run off Stan Belinda; he sealed the victory for Brent Mayne, the first position player to win on the mound since Rocky Colavito in 1968.
- Adam made his first big-league start Sept. 25 vs.
 Arizona, going 0-for-3 with a walk and RBI vs. Johnson
- Optioned to Colorado Springs (AAA) June 28, he was recalled Aug. 21, and then assigned outright to Colorado Springs Oct. 14.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Melhuse played his final season in the Toronto system and his third straight in which he split time between Knoxville (AA) and Syracuse (AAA)...promoted to Syracuse Aug. 18, he caught 18 games at Triple-A...with Knoxville, he played five defensive positions (catcher, first, third, left and right), and designated hitter.

1998: He opened the year at Knoxville (AA) and batted .300 with 15 homers and 43 RBI in 76 games, before a June 20 promotion to Syracuse (AAA).

1997: He again began the campaign at Knoxville (AA)...after shifting to Triple-A, the versatile player made his only pro appearance at second base in a game for Syracuse.

1996: At Single-A Dunedin, Adam led the Florida State League in HR/AB ratio (1/24.23), and finished fourth in at-bats...on July 12, the organization moved him to Knoxville for his first action at Double-A.

1995: At Dunedin, he ranked first among Florida State League (A) catchers with eight double plays. 1994: During his first full pro season, he hit .258 with 11 homers and 58 RBI in 118 South Atlantic League (A) contests.

DAVID MORAGA

Claimed on waivers from the Montreal Expos, June 21, 2000...the left-hander, who made his major league debut in 2000, embarks on his eighth pro season...Montreal's 30th-round pick in the 1993 June draft, he'd spent his first seven-plus seasons in the Expos organization before the Rockies snagged him...like Adam Melhuse, he made five stops at three levels in two organizations during the 2000 season, including a pair of major league stints...since 1998, he's made 10 stops (five in 2000, three in '99 and two in '98)...in 182 minor league appearances, Moraga (MOOR-ah-gah) has made 110 starts...the Colorado organization used him exclusively as a minor-league starter in 2000, and he fired five complete games in 14 assignments...in fact, Moraga collected five of his 10 career complete games during his short time in the Rockies chain...in 764.1 career minor league innings, he's gone 50-49 with a 3.64 ERA, three saves and two shutouts, and only 2.99 walks per 9 IP (254 BB, 761.1 IP).

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Moraga wore five different uniforms combined for the Expos and Rockies organizations.

- He opened at Double-A Harrisburg, where he went 7-3 with a 3.41 ERA in 12 games (all starts)...over his final three starts, he allowed three earned runs in 23.0 IP (1.17)...after his June 6 start, the Expos brought him to the majors for the first time (jumping Triple-A).
- He made his major league debut June 11 at Toronto...he faced two batters, allowing a hit and walk, and both runners eventually scored...he closed his three-game major league stint with a pair of appearances at Milwaukee, June 12 and 14, during which he allowed five earned runs in 1.2 IP.
- After Colorado claimed him on waivers June 21, he - was added to the 40-man roster and assigned to Double-A Carolina.

- Over his first three starts in the Rockies organization, he went 2-1 with a 1.13 ERA (24.0 IP, 15 H, 3 ER, 3 BB, 24 SO)...overall during his time with Carolina, he fanned at least seven in five starts.
- Transferred to Colorado Springs (AAA) Aug. 7, he made five PCL starts to finish the minor league season, going 4-1with two complete games.
- On Sept. 19, the Rockies gave him a late recall after losing Pedro Astacio and Masato Yoshii to injuries...Moraga made one appearance, Sept. 28 vs. Arizona...he allowed four hits, five runs, earned, and one homer in 1,0 inning...he was the last Rockies pitcher to stand on the mound in 2000 at Coors.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: David pitched for three teams on three levels in the Montreal ladder: Jupiter (A), Ottawa (AAA) and Harrisburg (AA), in that order.

- Combined for the three affiliates, he went 10-8 with a 3.85 ERA (156.2 IP, 67 ER), 49 walks, 101 strikeouts, two complete games and two shutouts in 28 games/26 starts.
- He spent most of the season at Jupiter in the Florida State League, where he went 8-6 in the rotation, with a 3.66 ERA (137.2 IP, 56 ER) and two complete games, both of which were shutouts.
- Those two shutouts led the FSL.
- He made the unconventional jump from Single-A to Triple-A, making his debut at that level with Ottawa of the International League.

- He saw four games/three starts for the Senators, going 1-2 with a 6.19 ERA...after allowing only eight homers in 137.2 IP with Jupiter, he gave up four round-trippers in 16.0 innings with Ottawa.
- David went from Triple-A to Double-A to conclude his season, with one scoreless 3.0-IP appearance with Harrisburg.

1998: Moraga combined at both Single-A Jupiter and Double-A Harrisburg to go 6-6 with a 3.81 ERA (85.0 IP, 36 ER).

He began and made 25 appearances (all in relief) with Single-A Jupiter...he walked only nine batters in 45.0 IP, or 1.8 per 9 IP. Transferred to the Eastern League, he got his first taste of Double-A with Harrisburg, where he went 1-4 with a 4.95 ERA and one save in 19 games (four starts).

1997: The left-hander pitched the season at West Palm Beach (A) in the Florida State League, where he was 1-4 with a 4.91 ERA in 13 games and seven starts...it marked the third straight season in which Moraga pitched for that club.

1996: He went 7-10 with a 4.58 ERA and one complete game, pitching the full year with West Palm Beach...he made 20 starts and tossed one complete game in 29 appearances.

1995: In his first full pro season, David pitched for both West Palm Beach (A) in the Florida State League, and Albany in the South Atlantic League. 1994: The Expos' 30th-round pick in the 1993 June draft, Moraga signed May 25, 1994 and opened his pro career in the Gulf Coast League (rookie).

Personal: David Michael Moraga...he is single and makes his home in Suisun, Calif., near Sacramento...he attended Sacramento City Junior College for one year...he also played American Legion ball in Northern California...signed by John

Melvin NIEVES

Outfielder

NON-ROSTER INVITEE

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 230 B/T: S/R Age: 29 (turns 30 on Dec. 28)

Born: 12/28/71 in San Juan, Puerto Rico

Residence: Pinehurst, N.C.

MELVIN NIEVES

Signed as a minor-league free agent, Jan, 29, 2001...Nieves returns to North America after two years in the Japanese Pacific League with the Fukuoka Daiei Hawks...originally signed in 1988 by Pedro Gonzalez and Jorge Posada (the father of the Yankees catcher and current Rockies scout), Melvin embarks on his 14th pro season...he's played all or parts of seven seasons in the majors...during his two seasons (1999-2000) in Japan, his club won its league pennant both years in Japan under manager Sadaharu Oh, the world's career home run leader, who hit 113 more than Hank Aaron...that 1999 JPL title, marked the Hawks' first in 26 years...on two occasions in 1996, the switch hitter homered from both sides of the plate, setting an AL record, before Detroit's Tony Clark did it three times in 1998...during his major league career, he's homered in consecutive games on 10 occasions, including a four-game homer streak (1997) and a three-game stretch (1996)...at Triple-A in 1994, he once homered in five straight contests...his two career grand slams came during a 25-day stretch in August of 1995 with the Padres...Rockies historians might recall Nieves' role in one of the greatest games in Colorado history, June 28, 1994 (Game 1) vs. San Diego; that day, in his first two 1994 major league at-bats, he doubled and homered, helping the Padres to an 8-0 lead; Colorado then mounted its largest come-from-behind win ever, 10-9...Melvin's been traded four times, including the 1993 deal that sent Fred McGriff from San Diego to Atlanta.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Melvin played his final season with the Japanese Pacific League's Fukuoka Daiei Hawks.

- He batted .216 (50-for-232) with 15 homers, 38 RBI and a .444 slugging percentage.
- Nieves contributed to the Hawks' second straight Pacific League championship (before his arrival in 1999, they had not won a pennant since 1973).
- Daiei, the defending Japan champions, lost to the Tokyo Yomiuri Giants in the series, 4-2.
- In Game 1 at Tokyo Dome, Melvin clubbed the gamewinning home run, a pinch-hit blast in the ninth inning to snap a 3-3 tie...the Hawks triumphed, 5-3.
- In Game 4, Nieves homered again, a solo shot for the Hawks' only tally in a 2-1 loss.
- Daiei won the series' first two tilts, then dropped the final four games.
- Other North American players on Melvin's 2000 club were Brian Banks, Brady Raggio, Matt Randel and Rod Pedraza.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Melvin signed as a minor-league free agent with the Twins Dec. 15, 1998, and went to spring training as a non-roster player.

- On March 20, the Twins sold his contract to the Fukuoka Daiei Hawks of the Japenese Pacific League.
- Nieves, whose manager was the legendary Sadaharu Oh, helped the Hawks to their first franchise pennant since 1973 and a 4-games-to-1 victory in the Japan World Series.
- The Hawks, struggling economically, purchased the contracts of just two foreign players: Nieves and closer Rod Pedraza, who pitched in the Rangers and Expos chains...all told, 57 foreign players were under contract in Japan during the '99 season.
- In the regular season, Melvin batted .257 (63-for-

- 245) with 16 doubles, on triple, 17 homers and 43 RBI...he compiled a solid.539 slugging percentage.
- The Daiei franchise overcame the sudden death of its team president, April 29, to win the Japan world championship.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Kevin during his eighth and final season in the Phillies organization hit .235 with no homers and 10 RBI in 99 games.

- For the third consecutive season, he played the entire year with the major league club.
- As a pinch hitter, he was 7-for-44 (.159) with a triple, two RBI and nine walks (a .302 PH on-base percentage)...his 44 pinch at-bats were second on the club, behind Rob Ducey (69).
- Only three other right-handed batters had more pinch at-bats in the National League: Matt Mieske (59 with Houston and Arizona), Mark Smith (48 with Florida) and Terry Shumpert (45 with Colorado).
- In 99 games: 24 were starts (14 in CF, eight in RF and two in LF), 56 were pinch hit appearances, seven were as a pinch runner and 12 as a defensive replacement.
- On May 28 at Los Angeles, he tied his career high with three hits, going 3-for-5 with a double and RBI in a 4-2 victory...he equaled the three hits June 6 vs. Tampa Bay, going 3-for-5 with a triple and RBI in a 5-3 loss...he's now had three hits in seven lifetime games.

- In a pinch at-bat April 10 vs. the Mets, in the Phillies home opener, he tripled in a pinch at-bat off Rich Rodriguez...the former hockey player was then thrown out at the plate after a solid collision with Mike Piazza, but the Phillies still erased a 4-0 deficit to win, 9-7.
- In June, he batted .313 (10-for-32).
- On Aug. 6 at Coors Field, Sefcik batted twice during a five-run fifth inning...he led off the frame with a single off Pedro Astacio, and scored from first on Kevin Jordan's double...the Phillies held a 10-0 lead entering the bottom of the sixth, then barely held off the Rockies in a 10-9 win.
- In Philadelphia Aug. 30, he delivered a 10th-inning pinch single off the Rockies' Gabe White.
- Overall vs. Colorado, Sefcik batted .300 (3-for-10) in seven games...he did his most damage vs. the Dodgers, going 4-for-9 (.444) in five games.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1999: Kevin established career bests with 111 games, 209 at-bats and 15 doubles...he hit .311 (14-for-45) as a pinch hitter, pacing the Phillies in both pinch base hits and pinch at-bats...his 14 pinch base hits were tied for fifth in the NL...Kevin started 34 games: 10 in right, 10 in center, eight at second base and six in left...he played 64 games in the outfield, and committed only one error in 70 total chances (.986)...Sefcik posted 14 multi-hit games and the Phillies were 9-5 in those contests. 1998: During his first full season in the majors, he played primarilly in the outfield for the first time...Sefcik played 60 games in the outfield, two at third base and one at second...all 34 of his starts were in the outfield (13 in left, 15 in right and six in center)...he hit .355 after the All-Star Game at Coors Field...he drove in a run in three straight games, July 23 and both games of a July 24 doubleheader...in three games, he tied a career high with three hits...on Sept. 8 vs. the Mets, he posted his first multi-homer game, going 3-for-5 in a 16-8 win...then, on Sept. 27 in Game 1 of a doubleheader at Florida, he established a career best with four RBI, going 3-for-5 in a 6-5 loss.

1997: Kevin made the Phillies' Opening Day roster and appeared in 16 games (three starts) before a May 10 option to Scranton (AAA)...in 29 games at Triple-A, Sefcik hit .333 (41-for-123) to earn a June 13 recall...he spent the balance of the season with Philadelphia, batting .293 (29-for-99) in 41 games after the second recall...before his Triple-A stint, he hit .150 over his year's first 16 big-league games...in 61 overall games, he made 22 starts (14 at second, six at short and two at third)...on July 4 vs. the Cubs, Kevin hit his first major league homer, off Terry Mulholland.

1996: Sefcik earned his first spot on an Opening Day roster...on April 12 at St. Louis, in his first major league start, the shortstop got his first major league hit (a single off Tom Urbani)...after three games, the Phllies opitoned him to Scranton (AAA), where he hit .305 in 36 games before a June 3 recall...on July 22 in Game 1 of a doubleheader vs.

the Reds, he stole his first base...after another option to Scranton, Aug. 1, he extended a Triple-A hitting streak from four games to 14, hitting safely in all 10 games during his second Scranton stint...recalled Aug. 11, he remained with the Phillies the rest of the year, recording a pair of three-hit games to set an early career high.

1995: Sefcik opened at Triple-A, then shifted to Reading (AA) because of roster space (when the major league teams began a late spring training)...Kevin, winner of Reading's Unsung Hero Award, had an 11-game hitting streak, a four-hit game, and appeared in three Eastern League playoff games (five RBI)...the Phillies purchased his contract Sept. 8 and he made his major league debutthat night vs. Houston, a defensive replacement at third base...he went 0-for-4 in five games during his first major league tour.

1994: Clearwater's third baseman, he led the entire organization with eight triples, and paced the Florida State League with one strikeout every 13.56 plate appearances.

1993: Philly's 33rd-round pick in the June draft, he led the organization's short-season clubs in average, at-bats, runs, hits, total bases and doubles.

TSAO CHIN-HUI

Signed as a non-drafted free agent, Oct. 7, 1999...the first player from the Far East region to sign with the Rockies, Tsao was recently named by Baseball America the top prospect in the Colorado organization...the right-hander made his pro debut in 2000 as a 19-year old and started the South Atlantic League All-Star Game...Tsao with Asheville led the league and ranked fourth among all minor league starters with 11.61 strikeouts per 9 IP...he also pitched a big-league spring training game last March 15 vs. Seattle and fanned all three batters...the Rockies could not have signed the right-hander without the efforts of Ming Harber, a resident of Greeley, Colo., who had worked under vice chairman Charlie Monfort...Ming was instrumental in communication between Tsao's family and Rockies representatives in Taiwan...a national hero in his country, Tsao is one of the first players from Taiwan to embark on a pro career in North America, and Ming also helped him in early on in that venture...at the 1999 World Cup, he fanned 15 on one hit in a win over Japan... Tsao is actually his surname, the name on the back of his jersey...he should be listed alphabetically under T, as Tsao Chin-Hui, not Chin-Hui Tsao...proununication: sow, like now, CHEEN way.

2000 SEASON

SUMMARY: Tsao won his first pro appearance, an April 6 start vs. Piedmont, fanning 10 of the 20 batters he faced (5.0 IP, 4 H, 2 R, 2 ER, 0 BB).

- He struck out a season-high 13 in three outings, including April 28 at Charleston, SC...that night in a 1-0 loss, he fanned 13 of 28 hitters (4H, 1 ER, 0 BB) in 8.1 IP, his season's longest outing; he retired 19 straight at one point, including six straight Ks...in six games, he fanned 10 or more.
- On May 19 vs. Charleston, WV, he took a no-hitter into the seventh, fanning 13 in a 7-2 win.

- His 187 K tied with teammate Julio de Paula for tops in the system...his 2.73 ERA led all Rockies pitchers.
- The right-hander allowed five or more earned runs in three starts...over his other 21 starts, he was 11-5 with a 1.88 ERA (129.0 IP, 27 ER).
- He walked none over his first two starts (10.1 IP, 18 K), and walked three over his first five outings (2-2, 1.78 ERA, 30.1 IP, 6 ER, 45 K)...in 18 of 24 starts, he walked two or less...in five games, he walked none.
- The league vs. Tsao hit .220 (119-for-541)...lefthanded hitters were 39-for-196 (.199) with 73 K.

AMATEUR HIGHLIGHTS

SUMMARY: Tsao has represented his country in four major competitions: the International Baseball Association's Junior World Championships (1996-97, '99) and the 1999 Asia Cup, which qualified teams for the 2000 Sydney Olympics.

1999: At an April competition in Japan, scouts clocked a Tsao fastball at 97 mph...in August at the Junior World Championships, hosted by Taiwan, Tsao made three starts (3-0, 23.0 IP, 10 H, 0 R, 1 BB, 30 K)...he blanked Panama Aug. 1, sending his team to the champonship game, a 10-9 loss to Team USA...the team's only amateur at the Asia Cup, he made three appearances (11.0 IP, 3H, 0 R, 1 BB, 19 K)...in his only start, a one-hit shutout vs. China, he fanned 15 on one walk.

1997: In August, he made his international debut, at the Junior World Championships...in October, he was selected to join Hideo Nomo and Ken Griffey, Jr. at a baseball clinic that toured the world.

Personal: Tsao Chin-Hui...he is single...his interpreter's name is Alex Gong...signed by former Rockies pacific rim coordinator Tim Ireland.

JASON YOUNG

Selected in the second round of the 2000 June draft (47th overall)...Jason Young is the 10th player to come to Rockies major league camp after getting drafted the previous June...after an outstanding career at Stanford, Jason signed Sept. 25 last year...one of 21 organizational prospects invited to the team's Winter Player Development Program, he got to meet and work out with his instructors face-to-face...a consensus All-American and team MVP at Stanford, Jason enters his first pro season...Jason joins a long line of former Stanford hurlers to turn pro, including Mike Mussina, Rick Helling and Jack McDowell.

AMATEUR HIGHLIGHTS

IN COLLEGE: Jason in three years (1998-2000) for the Stanford Cardinal went 21-5 with 327 strikeouts.

- ♦ In 2000, the first-team preseason All-American went 9-1 with a 3.73 ERA (115.2, 48 ER) in 19 games/starts...he fired three complete games, combined on one shutout, walked 42, fanned 120 and held opponents to a .224 average...he started the National Championship game at the College World Series (4.0 IP, 4 H, 2 R, 2 ER, 1 BB, 2 SO) and left with the lead, until LSU came from behind to win, 6-5...in Pac 10 play during the regular season, he went 4-0.
- A consensus All-American as a sophomore, he was also first team all-Pac-10 and his teammates voted him Most Valuable Player...overall, he was 12-3 with a 3.43 ERA; his 12 wins were two shy of tying the school record, but he did set a single-season school mark and lead the conference with 178 strikeouts and 154.2 IP...he tossed two shutouts and 10 complete games in 21 starts...in the postseason, he went 3-0 with a 3.34 ERA, logging 35.0 IP in four starts...in a March win over Arizona State, he fanned 16, two short of the school record...in seven assignments, he struck out at least 10...he fanned 12 in back-to-back outings to begin April.

 Stanford used him as a long reliever as a freshman in 1998.

Personal: Jason Karlya Young...he is single...originally selected by the Texas Rangers in the 29th round of the 1997 June draft, but opted to compete at Stanford...after the '99 season, he pitched in the Cape Cod League, for the Yarmouth-Dennis Red Sox...a 1997 graduate of Berkeley (Calif.) High School, he was All-America as a senior and won two team MVP honors...signed by Tom Wheeler.

The 2000 Season

2000 SEASON SUMMARY

QUICKLY: The 2000 Colorado Rockies finished 82-80, their first winning season since 1997 and fourth overall winning campaign (1995-97)...it marked a 10-game improvement over 1999 (72-90)...the team finished in fourth place in the NL West, 15.0 games behind first...Colorado led the league in batting (.294)...in the NL fielding race, the Rockies (.98461) finished second to the Giants (.98467) by six one-hundred-thousandths of a point...and, the pitching staff finished 15th in the circuit with a 5.26 ERA.

BEST NUMBERS SINCE MERRENT HOOVER WAS PRESIDENT: Colorado's club batting average, runs scored and base hits were all the most in the NL since 1930...the Rockies' .294 average was the NL's highest since the 1930 New York Giants batted .3185...Colorado's 968 runs were the most since the 1930 St. Louis Cardinals plated 1,004...and, the Rockies' 1,664 base hits were the most since the 1930 Phildelphia Phillies collected 1,783.

THAT'S A LOT OF THREAD. Buddy Bell managed a club-record 49 players, three more than the previous mark, 46 in 1993...Colorado also tied a club record with 25 pitchers used, matching 1993.

THE SUMMER OF 62: The Rockies scored 62 more runs than in 1999 (968/906), despite hitting 62 fewer homers (161/223)... Colorado's power dropped by 28 percent, but the club still increased its runs by seven percent...on April 16 in Game 2 of a DH vs. St. Louis, the Rockies scored 14 runs without a homer... the most runs in any previous game without a Rockies homer was 11, three times... Colorado from April 14-29 actually scored 28 consecutive runs at Coors Field without a homer... the learn field a club record from April 16 (Game 2)-April 20 going five straight contests without a homer...but on April 30 vs. New York, Colorado hit seven home runs, a club season high...the next day, the Rockies and Expos combined for 10 homers to tie the Coors Field record, May 1.

DBUBLE DUTY: Todd Helton (59) and Jeff Cirillo (53) became the first pair of NL teammates to top the 50-double plateau in the same season...the duo also became the sixth pair in major league history, but only the second in the last 54 years (see Page 55).

HOW DO YOU SPELL RELIEF WIN?: The Rockies established a club-record and in the process led the NL with 36 relief wins...Colorado's previous record for bullpen wins was 33 in '96.

SINGLE-BEST TEAM IN GLUB HISTORY: Colorado collected a club-record 1,130 singles...the Rockies' previous record was 1,088 in 1998.

SACRIFICIAL ROCKIES: The Rockies established the NL record with 75 sacrifice flies, breaking the 1977 Philadelphia Phillies' mark, 74...Colorado posted the second-most sacrifice flies in major league history, falling just three short of the 1984 Oakland A's, who totaled 77...Colorado also led the majors with a combined 150 sacrifices (75 sac bunts, 75 sac flies).

NOCKIES CONTINUE SPOILER REPUTATION. Colorado's season finale, for the second time in three years, had postseason ramifications...the Rockies on the strength of Todd Hellon's 0-2, ninth-inning horner off John Rocker, beat the Braves in Atlanta Oct. 1...the Atlanta loss forced the Braves to open the NLDS in St. Louis and the Cards swept Atlanta...in 1998, Neili Perez and the Rockies forced the Giants into a one-game playoff, a loss at Wrigley Field.

FIELDING CHAMPIONSHIP SLIPS THROUGH FINGERS. Colorado committed five errors in its last four games and lost the league fielding title to the Giants by .00006...the Rockies still posted the fourth highest percentage in league history...the NL's all-time leaders...

THE SAN DIEGO PHENOMENON: Colorado's two longest losing streaks came after leaving San Diego...the Rockies did chase the demons who hounded them in San Diego during recent years (Colorado in 2000 won five of seven Qualcomm Stadium contests, after losing all six there in 1999)...but after taking three out of four from the Padres in early July, the Rockies left San Diego and embarked on a seasonlong 11-game losing streak...then, after taking two out of three at The Q in September, Colorado proceeded to lose five straight.

SOUTHPAW TRACKS ALL OVER THE RECORD BOOK: Rockies lett-handers established a team record with 25 wins...one trio—Brian Bohanon (12), Gabe White (11) and Scott Karl (2)—accounted for all the LHP wins...the '99 club held the previous mark, 22...Bohanon, White and Myers were a combined 23-13 with a 3.60 ERA (305.1 IP, 122 ER).

SAN FRANCISCO WAS NOT A TREAT: Colorado hasn't won a game in San Francisco since April 22, 1999...the club was 0-6 by the bay in 2000, extending the San Francisco losing streak to 12 games...the Rockies despite a new venue, couldn't muster a run in their first 24 innings at Pac Bell Park...they were shut out in back-to-back games, May 5-6, for the first time anywhere.

MOST VALUABLE PERCENTAGES: Todd Helton, who led the NL in batting (.372), on-base percentage (.463) and slugging (.698), gave the Rockies consecutive percentage triple crowns...Larry Walker in 1999 earned a percentage triple crown, the first in the majors since Brett in 1980, and the first in the NL since Musiai in 1948.

- Walker and Helton made the Rockies the majors' first team to record percentage triple crowns in consecutive seasons with different players.
- The last team to win consecutive percentage triple crowns was the 1941-42 Boston Red Sox (Ted Williams both seasons).
- The last NL team to win consecutive percentage triple crowns was the 1920-23 St, Louis Cardinals (Rogers Hornsby all four years).

TOUGHEST IN THE MAJORS, OH LAST DAY OF SEASON.; Colorado owns the majors' longest active winning streak in season finales: six years...this season, on Oct. 1 at Altanta, the team erased a two-run deficit in the ninth and Todd Helton homered off John Rocker on an 0-2 pitch to hurdle Colorado to a 10-5 win...the last time the Rockies lost a season finale was Oct. 3, 1993, at Atlanta...the longest active streaks in the majors...

Colorado, 1995-2000 six years
St. Louis, 1997-2000 four years
Houston, 1998-2000 three years
New York-NL, 1998-2000 three years
Three clubs lied two years

ROOKIE OF THE...LAST TWO MONTHS: Juan Pierre became the first rookie to string together multiple 15-game hitting streaks since the Twins' Kent Hrbek in 1982 (Elias Sports Bureau)...his first streak, a 16-game stretch, is the longest to open a major league career at least since '75...the Giants' Mike Woodard held the previous, quarter-century mark, hitting safely in his first 13 in 1985.

TRIPLE THE FUN: The Rockies saw four players set career highs in triples: Tom Goodwin (8), Mike Lansing (6), Terry Shumpert (7) and Larry Walker (7)...in addition, Neifl Perez tied his own club record with 11 triples...the Rockies led the majors with 53 triples, talling six shy of the 1993 club record. 59.

HE WASH'T BE AT THE UMPIRES CHRISTMAS PARTY. Major league umpires ejected Buddy Bell nine times...entering 2000, umpires had ejected the Rockies manager from 12 games (Don Baylor 8 from 1993-98, Jim Leyland 4 in 1999).

PRETTY GOOD HITTERS, FOR A BUNCH OF PITCHERS: Rockies pitchers hit .144 with six doubles, four homers, 31 RBI and one stolen base...the four homers doubled the previous club record for homers by pitchers (1993, 1995, 1996, 1997 & 1999)...Brian Bohanon led the way with two homers, tying Armando Reynoso's 1993 single-season mark...Bohanon, who homered once in 1999, also made himself the franchise's all-time career homer leader with three...Masato Yoshii (May 26 vs. Pitsburgh) and Gabe White (June 10 vs. Texas) also homered...Yoshii on June 24 at Arizona became the first Japanese-born player to steal a major league base.

ME PERSONIFIED THE 2000 ROCKIES. The Rockies totaled the most runs (958) by an NL team since the 1930 St. Louis Cardinals (1,004)...Colorado tallied those runs despite hitting only 161 homers, 14th in the NL, and the Rockies' lowest power output since 1993...Jeff Cirillo drove in 115 runs, despite hitting only 11 homers...the last player to hit as few as 11 HR with as many as 115 RBI was Brooklyn's Dixie Walker in 1946...Walker hit nine homers and drove in 116 runs (Elias).

OFF-SEASON a IM-SEASON CHANGES: Colorado's Opening Day roster contained only six players from the roster the Rockies used to open the 1999 season...that 19-player turnover is believed to be the most in major league history (the 1997-98 Florida Marlins had seven players remaining)...then, only 12 of the players who began the year on the Rockies roster weren't with the club for the Atlanta season linale...transactions and injuries left the Rockies with only three Opening Day starters—38 Jeff Cirillo, 1B Todd Helton and SS Neifi Perez—who played the entire season with the Rockies.

A HISTORIC GYOLE. Mike Lansing on June 18 vs. Arizona completed a cycle in the fourth inning (he tripled in the first, homered in the second, doubled in the third and singled in the fourth)...Lansing is believed to be the first player in major league history to complete a cycle in four or fewer innings.

EVERYBODY RETS A SAVE: Six Rockies pitchers recorded saves in 2000...five of those pitchers—Jose Jimenez, David Lee, Stan Belinda, Julian Tavarez and Gabe White—posted saves in the first 13 games of the season...in other words, in Colorado's first seven wins, the Rockies' had five saves by five different pitchers.

IUST ANOTHER DAY AT THE PARM: In the home finale, Sept. 28 vs. Arizona, the teams took a scoreless fie into the seventh inning...then, the clubs combined for 15 runs in the final three innings...it marked only the second time in Coors Field history that each team took a shutout into the seventh...on Aug. 26, 1995 vs. St. Louis, Cards starter Mark Petkovsek threw 7.0 shutout innings, while Bret Saberhagen (6.0) and Steve Reed (1.1) blanked the Cards through 7.1 frames...St. Louis eventually won, 5-4, erasing the Rockies' 3-0 lead in the ninth.

MITS TUS: The Rockies on April 13 vs. St. Louis, against former tearmate Darryl Kile, recorded nine hits in the second inning, a club record for hits in any frame...the previous record was eight, July 11, 1999...on Aug. 12 at Montreal, the Rockies set their club record with 22 hits in a road game...so, Colorado's top two single-game hitting totals away from Denver have come at Olympic Stadium (also 19, July 22, 1997).

MANIFESTATION OF EARLY NOME SUCCESS: Colorado established a major league record by scoring in double figures for eight straight home games...the streak, from April 30-May 23, nearly reached nine home games on May 24...that day, the Cubs held Colorado to nine runs.

ANOTHER IMPRESSIVE STREAM: Pedro Astacio strung together four straight double-digit strikeout games, May 8-24...he fanned 42 of the 128 batters he faced (33 percent) over the four starts.

STRONG HOMESTAND: The Rockies from May 23-28 went 7-2 (.778) to tie for the team's fifth-best multi-opponent homestand ever.

BEST ROAD TRIP EVER: From Aug. 25-30, the Rockies went 5-1 (.833) at Three Rivers Stadium (3-0) and Velerans Stadium (2-1) to establish the team's best multi-city road trip in history...over a longer stretch, from Aug. 11-Sept. 14, the Rockies won 13 of 18 road contests.

TWO TASTES OF FIRST: The Rockies held an extremely slim divisional lead after wins June 18 vs. Arizona and July 3 at San Diego...after the June 18 contest, Colorado held sole possession of the lead for the first time since July 25, 1996...when the team reached first after the July 3 contest, they tied a franchise record by going 12 games above .500 (45-33).

THE TURNING POINT OF TURNING POINTS: After that win July 3 at San Diego, the Rockies proceeded to lose 11 straight and fall from first to fourth in the division race.

PERHAPS THE TEAM'S BEST ALL-ARDUND SAME EVER: On Father's Day, June 18 vs. Arizona, the Rockies...

- Set a franchise record with 42 total bases.
- Saw Mike Lansing hit for the fourth cycle in team history, in just four innings, believed to be the fastest cycle in big-league history.
- Won 19-2, tyling the team mark for runs scored and establishing the largest margin of victory in team annals.
- Collected 23 hits, the second-most in a game in team history...on May 3 vs. Montreal, the Rockies established their club record with 24.
- Saw three players register four or more hits, only the second such Rockies game ever (also May 14, 1998).

THE POINT MEN: The Rockies used seven leadoff hitters, more than any year in team history...previously, the most No. 1 hitters Colorado used in a season was six (four times).

UNTOUCHABLE: Kevin Jarvis on Sept. 21 vs. San Diego retired 18 consecutive hitters, establishing the team's single-game record...David Neid held the previous mark, 16, on April 15, 1993...the Rockies as a staff Sept. 21 retired 19 in a row, setting the 'team's single-game mark...Darren Holmes holds the individual single-season mark. 21 straight, from Sept. 13-28, 1996.

YOU DID THAT ON PURPOSE: The Rockies led the majors with a clubrecord 64 intentional walks drawn...the previous club mark was 47 in 1995...Todd Helton finished tied for second with a club-record 22 intentional walks drawn, surpassing Larry Walker's 1997 mark, 14.

NOW THAT'S A FORMIDABLE FOURTERNER. Several Colorado players have hit three homers in a game, but no one had topped 13 total bases until June 28...that night Jeff Cirillo hit three homers, and doubled, to reach the club-record 14 total bases.

ANOTHER IMPRESSIVE CIRILLO FEAT: The third baseman strung together eight consecutive games with an RBI from June 24-July 7, tying Ellis Burks' 1996 club record.

TOP HITTERS VS. SOUTHPAWS AND RIGHTIES: The Rockies led the league vs. both left- and right-handed pitchers...the club hit .315 vs. southpaws, one point better than Atlanta, and .288 vs. RHP, eight points better than the Giants, who finished second.

IM TRE GLUTCH: With runners in scoring position, the Rockies led the league with a .309 average, 19 points ahead of the second-place Giants... with RISP and two out, Colorado also led the NL, hitting .286 (Montreal finished second, .254)...individually, the Rockies placed Todd Helton (first, .392), Jeff Cirillo (second, .391) and Jeffrey Hammonds (fifth, .352) among the NL's top five.

DOWN TO THEIR LAST STRIKE: With two strikes, Colorado hit better than any NL club, .225...the next closest NL club average with two strikes was New York, who hit .198...the NL composite average was .186.

The two triple plays in Rockies history

On June 13, 1998 at Los Angeles, the Dodgers turned the first triple play in Rockies history. With no outs in the fifth, and runners on first and second, Kurt Abbott dropped a sacrifice bunt attempt. Pitcher Darren Dreifort picked up the ball and threw to second to force out Neifi Perez. Shortstop Jose Vizcaino, who received Dreifort's throw, fired to first to get Abbott. Second baseman Eric Young, who was covering first, then completed the play by throwing to third to get Jamey Wright (1-6-4-5).

Then, almost exactly one year later at Coors Field, on June 14, 1999, it happened again. This one, though, was more "routine." With Edgard Clemente at-bat and runners on first and second, Giants left-hander Shawn Estes induced a hot ground ball to third. Bill Mueller fielded it, stepped on his bag to force Angel Echevarria, and gunned it to second. Jeff Kent, the second baseman, made the pivot, forcing Henry Blanco at second, before completing the play by nailing Clemente at first, thanks to J.T. Snow's stretch (5-4-3).

ric Young, in the first majorleague game in Denver. delivered a leadoff home run, a 3-2 shot into the left-field seats. Four batters later. Charlie Haves answered with a homer of his own, helping Colorado to an unforgettable four-run first. The Rockies drew 80,227 to establish baseball's single-game attendance record, setting the pace for the single-season mark they'd own at the end of the year. Behind starter Bryn Smith, the Rockies earned their first franchise win, rewarding fans who'd waited 100 years for big-league baseball in Colorado.

n a frigid evening, Dante Bichette christened the Rockies' new park with a dramatic homer, a three-run clout to beat the Mets in the bottom of the 14th. Colorado lost the lead twice in extra frames, including the final inning, before Bichette's homer catapulted them to victory. Rico Brogna hit the first homer in the park's history, and Todd Hundley followed with the first Coors Field grand slam. With two out in the ninth and the Rockies down 7-6, new acquisition Larry Walker delivered an RBI double to send the game into the 10th. The two teams combined for 32 hits off 14 total pitchers, giving the baseball world a glimpse into the future of the majors' most exciting ballpark.

he Rockies clinched a postseason berth in the franchise's third season, five years faster than any expansion team in history. And, by beating the Giants, Colorado became the National League's first wild-card team, finishing just one game behind first place Los Angeles. The Rockies clawed back from an early 8-2 deficit, using a pair of four-run innings to take the lead. Holding the Giants in check, the Colorado bullpen retired nine of its last 11 hitters. Curtis Leskanic, the seventh Rockies pitcher, fanned his first two batters in the ninth and induced a slow roller from Jeff Reed to preserve the victory.

n Game 3 of the NL Division Series, the Rockies produced the go-ahead runs with two out in the 10th, en route to the franchise's only postseason victory. After watching an early three-run lead dissolve, Colorado allowed the game-tying tally in the ninth. But the resilient Rockies made their extra-inning cushion stand, as Mark Thompson retired the Braves in order in the 10th. Vinny Castilla homered and drove in the game's final run.

ew gave the Rockies a chance heading into the bottom of the ninth. With his club on top 8-4. Dennis Eckersley, one of the game's most dominant relievers, entered the game in what wasn't even a save situation. But the future Hall of Famer walked Eric Young to lead off the ninth, the pitcher's second walk of the season and first unintentional. The next batter, Ellis Burks, blasted a 1-1 pitch to center and cut the Cards' lead in half. Three batters later. with one out and runners on the corners, manager Don Baylor called for his power-hitting pinchhitter, John Vander Wal, setting up a confrontation the skipper had been waiting for the whole series. Vander Wal hammered a 1-0 pitch into the visitors bullpen and capped the largest ninthinning rally in Rockies history. In an eerie contest that could only happen at Coors Field, St. Louis' John Mabry actually hit for the cycle. Larry Walker became the first player to reach the park's third deck with a 475-foot shot in the sixth inning.

In a closely watched three-game series, Colorado hosted the Giants, who came to Denver trailing the Mets and Cubs by a full game. In Sunday's regular-season finale, with the Mets out and the Cubs and Giants tied for first. Houston broke a tie in the bottom of the 11th to beat the Cubs, giving the Giants the temporary lead. However, less than 60 seconds after Houston scored its winning run, with ESPN's national audience shifting to Coors Field, Neifi Perez stepped to the plate. The Rockies' shortstop homered to break an 8-8 tie in the bottom of the ninth, denying the Giants of the final postseason spot and forcing a one-game playoff with the Cubs. ROCKIES CHRONOLOGY

August 8 – Baseball's new Basic Agreement permits the National League to expand by two teams.

1987

October 31 – U.S. Senators from eight states, including Colorado Sen. Tim Wirth, create a Congressional task force to investigate baseball expansion.

1989

June 15 – Baseball says it will announce a timetable for N.L. expansion within 90 days after a new Basic Agreement.

1990

August 14 — Denver-area voters pass a 0.1 percent sales tax to finance construction of a new ballpark, if MLB awards a team.

August 23 - Colorado's Baseball Advisory Committee, headed by Gov. Roy Romer, designates the Colorado Baseball Partnership to spearhead the formation of an ownership group.

September 18 – The N.L. Expansion Committee hears Denver's presentation.

December 18 – The N.L. unveils its short list of six potential expansion sites: Buffalo, Denver, Orlando, South Florida, Tampa-St. Petersburg and Wash., D.C.

1991

January 25 - Denver's ownership group launches a season ticket drive, requesting a refundable deposit of $50 per seat.

March 13 – The Denver Metropolitan Major League Baseball Stadium District chooses its site: 20th and Blake.

March 15 – Ownership announces that the proposed park will be named Coors Field.

March 26 – The N.L. Expansion Committee visits Denver. June 6 — Commissioner Fay Vincent announces that both leagues will share revenues generated by the $190 million expansion fee, and that both circuits will contribute players to the expansion draft.

June 10 – Vincent announces Denver and South Florida are the N.L's selections.

June 28 – The two leagues and the MLB Players Association compromise: A.L. teams will protect extra players in each draft round. Only eight A.L. teams will have to give up three players; the other six will give up players only in the first two rounds. With the agreement, a final expansion vote is scheduled for July 5.

July 5 – Major-league owners unanimously approve Denver and South Florida as baseball's two newest franchises. Colorado Baseball Partnership announces that the team will be called the Colorado Rockies and unveils the team logo.

September - Bob Gebhard is named the first general manager.

February 14 – KOA-Radio (850 AM) signs a five-year contract, becoming the flagship station.

March 2 – Ownership chooses Tucson, Ariz. as the Rockies' spring training home. The agreement between the Rockies and the Pima County Sports Authority calls for the club to play its games at Hi Corbett Field.

March 19 – The club announces its 1993 ticket prices, seating locations, and season-ticket packages. The Colorado Rockies Foundation commits to providing at least 150,000 tickets in '93 to the less fortunate.

April 16 - KWGN-TV (Channel 2) signs a five-year agreement to become the Rockies' exclusive over-the-air television station.

June 1 – John Burke, a pitcher from the University of Florida and a native of Englewood, Colo., is selected in the first round of the MLB June Draft, the club's first-ever draft selection.

June 6 – The Rockies conduct a tryout camp at the University of Denver baseball field.

June 16 – Bend, Ore., hosts the first game in organization history, a Single-A Northwest League contest between the Bend Rockies and Boise Hawks. With the Rockies trailing 4-1 in the bottom of the eighth, catcher Will Scalzitti hits a grand slam to give his club a dramatic 6-4 win.

July 4 – The Rockies unveil their traditional 1993 uniforms (home, road, and Sunday alternate) at a Team USA-Team Cuba baseball game at Mile High Stadium before 61,165 fans. Included on the home uniform is purple pinstripes, making the Rockies the first team in major-league history to feature purple stripes. The club's road uniform is gray and the alternate is black. Also, the team improves its loop.

September 2 – Jerry McMorris, Oren Benton and Charles Monfort acquire all of the interests previously owned by non-Coloradoans. The local trio assumes control of the team.

October 16 – Ground is broken on the future site of Coors Field.

October 27 – The Rockies name Don Baylor their first manager.

November 9 - The Colorado Baseball Partnership completes its acquisition of the franchise by paying the $95 million franchise fee. Shortly thereafter, the Rockies acquire pitcher Travis Buckley from the Montreal Expos in exchange for a player-to-benamed (Matt Connolly) in the club's first trade.

November 16 - The club signs free-agent Andres Galarraga.

November 17 - The Rockies select David Nied from the Atlanta Braves to open the MLB Expansion Draft in New York City. At the same time, over 20,000 fans fill Denver's Currigan Hall to watch the historic event. After the draft, Colorado trades Kevin Reimer and Jody Reed for Dante Bichette and Rudy Seanez, respectively.

1993

January 26 – The Rockies restructure their front office. Jerry McMorris becomes Chairman, President and C.E.O.; Oren Benton and Charles Monfort become vice chairmen.

February 18 – Pitchers and catchers report to Tucson, Ariz. for the club's inaugural spring training. Position players report five days later.

March 6 – The Rockies win their first spring training game, 7-2, over San Francisco. David Nied starts and pitches out of a jam in the first by striking out Barry Bonds.

April 5 — The club plays its first regular season game, against the Mets at Shea Stadium. Dwight Gooden tosses a three-hit shutout.

April 9 — The Rocky Mountain region welcomes big-league baseball, as the Rockies host Montreal at Mile High Stadium. Eric Young homers to lead off the bottom of the first, bringing the record-setting crowd of 80,227 to its feet. Colorado wins, 11-4, behind 37-year-old Bryn Smith, who blanks the Expos over seven innings.

May 14 – Jay Gainer becomes the 12th player ever to homer on his first major-league pitch.

September 17 – In one game, their 71st home date, the Rockies surpass the 4 million mark, breaking the single-season attendance record.

September 26 – The inaugural attendance is final: 4,483,350.

October 3 - The Rockies conclude their inaugural season with the most wins by a N.L. expansion club. Andres Galarraga wins the batting title, the first won by an expansion player and Venezuelan native.

November 2 – The club and the Denver Metropolitan Stadium District agree to expand Coors Field to approximately 50,200.

December 1 — Free-agent outfielder Ellis Burks agrees to a three-year deal.

December 6 - The Rockies resign first baseman Andres Galarraga to a four-year contract.

1994

January 7 – Free-agent shortstop Walt Weiss agrees to a two-year deal and becomes the first player to appear on the roster of both expansion teams. He played for Florida in '93.

January 13 – Responding to fan requests, the club alters its uniforms. Names are placed on the back of the home jerseys, while the road uniform's lettering is changed from silver to purple.

February 25 - The Rockies

Rockies fans set many attendance records at Mile High Stadium, including the single-season and single-game marks in 1993. The club was on pace to eclipse the '93 total when a strike ended the '94 season.

announce that they will exercise the '95 option on manager Don Baylor's contract.

June 26 – The Rockies claim one of the few major-league attendance records not yet in their possession, drawing 217,009 fans to a three-game series vs. the Giants.

July 17 – Colorado tops one of its own attendance records, drawing 259,113 to a four-game series against St. Louis.

August 7 — Again, the Rockies eclipse one of their own attendance marks, opening turnstiles for their 3 millionth fan in just the 52nd home date; 1993 saw Colorado crack 3 million in 53 dates.

September 30 – The Rockies, the City of Denver and Feed the Children announce an innovative literacy program called "Hitting Home." The program, which will run through the end of the 1995-96 school year, will distribute two books to 2,300 students.

October 31 – Colorado promotes Dick Balderson to vice president/player personnel and Tony Siegle is hired to replace Walt Jocketty as assistant general manager.

November 2 - The Rockies announce they will be a major sponsor of the 1995 National Beep Ball Association World Series, which will come to Denver in August, 1995.

November 24 – 6,000 pounds of food and more than $700, collected at the Rockies Wives Food Drive held in April, is distributed on Thanksgiving Day through COMPA Food Ministries.

January 20 - The club presents a check for $22,366 to the Boys and Girls Club of Denver to promote the development of innercity youth baseball programs. February 3 – The Rockies and the Robert R. April 8 - The Rockies sign free agents Larry Walker and Bill Swift to multi-year contracts.

April 24 — Following the Oklahoma City bombing, the Rockies make a $32,000 donation to the Red Cross Relief Fund. Initiated by the players and coaching staff, club management joined in the cause.

April 26 – The Rockies inaugurate Coors Field in dramatic fashion. Dante Bichette hits a gamewinning three-run homer to beat New York in the 14th inning.

April 29 – The Rockies defeat the Houston Astros, 2-1, in Houston and claim sole possession of first for the first time in club history.

June 13 – Fans flow into Coors Field for the park's first of 203 consecutive sellouts.

June 16 – The Big Cat dedicates "Andres Galarraga Field" to the Boys and Girls Club of Denver. Galarraga, along with the Robert R. McCormick Foundation, donates $48,000 for the field.

June 25 – Galarraga ties a majorleague record by hitting a home run in three consecutive innings, becoming the fourth player in history to accomplish the feat.

June 26 - National League President Leonard Coleman announces that Coors Field has been selected to host the 1998 All-Star Game.

July 7 – National League manager, Felipe Alou, selects both Dante Bichette and Vinny Castilla to the All-Star squad, marking the first time the Rockies placed more than one representative in the contest. Castilla gets the starting assignment in place of an injured Matt Williams, becoming the first All-Star starter in club history.

July 17 – National cross-checker Herb Hippauf passes away in his battle with cancer. An original member of the scouting staff, he joined the organization in 1992.

July 31 – The Rockies acquire two-time Cy Young winner Bret Saberhagen from the Mets.

August 9 – The Rockies welcome 300 blind and visually impaired athletes to Denver for the 20th annual World Series of Pioneer Beep Baseball. As a sponsor, the club provides equipment, umpires, field expenses and other costs.

October 1 – The Rockies defeat the San Francisco Giants, 10-9, to claim the National League wild-card berth, becoming the first expansion team to reach postseason play prior to its eighth year of competition.

November 2 — Dante Bichette and the Rockies agree to terms on a three-year deal. Later in the month, Bichette finishes second in the N.L. MVP balloting.

November 7 – Don Baylor claims the National League Manager-ofthe-Year, for leading his thirdyear club to postseason play.

November 16 – Ken Griffey, Sr. becomes the fourth batting coach in as many years. Former bigleague manager Jackie Moore is also named to the coaching staff.

November 20 — Walt Weiss resigns with the Rockies, agreeing to a two-year deal with a '98 player option.

November 27 – All-Star third baseman Vinny Castilla signs a two-year contract, through 1997.

1996

February 15 - The city of Tucson

Coors Field's inaugural Opening Day, April 26, 1995.

and the Rockies reach an agreement in principal to keep the city the spring training home of the franchise for the next 15 years.

March 29 — Michael McMorris, son of Rockies Chairman Jerry McMorris, passes away after a lifelong battle with Cystic Fibrosis. The club will wear a shoulder patch bearing Michael's initials during the 1996 season.

May 11 – Florida Marlins pitcher Al Leiter no-hits the Rockies at Joe Robbie Stadium.

September 12 — Ellis Burks steals his 30th base of the season, becoming the first "30/30" player in franchise history. He hit his 30th home run on August 5.

September 13 — Having stolen his 30th base of the year the night before, Dante Bichette followed his teammate's lead, by hitting his 30th homer. The Rockies joined the 1987 New York Mets as the only teams in history to boast two "30/30" players in the same season.

September 15 – Andres Galarraga's three-run homer scores the 626, 627, and 628th runs of 1996 at home, helping the Rockies set the modern majorleague record for runs scored at home (625, Boston-AL, 1950). The Rockies would end the season with 658 tallies at Coors.

September 16 – Walt Weiss, continuing to participate in the Rockies field refurbishment program, announced the field he contributed funds for in Timnath Colorado would bear the name of Michael D. McMorris in honor of the late son of Rockies Chairman Jerry McMorris, who lost his life to Cystic Fibrosis in March.

September 17 – The Dodgers' Hideo Nomo tosses the first nohitter in Coors Field history, the second against the Rockies in 1996. Colorado became the first major-league team to get no-hit twice and still win the club batting title in the same season.

September 28 — Ellis Burks steals second base and helps the Rockies become the first major-league team to hit 200 home runs and steal 200 bases in the same season.

October 16 - Colorado names Clint Hurdle, minor league roving hitting instructor since 1993, batting coach.

October 28 — National League All-Star Ellis Burks re-signs with Colorado, agreeing to a two-year deal through 1998.

November 24 - The Colorado Rockies, with Volunteers of America, ARAMARK, Sysco Foods, King Soopers, Austin Food Brokerage, Butler Rents, and Cargill/Honeysuckle Turkeys, host a holiday Turkey Feast in Coors Field press box.

December 9 - Free-agent catcher Kirt Manwaring signs a twoyear deal with the Rockies.

1997

February 25 – The Rockies and KWGN-TV Channel 2 announce a five-year contract extension, which allows the Rockies' affiliate to continue to broadcast the club's games through the 2002 season.

February 26 – The Rockies and FOX Sports Rocky Mountain reach a multi-year agreement for the cable rights to the club, beginning with seven telecasts in 1997, and expanding to 50 games each year for the remainder of the contract.

August 10-13 – Coors Field hosts the fifth annual RBI (Reviving Baseball in the Inner-cities) World Series. Teams representing the U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico compete in both boys and girls divisions.

August 13 – In a pregame ceremony attended by Rachel and Sharon Robinson, the Rockies retire No. 42 in honor of Jackie Robinson's historic and heroic contributions to the game of baseball. His number adorns the rightfield wall in Coors Field, and is retired across baseball.

August 18 – The Rockies acquire RHP Pedro Astacio from the Dodgers for second baseman Eric Young. Astacio goes 5-1 to close out the season and picks up four of the top five Rockies' single game strikeout performances on the year.

September 24 – Minor league pitcher Doug Million passes away after a severe asthma attack in Mesa, Ariz., where he was taking part in Instructional League.

September 29 – Oren L. Benton resigns as vice chairman.

October 22 - Rightfielder Larry Walker wins the franchise's first Gold Glove.

November 13 – Walker wins the National League's Most Valuable Player. He becomes the first Canadian and first Rockie to win the award. Walker is voted first on 22 of the 28 ballots submitted.

November 13 - Colorado loses two players in the MLB Expansion Draft: Quinton McCracken and Bryan Rekar to the Tampa Bay Devil Rays. However, the Rockies acquire second baseman Mike Lansing and left-handed reliever Chuck McElroy in trades.

December 2 – After hitting .304, with 40 home runs and 113 RBI for the second season in a row, Rockies' third baseman Vinny Castilla agrees to a four-year contract extension through 2001.

December 4 – Darryl Kile, one of the most coveted pitchers on the free-agent market, agrees to a three-year contract.

December 8 – Richard L. Monfort becomes vice chairman, joining his brother, Charles, who has held the same position since 1992.

June 10 - Dante Bichette becomes the first Rockie to hit for the cycle.

July 6 – Coors Field hosts the 69th annual major-league All-Star festivities, beginning with All-Star Workout Day. Ken Griffey, Jr. beats out Jim Thome to win the long-awaited home run derby. During the contest's first round, Mark McGwire launches a ball 510 feet off a billboard in center field.

July 7 – In the highest scoring All-Star game in history, the Americans beat the Nationals, 13-8. Roberto Alomar earns the MVP award. Earlier in the day, the Rockies and several other entities dedicate Coca-Cola All-Star park, the crown jewel of the club's Fields of Dreams program. A replica of Coors Field, the facility is the finest youth baseball park in the country.

July 21 – In his major-league debut, Mark Brownson tosses a complete-game shutout at Houston. July 25 - Neifi Perez becomes the second Rockie to hit for the cycle.

July 31 – The Rockies trade outfielder Ellis Burks to the Giants for center fielder Darryl Hamilton, and two minor-league prospects.

Aug. 31 - OF Dante Bichette agrees to a three-year contract extension.

Sept. 18 – Colorado agrees to a player development contract with the Double-A Carolina Mudcats of the Southern League.

Sept. 28 – The Rockies relieve the only manager in club history, Don Baylor, of his duties one day after the regular season.

October 7 – Colorado introduces Jim Leyland as the club's second manager.

October 27 – The Rockies promote Tom Probst to head trainer. Probst, an original club trainer, replaces Dave Cilladi.

November 5 - Club ownership introduces Gary Hughes, the team's vice president/player personnel.

November 6 - Colorado signs Darryl Hamilton to a three-year contract.

November 7 – The Rockies sign Lenny Harris and Brian Bohanon to free-agent contracts.

December 18 - Club management promotes Brandy Lay to director of team travel, the third in franchise history.

1999

January 4 - The Rockies promote Tim Ireland to Pacific Rim coordinator, a point man in the franchise's Far East scouting.

February 9 – Days before spring training, the Rockies and RHP Mike DeJean agree on a three-year contract.

April 4 – Colorado marks its seventh Opening Day with a historic game. The Rockies and Padres become the first teams to open a major league schedule outside of the U.S. or Canada, in Monterrey Mexico. Colorado wins, 8-2.

April 20 – Tragedy strikes nearby Columbine High School and the Rockies postpone two home games with the Montreal Expos.

May 5 – At Wrigley Field, the Rockies become the third team in the 20th century to score in every inning of a nine-inning game, in a 13-6 win over the Cubs.

June 2 – Colorado uses its firstround selection in the June Draft to take RHP Jason Jennings. The Baylor University product later garners College Player of the Year honors.

June 19 – Todd Helton becomes the third Colorado player to hit for the cycle.

June 24 – The Rockies host An Evening of Stars and Fireworks at Coors Field, a celebrity softball game involving several local pro athletes. More than 25,000

POSTSEASON HISTORY

1995 National League Division Series

In 1995, Colorado earned a trip to the postseason in the franchise's third year of play, faster than any expansion club in major-league history. The first NL wild-card entry, the Rockies posted the best winning percentage of any third-year club, .535 (77-67).

Although Colorado held a lead in all four games, the Rockies lost to the eventual World Champions, 3-1, in the first-ever NL Division Series. The lone victory came in Game 3, a 7-5 triumph. The linescores from the series with the Braves:

Pat Daugherty enters his 29th year in pro ball. He spent eight seasons as the first scouting director in franchise history, before moving to his newly created role. Pat came to Colorado after six seasons as Montreal's scouting supervisor. He also served as head coach at Indian Hills Community College for 17 years. His pro baseball career began in 1972 as manager at Cocoa Beach in the Gulf Coast League. In 1981 the Montreal Expos named him Field Director of Player Development. His collegiate coaching career began in 1965 and Pat won more than 500 games at IHCC, and the school's diamond is named after him. In 1998 the American Baseball Coaches Association inducted him into its Hall of Fame. He's also a member of the Simpson College Hall of Fame, the Iowa Coaches Hall of Fame and the National Junior College Hall of Fame. Daugherty has a degree from Simpson and a master's from Drake University. He and wife, JoAnn, have four children: Mary Beth, Ann, Peggy and Mike.

scout, spent five years as a national cross-checker, He spent 1994-1995 as a Midwest regional cross-checker. Dave was an area scout for the Pirates from 1990-93. Before that, he served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma State (1981-88), his second stint with OSU, after receiving his first assistant coaching position there in 1977. At Yavapai JC he was an assistant coach during the 1979-80 campaign, From there, Dave spent one year as the head coach at Murray State JC before returning to the OSU staff. A 1973 graduate of Uniontown (Pa.) High School, Dave attended Grand Canyon University, earning a B.S. in physical education and an M.S. in exercise physiology. He and his wife, Sonya, have three children: Hailee, Hillary, and Heath,

Terry Wetzel begins his first year with the Rockies. The senior director-scouting from 1998-2000 for Kansas City, Wetzel began his scouting careerwith the Royals in 1984 as an associate scout. A full-time scout for the Royals from 1989 to 1995, Wetzel was promoted to national crosschecker in 1996 and then after the 1997 season he became director-scouting. Wetzel coached high school baseball and football in the Houston area. A native Nebraskan, he earned a bachelor's degree in education from Concordia University in Seward, Neb. He would later go on to get his master's degree from Valparasio University in 1981, He and his wife, Patricia, have two children, Jenna and Ryan,

THE WINTER PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

- ♦ In January, 2001, the Rockies held their inaugural Winter Development Program. The Cleveland Indians are the only other major league organization who conducts a similar program. The Rockies created the Winter Development Program as a unique means of preparing prospective major league players for a successful career in Denver.
- ◆ The inaugural three-week program consisted of a combination of physical workouts, classroom sessions and motivational seminars with special guest speakers, including Jerry McMorris, Dan O'Dowd, Buddy Bell, Jerry Dipoto and Todd Helton from the Rockies, Mike Shanahan from the Denver Broncos, Marcus Houston from the University of Colorado and Tracy Ringolsby from the Denver Rocky Mountain News.

- ♦ The Rockies provided transportation to and from Denver, breakfast and lunch at the ballpark, and per diem for all selected players. In addition, the players had the opportunity to visit local attractions and events in the area. For instance, the 2001 camp attended a University of Colorado-Kansas basketball game in Boulder, as well as Denver Nuggets and Colorado Avalanche games in Denver.
- During the program, host families assigned by the Rockies house the players, like foreign exchange students.

THE ROCKIES ON RADIO

Wayne Hayin Radio Announcer

The lead broadcaster on the Rockies radio network since the beginning of the franchise, Wayne's familiar voice has become synonymous with Colorado baseball. Hagin is believed to be the only person who has witnessed all 1,233 regular-season Rockies games. Dante Bichette, before Colorado traded him to the Reds after the '99 season, had also witnessed every game.

Hagin, 45, this past winter was named Colorado Sportscaster of the Year by the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association. In 1998, Rockies players voted him the Players Choice Denver Media Man of the Year.

His strong knowledge of the game follows 18 seasons of broadcasting major league play, a career that began with the Oakland Athletics in 1981. In addition to the A's, the Denver native was a member of the San Francisco Giants and the Chicago White Sox broadcast teams before coming home to Colorado. What's more, Hagin called a Rockies game on ESPN television last season, and capped the year in the ESPN radio booth, at the Atlanta-St. Louis Division Series with Mark Grace.

Baseball was a natural for Hagin, who played collegiately at San Diego State, then was an original at ESPN in 1979. He was mikeside for the network's first-ever baseball telecasts. Hagin has also called ESPN College Basketball and the NBA's Golden State Warriors television.

Wayne and his wife, Valerie, have two sons, Austin and Taylor, and reside in Littleton, Colo. The family is active in the community, working with the D.A.R.E. Program and the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

Jeff Kingery Radio Announcer

Jeff Kingery has been in the Rockies radio booth since the team entered the National League in 1993.

Fans have heard Kingery on the Denver airwaves for more than 20 years. He came to Colorado to call the old Denver Bears, including their American Association championship year, 1981. Now, after 11 seasons as the voice of the Denver Nuggets, Kingery is living his lifelong dream, broadcasting major league baseball.

Raised near San Francisco, he credits the dulcet tones of Dodgers' broadcaster Vin Scully as the reason for his enthusiasm. Thrills have been many for Kingery since the Rockies began, but he recalls the 1995 season as the most exciting, when "every game meant something," he said.

Jeff and his wife, Meryl, make their home in Englewood, with their dog, Columbo. The Kingerys are also active in the community, working with Easter Seals and Recording for the Blind. In his spare time, he plays the guitar in a Denver rock band, E.K.G.

THE ROCKIES ON TELEVISION

LAVE A (IS GOIL Play-by-Play Announcer

Dave Armstrong is in his sixth season as the play-by-play television voice of the Rockies, as he joined Colorado after three seasons with the Kansas City Royals' TV network. He teams with George Frazier to call 125 regular-season Rockies television broadcasts.

Armstrong, 46, is no stranger to area sports fans. For more than a decade, Dave has provided play-by-play for Big Eight and Big 12 college basketball telecasts. His television credits also include work with ESPN, the Prime Network and Seattle Seahawks exhibition football.

Raised in Detroit, Dave was an avid Tiger fan growing up. He graduated in 1976 from John Brown University in Siloam Springs, Ark., where he played tennis. Armstrong is also an accomplished golfer. Dave and his wife, Karen, and children, Tiffany and Troy, make their year-round home in Littleton, Colo.

GEOTGE FRAZIET Color Analyst

George Frazier begins his fourth campaign in the Rockies booth, again teaming with Dave Armstrong to provide fans with exclusive coverage on both KWGN-WB2 and Fox Sports Net.

An experienced broadcaster, George has provided his insights for Home Sports Entertainment, the Baseball Network, ESPN and the Minnesota Twins.

A former major league relief pitcher (1978-87), he went 35-43 in 415 games with a 4.20 ERA and 29 saves, while pitching for St. Louis, New York (AL), Cleveland, Chicago (NL) and Minnesota. He made trips to the World Series with both the Yankees ('81) and the Twins ('87), earning a world championship ring in his final year as a player, with Minnesota.

Frazier, 46, was born in Oklahoma City and earned All-State honors in baseball at Hillcrest High School in Springfield, Mo., going 7-0 with a 0.14 ERA during his senior season. He then played collegiately at the University of Oklahoma, leading the Sooners to four consecutive trips to the College World Series. Milwaukee selected him in the ninth-round of the 1976 draft.

George, his wife Kay, and children, Mathew, 21, Brian, 19, Parker, 12, and Georgia,, 8, reside in Tulsa, Okla.

Denver-area facts

- ♦ In its June 30, 1997 issue, The Sporting News ranked the Denver-Boulder area as the No. 1 sports city in the United States.
- According to the census, the six-county Denver metropolitan area, including Denver, Boulder, Jefferson, Adams, Arapahoe and Douglas counties, is the 19th largest in the United States.
- Denver is called the "Mile High City" because it's exactly one mile above sea level. At Coors Field, the purple row in the ballpark's upper deck is 5,280 feet in elevation.
- Denver's geographical location provides convenient access, especially for the Rockies, who rarely need to make refueling stops on road trips. Denver International Airport is the fifth busiest in the country, and 10th in the world, serving more than 200 U.S. cities and more than 25 foreign nations.
- ◆ Denver has four major professional teams. The Denver Broncos (Super Bowl XXXII and XXXIII winners), the Colorado Avalanche (1995-96 Stanley Cup winners) and the Denver Nuggets join the Rockies in providing one of the most entertaining arenas in all of sports. As of August 2001, when the Broncos' new stadium opens, each team will be playing in a state-of-the-art downtown facility. Meanwhile, four Division I colleges—the University of Colorado at Boulder, Colorado State University in Ft. Collins, the University of Denver and the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs—are within an hour's drive of Coors Field.
- Denver's climate boasts of more than 320 days of sunshine annually, and it's not unusual to have 60and 70-degree days during the winter. The humidity hovers at a low percentage virtually year-round. During Rockies games, the average first-pitch conditions are 73 degrees with 29 percent humidity. The large snowfalls are usually confined to the mountain areas, providing a base for the dozens of Colorado ski resorts.

ROCKIES MEDIA POLICIES

Welcome

On behalf of the Rockies organization, we welcome you to our region and our park. We genuinely appreciate the time you've taken to cover our ball club. If you have any questions or requests, please don't hesitate to contact a member of our staff and we will make every effort to accommodate you. We look forward to working with you throughout the 2000 season.

2001 Policies

Please understand that we must work together to provide an environment for you that works efficiently with everyone involved, including the players and fans. We respectfully remind you that you are a guest in our park and ask that you have the courtesy to work within the guidelines of these policies, In order to sustain precedent, any violation of these guidelines will result in immediate revocation of your credential and bar future access to Coors Field. While within the park, members of the media, their agents and personnel, shall at all times be subject to the direction and/or supervision of the Colorado Rockies and the club's contractors.

Working Press Credentials

Season and daily press credentials are issued with the intention they will be utilized for the working press in order to provide coverage of the Rockies at Coors Field. Requests for daily credentials must come directly from the affiliation's editor, producer or director on company letterhead at least 48 hours prior to the game requested. THE COLORADO ROCKIES DO NOT CREDENTIAL FREE-LANCE WRITERS. Fax requests will be accepted only if the requesting affiliation is currently on file with the Rockies public relations office. It is the responsibility of the requesting affiliation to confirm receipt, and subsequent approval/denial of access to the game in question.

Press Dining

A press dining room is also located adjacent to the working press box on the "lower press" level, and is available to credentialed members of the media whom with access to the working press box. Press meals are $7.

Photo Credentials

Season and daily photo credentials are issued only to photographers on assignment for legitimate news-gathering organizations and representatives of companies licensed by Major League Baseball. Requests must follow the procedure outlined above. THE COLORADO ROCKIES DO NOT CREDENTIAL FREELANCE PHOTOGRAPHERS. AII flash photography is prohibited at Coors Field. Please be advised that priority in all photo bays will be granted to news organizations on nightly deadlines. All mono- and tripods of any sort are strictly prohibited from the field at all times. Any use of photographs taken other than for newsgathering purposes or MLB officially licensed products will be considered a violation of existing trademark and copyright restrictions. As an opportunity to change locations mid-game, photographers are permitted to move along the warning track behind home plate between the first- and third-base photo bays at the conclusion of the fourth inning, but prior to the start of the lifth inning. Photographers are prohibited from stopping and photographing while changing photo bays. Photographers wishing to gain access to the clubhouse must receive advance clearance from the Rockies public relations department. Alcoholic beverages are prohibited from any photo bay or camera well at all times.

Internet Media

Only licensees of Major League Baseball Enterprises have exclusive rights to simulate accounts, descriptions or pitch-by-pitch reproductions of Major League Baseball games on the Internet. No transmission by any other media, specifically including the Internet and any other online network, of any information about the game, including (but not limited to) any account, description, picture, video, audio, reproduction or other information concerning any MLB game will be permitted to originate from inside the ballpark (including from a camera feed already positioned within the ballpark). Reproduction of such accounts without a license from Major League Baseball Enterprises is a violation of the pollcies of MLB and the Colorado Rockles. A breach in such policy will result in revocation of credentials, and may be subject to litigation.

Live Transmissions

Affiliations not licensed by MLB and non-rightsholders of the Colorado Rockies and MLB (television, radio and internet sites) are prohibited from providing live telecasts, radio broadcasts, game simulations, pitch-by-pitch accounts, as well as from using live or taped material originating from inside the ballpark during a period commencing with the conclusion of batting practice and ending with the conclusion of the game. Live transmissions will be permitted until the conclusion of the club's rightsholder's (radio or television) post-game programming. RADIO STATIONS AND ASSIGNED CORRESPONDENTS FOR OUT-OF-TOWN REPORTS ARE PERMITTED TO GIVE INNING OR HALF-INNING SCORE UPDATES; HOWEVER AT NO TIME CAN THEY FILE REPORTS ONCE PLAY IS IN PROGRESS.

Roving Cameras

Any camera light in the seating area of the ballpark is strictly prohibited. If a photo light comes on during the game, umpires will stop play. Still photographers must shoot from either one of the photo bays (first- and third-base bags). With prior approval from the Rockies PR department, still photogs may shoot from the TV camera wells located in the ō'

outfield along the baselines & along the upper deck, space permitting. Interviews within the ballpark during the game may only be conducted on the concourse between innings, not in the stands while the game is in progress.

Working Press Box

Seating in the lower press box is prioritized by daily print media, visiting public relations departments, visiting beat writers and area radio and television representatives not on the air during games. The upper press box consists of two television booths and four radio booths for live broadcasts. Keeping with MLB and club policy, no person under 18 is permitted into the press box on game days. Alcoholic beverages are prohibited from the working press box (upper and lower) prior to the game or while the game is in progress.

Field Access

All members of the media with credentials allowing them access onto the field may conduct interviews at specific times prior to the start of the game. The field must be cleared 50 minutes before the beginning of the game. At no time are media permitted in fair territory or anywhere outside of the first- or third-base bags. Alcoholic beverages are prohibited from the field at all times. In 2001, there's no access from behind home plate; please use the tunnels from dugout to clubhouse.

Batting Practice

Members of the media are prohibited from standing, photographing or conducting interviews from the circle of dirt surrounding the cage while batting practice for either team is in progress.

Cellular Phones

The use of cellular phones for radio interviews while on the field and in the clubhouse is strictly prohibited. Any and all telephone interviews must be arranged in advance with the Rockies public relations department. An exception to the usage of a cellular phone for an interview is in the dugout, only after receiving advance permission from the player or staff member to be interviewed. All other telephone interviews must be arranged through the Rockies public relations department.

Media Phones

Members of the press can make toll-free calls or use their calling cards on any of the 10 designated phones provided by the Rockies in the press box. These phones are installed for the use of all media in the press box for working conditions only. If members of the media feel there are not enough lines available, they should contact Qwest representative Jeff Tietz at 800/301-9220 or FAX at 800/705-3307 to install their own line for use during the season.

Clubhouse Access

Members of the media must have a SPECIFIC working purpose to gain admittance to the clubhouse. The clubhouse will be closed 50 minutes prior to the start of the game. It will re-open up to 10 minutes after the game. Access to the visiting Coors Field clubhouse will be determined by the visiting club's policies.

Autographs

Credentialed members of the media are strictly prohibited from requesting autographs or equipment on the field, in the dugout or in the clubhouse. Officials will revoke credentials immediately, no exceptions.

Ticket Requests

The maximum ticket request by a member of the media is four per affiliation, per series (one station may request eight tickets for a homestand of two opponents). Ticket requests must be made a minimum of 48 hours in advance of the game in guestion. Reguests will be accepted on letterhead and must be made by the affiliation's sports producer, director or editor. It is the requesting party's responsibility to confirm receipt of the request by the Rockies PR department, as well as to confirm approval/denial of the said request. If media tickets are not picked up without prior notice of an inability to do so to the Rockies PR department, the affiliation's ticket privileges will be revoked. Media tickets are a limited quantity per game. The Rockies PR department may also help media purchase tickets over the phone with a credit card, and the tickets will be available at the media will-call window. Media tickets are generally available for pick up one hour in advance of the start of the game. Media tickets are not guaranteed unless specifically approved by a member of the Rockies PR staff.

Official Scorers

Dave Einspahr begins his eighth season as a full-time Rockies official scorer. He served as Frank Haraway's backup for the inaugural 1993 season. One of the most versatile statisticians in sports, he also heads the statistics crew during Denver Broncos, Denver Nuggets and University of Colorado football home games; he broke into the profession full time with the Denver Gold in the USFL. Einspahr's first pro baseball experience was with the Denver Zephyrs. He's worked three AFC championship football games, several NBA playoff contests, two NCAA men's basketball regionals, and has traveled to Australia, Mexico City and Tokyo for Broncos preseason games. In the "real world" Dave worked for the United States Postal Service for 28 years. In fact, the Broncos' head statistician lived on his first mail route and summoned him to fill in on the Broncos crew during the team's first Super Bowl season, 1977. He's headed the Broncos crew since 1986, the Nuggets' since 1989-90 and the University of Colorado's since 1987. As a cooperative observer, he's also worked for the National Weather Service, tracking weather records for the city of Wheat Ridge, where he lives, since the early 1970s. The Denver native graduated from Lutheran High School.

Jack Rose is in his fourth season as a Coors Field official scorer. Rose served as the head baseball coach at the University of Denver for 36 years, retiring after the '97 season when the school dropped baseball, its oldest sport. His Pioneers, who played from 1962-75 at Division I and from 1976-97 in the NAIA, earned appearances in 13 national tournaments. Five of his players advanced to the majors, and 32 signed pro contracts, the most successful of whom was Dan Shatzeder, who pitched 13 years in the majors and won Game 6 of the 1987 World Series. Rose, who was 785-717 (.524) at DU, was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame and honored with the alumni's Distinguished Service Award. Jack and his wife, Dee, have three children, Tom, Susan and Lisa, and make their home in Highlands Ranch.

THE FRANK HARAWAY PRESS BOX

The Frank Haraway Press Box at Coors Field is one of the most media-friendly press facilities in all of sports. It was dedicated July 25, 1997 in honor of Haraway, the club's first official scorer, a man synonymous with Denver sports throughout the 20th century.

Features

Size: When necessary, the writers level can house more than 160, as it did for the 1998 All-Star Game. The broadcast level contains two full-size television booths and four radio booths.

View: Virtually every seat in the press box offers an unobstructed foulpole-to-foulpole view.

Dining: Coors Field has one of the largest press dining areas in baseball. Located on the writers level, the room is decorated with memorable Rockies moments, accomplishments and awards.

Conveniences

Media use an elevator which quickly takes them to a dugout-level lobby just steps from the home clubhouse. Media can also view replays on more than 12 televisions. A fax machine is also available to members of the press.

Updates

Jim Lambert has designed an elaborate majorleague scoreboard complete with his hand-drawn logos. Jim's also the artist responsible for the unique dining room chalkboard menus.

The scoreboard control room Wall of Fame

The JumboTron control room at Coors Field features a wall filled with celebrity autographs. Early in 1995, actor Bill Murray was visiting some broadcasters and found his way into the room. Somebody mentioned an autograph, and he inked his name on a wall between video production machines. Artist Peter Max followed, completing his autograph with an original drawing. The following lists the celebrities/players who've signed the wall, prior to the 2001 season...

A CLOSER LOOK AT COORS FIELD

Financing

- On Aug. 16, 1990, almost a year before baseball awarded Colorado an expansion team, voters from the six-county Denver area approved a 0.1 percent sales tax to fund a baseball-only stadium.
- + The ballpark's total cost was $215 million.

Capacity

- Architects originally designed the park to seat 43,800. However, after fans set dozens of attendance records at Mile High Stadium (1993-94), Rockies ownership paid to increase inaugural Opening Day capacity to 50,200.
- Today, the park seats 50,449, after the addition of the Coors Clubhouse behind home plate.

Location

- 20th and Blake streets in Denver's lower downtown ("LoDo") district.
- Total Land: 76 acres (including the playing field's three acres).
- Fans sitting in the first-base and right-field areas are treated to a spectacular view of the front range of the Rocky Mountains.
- Home plate faces due north.

Structure & Construction

- . Groundbreaking: Oct. 16, 1992
- + Excavation: 181,000 cubic yards
- . Backfill: 86,000 cubic yards
- Caissons: 1,387 (15-50 feet depth)
- 1.4 million bricks

(red to match the LoDo warehouses)

- Natural sandstone from a Colorado quarry
- 8,975 tons of steel, designed to reflect the site's railyard heritage
- . 4,500 tons of rebar
- Concrete Paving: 558,300 square feet
- Concrete masonry blocks: 700,000
- Handrails: 10 miles
- Upperdeck sunscreen: 95 feet above Blake Street

- . Light towers: 140 feet above Blake Street
- . Field lights: 528 main bulbs,
 - each of which generates 2,000 watts
- Architects: HOK Sport of Kansas City, Mo., who also designed Oriole Park at Camden Yards, Jacobs Field and Denver's Pepsi Center, which opened in fall, 1999.
- General Contractor: Mortenson/Barton Malow

Seating Area

- Seat width: between 19 and 19.5 inches (22 inches on the Club Level)
- Each row is marked with a Rockies logo and its row number
- Most of the stadium seats are green. However, the upper deck's 20th row is colored purple, signifying exactly one mile above sea level.
- The Club Level offers padded seats, more leg room and a wait staff. A climate-controlled lounge, which features luxury furnishings and upscale concessions, sits behind the seating area.
- ◆ The Rockpile bleachers in center field offer a consistently low price: $1 for both children (12 and under) and seniors (55 and older). Admission for all other ages is $4. All day-of-game Rockpile purchases are limited to two tickets per person, and a portion can be purchased in advance; the remaining allotment goes on sale two and-a-half hours before game time.
- There are 52 luxury suites across the upper portion of the club level, and an additional four party suites that possess the capability to expand to six. All but two of the suites have 12 seats outside, with a capacity of 20 inside. The party suites are sold on a per-game basis to individuals and groups. Most of the suites are named after Colorado's "fourteeners," the mountains at least 14,000 feet in elevation.
- For disabled fans, Coors Field offers 500 wheelchair seats for every game, including companion seating, and armless chairs. Disabled seating is in premier locations, such as the front row directly behind home, the front row of the leftfield pavilion and below the manual scoreboard.

Coors Field ground rules

Dugouts: Everything IN PLAY unless ball goes into the dugout. Photographers' areas are considered part of dugout.

Foul Poles: Ball hitting any part of screen area supported by poles down left- or right-field lines: HOME RUN.

Canvas (Tarp): Ball remaining behind or underneath canvas: ONE BASE on pitch, TWO BASES on throw by fielder, TWO BASES on batted ball, otherwise in play. Fielder may make catch standing on canvas.

Right-Field Manual Scoreboard: Ball going through the scoreboard, either on the bounce or the fly: TWO BASES.

G

Conveniences

- Restrooms: 74 (35 women's, 31 men's, eight family restrooms)
- Low-grade ramps to take fans to each level
- Elevators: 11
 Escalators: seven
- The main concourse on the field level allows fans to walk the perimeter without losing sight of the playing field

Scoreboards

- Sony JumboTron: a 21,000-pound JTS-35 system, which stands 24 feet tall and 35 feet wide.
- The main matrix board below the JumboTron continually updates fans with lineups, linescore and statistics. It uses 56,320 lights and stands 33 feet tall and 73 feet wide.
- Seven auxiliary boards are spread throughout the park. Two matrix boards provide the linescore and batter information, and another shows electronic out-of-town scores. Two more boards on the upperdeck facade supply the speed and type of pitch, and pitch count. The newest auxiliary board, beneath the Mountain Ranch Club in rightfield, gives fans an opportunity to purchase a personal message.
- The manual scoreboard is one of Coors Field's more distinguishing features. This out-of-town scoreboard forms the rightfield fence and is within the field of play.

Playing Field

- Sod: 120,000 square feet, grown at Graff Turf Farms in Fort Morgan, Colo., a mixture of four bluegrass and two ryegrass strains. Graff Turf Farms was selected by Randall & Blake, Inc., the contractor chosen to build the surface.
- Drainage system: 10,000 feet of pipes, 3,000 tons of pea gravel and 6,000 tons of sand. These ingredients provide for a drainage rate of five inches of precipitation per hour.
- Heating system: The playing field houses 45 miles of wire, providing Coors Field with the only underground heating system in baseball. As a result, groundskeepers can quickly melt any snow accumulation.
- Infield and warning track: the infield skin is a combination of Colorado clay and sand, which is more than three inches deep. The warning track is 90 percent crushed lava and 10 percent red clay, both native to Colorado.

Features

- Centerfield water feature: added after the '96 season, this design replaced the sod farm that sat below the batter's eye in centerfield. Reminiscent of a natural landscape, Colorado Spruce, Blue Spruce and Pinon Pine are combined with Navajo Ruby Red Moss Rock and granite to create the scene. After a Rockies home run, when the Rockies first take the field, or when the Rockies complete a victory, seven water jets explode for 30 seconds.
- Mountain Ranch Club: this six-tiered structure in the rightfield corner is open to members before and during each game. Club members have the opportunity to watch the game either outdoors or from the climate-controlled indoor dining room.
- Platte River Rendezvous: a family picnic area below the Rockpile.
- Student Movers Building: the only original building to remain during the park's construction, this structure was renovated to house the kitchen for the club and private dining rooms, and the Sandlot Brewery, which makes its own varieties of Coors.
- Buckaroos: a concession stand built specifically for children, this leftfield area features smaller food and souvenirs and an enclosed playground.
- General Concessions: 43 permanent full-service stands in Coors Field, 18 beer portables, 16 food portables, two club-level kitchens.

Public Art

- Brick Paver Program: more than 12,000 fans took the opportunity to purchase personal bricks that were placed at the Wynkoop walkway adjacent to Coors Field's west concourse. Proceeds helped fund other ballpark artwork.
- Evolution of the Ball: by Lonnie Hanzan; sculpture outside Gate E.
- Bottom of the Ninth: by Erick C. Johnson; neon sculpture near Gate B.
- The West, the Worker and the Ballfield: by Jeff Starr and Matt O'Neill; a 90-foot mural on the center field concourse, below the Rockpile.
- Decorative tiles: 40 terra cotta designs by Barry Rose, feature Colorado's state flower, the Columbine, and decorate the outside of the park.

Gameday Personnel

- Aramark: 750-800 concession staffers
- . LLC: 350 ushers and ticket takers
- . Rockies Guest relations staff: 50
- . Central Parking System staff: 35
- . Harry M. Stevens: 185 maintenance and custodial
- . Rockies front-office staff: 50
- . Police: 35 in-house officers, 34 with traffic
- · Paramedics: 7, plus one attending physician

LoDo

- Commercial makeup: 11 micro breweries, more than 50 restaurants and more than 20 art galleries
- Housing Units: increased from 270 prior to '95, to more than 560 current units
- Hotel rooms: more than 4,800 within walking distance

Coors Field offers everything you would expect at a major league park, and everything you would not expect. Here's a closer look...

What's new in 2001?

Aramark, the park's concessionaire, has added an All-Star Grill near section 137. There, fans can get half-pound pub burgers, steak sandwiches and sides of garlic fries. Coors has also added two Top Dog stands (sections 130, 144), offering New York, Chicago, Tucson and Denver-style hot dogs.

For the health-conscious fan

At Coors, no one will look down on you if you don't have the standard hot dog. Besides a lot of cholesterol, do you really know what's in those things? Try the Hillyard Deli near section 137, where you'll find wraps and sandwiches. Choices include: roast beef, ham, turkey and a new pastrami. Hillyard also offers chef and chicken fajita salads. There's a veggie burger at The Grill by section 134.

For the young fans

Behind the left-field foul pole, you'll find Buckaroos, where kids can get food to fit them: kid-size burgers, hot dogs, licorice, cups with a lid and straw, and even Dinger nuggets. After lunch, there's a playground next door, on the outfield concourse.

So, you're a hot-dog-and-cracker-lack fan?

Coors Field offers 15 hot dogs, or cousins of hot dogs. From the Hebrew Dog to the foot-long Rockie Dog, there's a size and taste for everyone.

So, you're NOT a hot-dog-and-cracker-jack fan?

How brave and curious are you? Well, you might be interested in Wings & Things, in the clocktower area near section 330. There, you'll find the world-famous Rocky Mountain Oyster Boat, or swingin' steaks. Don't be fooled, it's not seafood. It's definitely not seafood They're not chicken fingers, either. They don't even taste like chicken. In fact, forget trying to compare them to anything, because it's futile. They're flattened for aesthetic reasons, served on a bed of fries and come with plenty of sauce (the sauce is highly recommended). If you're not up for the challenge, perhaps you'd rather have a corn dog, chicken wings or twister fries.

Several Coors Field sub-contractors offer other alternative main courses.

At the Denver Buffalo Co., you can sample the shop's namesake. How about a buffalo beer stick, or a buffalo brat? Buffalo chips, burger, polish dog, hawker buffalo dog, buffalo italian dog, it's all there.

So, you didn't have time to hit the drive thru on the way to the game? No problem. There's a Taco Bell near section 114. There's also a Domino's Pizza, and several vendors in the stands.

Speaking of pizza, how about gourmet pizza? Try Roundin' Third, near section 137, where you'll find slices of veggie, mexican, quatro formaggio, white chicken pesto or coney island pizza.

From standard soft drinks to desserts, Coors Field offers plenty for the sweet tooth. You can even get a sundae inside a Rockies batting helmet (sorry, not a full-size helmet). Your best bet might be Madeline's near section 150, Gretel's near 331 or the Sweet Shop on the club level. Milkshakes, malts, sugar cones, floats and Otis Spunkmeyer cookies make up most of the menu.

For those chilly nights

There isn't a bookstore next door, but you can get lattes, cappuccinos, hot cocoa and standard coffee at Coors Field. Venture over to Hit & Run near section 130 for a host of hot beverages.

THE MOST EXCITING PARK IN BASEBALL HISTORY

Coors Field over the past two seasons has firmly founded itself as the most prolific offensive ballpark ever.

In 1999, the Rockies and their Coors opponents combined for 303 home runs, the most ever in a season at one venue, with one or more tenants. Then in 2000, the Rockies hit 112 homers at Coors, 32 fewer than in 1999. But incredibly, the Rockies in 2000 were still able to score 633 runs, 61 more than in 1999.

No lead is safe in Denver. The Rockies on one occasion in 1999 lost after relinquishing an eight-run lead. Two days later, they entered the bottom of the ninth down 12-5, but rallied for five runs and stranded the tying run on second. And, in six seasons at Coors, the Rockies have turned in 42 walk-off wins, 24 of which have come in the ninth inning (see below).

But one thing's obvious: offensive baseball came well before Coors Field. Even after the park's inception in 1995, American League teams have consistently compiled higher batting averages and more hits than the Rockies. And, Mark McGwire hit only one of his 70 home runs in Denver during his magical 1998 season. In the park's short lifetime, there's also been a no-hitter and 14 shutouts. Coors was only a small cog in baseball's shift to a hitter's game; it wasn't the catalyst.

And, despite the fact Coors will become the oldest pro sports venue in Denver in 2001, the park isn't going anywhere. In five of the six years since it opened, Coors has led the majors in attendance. On a clear Saturday night when the barometer reads 72 degrees and 23 percent humidity, there isn't a better place on Earth.

There was a time, especially early in park history, when opponents trembled at the thought of coming to Denver. The Rockies ranked among league leaders in home wins from 1995-96. But in 1999, the club endured its first losing season at home. Opposing pitchers have learned how to pitch at altitude.

But the ball still travels nine percent farther at 5,280 feet than at sea level. So, fasten your shoulder harnesses, keep both hands on the bar in front you at all times, and enjoy the ride.

MILE HIGH MEMORIES

Coors Field closed the curtain on a brief but very memorable two-year stint in Mile High Stadium. In 135 dates at Mile High, the Rockies drew 7,701,861 fans (57,051 per game).

After drawing 4,483,350 in the '93 inaugural, the Rockies were on pace to shatter that mark in '94, averaging 58,598 through 56 home dates, which would have put the season ending mark at 4,687,840. Despite the year's abrupt end, in two seasons the Rockies had 52 occasions when better than 60,000 paid to watch baseball; 21 times the crowd eclipsed 70,000.

Despite the '94 work stoppage, the Rockies still managed to break four of their own attendance marks. Following is the complete list of attendance records set by the Rockies in Mile High...

General Information

- The Rockies begin their ninth season in the only spring venue they've ever known, Hi Corbett Field and its surrounding complex in Tucson, Ariz.
- During the two weeks before the exhibition schedule, the team will usually take the field for workouts by 9 a.m., and close the day in the early afternoon.
- ◆ The clubhouse will generally open for credentialed media before and after the morning workout. Buddy Bell is available most days in his office before the workout, and either at the complex or in the grassy area near the Rockies offices after the workout.
- When playing across town at Tucson Electric Park, the Rockies may take batting practice at Hi Corbett Field.
- The team serves a pregame meal for members of the press, club officials and scouts. The tent is located on the Hi Corbett concourse, near the left-field foul pole.

Public Relations Office

Credential requests for exhibition games may be made either by mail or fax. Spring season passes are distributed only to those who will be covering the Rockies both at Hi Corbett Field and on the road for the majority of the exhibition season. All others will be handled on a daily credential basis, and those passes can be obtained by calling a member of the Public Relations staff at the numbers listed below, or by visiting the Public Relations office in the building on the first-base side of Hi Corbett Field. For phone installation, please contact Penny Othberg with Qwest, either by phone (206/808-4861), by fax (800/868-3351) or by email (pothber@gwest.com).

HI CORBETT FIELD

The Rockies' Spring Home

- ♦ Manager of Stadium Operations: Jerry Reeves
- First Game: 1937
- Dimensions (LF, CF, RF):

366, 392, 348

- ◆ Capacity: 9,500
- Directions: From Phoenix, travel east on I-10 exiting at Broadway. Head east on Broadway and turn right on Randolph Way. Hi Corbett is located on the right-hand side.
- ◆ Ticket Prices: Box seats $13, homeplate grandstand $12, lower grandstand (rows 1-14) $11, upper grandstand (rows 15-30) $10, lower east and west pavilions $8, upper east and west pavilions $6, outfield bleachers ("The Sandpile") $4.
- ◆ Rockies Spring Home Since: 1993
- Recent Renovations: The facility's newest additions came in winter '99, when a Rockies Dugout Store and a ticket office were added to make the complex one of the best in all of baseball.

Hi Corbett underwent a major overhaul before the '97 season. Its capacity increased by more than 1,500 and the park received Coors Field style seating, an improved visitors clubhouse and an expansion of the minor-league facility to include more locker space and a weight room. In addition, a fifth field was added for spring workouts.

Before the '93 season, the park received a new press facility, a modern home clubhouse, new administrative offices and upgraded restrooms, concession stands, batting cages and pitching mounds.

- Contract: The Rockies and the City of Tucson reached a 15-year agreement in 1996 that will keep the club at the complex through 2011.
- Previous Spring Tennants: Cleveland Indians, 1947-92

HI CORBETT

The Rockies' spring home, Hi Corbett Field, was dedicated in 1951 by the City of Tucson to honor one of Tucson's most highly regarded citizens, Hiram Steven Corbett.

Corbett (1885-1967) served as president of the Tucson Baseball Commission for more than 25 years. He also presided over the Texas League and was instrumental in drawing the Cleveland Indians to Southern Arizona for spring training in 1947. He negotiated some of the original contracts between the Indians and the City of Tucson, which eventually kept the Cleveland franchise at Hi Corbett Field until 1992, one of the longest team-city relationships in major league history.

A local business leader and civil servant, he was the president & CEO of the Corbett Lumber Company and was elected to the Arizona State Legislature. He was also a member of the Federal Reserve Board, the Selective Service Commission and several local boards, such as the United Way, the Tucson Chamber of Commerce and Convention and Visitor's Bureau.

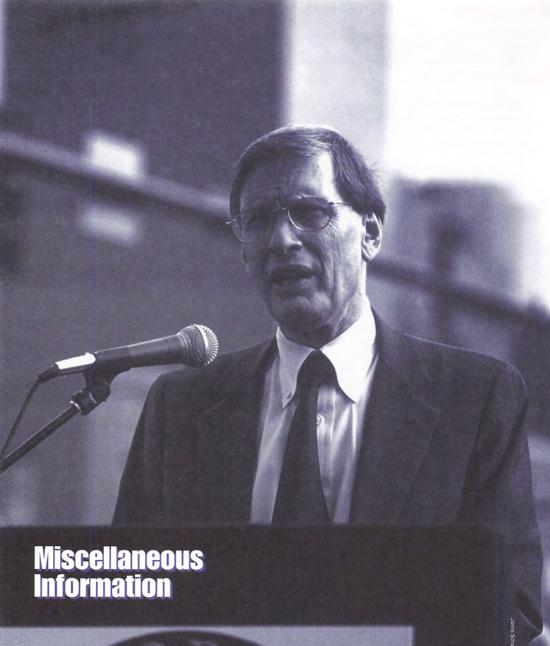

Tucson, Ariz.

- The 2001 season marks the 55th season of major league baseball in Tucson, Ariz.
- The Cleveland Indians trained in the city 48 years before the Rockies arrived in 1993 for their inaugural spring camp.
- With the 1998 addition of the Chicago White Sox and Arizona Diamondbacks, Tucson has the most major league teams of any city in either the Cactus or Grapefruit leagues.
- ◆ The city has housed a minor league team for more than half a century, most recently a Triple-A Pacific Coast League club. That team, known for a long stretch as the Tucson Toros, played at Hi Corbett Field until 1998, when the team signed a player development contract with the Arizona Diamondbacks and moved south to Tucson Electric Park. It is now known as the Tucson Sidewinders.

ROCKIES IN THE COMMUNITY

Rockies Charities

The Colorado Rockies have two charities, the Colorado Rockies Baseball Club Foundation and the Colorado Rockies Charity Fund, a fund of the Robert R. McCormick Tribune Foundation, both of which continue to be two of the club's biggest priorities. The Executive Director of Rockies' Charities, Roger Kinney, and his staff work to raise funds for, and promote programs focusing on underprivileged and at-risk youth.

Over the past five years, the Colorado Rockies Charity Fund, the Colorado Rockies Foundation and the club in general have combined to raise more than $7 million in community contributions.

Every season the Rockies donate tickets to more than 150 non-profit organizations throughout the region. The team distributed 134,000 tickets last season, and 876,996 since the club's inception.

The Rockies Charity Fund was formed in 1993 to benefit local youth baseball and literary programs that combat alcohol and drug abuse. The Charity Fund is a partner of the Robert R. McCormick Tribune Foundation, a national charitable trust that provides significant matching monies to supplement contributions to our local community. Grants are made to applicants from non-profit 501(c)3 organizations serving and addressing the community needs.

Literary Programs

The Rockies target literacy as a major community program. The summer reading program with the Denver Public Library works with more than 14,000 children in metro Denver. "Covering the Bases with the Rockies" is the curriculum designed for elementary and middle schools in conjunction with the Denver Rocky Mountain News. Since 1997, the Rockies have supported "Breaking Barrier," a curriculum designed by Sharon Robinson, daughter of baseball legend Jackie Robinson. Sharon's nine lessons teach positive values, teamwork and fun, using interesting baseball lessons.

County Support Programs

The ball club also supports programs for the disabled and those targeting special athletes. Since 1993, the Rockies have supported the Rocky Mountain Eagles, a "beep" baseball team for the visually impaired. What's more, the Rockies sponsor a wheelchair softball team, which gets many of its members from the Colorado Paralyzed Veterans of America. The Denver organization has hosted the national champoinship in the sport and has paved the way for new teams throughout the country. Members of the Rockies and the community also gather each year to honor outstanding individuals in the disabled community at the Hal O'Leary Awards Dinner.

Schwaberow

Reviving Baseball in the Inner Cities (RBI)

In 2000, the Rockies continued their involvement in the Revive Baseball in the Inner Cities (RBI) program. The program allows boys and girls 13-18 to compete in baseball locally, and often on a national level, RBI's goal is to encourage innercity youth to focus on their eduction, and participate in baseball, thus avoiding other self-destructive options which often present themselves. National League President Leonard Coleman initiated the RBI program, which now involves nearly 10,000 participants in more than 40 cities. In 2000, the Rockies-sponsored girls team placed second in the RBI national championship in Orlando, Fla. The Rockies junior and senior boys teams each participated at the regional tournament in Houston.

The Care & Share Program

The program gives fans who are limited by a serious illness the opportunity to be a special guest at Coors Field. Care & Share participants spend time on the field before a game watching batting practice and meeting some of their favorite Rockies players. The Rockies team up with organizations including the Make-A-Wish Foundation. the National Sports Center for the Disabled and the Starlight Foundation, to assist disadvantaged families.

Wives Involvement

Rockies wives participate in a full schedule of events each year. In 2000, the wives again sponsored a book drive and a toy drive. In addition, over the last six seasons, the wives have collected more than 3,000 toys and $25,000 in cash donations for the Denver Santa Claus Shop, an annual event that generates toys and donations for underprivileged children in the area.

A number of Rockies representatives hit the road each year for the Rockies Winter Caravan. The caravan allows the Rockies to greet fans and generate excitement for the upcoming season, while also raising support for youth baseball throughout the region. Fans who are often unable to make the trek to Denver have the opportunity to meet their baseball heroes in select cities throughout the Rocky Mountains. Rockies players, coaches, announcers and staff have traveled more than 23,000 miles in nine years.

The ROY Foundation

The entire Rockies family was deeply saddened by the passing of Michael McMorris before the 1996 season. Michael, the son of club chairman Jerry McMorris, lost a near-lifelong battle to cystic fibrosis.

Inspired by Michael, many members of the Rockies organization established on their own time the R.O.Y. Foundation, a charitable wing to assist in the battle against CF. The foundation's mission is to honor the memory and courageous character of Michael and continue a longterm commitment to conquer and cure cystic fibrosis.

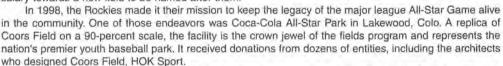

The Rockies Youth Fields Program

To date, the Rockies Youth Fields Program has 84 fields either open or currently under construction all over the region, from Pueblo, Colo. to Cheyenne, Wyo. The program is more than actual construction. It's an ongoing process which involves scouting new locations, organizing player donations, coordinating community resources and completing each new project.

The seeds of the program are planted during player contract negotiations, when signing players are asked to contribute a portion of their salary towards a new field to be named after them.

Most fields have been photographed and displayed on a unique mural in the service level near the visiting clubhouse at Coors Field.

The following is a list of fields opened or under construction since the program began in 1995.

Dinger, official mascot

On January 22, 1994, Coors Field construction workers unearthed a large purple egg in what is now the Rockpile. The National Guard was called to recover the egg, which was then incubated at Denver's Museum of Natural History.

On April 16, 1994, in Mile High Stadium, the egg was hatched in centerfield and a crowd of better than 50,000 witnessed the birth of Dinger.

Dinger's main color is purple, but he does possess various prehistoric spots, three horns and a huge tail that has been known to whip unsuspecting predators. For information and special appearance bookings, contact the Rockies promotions department at 303/312-2266.

MEDICAL GLOSSARY

The following glossary was provided by the Professional Baseball Athletic Trainers Society. It was also looked over by the Orthopaedic Center of the Rockies in Ft. Collins, Colo.

AC Joint—Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abscess—An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Adhesion—Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic—Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired and is required for sustained periods of vigorous exercise with a continually high pulse rate.

Anaerobic—Exercise without oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercise.

Anterior Compartment Syndrome—Condition in which swelling within the anterior compartment of the lower leg jeopardizes the viability of muscles, nerves and arteries that serve the foot. In severe cases, emergency surgery is necessary to relieve the swelling and pressure.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL)—A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 month of rehabilitation.

Anterior Talofibular Ligament—A ligament of the ankle that connects the fibula (later ankle bone) to the talus. This ligament is off times subject to sprain.

Anti-Inflammatory—Any agent which prevents inflammation, such as aspirin or ibuprofen.

Arteriogram—A film demonstrating arteries after injection of a dve

Arthrogram—X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Arthroscope—An instrument used to visualize the interior of a joint cavity.

Arthroscopy—A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means of viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Aspiration—The withdrawal of fluid from a body cavity by means of a suction or siphonage apparatus, such as a syringe.

Atrophy—To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Avascular Necrosis—Death of a part due to lack of circulation.

Avulsion—The tearing away, forcibly, of a part or structure.

Baker's Cyst—Localized swelling of a bursa sac in the posterior knee as a result of fluid that has escaped from the knee capsule. A Baker's cyst indicates that there is a trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive fluid production.

Bennett's Fracture-A fracture and dislocation of the base of the first metacarpal, the thumb.

Bone Scan—An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labelled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bony injury

Bursa—A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimizes the friction; for example between a tendon and bone.

Capsule—Enclosing structure surrounding a joint, containing ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Chondral Fracture—Fracture to the chondral (cartilaginous) surfaces of bone.

Chondromalacia—Roughening of the articular cartilage. Best known for the roughening of the underside of the patella, which can occur in any patellofemoral injury.

Coccyx—The "tail bone"; a group of four vertebrae that are fused together, located at the terminal end of the spine.

Computed Tomography (CT)—Method of visualizing the body's soft tissues. Using x-rays with the beam passing repeatedly through the body part, the CT scans while a computer calculates tissue absorption at each point scanned.

Concentric Muscle Contraction—A shortening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to move a resistance.

Congenital-Existing before birth; to be born with.

Conjunctivitis—Inflammation of the membrane lining the evelids and covering the eveball.

Contractures—Abnormal, usually permanent contraction of a muscle due to atrophy of muscle fibers, extensive scar tissue over a joint, or other factors.

Costochondral—Cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cryotherapy—A treatment with use of cold.

Cyst—Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid

Debridement—Removal of non-healthy tissues and foreign material from a wound or burn to prevent infection and permit healing.

Degenerative Joint Disease—Changes in the joint surfaces as a result of repetitive trauma.

Deltoid Ligament—Ligament that connects the tibia to bones of the medial aspect of the foot and is primarily responsible for stability of the ankle on the medial side.

Deltoid—Muscles at the top of the arm, below the shoulder, responsible for shoulder motions.

Disc, Intervertebral—A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. The disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Eccentric Muscle Contraction—An overall lengthening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to control motion performed by an outside force; of times referred to a "negative" contraction in weight training.

Eccymosis—Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect.

Edema—Accumulation of fluid in organs and tissues of the body; swelling.

Effusion—Accumulation of fluid, or the fluid itself, in various spaces in the body. Commonly, the knee has an effusion after an injury.

Electrical Galvanic Stimulation (EGS)—An electrical therapeutic modality that sends a current to the body at select voltages and frequencies in order to stimulate pain receptors, disperse edema, or neutralize muscle spasms among other functional applications.

Electromyogram (EMG)—Test to determine nerve function.

Epicondylitis—Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse.

Ethyl Chloride—"Cold spray" or "freeze", a chemical coolant sprayed onto an injury site to produce a local, mild anesthesia.

External Rotation—Lateral movement of a joint or extremity to the outside.

Fascia—Connective sheath of fibrous tissue and fat which unites the skin to the underlying tissue.

Fibula—Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.

Fracture—Breach in continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick, incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress or transverse.

Gamekeeper's Thumb—Ulnar collateral ligament tear of the metacarpophalangeal joint (thumb).

Glenohumeral—The shoulder girdle; consists of the glenoid capsule, head of the humerus and labrum. The type of joint that allows 360-degree motion, a "ball and socket" joint.

Glenoid—Scapula cavity into which the head of the humerus fits to form the shoulder girdle.

Grade One Injury—A mild injury in which ligament, tendon, or other musculoskeletal tissue may have been stretched or contused, but not torn or otherwise disrupted.

Grade Two Injury—A moderate injury when musculoskeletal tissue has been partially, but not totally torn which causes appreciable limitation in function of the injured tissue.

Grade Three Injury—A severe injury in which tissue has been significantly, and in some cases totally, torn or otherwise disrupted causing a virtual total loss of function.

Heat Cramps—Painful muscle spasms of the arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.

Hematoma—Tumor-like mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity.

Humerus—Bone of the upper arm that runs from the shoulder to the elbow.

Hyperextension—Extreme extension of a limb or body part.

Illiotibial Band—A thick, wide fascial layer that runs from the iliac crest to the knee joint and is occasionally inflamed as a result of excessive running.

Impingement Syndrome—Pinching together of the supraspinatus muscle and other soft tissue in the shoulder. The most common (Throwing) arm injury, which represents many pathologies and generally involves supraspinatus overuse.

Intermittent Compression Pump—Therapeutic modality using an air pump to send air into a sleeve worn over an injury, on an intermittent basis, to disperse edema and swelling at the injury.

Internal Rotation—Rotation of a joint or extremity medially, to the inside.

Interosseus Membrane—Uniting membrane between the tibia and fibula that forms a collagenous fibrous tissue. It has two functions: to serve as an origin for many of the muscles of the lower leg, and to transmit stress from the tibia to the fibula.

Isokinetic Exercise—Form of active resistive exercise in which the speed of limb movement is controlled by a preset limiting machine, such as Cybex or Biodex.

Isometric Contraction—Muscular contraction in which tension is developed but no mechanical work is done (no appreciable joint movement and the overall length of the muscle stays the same).

Isotonic Contraction—A concentric or eccentric muscular contraction that results in movement of a joint or body part, as in lifting a weight.

Labrum (Labrum Glenoidule)-Glenoid cavity cartilage in the shoulder, a lip-like structure.

Lateral Collateral Ligament (LCL)—Ligament of the knee along the lateral aspect that connects the femur to the fibula. It provides lateral stability to the joint.

Ligament—Fibrous tissue band that connects bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI)—Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc and meniscus injuries.

Malleolus—Rounded projection on either side of the ankle joint; the lateral malleolus is the fibula and the medial malleolus is the tibia.

Mallet Finger—Finger tip injury in which the extensor tendon is avulsed off the distal phalanx.

Maximal Aerobic Power (MAX VO2)—Maximal volume of oxygen consumed per unit of time.

Medial Collateral Ligament (MCL)—Ligament of knee along the medial aspect that connects the femur to the joint.

Meniscectomy—An intra-articular surgical procedure of the knee by which all or part of the damaged meniscus is removed.

Meniscus—Crescent shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as "cartilage." There are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Metacarpals—Five long bones of the hand, running from the wrist to the fingers.

Metatarsals—Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes.

Morton's Neuroma—Involves the nerves and is usually the result of a trauma to the foot, causing inflammation and sharp pain, usually between the third and fourth toes.

Morton's Toe—A hereditary condition in which the second toe is longer than the first toe. This can cause mechanical imbalances which produce pain with weight bearing.

Myositis-Inflammation of the muscle.

Myositis Ossificans Traumatica—A benign ossification, usually following severe trauma to a large muscle mass.

Neuritis-Inflammation of a nerve.

Olecranon Process—Bony projection of the ulna at the tip of the elbow.

One Repetition Maximum—The maximum amount of weight that can be lifted by the player in a particular exercise at one time. This is used as a strength testing technique.

Orthotic—Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Osteochondritis Dessicans-A piece of bone and/or cartilage loosened from its attachment after trauma and a cause of a lesion.

Parasthesia-Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.

Peroneal Muscles-Group of muscles of the lateral lower leg that are responsible for everting the ankle. Tendons of these three muscles are vital to the stability of the ankle and foot.

Phalanx-Any bone of the fingers or toes; plural in phalanges.

Phlebitis-Inflammation of a vein.

Phonophoresis-The technique of driving whole molecules of medication with ultrasound.

Plantar Fascia-the tight band of fibrous tissue beneath the arch of the foot.

Plantar Fasciitis-Inflammation of the plantar fascia; associated with overuse or acute foot injury.

Plantarflexion-Ankle motion such that the toes are pointed toward the ground.

Plica-Fold of the tissue in the joint capsule and common result of knee injury.

Pneumothorax-A collection of air or gas in the pleural space causing the lungs to collapse.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL)-A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Progressive Resistance Exercise (PRE)-An approach to exercise whereby the load or resistance to the muscle is applied by some mechanical means and is quantitatively and progressively increased over time.

Proprioceptive Neuromuscular Facilitation (PNF)-An approach to therapeutic exercise based on the principles of functional human anatomy and neurophysiology.

Radius-Forearm bone on the thumb side.

Referred Pain-Pain felt in an undamaged area of body away from the actual injury.

Rotator Cuff-Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by overuse. The muscles are the supraspinatus (most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor and subscapularis.

Rotator Cuff Impingement Syndrome-A microtrauma or overuse injury caused by stress. The four stages are: 1)tendentious with temporary thickening of the bursa and rotator cuff, 2)fiber dissociation in the tendon with a permanent thickening of the bursa and scar formation, 3)A partial rotator cuff tear of less than 1 cm, and 4)a complete tear of 1 cm or more

SC Joint-Sternoclavicular joint; articulation of the collarbone with the sternum.

Sacroiliac-Junction of the sacrum with the hip bone.

Sacrum-Group of five fused vertebrae located just below the lumbar vertebrae of the low back.

Scapula-Shoulder blade.

Sciatica-Irritation of the sciatic nerve resulting in pain or tingling down the inside of the leg.

Sciatic Nerve-Major nerve that carries impulses for muscular action and sensations between the low back and thigh and lower leg; it is the longest nerve in the body.

Shin Splint-A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the shin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Soft Corn-A corn, softened by moisture, found beneath the toes rather than the toe's upper surface.

Spleen-Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.

Spondylitis—Inflammation of one or more vertebrae.

Spondylolisthesis-Forward displacement of one vertebrae over another below it due to a developmental defect in the vertebrae.

Spondylosis-Abnormal vertebral fixation or immobili-

Sprain-Injury resulting from the stretch or twist of the joint and causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Strain-Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture-A hair-line type of break in a bone caused by overuse.

Stress X-Ray-A continual x-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum in order to determine joint stability. This is a test utilized in some ankle injuries.

Subluxation-Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can return to its normal position without formal reduction.

Synovial Fluid-Lubricates joints and tendons produced in synovium or the inner lining of a joint.

Synovitis-Inflammation of the synovial lining of a joint. Talus-The ankle bone that articulates with the tibia and fibula to form the ankle joint.

Target Heart Rate—A pre-determined pulse obtained during exercise when circulation in working at full efficient capacities.

Tarsals-Group of seven bones of the foot consisting of the calcaneus, talus, cuboid and three cuneiform bones.

Tendinitis-Tendon and/or tendon sheath inflammation, caused by chronic overuse or sudden injury.

Tendon-Tissue that connects muscle to bone.

Tenosynovitis-Swelling of a tendon sheath caused by calcium deposits, repeated strain or trauma.

Thoracic-Group of twelve vertebrae located in the thorax and articulates with the twelve ribs.

Thoracic Outlet Compression Syndrome—A neurovascular disorder of the upper extremity common in throw-

Tibia-Larger of the two bones of the lower leg and is the weight-bearing bone of the shin.

Tomograph—An x-ray apparatus that demonstrates an organ or tissue at a particular depth.

Trachea-The windpipe.

Stimulator Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve (TENS)-An electrical modality that sends a mild current through pads at the injury site which stimulates the brain to release the natural analgesic, endorphin.

Transverse Process-Small lateral projection off the right and left side of each vertebrae that functions as an attachment site for muscles and ligaments of the spine.

Trapezius-Flat, triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Ulna-Forearm bone that runs from the tip of the elbow to the little finger side of the wrist.

Ulnar Nerve-Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.

Zygoma-The cheekbone.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Qualifications: For the batting title, 502 or more actual plate appearances, the equivalent of 3.1 appearances for each of the 162 scheduled games. For the ERA championship, at least as many innings pitched as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season. For the fielding championship, (1) A catcher must have participated as a catcher in at least one-half the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season; (2) an infielder or out-fielder must have participated at his position in at least two-thirds of the number of games scheduled for each club in his league; (3) a pitcher must have pitched at least as many innings as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season. EXCEPTION—If another pitcher has a fielding average as high or higher, and has handled more total chances in a lesser number of innings, he shall be the fielding champion. (NOTE—These figures DO NOT determine the Rawlings Gold Glove, selected by managers and coaches).

Rookic Rule: A player shall be considered a rookie unless, during a previous season or seasons, he has (1) exceeded 130 at bats or 50 innings pitched in the major leagues, or (2) accumulated more than 45 days on the active roster of a major league club or clubs during the period of the 25-man roster (excluding time in military service).

Save Rule: A pitcher shall be credited with a save when he meets all three of the following conditions: (1) he is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club, and (2) he is not the winning pitcher, and (3) he qualifies under one of the following conditions: (a) he enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches at least one inning, or (b) he enters the game regardless of the count, with the potential tying run either on base, at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsmen he faces), or (c) he pitches effectively for at least three innings (in the judgement of the official scorer).

Suspended Games: For the purpose of this rule, all performances in the completion of a suspended game shall be considered as occurring on original date of game.

National League Night Game: In the NL, any game with the official starting time fixed after 5 p.m. All games, with official starting times for 5 p.m., or earlier, shall be "day" games.

Earned Run Average: Multiply the number of earned runs by nine, take that number and divide it by the total innings pitched.

Fielding Percentage: The sum of putouts and assists divided by total chances (putouts, assists and errors).

Magic Numbers: The number of games yet to be played, plus one, minus the number of games ahead in the loss column from the closest opponent.

On-Base Percentage: Sum of hits, walks and hit by pitches divided by the sum of at-bats, walks, hit by pitches and sacrifice flies.

Slugging Percentage: Total bases divided by at-bats.

Player Limits: 40 until Opening Day, when the number must be reduced to 25 until September 1, when it returns to 40.

Consecutive-Game Streaks: A consecutive-game hitting streak shall not be terminated if all the player's plate appearances (one or more) result in a base on balls, hit batsman, defensive interference or a sacrifice bunt. The streak shall terminate if the player has a sacrifice fly and no hit. A consecutive-game playing streak shall be extended if the player plays one half inning on defense, or if he completes a time at bat by reaching base or being put out. A pinch-running appearance only shall not extend the streak. If a player is ejected from the game by an umpire before he can comply with the requirements of this rule, his streak shall continue.

Waiver Regulations: From 30 days after the start of the season, players are available for claiming off waivers in reverse order of standings, at the time waivers expire. Otherwise players are available for claiming off waivers in reverse order of standings at the close of the the preceding season. With respect to trades, no waivers are necessary from 5 p.m., eastern time, the day after the scheduled end of the regular season through July 31. Waivers are necessary from August 1 through the day after the scheduled end of the regular season.

An earned run is a run for which the pitcher is held accountable. In determining earned runs, the inning should be reconstructed without the errors (which include catcher's interference) and passed balls, and the benefit of the doubt should always be given to the pitcher in determining which bases would have been reached by errorless play. For the purpose of determining earned runs, an intentional base on balls, regardless of the circumstances, shall be construed in exactly the same manner as any other base on balls.

- (a) An earned run shall be charged every time a runner reaches home by the aid of safe hits, sacrifice bunts, a sacrifice fly, stolen bases, putouts, fielder's choices, bases on balls, hit batters, balks or wild pitches (including a wild pitch on third strike which permits a batter to reach first base) before fielding chances have been offered to put out the offensive team. For the purpose of this rule, a defensive interference penalty shall be construed as a fielding chance. (1) A wild pitch is solely the pitcher's fault, and contributes to an earned run just as a base on balls or a balk.
- (b) No run shall be earned when scored by a runner who reaches first base (1) on a hit or otherwise after his time at bat is prolonged by a muffed foul fly; (2) because of interference or obstruction or (3) because of any fielding error.
- (c) No run shall be earned when scored by a runner whose life is prolonged by an error, if such runner would have been put out by errorless play.
- (d) No run shall be earned when the runner's advance is aided by an error, a passed ball, or defensive interference or obstruction, if the scorer judges that the run would not have scored without the aid of such misplay.
- (e) An error by a pitcher is treated exactly the same as an error by any other fielder in computing earned runs.
- (f) Whenever a fielding error occurs, the pitcher shall be given the benefit of the doubt in determining to which bases any runners would have advanced had the fielding of the defensive team been errorless.
- (g) When pitchers are changed during an inning, the relief pitcher shall not be charged with any run (earned or unearned) scored by a runner who was on base at the time he entered the game, nor for runs scored by any runner who reaches base on a fielder's choice which puts out a runner left on base by the preceding pitcher, NOTE: It is the intent of this rule to charge each pitcher with the number of runners he put on base, rather than with the individual runners. When a pitcher puts runners on base, and is relieved, he shall be charged with all runs subsequently scored up to and including the number of runners he left on base when he left the game, unless such runners are put out without action by the batter, i.e., caught stealing, picked off base, or called out for interference when a batter runner does not reach first base on the play, EXCEPTION; P1 walks A, and is relieved by P2, P2 allows B to single, but A is out trying for third. B takes second on the throw. C singles, scoring B. Charge run to P2.
- (h) A relief pitcher shall not be held accountable when the first batter to whom he pitches reaches first base on four called balls if such batter has a decided advantage in the ball and strike count when pitchers are changed.
- (1) If, when pitchers are changed, the count is 2 balls, no strike, 2 balls, 1 strike, 3 balls, no strike, 3 balls, 1 strike, 3 balls, 2 strikes, and the batter gets a base on balls, charge that batter and the base on balls to the preceding pitcher, not to the relief pitcher.
 - (2) Any other action by such batter, such as reaching base on a hit, an error, a
- fielder's choice, a force out, or being touched by a pitched ball, shall cause such a batter to be charged to the relief pitcher. NOTE: The provisions of 10.18 (h) (2) shall not be construed as affecting or conflicting with the provisions of 10.18 (q).
- (3) If, when pitchers are changed, the count is 2 balls, 2 strikes, 1 ball, 2 strikes, 1 ball, 1 strike, 1 ball, no strike, no ball, 2 strikes, no ball, 1 strike, charge that batter and his actions to the relief pitcher.

Extraordinary scoring streaks

From May 4, 1999 at Chicago to May 7 vs. Phi., the Rockies scored in 14 innings, tying a 50-yearold NL mark. On May 5 at Wrigley, Colorado scored in every inning of a nine-inning game.
